The members began their service during a USDA SCS AmeriCorps orientation program, October 3-7 1994 in St. Paul.

Gary Nordstrom, state conservationist, SCS in St. Pant, said "AmeriCorps is an exciting opportunity to help us get things done with people in the community. A lot of people competed for our 20 AmeriCorps positions. We will demand quality work from them, just as though they were SCS federal employees, and I do expect them to be highly visible to the people in the community."

AmeriCorps represents President Clinton's fulfillment of a campaign pledge to create a national service program — a domestic Peace Corps of 20,000 AmeriCorps members.

The SCS AmeriCorps members will work 1,700 hours during their service time, will receive a living allowance between $7,600 to $12,000, and each AmeriCorps member who successfully completes their service requirements will be awarded an educational grant of $4,725.

Minnesota's USDA SCS 20 AmeriCorps members are headquartered out of five project sites and will be working on six different natural resource projects. The projects focus on watershed public participation in Cloquet and Lewiston; conservation outreach and trails promotion in Twin Valley; grassland and pasture management in Rochester; and animal waste management in Thief River Falls.

For more information about AmeriCorps, contact any local office of the USDA SCS. Their offices are located in county seat towns throughout Minnesota.

Joy Swenson of Fargo, ND, and Graeme Belcher and Lynell Wayne of Thief River Falls, began their AmeriCorps service October 3. AmeriCorps represents President Clinton's fulfillment of a campaign pledge to create a national service program — a domestic Peace Corps of 20,000 AmeriCorps members.

School district elections slated

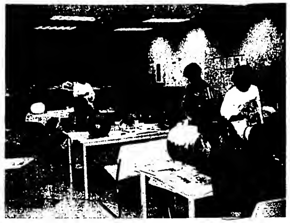
on the board, and on an excess levy referendum issue.

Larry Belmont and Hank Hallstrom are running for two three-year terms. Cheryl Lee is running for the remaining two years of a three-year term vacated by Lee last year because of a potential conflict of interest.

Voters are also being asked to vote yes or no to: "Shall the increase in the revenue proposed by the board of Independent School District 564 be approved?"

The school board has proposed to increase its general education revenue by $289.29 per actual pupil unit. The additional revenue will be used to finance school operations and the property tax portion thereof will require an estimated referendum tax rate of approximately 0.0566 per cent of the referendum market value of all taxable property in the district for taxes payable in 1995, the first year it is to be levied.

Goodridge School District 561



Goodridge residents of school district 561 will have an opportunity to vote on an excess levy referendum. The preamble to the question state: "The board of Independent School District 561 (Goodridge) has proposed to increase its general education revenue by $208.02 per actual pupil unit. The additional revenue will be used to finance school operations and the property tax portion thereof will require an estimated referendum tax rate of approximately 0.0323 per cent of the referendum market value of all taxable property in the district for taxes payable in 1995, the first year it is to be levied. The referendum revenue authorization would be applicable for 10 years unless otherwise revoked or reduced as provided by law."

The question posed to voters states: "Shall the increase in the revenue proposed by the board of Independent School District 561 be approved?"

Students from Denice Nelson's fifth grade class took advantage of the new activity room at Challenger Elementary and Preschool in Thief River Falls last week for painting pumpkins. The activity room allows classroom teachers and students the space to explore areas of learning beyond the classroom. During the school day the room is available for teachers to use at any requested time. So far it has been used for teaching art, reading groups and language arts. After school the room is used by local Girl Scouts and other extra-curricular activities. Students pictured in the photo are Rachel Helvorsen, Nathan Cote, Alicia Bornemen, Brenda Koparl, Nick Harris, Trevor Swenson, Kris Adamson, Bryane Moleknoss and Jamie Redloff. The students, who had been given pumpkins to decorate, worked together on the project.

50th Lions Halloween party another success

Thief River Falls Noon Lions club hosted its 50th in a series of successful Halloween parties for young people Monday, October 31, at the National Guard armory in Thief River Falls. The first party was held in 1944 and they have been held annually since then with the exception of last year, when no party was held.

Actually, the club hosted two parties at the armory again this year. The first was from 4 to 5 p.m. for toddlers through fifth graders and the second from 7 to 10 p.m. for grades six, seven and eight. Dr. Charles Samuelson served as general chairman for the events.

The afternoon session attracted 260 children who, upon arrival, were provided with a book of six free tickets and a paper bag to hold their prizes. All expenses were borne by the Lions club.

A prize such as a candy bar or gum was awarded for each game with participation being the only requirement to receive a prize. Much of the equipment for the games was provided by the Occupational Development Center and by Art Heinze and the Cub Scouts.

Five prizes of $5 each were also awarded to the children in costume who, in the opinion of judges Idella Samuelson, Octavia Jorgenson and Eileen Horejsh, showed the most originality and spirit of Halloween. The judges are all members of the Thief River Falls Lioness club.

Lions members who conducted the games were Ellsworth Jorgenson, Bill Hannon, Ron Swenson, Don Goodrich, Wesley Johnson, Rev. John Wollenzein, Dan Baumgartner, Ray Safranski, Vern Quam, Vernon Lee, Orin Oreen, Norm Wassink and Charles Samuelson.

More than 300 youngsters in grades six through eight attended the 7 to 10 p.m. party where music was provided by disc jockeys Chris Davidson and Jeff Reynolds of radio station KSRQ, the student broadcasting station at Northwest Technical College.

Free pizza and soft drinks were provided to all who attended and five $5 prizes for best costumes were awarded. Samuelson lavishly praised the behavior of the young people attending, saying there was never even a hint of a problem.

Lions club members hosting and chaperoning at the party were Samuelson, Jay Horsman, Arlo Rude, Dick Reger and Roger Reuter.

The Lions club raises money in a variety of ways for this and many other service projects including Sightfirst, Lions Eye Bank at the University of Minnesota, scholarships, donations to Girl Scouts and Boy Scouts, roadside cleaning, collection of discarded eyeglasses for overseas shipment, Leader Dog for the Blind, diabetes awareness and other projects and gifts to special needs people.

The local club meets from 12 noon to 1 p.m. at the American Legion club rooms each Wednesday for a meal and program of community interest. The club has 105 members, of which 55 to 60 are in attendance at each weekly meeting. Business is conducted by the board of directors which meets once a month to plan club activities.

November is membership month and the club has been divided into two membership teams. Potential members are invited to talk to any of the present members or call club president Don Drevlow at the downtown State Farm Insurance office or Curt Neumann, secretary, at First National Bank.

Chamber theme vote is too close to be decided Votes on a new theme for the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce were too close to call.

Bob Bergan, executive vice president of the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce, said the committee working on a new theme wanted to thank all participants and the four finalists.

Voting on the final four themes plus the current theme of "Where Everybody Is Somebody", concluded October 31. Bergan said voting on three of the themes was so close that there was no clear cut winner. The committee, he said, decided that each was excellent and had merit. In review, the committee decided an attempt will be made to combine all three into a common theme. These proposals will be presented to the chamber membership for approval at its annual banquet. Until then, the current theme remains the chamber theme.

The four themes under final consideration were: "Working Today for a Better Tomorrow" and "Working Together for a Better Tomorrow" as submitted by Jeff Olson; "The Heart of Northwestern Minnesota" as submitted by Arctco; and "A City Working For You" as submitted by Wally Sjaaheim.

Rohl attends conference on investments

Regan Rohl of Thief River Falls was one of 171 among more than 3,100 investment representatives of Edward D. Jones & Co. invited to attend a three-day conference in St. Louis, MO, recently.

Each year the top seven per cent of the company's sales force is recognized with an invitation to the Managing Partners Conference. This year's event included presentations by directors of several successful corporations.

Jenny Taggart is state 4-H horse show champion

tion in the past few years. At one time she would ride in approximately a dozen shows a season, but most recently she has cut back to a couple of local area shows and a four-show circuit sponsored by the Red River Valley International Appaloosa Horse Club. The latter includes two shows in Fargo, ND, and one each at Grand Rapids and Crookston.

In 1992 Jenny won the High Point Trophy for total points in the four shows in three different classes in the 14-18 age group—the most competitive group of competition. She won in stumps (barrel racing), stakes (pole weaving) and keyhole events. In 1993 she repeated as total points champion in all three events, also winning most of the events at the individual shows.

In her first year of Appaloosa Horse Club competition three years ago, she was ninth in the nation in Rookie of the Year competition and qualified as a national finalist, although she didn't attend the national finals. She received a web horse halter with the Ninth Place award printed on it.

In most of her 10 years in the New Maine 4-H club, Jenny carried the horse project, competing at county 4-H horse shows. She has had the same horse in games events throughout her riding years, also using "Lady" in some halter and pleasure classes although she occasionally used her brother Troy's registered Arabian horse "Perlonna Sue" in pleasure classes. "Sue" is now 21 years old. In addition to the horse project, she carried 4-H projects in conservation and flower gardening.

As much as she enjoys riding, however, Jenny does not confine her interests to horses. While a student at Marshall County Central high school in Newfolden, she participated in athletics and music activities. She broke her sister's school record in the two-mile run while in seventh grade, a mark which still stands, and later participated in sprint races and the high jump.

She played basketball and volleyball, winning a most improved player award in volleyball. She also sang in the choir, played in the school band and performed in the high school musical. Last spring she made a one-week trip to Mexico with her school Spanish club.

About three months ago Jenny joined the rest of the family as an employee of Arctco, Inc., in Thief River Falls, working in snowmobile assembly. Her father, Jim, is a fireman in the fiberglass manufacturing area and her mother Marlene, has worked for 11 years in the sewing department. Her brother Troy, 24, is a welder with the company and her sister Melissa, 21, works in the hood assembly area.

The Taggarts keep their eight horses—which includes two baby fillies and Troy's two mustangs purchased from a government sale of range horses—at their farm yard four miles north of Newfolden. They purchased the site from Marlene's father, Norman Ueland, and have access to pasture on his farm if needed.

For Jenny the future in horse show competition is undecided. Age has moved her out of the highly competitive 14-18 grouping of the Appaloosa Horse Club and the challenges there.

Whatever course her riding takes from here, she will have the memory of the year when she went to the state 4-H horse show and showed 'em all how to weave poles. There's something satisfying about proving you're the best at something, and Jenny should be very satisfied.

This high school graduation photo of Jenny Taggart is a favorite of her parents, Jim and Marlene Taggart of rural Newfolden. Jenny has been riding horses competitively since she was about 12 years old.

Throughout her competitive riding career, Jenny Taggart has used her registered Appaloosa "She's A Foxy Lady." The 15-year-old mare has also produced three foals. For the past two years Jenny and "Lady" have won the high point championship of the Red River Valley International Appaloosa Horse Club.

A successful state 4-H horse show performance was celebrated by Jenny Taggart of Newfolden when she won the pole weaving championship, finished fifth in jumping figure eight and ninth in barrel racing. This photo was taken at the state fairgrounds in St. Paul.

Nice weather helps farmers with harvest

Minnesota Agricultural Statistics Service reported October 31 that farmers across the state took advantage of nearly six days of nice weather last week to nearly wrap up the soybean and sugarbeet harvest, and advance the corn harvest.

Corn harvest advanced 28 percentage points, and by week's end stood at 57 per cent complete. The average moisture of the corn being harvested dropped three percentage points from the previous week to 20 per cent.

Sunflower harvest edged up four percentage points for the week. Moisture in the northwest corner of the state is slowing the harvest.

Along with harvest activity, farmers are busy shredding corn stalks. Harvested soybean and corn fields are being plowed. Fall chemical applications are being made in preparation for next year's crops.

Top soil moisture for the state dropped from being mostly surplus two weeks ago to mostly adequate this past week. No reports have been received for soil moisture being less than adequate. As of Friday, topsoil moisture was 0 per cent very short, 0 per cent short, 71 per cent adequate and 29 per cent surplus.

RDC awarded $65,000 flood disaster grant

Northwest Regional Development Commission has been awarded a $65,000 flood disaster grant from the Minnesota Department of Trade and Economic Development to be used for loans to redevelop area businesses damaged in the 1993 floods.

The state funds were made available as part of the $9.1 million flood relief package signed into law in May. The money will go into a revolving loan fund for small businesses to use for working capital. Both retail and service industries are eligible for the low-interest loans.

This grant, administered by the Department of Trade and Economic Development, was recommended by the Minnesota Long Term Recovery Grants Coordination Group. Appointed by Gov. Arne Carlson last summer, the group is composed of representatives of 14 state and federal agencies who met weekly to consider flood recovery projects.

"Immediately after last summer's flooding started, Minnesota was one of the first states to respond with comprehensive state and federal action," stated E. Peter Gillette Jr., commissioner of the Department of Trade and Economic Development.

"This cooperation among all levels of government has ensured that help reaches those that need it the most. To date, approximately $1.3 billion of federal and state aid has been provided in Minnesota for flood recovery."

Middle level alternative program open

A new middle level alternative education program is being offered at Franklin middle school in Thief River Falls in conjunction with the Area Learning Center. Space for the program at Franklin is available as a result of the recent additions and remodeling.

Students who are not having success in the traditional setting can be referred to the middle level alternative program by their parent, teacher, counselor or principal. The program runs from 8 a.m. to 12:38 p.m. Monday through Friday.

In the program, students work on their core courses during the above time period in the Area Learning Center and take electives and physical education in the regular classrooms in the afternoon.

Students must meet one of the following guidelines of the High School Graduation Incentives Act in order to be accepted into the alternative program:

- At least two grade levels below in performance;
- At least one year behind in completing course work or obtaining credits;
- Pregnant or a parent;
- Assessed as chemically dependent;
- Excluded or expelled;
- Victim of physical or sexual abuse;
- Experienced homelessness any time in the past six months;
- At risk of not succeeding in school.

The last requirement is the most common, especially at the middle level, according to Wayne Johaneson, ALC coordinator.

The middle level program is open to all students in this area ages 12 through 15. The students will receive more individual help than in a traditional setting and curriculum will fit each student's needs. The program is for students who are failing in some or all of their classes but do not qualify for special help.

"Objective of the program is to help the students with their needs and get them back into the regular classroom as soon as possible," Johaneson added.

"For more information contact Johaneson at the Northwest Area Learning Center (681-8676) or Pam Carlson at Franklin middle school (681-8813).

Swimmers have strong final meet

Strong performances up and down the Thief River Falls line-up highlighted the Prowlers' final regular season girls high school swim meet Thursday against Crookston. However, the visiting Pirates still came out a 109-77 dual meet winner.

"It was a good meet for us," said Thief River Falls coach Ryan Lokken. "As a team it was probably one of the best meets we've swam all year. Almost everyone had their best times of the year."

The difference on the scoreboard, explained Lokken, was the Pirates' strength in the stroke events like the breast and back vs. the Prowlers' edge in the freestyle races.

A Thief River Falls highlight was a 1-2-3 finish by seniors Theresa Giauque, Sarah Harger and Mandy Johnson in the 200 freestyle.

Giauque also won the 500 freestyle. Jennifer Olin and Becky Mattson followed a familiar season-long script with a 1-2 finish in diving, while Becky Harger, Nicole Kopari, Giauque, and Johnson combined on a first place 400 freestyle relay team.

Section 8 swimming and diving championships will be held November 11-12 in Alexandria.

Volleyball freshmen win season-ending Prowler Invitational

Thief River Falls won the A portion and Grand Forks Schroeder II took the B title in the Prowler Freshman Invitational volleyball tournament Saturday (Oct. 29).

The Thief River Falls A team finished the year 16-2, including a first place 11-1 regular season record in the Freshman League, while the Thief River Falls B team went 8-6 and placed third in the league standings.

Section 8A Target program session planned for UMC

Approximately 200 to 250 high school students from Section 8A are expected to be on hand Wednesday, Nov. 23, when a day-long Minnesota State High School League Target program, promoting a chemically-free lifestyle, will be held at the University of Minnesota, Crookston.

The session will be held from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at Bede Hall at the UMC campus. Guest speakers will be Tom Keating of Monticello High School and Dave Sjoblad from Brainerd Community College.

Students participating in the event were selected from each of the participating Section 8A member schools.

Alexandria is Section 8AA volleyball tourney winner

Alexandria defeated Sauk Rapids 15-10, 15-1, 15-4 Thursday in the Section 8AA high school volleyball tournament finals.

The 24-3 Cardinals, a 3-0 winner over Thief River Falls in the North Sub-Section 8AA semifinals last week, will appear in the 1994 Class AA state volleyball tournament November 10-12 at the St. Paul Civic Center.

Top-seeded Alexandria swept second-seeded Moorhead 15-11, 15-2, 15-9 Tuesday in the North Sub-Section 8AA finals.

The Cardinals were ranked No. 3 in the final regular season Associated Press Class AA poll, while the Spuds were No. 9.

An upset in the South Sub-Section 8AA finals Tuesday found No. 2-seeded Sauk Rapids beating No. 1-seeded Rocori 15-13, 15-9, 15-12.

All-conference team named

Roseau, 10-0 in winning the North Border Conference this fall, headed the selections for the 1994 all-conference volleyball team, announced at the completion of the Section 8A Sub-Section 4 tournament at Northland Community College Monday – won by the Rams with a 3-0 sweep over Marshall County Central.

REAL ESTATE FOR SALE LOCATED IN ALMA TOWNSHIP, MARSHALL COUNTY, MINNESOTA

The following land is offered for sale by the Estate of Helen Roland.

The South Half (S1/2) of Section Twenty-three (23) in Township One Hundred Fifty-six (156) North, Range Forty-seven (47) West, EXCEPT that part conveyed to the church, Alma Township, Marshall County.

The farmstead includes a 30' x 80' wood frame quonset building, a 3,200 bushel steel grain bin, two 2,250 bushel steel grain bins, one Lowry portable grain bin, one frame storage shed and a silo.

The real estate is enrolled in the CRP program with 212.2 acres enrolled at $44.00 per acre through 1997 and 89 acres enrolled at $43.50 per acre through 1995, with an option to extend the 1995 expiration date for an additional one year.

The procedure for bidding on the sale of this real estate will be as follows:

1. Sealed bids shall be submitted to the law office of Myhre, Drenckhahn & Williams, P.A., 423 Main North, P.O. Box 159, Warren, MN 56762, no later than 5:00 o'clock P.M. on November 8, 1994.
2. Those submitting the highest five written bids will be permitted to orally raise their bids on November 11, 1994, at 1:30 o'clock P.M. at the office of Myhre, Drenckhahn & Williams, 423 Main North, Warren, Minnesota.
3. Terms of the sale are cash with a 10% down payment to be made when the bid is accepted and full payment to be made within 30 days thereafter.
4. The estate reserves the right to reject any and all bids.
5. The purchaser will assume all obligations and benefits from the CRP program.

NCC nursing students all pass RN test

All graduates of the 1994 nursing program at Northland Community College passed the National Council Licensure Examination for registered nurses, according to recent results published by the Minnesota Board of Nursing.

NCC's Associate in Science nursing program graduates approximately 60 students per year, making it the second largest program on campus. After passing the exam, students are granted licensure to practice professional nursing by the Board of Nursing.

The 1994 graduating students were the first to participate in the new computerized adaptive testing. Beginning in April of 1994, RN candidates have been able to complete the licensure examination on a computer at one of many test centers in the United States. With computerized adaptive testing—unlike paper-and-pencil testing—the computer selects questions the student will be answering as the student takes the examination. Students may now complete the examination on any day of the week and at any time of year as opposed to past examinations which were given only twice yearly.

Northland Community College nursing program is a one-year program that admits only licensed practical nurses. Nursing classes are provided on the Thief River Falls campus and its satellite campus at Bemidji State University. Students then receive clinical experiences at health care institutions located in Roseau, Crookston, Thief River Falls, Bemidji or Park Rapids.

The expansive outreach and "blocking" of classes allows the program to meet the needs of many students who wish to remain in their own communities and continue their education. Because of this availability, the program is able to provide registered nurses to many small health care institutions in northwestern Minnesota.

The NCC nursing program is a member of the Agassiz Region Nursing Education Consortium (ARNEC) whose members include programs of nursing located in technical and community colleges and state universities within northwestern Minnesota and eastern North Dakota. The program provides an articulated or stepladder approach to nursing education beginning with practical nursing and progressing to doctoral degree programs. ARNEC promotes continued learning through the articulated curriculums and other cooperative arrangements between nursing programs.

Persons with questions about the NCC nursing program may contact Deb Filer at 218-681-2181 or 1-800-628-9918.

In its November 1, endorsement of Ken Murphy, the GRAND FORKS HERALD said,

"Murphy...would make a much more effective legislator than Rep. Tim Finseth of Angus."

..."In his short tenure in office, Finseth, 30, has not distinguished himself and seems content to follow the party line set by the House Republican leadership."

..."Murphy offers district residents more than a terrific list of credentials. He has a healthy approach to public service. He listens to people, cuts to the heart of an issue and aggressively speaks up for the people of Northwestern Minnesota.

ASK YOUR LOCKSMITH
Questions And Answers

Q I've seen the word "ALOA" on a couple of locksmiths' Yellow Pages ads. What does "ALOA" mean?

A ALOA. It's not Hawaiian for "Hello" or "Goodbye," but it stands for the Associated Locksmiths of America, Inc. (ALOA). ALOA is a trade association of qualified, ethical, professional locksmiths who are actively engaged in supplying, servicing or installing locks, keys and all related lines of the security industry. ALOA assures you as a consumer that you are dealing with a professional locksmith, a dedicated individual who not only has the educational and technical competence, but a real desire to provide the right security for you and your property.

So how do you know that you are dealing with an ALOA member? First, look in the Yellow Pages for the locksmith who uses the ALOA symbol. Every ALOA member carries an ALOA identification card to show proof of his or her qualifications. Many members have taken the time to study special-interest areas, such as safes, automotive security, or other areas. After passing a test, this member is designated as a Registered Locksmith (RL), a Certified Professional Locksmith (CPL), or a Certified Master Locksmith (CML).

Technical college ratifies contract with instructors

At a special board meeting held in Detroit Lakes October 26, the Northwest Technical College board ratified the faculty contract for instructors for the 1993-95 school years.

Faculty at the six campuses in Bemidji, Detroit Lakes, East Grand Forks, Moorhead, Thief River Falls and Wadena had ratified the proposal on an earlier date.

The board also ratified the PSRP contract for clerical, paraprofessional and food service employees for the same time period. Both groups of employees are represented by the Minnesota Federation of Teachers Local No. 4777.

The faculty contract calls for increases of 2.5 per cent off schedule for the 1993-94 school year for each full-time faculty member, which includes salary and fringe benefits. Instructors other than full-time will have the increase prorated according to contract.

For the 1994-95 school year each full-time faculty member will receive a 1.25 per cent increase on schedule starting July 1, 1994, and a 1.25 per cent increase on schedule Jan. 1, 1995. The January 1 payment is annualized and NTC will pay up to one-half of this amount in 1994-95. The figures for 1994-95 also include both salary and fringe benefits.

A 3.25 per cent increase on schedule which includes salary and fringe benefits will take effect on June 30, 1995.

The PSRP contracts call for a 2.46 per cent increase off schedule for 1993-94, a 3.18 per cent increase on schedule for 1994-95 and a 4.01 per cent increase on schedule for 1995-96.

The NTC board also approved contracts for campus presidents and vice presidents, business managers and building and grounds supervisors.

Experience and Commitment Make an Effective Representative For District 1-A

I've met many wonderful people while on the campaign trail. I've enjoyed visiting with you in your homes and meeting with your organizations. We've discussed the issues end I've listened to your concerns. I know the problems our district is feced with — I em committed to the future of rural Minnesota.

During the past twelve yeers I have been proud to serve es your State Representative for rural Minnesota. Now that the metropolitan arees have more representatives than the rural erees, my 12 yeers of SENIORITY will be more important than ever before to rural Minnesota. I em esking for your support on November 6th.

A PROVEN RECORD OF COMMITMENT TO DISTRICT 1-A:

- ☑ EDUCATION — District 1-A has four new schools. All the school districts in 1-A have the opportunity for interactive Television and grants were available for equipment. As a former school board member I believe that each school district should decide on what curriculum is taught and whet graduation rules ere applied. As your State Representative I will introduce legislation to make the state pay e larger share of education. I am proud to be an advocate for rural schools.
- ☑ AGRICULTURE — I was one of 13 Representatives to vote against the Wetlands Bills. I will continue to fight for the rights of property owners. Homestead Credit, Agricultural Credits, end Local Government Aid, have been restored. I have always voted for lower property taxes, and will continue when re-elected. My votes for agriculture resulted in e 100% rating from Farmers Union.
- ☑ SENIOR CITIZENS — Our seniors have worked to make sure we had a better future, and now it is our turn to help them. I've supported legislation for Meals On Wheels, Alternative Care Grant Programs end Home Care Services (so seniors can remain in their homes longer). My record speaks for itself.
- ☑ BUSINESS — I have e record of working for good business in Minnesota. I euthored legislation for Workers' Compensation reform, supported property tax relief for commercial end industrial property. I supported a balanced state budget with NO major tax increases. With the expansion of Polaris and Marvin Windows, I support helping these communities in providing affordable housing so these industries can continue to expand.
- ☑ HEALTH CARE — Health care must be affordable and available. I did not support Minn-Care. I supported legislation thet DOES NOT tax our rural health care providers, hospitals, and clinics.
- ☑ TAXES — I am not for increasing taxes and thet includes property taxes. I will introduce legislation to change the source of education funding so property taxes will be reduced.
- ☑ RIGHT TO BEAR ARMS — During my 12 years I have always voted for the Right to Bear Arms. That is why I have been endorsed by the National Rifle Association.

"I have appreciated serving as your State Representative. I have the experience, knowledge, and seniority to see that District 1-A continues to have an EFFECTIVE VOICE in St. Paul. Having a representative with seniority does make a difference. Together we can make our government more effective and responsive to the people of Minnesota."

ENDORSED BY NATIONAL RIFLE ASS'N. MN EDUCATION ASS'N. MN FEDERATION OF TEACHERS. FARMERS. LABOR. HEALTH CARE EMPLOYEES & PROVIDERS. NURSES. RURAL ELECTRIC. BUSINESS. THE LIST GOES ON AND ON

TIM FINSETH's opponent questions who he represents.
The answer is simple -- TIM FINSETH represents his district!

TIM FINSETH doesn't bow down to big city liberals or their agendas that were created to make liberals look good.

TIM FINSETH:
• protects the rights of law-abiding citizens to keep and bear arms.
• defends our right to feel safe in our homes and communities.
• cares about every family working hard to pay the bills.
• fights for the interests of farmers and their property rights.
• fosters economic development and job growth in Northwestern Minnesota
• believes in quality educational opportunities for our children.

Tim Finseth voted for you 100% of the time!

TIM FINSETH has only one interest -- the people of District 1B.

Olson again secretary of Riverland Ass'n.

Julie Olson of Thief River Falls was retained as executive secretary of the Riverland Association at the annual meeting of the organization held October 19 at the Northland Inn in Crookston.

The association is a regional tourism marketing group that includes the communities of Crookston, Thief River Falls, St. Hilaire, Red Lake Falls, Fertile, East Grand Forks and Fosston.

Jeannine Windels of Crookston was elected president for 1995 with Mike Moore of Fertile as vice president, Gary Christianson of East Grand Forks as secretary and Rosanna Erickson of Fosston as treasurer. Past president is Laurel Skala of Fosston.

Among those in attendance at the meeting in addition to Olson were Dave Burris of Thief River Falls and Bea Kruse of St. Hilaire.

Skala reviewed 1994 achievements of the association which included the following:

• Attendance and promotional booths at the Winnipeg RV show and the SnoDak and MN USA snowmobile shows;

• Publication and distribution of 10,0000 spring/summer regional visitor guides; 10,000 fall/winter guides; and 10,000 NW Minnesota events guides;

• Direct mail of Northwest Minnesota events guides to 5,000 people in Canada, North Dakota, South Dakota and Minnesota; mailing of 2,500 spring/summer Riverland Visitor Guides into Canada; and mailing of 1,000 fall/winter Guides to registered snowmobilers in Manitoba, South Dakota, North Dakota, Illinois, Wisconsin, Iowa and Minnesota.

Newly elected president Windels presented the 1995 plan of action which includes two new projects: Conducting a snowmobile circuit ride in the Riverland communities and hosting a one-day Region 1 tourism conference in the spring of 1995.

The snowmobile circuit ride will kick-off Dec. 31, 1994 and continue until February 12, 1995. It is being planned in cooperation with area snowmobile clubs, the Northwest Regional Development Commission, area radio stations and local business sponsors.

Snowmobilers may participate at no cost. After completing the ride, which will include stops at participating sponsors in the Riverland communities, participants will be eligible for six weekly drawings for cash or prizes and for a major drawing to be held on Feb. 15, 1995.

Next meeting of the association will be November 16 at noon at Mike's Pizza in East Grand Forks. More information about the organization is available from Julie Olson at 681-3720.

Statistic service shows prices down for major commodities

Mid-September Index of Prices Received by Minnesota farmers was 121, down three points from August and down 10 points from a year ago, according to the Minnesota Agricultural Statistics Service. Corn, soybeans, cattle and hogs all continued their downward trend.

Crops index was down three points to 108 but six points above the index a year earlier. All wheat at $3.49 per bushel was up 35 cents from the August estimate. Corn at $1.87 per bushel was down eight cents, oats at $1.11 a bushel was up two cents, barley at $1.73 was down one cent, soybeans at $5.18 a bushel were down 26 cents and potatoes at $5.10 a hundredweight for all grades were down 45 cents.

All hay was down $2 a ton to $63 and alfalfa at $70 a ton was down $2. The all sunflower price at $12.40 per hundredweight was down $2.60 from the August price.

Meat animal index at 131 was down nine points from August and 26 points from a year ago. All hogs at $37.60 per hundredweight were down $5.20 from a month earlier. Sows at $27.20 were down $5 and barrows and gilts at $38 were down $5.40.

Beef cattle averaged $56.50 per hundredweight, down $1. Sheep brought $25.60 per hundredweight, up $1.40. Lambs were down $3.50 to $73.10 per hundredweight. Milk price at $12.90 was up 28 cents from August as the dairy index increased three points during the month to 146.

Poultry and egg index was unchanged at 99 and turkey prices were also unchanged at 34 cents per pound liveweight.

GREG WINSKOWSKI

Marshall County Sheriff

Thank You To The Residents of Marshall County

"I've had the pleasure of meeting and speaking with many of the residents of Marshall while on the campaign trail. I've listened to your concerns and have expressed my goals for a Sheriff's Department that will be accountable and responsive to the people of Marshall County. Although I'd like to meet with each one of you personally, the size of our county makes it impossible. To those of you who've I've met, thank you for your words of support and encouragement – it is appreciated. If we haven't visited yet, I hope to see you in the days prior to the election.

If you have any questions or concerns about my goals for the Sheriff's Department, please don't hesitate to get in touch with me — I'll be happy to explain my objectives for a more responsive Sheriff's Department."

Area election races provide wide interest

Most surprising in this non-presidential election year were high turnouts among area counties. In Beltrami County, voter turnout was at about 65 per cent. In Kittson county, the turnout was at 77 per cent. Lake of the Woods recorded a turnout of 74 per cent. As with all elections, there were some surprises.

In Beltrami county, six of the races on the ballot included challenges by more than one candidate.

In the race for county commissioner, district 1, Brad Nord received 1,549 votes and Nancy Erickson received 1,318.

In the race for county commissioner, district 3, Leland G. Coe received 1,650 votes, while William Ihde received 1,101.

In the county commisioner, district 5 race, Gail Skare received 1,551, and Donald Moos received 1,124.

In the county auditor race, Chris Patten received 5,884 vote, and Deborah Allison received 5,770 votes.

In the county sheriff race, DeeWayne A. Rognstad received 9,624 votes, and Dwight Stewart received 2,305.

In the county recorder race, Ann F. Allen received 6,330 votes, and John Lund received 5,339 votes.

Tim Favor, was unopposed in his bid for county attorney and received 10,206 votes. Kay Mack was unopposed in her bid for county treasurer and received 10,863 votes.

Kittson county

In Kittson county, there were two races in which more than one candidate ran for the same office.

In the county sheriff race, Ray Hont, the incumbent, received 1,424 votes, and Ken Hultgren received 1,359.

In the county attorney race, Roger Malm received 1,524 votes, and Bruce Nielson received 1,244.

In the unopposed races, Joe Bouvette received 628 votes for county commissioner district 3. In the county commissioner, district 5 race, Randy Swenson received 464 votes. In the county auditor race, Marilyn Gustafson received 2,566 votes. In the county treasurer race, Bob Laude received 2,642 votes. In the county recorder office, Janice Klein recieved 2,568 votes.

Lake of the Woods

In Lake of the Woods, where turnout was 74 per cent of the voting population, there were two races in which candidates were vying for the same position.

In the county commissioner district 1 race, David Swenson received 194 votes and Roy A. Abraham received 149 votes.

In the county commissioner, district 3 race, Vernon James received 195 votes, and Mark D. Friesen received 182 votes.

In the unopposed races, the following results were recorded: county auditor - Ellen Larson, 1,628 votes; county treasurer - Mark Hall, 1,607 votes; county recorder - Sharon Bitter, 1,623; county sheriff - Robert C. Paulseth, 1,563; and county attorney - John R. Krouss, 1,533.

Marshall County

In Marshall county, three positions on the ballot faced challenges from two or more candidates.

In the county commissioner, district 1 race, Terry Potucek upset Cal Melgard, 620 to 495.

In the county commissioner, district 5 race, Delray Larson received 656 votes, and Mary Ness received 233 votes.

In the county sheriff race, Dennis Brekke, the incumbent, received 3,379 votes, and Greg Winskowski received 1,516 votes.

In the unopposed races, the following results were recorded: Ben Kleinwachter received 925 votes for district 3 commissioner, Roy Swanson received 4,508 for county treasurer, Marion Halvorson received 4,460 votes for county recorder, and Michael Williams received 4,268 votes for county attorney.

Red Lake County

In Red Lake county, where voter turnout was at 75 per cent, three offices on the ballot faced challenges by two candidates each.

In the race for county commissioner, first district, Nancy Haglund received 234 votes, and Vernon Wavra received 191 votes.

In the race for county commissioner, fifth district, Lee Nielson received 245 votes, and Lloyd Sorenson received 130 votes.

In the race for county auditor, Robert Bob Schmitz received 1,045 votes, and Karla Moran received 1,000 votes.

In the races in which the candidates were unopposed, the following results were recorded: Edward G. Larson received 348 votes for county commissioner, third district, Joy Guillemette received 1,912 for county treasurer, G. W. "Jerry" Thibert received 1,874 votes for county recorder, Alan Morken recieved 1,910 votes for county sheriff, and Daniel Geller received 1,805 votes for county attorney.

Keeping WATCH AROUND THE REGION

Sherry LaCoursiere

Too good to be true—and it wasn't

Roseau — Frank's TV/Radio Shack in Roseau was the victim of a credit card scam recently. The store received three separate telephone orders for shipments totalling more than $7,000 for television sets, a VCR and several camcorders. It turned out that scam artists from Pennsylvania used stolen credit card numbers to purchase the equipment and Frank and Carol Poell, owners of the store, have now been informed by MasterCard that they are financially responsible for the charges because they did not obtain signatures for the merchandise. The Poells are fighting the card company claim and Carol Poell says, "Over my dead body are they going to get the money back."

Benefit for C. Hodne on Sunday

Middle River — There will be a benefit supper for Corey Hodne Sunday, November 13, from 4 to 8 p.m. at Our Savior's Lutheran church in Thief Lake. Menu is French toast and sausage and a free will offering will be taken. Hodne is the son of Howard and Geri Hodne of Middle River and was involved in an automobile accident in which he suffered head injuries. He is hospitalized in Grand Forks, ND. Funds raised will assist the family with medical expenses.

To receive input on multi-events center

Input from community and area representatives in planning for the multi-events cultural center in Thief River Falls will be received at meetings planned for Monday and Tuesday, November 14 and 15, at Northland Community College in Thief River Falls.

Norman Triebwasser and Craig Helenski, architects for the center, will make brief presentations on the current status of the project. The joint powers board will then accept ideas, suggestions and concerns that local and area people have regarding usage, functions, operations and design of the facility.

Members of the joint powers board for the center are Dr. Orley Gunderson of Northwest Technical College, Sue Minnick of Northland Community College, Mayor Bob Reeve, Pennington county board chairman Ken Murphy and school board member Darla Twomey.

Sessions will begin at 10 a.m. Monday with representatives of Thief River Falls amateur sports organization. A luncheon will be held at noon with manufacturing representatives.

At 1:30 p.m. the swimming pool committee has been invited to meet and at 3 p.m. area athletic directors will provide their views and ideas.

On Tuesday at 8 a.m. representatives of the local Chamber of Commerce and the retail/hospitality area will participate. Native American representatives are scheduled to provide their input from 10 a.m. to noon.

From 1:30 to 3 p.m. the rental housing issue will be discussed by city planner Don Stewart and city engineer Ron Lindberg. Faculty and staff from Northwest Technical College and Northland Community College will meet at 3:15 p.m.

The architects and members of the joint powers board will meet at a 5:30 p.m. dinner at the Best Western Inn Tuesday.

In April of 1994 the Minnesota Legislature was asked to fund the regional multi-events cultural center at a total cost of $8,540,000. The project was proposed to include $1 million for a stadium, football field and track complex, $4,220,000 for a field house, $80,000 for tennis courts, $202,000

Among the spaces in the new addition to the elementary school at Newfolden is the technology center which will house library and other materials and equipment. The one-story addition bridges a gap between the gymnasium and classroom area of the school where the older two-story portion was removed earlier this year. Open house will be held at the school Thursday, November 17, from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. with the public invited. (See story on Page 3)

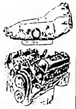
Mid-September Index of Prices Received by Minnesota farmers was 121, down three points from August and down 10 points from a year ago, according to the Minnesota Agricultural Statistics Service. Corn, soybeans, cattle and hogs all continued their downward trend.

Crops index was down three points to 105 but six points above the index a year earlier. All wheat at $3.49 per bushel was up 35 cents from the August estimate. Corn at $1.87 per bushel was down eight cents, oats at $1.11 a bushel was up two cents, barley at $1.73 was down one cent, soybeans at $5.18 a bushel were down 26 cents and potatoes at $5.10 a hundredweight for all grades were down 45 cents.

All hay was down $2 a ton to $63 and alfalfa at $70 a ton was down $2. The all sunflower price at $512.40 per hundredweight was down $2.60 from the August price.

Meat animal index at 131 was down nine points from August and 26 points from a year ago. All hogs at $37.60 per hundredweight were down $5.20 from a month earlier. Sows at $27.20 were down $5 and barrows and gilts at $38 were down $5.40.



Beef cattle averaged $56.50 per hundredweight, down $1. Sheep brought $25.60 per hundredweight, up $1.40. Lambs were down $3.50 to $73.10 per hundredweight. Milk price at $12.90 was up 28 cents from August as the dairy index increased three points during the month to 146.

Poultry and egg index was unchanged at 99 and turkey prices were also unchanged at 34 cents per pound liveweight.

GREG WINSKOWSKI
Marshall County Sheriff
Thank You To The Residents of Marshall County
"I've had the pleasure of meeting and speaking with many of the residents of Marshall while on the campaign trail. I've listened to your concerns and have expressed my goals for a Sheriff's Department that will be accountable and responsive to the people of Marshall County. Although I'd like to meet with each one of you personally, the size of our county makes it impossible. To those of you who've I've met, thank you for your words of support and encouragement – it is appreciated. If we haven't visited yet, I hope to see you in the days prior to the election.
If you have any questions or concerns about my goals for the Sheriff's Department, please don't hesitate to get in touch with me — I'll be happy to explain my objectives for a more responsive Sheriff's Department."

WATCH AROUND THE REGION

Sherry LaCoursiere

Too good to be true—and it wasn't

Roseau — Frank's TV/Radio Shack in Roseau was the victim of a credit card scam recently. The store received three separate telephone orders for shipments totalling more than $7,000 for television sets, a VCR and several camcorders. It turned out that scam artists from Pennsylvania used stolen credit card numbers to purchase the equipment and Frank and Carol Poell, owners of the store, have now been informed by MasterCard that they are financially responsible for the charges because they did not obtain signatures for the merchandise. The Poells are fighting the card company claim and Carol Poell says, "Over my dead body are they going to get the money back."

Benefit for C. Hodne on Sunday

Middle River — There will be a benefit supper for Coray-Hodne Sunday, November 13, from 4 to 8 p.m. at Our Savior's Lutheran church in Thief Lake. Menu is French toast and sausage and a free will offering will be taken. Hodne is the son of Howard and Geri Hodne of Middle River and was involved in an automobile accident in which he suffered head injuries. He is hospitalized in Grand Forks, ND. Funds raised will assist the family with medical expenses.

Area election races provide wide interest

Most surprising in this non-presidential election year were high turnouts among area counties. In Beltrami County, voter turnout was at about 65 per cent. In Kittson county, the turnout was at 77 per cent. Lake of the Woods recorded a turnout of 74 per cent. As with all elections, there were some surprises.

In Beltrami county, six of the races on the ballot included challenges by more than one candidate.

In the race for county commissioner, district 1, Brad Nord received 1,549 votes and Nancy Erickson received 1,318.

In the race for county commissioner, district 3, Leland G. Coe received 1,650 votes, while William Ihde received 1,101.

In the county commisioner, district 5 race, Gail Skare received 1,551, and Donald Moos received 1,124.

In the county auditor race, Chris Patten received 5,884 vote, and Deborah Allison received 5,770 votes.

In the county sheriff race, DeeWayne A. Rognstad received 9,624 votes, and Dwight Stewart received 2,305.

In the county recorder race, Ann F. Allen received 6,330 votes, and John Lund received 5,339 votes.

Tim Favor, was unopposed in his bid for county attorney and received 10,206 votes. Kay Mack was unopposed in her bid for county treasurer and received 10,863 votes.

Kittson county

In Kittson county, there were two races in which more than one candidate ran for the same office.

In the county sheriff race, Ray Hunt, the incumbent, received 1,424 votes, and Ken Hultgren received 1,359.

In the county attorney race, Roger Malm received 1,524 votes, and Bruce Nielson received 1,244.

In the unopposed races, Joe Bouvette received 628 votes for county commissioner district 3. In the county commissioner, district 5 race, Randy Swenson received 464 votes. In the county auditor race, Marilyn Gustafson received 2,566 votes. In the county treasurer race, Bob Laude received 2,642 votes. In the county recorder office, Janice Klein recieved 2,568 votes.

Lake of the Woods

In Lake of the Woods, where turnout was 74 per cent of the voting population, there were two races in which candidates were vying for the same position.

In the county commssioner district 1 race, David Swenson received 194 votes and Roy A. Abraham received 149 votes.

In the county commissioner, district 3 race, Vernon James received 195 votes, and Mark D. Friesen received 182 votes.

In the unopposed races, the following results were recorded: county auditor - Ellen Larson, 1,628 votes; county treasurer - Mark Hall, 1,607 votes; county recorder - Sharon Bitter, 1,623; county sheriff - Robert C. Paulseth, 1,563; and county attorney - John R. Krouss, 1,533.

Marshall County

In Marshall county, three positions on the ballot faced challenges from two or more candidates.

In the county commissioner, district 1 race, Terry Potucek upset Cal Melgard, 620 to 495.

In the county commissioner, district 5 race, Delray Larson received 656 votes, and Mary Ness received 233 votes.

In the county sheriff race, Dennis Brekke, the incumbent, received 3,379 votes, and Greg Winskowski received 1,516 votes.

In the unopposed races, the following results were recorded: Ben Kleinwachter received 925 votes for district 3 commissioner. Roy Swanson received 4,508 for county treasurer, Marion Halvorson received 4,460 votes for county recorder, and Michael Williams received 4,268 votes for county attorney.

Red Lake County

In Red Lake county, where voter turnout was at 75 per cent, three offices on the ballot faced challenges by two candidates each.

In the race for county commissioner, first district, Nancy Haglund received 234 votes, and Vernon Wavra received 191 votes.

In the race for county commissioner, fifth district, Lee Nielson received 245 votes, and Lloyd Sorenson received 130 votes.

In the race for county auditor, Robert Bob Schmitz received 1,045 votes, and Karla Moran received 1,000 votes.

In the races in which the candidates were unopposed, the following results were recorded: Edward G. Larson received 348 votes for county commissioner, third district, Jay Guillemette received 1,912 for county treasurer, G. W. "Jerry" Thibert received 1,874 votes for county recorder, Alan Morken recieved 1,910 votes for county sheriff, and Daniel Geller received 1,805 votes for county attorney.

Area men injured in separate hunting accidents Sunday

Crookston — Two area men were injured in deer hunting accidents Sunday. A Crookston man was in serious condition after being shot in a deer hunting accident Sunday in Kertsonville township. Thomas Clauson, 40, of Crookston, was accidentally shot by Terry Ricketts, 24, of Mentor, while the two were working two separate deer drives. In another deer hunting accident Sunday, Eric Rieard, 17, of Beltrami, was accidentally shot in the foot by his brother, Steven, 26, of Benson. The Ricards were hunting in Section 10 of Russia township.

Open house set for MCC's new elementary addition

Open house for the new addition to the Marshall County Central elementary school at Newfolden will take place Thursday, November 17, from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. at the school. The event has been planned to coincide with American Education Week November 13-19.

According to elementary principal James Hodny, tours of the building will be conducted, refreshments served and door prizes awarded. The public is encouraged to visit the school and view the new addition that day.

The 60x76 single story addition replaces an old section of the elementary school which was razed last summer. It contains a technology center (expanded library), music room, staff room, rest rooms and a new heating plant to serve the entire building.

In addition to the new construction, the project involved remodeling to create an administrative offices and reception area and a three-room suite with storage to serve special education and Title I programs.

The elementary school in Newfolden serves grades four through six. Kindergarten through third grade students attend classes at the Viking elementary school.

Hodny said the total project cost for demolition of the old building, construction of the new addition and remodeling is approximately $700,000. Voters in the district approved a bond issue of $575,000 to permit the building project to go forward.

Ron Paggen is superintendent of schools at MCC. Eldon Augustine is board chairman with Doreen Amundson as clerk, Mark Carlson as treasurer, Donna Fosholm, Dan Olson, Scott Peters and Keith Ranum as board members.

SOUPÇON
Sherry LaCoursiere

More cold weather recipes again this weekend, including a great-sounding crock pot recipe thanks to Beraice Narum. Keep sending in those crock pot recipes — this is the perfect time of year for them.

Bernice says this is her family's favorite crock pot recipe and it sounds delicious — I bet a venison roast would taste great prepared this way:

ITALIAN POT ROAST
3-4 pound brisket, rump roast or pot roast
2-3 potatoes
2-3 carrots
1-2 onions
1/2 cup water or beef broth
8 ounce can tomato sauce
1 teaspoon oregano
1 teaspoon basil
Salt and pepper to taste

Put half of vegetables in bottom of crock pot.

Salt and pepper meat and add to pot. Add remaining vegetables, liquids and more salt and pepper.

Pour tomato sauce over all and sprinkle with oregano and basil.

Cover and cook on low for 10-12 hours (high 5-6 hours).

This vegetable soup may look hard to make, but it really isn't – you might like to give it a try when you have some time this weekend – it would be great to have on the stove when the tired and hungry hunters return:

This recipe is really quick too, and if you have never tried it, do so – it's delicious:

BORSCHT
2 cups shredded beets
1 cup chopped carrots
1 cup chopped onion
1 tablespoon butter
2 cups beef stock or consomme
1 cup shredded cabbage
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1/2 cup commercial sour cream

Cook beets, carrots and onion in boiling, salted water to cover for 20 minutes.

Add butter, stock and cabbage and cook 15 minutes. Add lemon juice and pour into bowls. Top with sour cream.

Here's a quick soup that tastes like you spent a long time cooking it?

QUICK CORN CHOWDER
1 can cream of mushroom soup
1 can whole kernel corn (2 1/2 cups)
4 cups milk
1 small onion, sliced
1 tablespoon fat
1/2 teaspoon salt
Dash of pepper

Combine soup, corn and milk. Add onion which has been browned in fat. Season with salt and pepper and simmer 15 minutes.

Retired Educators plan November 16 meeting in TRF

Northland Retired Educators will hold their Wednesday, November 16, meeting at the Evergreen Eating Emporium with a noon luncheon.

Retired educators in the area will find the program interesting, since Marsha Sandahl, assistant to the Superintendent of Schools of District 564, will speak and give a slide presentation on the new Challenger elementary school and show improvements and additions made to Franklin middle school and Lincoln high school.

All retired educators in the area are invited to enjoy lunch, visit with friends, become better informed on the state of area educational facilities and participate in the last business meeting of NRE until March of 1995.

Sunday dinner at Heritage Center

The Sunday, November 13, noon meal at the Heritage Center in Thief River Falls will be a ham dinner instead of chicken.

Lincoln class of 1955 to meet

Lincoln high school class of 1955 reunion meeting will be held at 7 p.m. Tuesday, November 15 at the Eagles basement meeting room.

LETTERS

To The Editor:

Now that the elections are over and the results are finally in, it is interesting to note the great change and political swing that has taken place. I, for one, did not appreciate all the mud-slinging campaigns for the state level positions that were filled. Even if the information was true, the professional, ethical behavior was disgusting in many cases. I hope the elected officials learned something!

Perhaps the most interesting, most controversial and most shocking campaign against the Democrat representatives was the video release of the Clinton Chronicles produced by Citizens for Honest Government. After viewing it a couple of times recently, I am still amazed and in "some" unbelief concerning the embarrassing level to which our national government has slipped.

In the video, the testimonies of the beaten lawyer, the mother who had a son that was killed and the young man who had a father that was assassinated, left a very convincing impression on my mind. When national news announced that our President was not even getting invitations to help Democrats in the southern states, I just knew that the video had received widespread recognition in most of the U.S. Perhaps many Minnesotans have not viewed it, but they should; it has many potent messages for honest Americans everywhere.

In years past, my dad taught me to vote for the person, not the party, because there are many godly people in both major camps. I still vote that way, but trying to pick the most honest, patriotic and loyal candidate is getting more and more difficult with each election. Anybody out there agree with me?

Yours for honesty in government,
Pastor M. Forsberg

"Jabberwock" at Lincoln next week

"Jabberwock," a comedy written by Jerome Lawrence and Robert E. Lee, will be presented as the fall play by the Lincoln high school drama department Friday and Saturday, November 18 and 19.

Connie Stock will direct the comedy based on the real and imagined happenings in the life of James Thurber. Curtain time each evening will be 7 p.m.

Mrs. Stock said that many hours have gone into creating the set for the production as well as rehearsal. A summary of the play will be included in the Wednesday, November 16 issue of The Times.

Election Predictions Revisited.....

Results of the general election Tuesday may have left a number of people in a state of shock, especially some pollsters and a few candidates who thought they had things wrapped up but were rejected by the voters. Our guesses last week on election outcomes proved to be right in 11 out of 13 cases—probably no worse than the pollsters predicted in their computerized analysis.

Voters in Minnesota again showed an independent spirit as they gave huge margins to both Independent Republican and Democrat Farmer-Labor candidates.

In the two offices where our guesses proved wrong, we will blame a lack of attention to a couple of situations. We predicted Democrat Donald Moe would win the State Auditor race over Independent Republican Judi Dutcher, although we did qualify the prediction by noting that Moe would win "unless the Marty gubernatorial campaign drags him down with it." That may well be what happened as Dutcher prevailed with a modest four per cent margin, 50 to 46 per cent of the vote. Total vote was 837,399 for Dutcher and 768,817 for Moe.

We also missed the State Treasurer race where we failed to give enough credit to the value of incumbency. DFLer Mike McGrath withstood the Republican surge to be elected over Jim Olson, although the margin was only one per cent of the vote, 48 per cent to 47 per cent. McGrath had 780,335 votes to 761,093 for Olson.

For U.S. Senator we gave the nod to Rod Grams over Ann Wynia and he prevailed with 49 per cent of the vote to 44 per cent. Vote totals were 875,358 to 784,206.

For Seventh District Congressman we predicted Collin Peterson would win reelection with a greater margin than he did two years ago. The margin was a little over 6,000 votes this year at 108,438 (51%) to 102,232 (49%) for IR challenger Bernie Omann. It was a larger margin than his win two years ago, but probably narrower than Peterson expected. When we talked to him at the Challenger school dedication last Sunday he appeared confident of a comfortable margin. Even in the Seventh District a two per cent margin can't be all that comfortable.

We predicted that Rep. Jim Tunheim shouldn't have any trouble being reelected in House District 1A over IR challenger Rob Bowen. He was reelected, but with plenty of trouble. Bowen had 6,636 votes for 49 per cent of the total while Tunheim had only 6,929 for 51 per cent.

In House District 1B we predicted Ken Murphy would need a strong Thief River Falls and Pennington county majority to unseat incumbent Tim Finseth, expecting Finseth to win on the strength of a good showing in the southern and western part of the district. Finseth received the expected support in those areas and Murphy failed to carry his home county. The Finseth total of 6,627 votes to 5,089 for Murphy translated to a 14 per cent margin, 57 per cent to 43 per cent.

Gov. Arne Carlson squashed DFL challenger John Marty, who remained true to his pledge to conduct a campaign on the issues—something which voters complained about most candidates not doing. Gov. Carlson polled 1,107,409 votes to 590,735 for Marty for a 64 to 34 percentage victory.

Joan Growe took out a new lease on the Secretary of State office as we predicted, polling 1,038,658 votes to only 637,529 for her IR opponent Dick Kimbler, a 60 to 37 per cent win.

Attorney General Hubert H. Humphrey III outpolled even Gov. Carlson with 1,122,313 votes to 490,242 for IR candidate Sharon Anderson. Skip's percentage of victory was 63 per cent to 28 per cent. We had predicted the Humphrey win.

We expected the voters to reject the state constitutional amendment on off-track betting with the margin probably being in the number of people not voting. Passage required a majority yes vote of those casting a ballot, meaning that those who voted neither yes nor no had their ballot tallied as a vote against the amendment. At the last count we were able to obtain, votes for were trailing actual votes against by about four percentage points with unmarked ballots yet to be tallied.

On the Pennington county level we predicted incumbents Ken Schmalz for County Recorder and Vickie Bjorgaard for County Treasurer would win reelection. Schmalz won 3,002 to 1,703 over Lemay Moe and Bjorgaard won 3,285 to 1,474 over Laura Nelson.

Bob Carlson won election to the Pennington county board of commissioners by a scant 16 votes over Bob Jablinske (394 to 378). Precinct 2A was split at 155 votes each, with Carlson winning Precinct 2B 138-136 and Precinct 1B 101-87. We predicted the Carlson win on the basis of his previous local success in election to city office over a lengthy period of local political service.

We reluctantly predicted that the School District 564 levy referendum would be defeated, primarily due to public confusion, misunderstanding or lack of information on the need and use for the additional funds. With returns from the small portion of the district in Red Lake county yet to be received, the referendum was being defeated 2,689 to 1,787.

We can now safely make one more prediction: There will be a good deal of concern and a lot of people asking why when the school board and administration enact substantial program cuts in the coming year. The district wasn't looking for $726,000 in surplus funds by requesting the special levy; it was hoping to maintain existing programs and improve areas which have lacked attention in the past several years. Yes, the schools will be open but the content won't be what it could have been.

Northern Watch Policies

Letters To The Editor: The staff of the Northern Watch encourages written responses to editorial comment or letters with original thoughts or ideas of general interest. Letters should be intended for publication in Northern Watch exclusively; letters sent to multiple publications will generally not be accepted. Right is reserved to edit letters for length and clarity and to reject letters deemed to be promotional in nature or in poor taste.

Letters Must Be Signed: All letters must be signed and contain an address or phone number of the writer so authenticity can be verified. Signatures must appear on letters published. The staff believes that there is greater credibility in letters signed in print and will not withhold names of writers from publication.

Responses Invited: Letters critical of individuals or other entities may be shown to those individuals or representatives of those entities in advance of publication with an invitation by newspaper staff for response in the same issue as the original letter.

Corrections: If an error is made in news or advertising publication, the staff encourages readers to call it to our immediate attention by calling 681-4450. We will attempt to correct the error or clarify the misunderstanding in the next issue.

Pauline Purath, Red Lake Falls, wheat weaving;

Kathy Michaels, Fertile, folk art painting on wood; and Jeanette Hoffman, Goodridge, hand painted t-shirts and sweatshirts.

New participants at craft showing

Craft show scheduled at the American Family Insurance office building at the intersection of Highway 59 and First Street Saturday, November 19 will have a different set of participants than are in the show there today, November 12. Hours will be from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Scheduled to show and sell their creations November 19 are the following:

Jeri (Lundin) Espeseth, New Brighton—Children's clothing and accessories;

Michelle Paulson, Thief River Falls—Christmas angels, snowmen, reindeer, puff sheep and apple centerpieces;

Vicki Kolden, Thief River Falls—Handmade jewelry made of millefore beads;

Carlin Lian, Grand Forks, ND—personalized tree ornaments; and Kristine Loeffler, Thief River Falls—Dry flower arrangements and eucalyptus sprays.

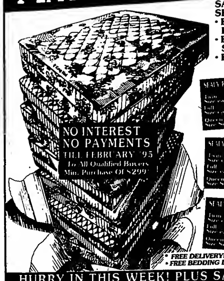
Alliss grants available now for winter quarter at Northland



Alliss grants are available for the 1994 winter quarter at Northland Community College. The Alliss grant was created in 1985 by the Alliss Education Foundation and has helped thousands of people (from age 25 to 60) start on their dream of a college education. Alliss grants cover first course costs of tuition and books.

You qualify for an Alliss grant and the chance to begin your college education if: you do not have a college degree; you are a Minnesota resident; you have been out of high school for at least seven years; you enroll at Northland Community College for the first time and have not enrolled in a post-secondary institution for the past seven years.

These courses can be broadcast to three of the following locations: Badger, McIntosh, Fertile, Middle River, Grenbush, Oklee, Grygla, Plummer, Karlstad, Red Lake Falls, and Lancaster. The school system does not have the capability to broadcast to all of the sites simultaneously; therefore, the three locations with the greatest number of registrations for these courses will receive the broadcast.

Winter quarter classes begin November 28, 1994, and end March 3, 1995. Call (218) 681-2181 or toll free at 1-800-628-9918 to register for these courses and indicate your desired location for receiving the telecast.

Agreements on articulation to assist students

Thief River Falls and the other five campuses of Northwest Technical College will sign articulation agreements Tuesday, November 15, with Moorhead State University, Bemidji State University and the University of Minnesota at Crookston.

"The agreements will allow technical college students to transfer to any of the three universities and work toward a four-year baccalaureate degree with a minimum loss of credits and time," states Dr. Orley Gunderson, Thief River Falls campus president.

The actual signing ceremony will take place in the conference center of the Detroit Lakes campus of the Northwest Technical College at 10 a.m. on Tuesday, November 15. The ceremony will be carried by the interactive television system to each of the other NTC campuses at Thief River Falls, East Grand Forks, Bemidji, Moorhead and Wadena.

Vern Treat, vice president of the Thief River Falls campus, will make a brief statement regarding the agreement and how it will affect the transfer process for students at the Thief River Falls campus.

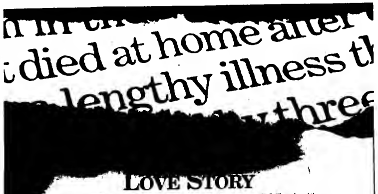
"Utilizing the interactive television system to cover the signing of the articulation agreements is symbolic of the importance the ITV technology will play in the future delivery of educational programs throughout the post high school education system," Dr. Gunderson said.

Signing the articulation agreements will be presidents of the three four-year universities and the six campus presidents in the Northwest Technical College system.

Also speaking at the signing ceremonies will be Sen. LeRoy Stumpf of Thief River Falls, chairman of the higher education division of the Senate Education Committee, and Dr. Jay Noren, chancellor of the Minnesota State Colleges and Universities system.

Sanders 4-H club to meet Monday

The Sanders 4-H club will meet Monday, November 14, at 7 p.m. at the Ken Asp home on county road 8 west of Thief River Falls.



Agenda includes Christmas wreath sales, Ag Activities Day December 2 at the U of M, Crookston, and the Sanders 4-H Christmas activity and party.

New members are always welcome. For directions to the Asp home, call 681-3272.

LOVE STORY

Read between the lines and you'll find warmth, tenderness, compassion. Today, dying at home after a long illness frequently means that a hospice team provided a person the opportunity and the care to spend those last days peacefully—with family and friends. Last year, hospice provided care and comfort to more than 275,000 terminally ill people and their families in the United States. In Gratitude

We wish to express our heartfelt thanks to our many relatives and friends who shared our deep sorrow with us, in the loss of our beloved husband and father, Mayer Holen. To the staff at Northwest Medical Center, Dr.s Heinrichs, Sanjay Patel and the other team of doctors and nurses who responded so quickly with professional loving care and concern. To the Green Funeral Home for their excellent services. To Pastor Wollenzien and Pastor Dahlen for the time you spent with our family, and the comforting service. To Jodi Holen, Jill Fosholm, Vernon Iverson, and LeRoy Aasland for the beautiful music. To all the Pallbearers. To Trinity LCW for serving the dinner. To the American Legion and V.F.W. for Military Honors. To all who brought food to the homes, for all the beautiful floral arrangements, memorials, letters and cards. Your many expressions of love and sympathy in sharing our loss will live with us forever.

"We cannot say, and will not say that he is dead – he is just away! With a cheery smile, and a wave of the hand, He has wondered into an unknown land, and left us dreaming how very fair it needs must, since he lingers there. So think of him faring on, as dear in the love of there as the love of here. Think of him still as the same, I say. He is not dead – he is just away."

Remembered with Love,

Chemical Health Week celebrated by Quin County TAD

In an effort to make the public aware of how chemical use affects society, Minnesota is celebrating Chemical Health week November 11 through 18. Theme of the week is "Alcohol, Tobacco and Other Drug Use Costs — Prevention Saves."

Goals of the special week are geared at making the community aware of the prevention efforts in the state and encourage wide-spread collaboration in promoting chemical health throughout the year.

Several area drug prevention programs are planning special programs in connection with Chemical Health week. Key dates during the week are:

• Friday, November 11, Madd Friday — Red Ribbon Day. Many area groups will be distributing red ribbons and also placing red ribbons on school bus antennas.

• Saturday and Sunday, November 12-13, Spirituality weekend — Churches in the area will place chemical awareness notices in their bulletins.

• Tuesday, November 15, Ghost Out Day — a day to demonstrate the tragic results of drinking and driving in which 55 people die every 24 hours due to alcohol-related traffic accidents in the United States. Students will demonstrate dramatic statements in school and the communities.

• Wednesday, November 16, Wear Red Day — wear red to show involvement with Chemical Health Week, either red clothing, a special T-shirt, buttons or pins.

• Thursday, November 17, D-Day, Don't Smoke Day — the day for individuals to make a commitment not to smoke.

• November 18, Harmony Day — a new day for 1994 in which harmony in communities is fostered by a variety of events and activities intended to bring students, parents, teachers and members of the community together to think, discuss, visualize and celebrate ways to create harmony in the community.

A chemical awareness program called TAD has been in existence for over five years in northwestern Minnesota, helping young students learn the effects of alcohol, tobacco and drug abuse and teaching them to avoid chemical abuse.

TAD stands for Tobacco, Alcohol and Drug Use Prevention. The program is operated by Quin County Community Health Services (CHS), which encompasses Kittson, Marshall, Pennington, Red Lake and Roseau counties.

The main goal of the project is to train fifth grade students to be teachers. Each year a few fifth graders from 11 schools in the five-county area, most of whom are chosen by their classmates, attend a two-day workshop at Camp Minne-Wa-Kan on Lake Andrusia near Cass Lake to learn how to teach their schoolmates about chemical awareness.

This September, 33 fifth graders from Goodridge, Argyle, Kennedy, Lancaster, Newfolden, Oklee, Plummer, Red Lake Falls, Roseau and Malung, Stephen and Grygla attended the sixth annual camp, along with their school advisors, and were bombarded with sessions on chemical abuse ranging from "Drinking and Driving," "Refusal Skills," "Smokeless Tobacco," "It's Your Body" and "Street Drugs," to "Bad Situations.

Presenters and coordinators were Al Anton, fifth grade teacher from Stephen; Val Aostad from Thief River Falls schools special education; Carol Borchert, Quin County CHS; Brenda Busbaw, Marshall County Social Services; Sharon Honk, TAD intern; Mark Kuleta, TAD camp coordinator; Jim Laagor, fifth grade teacher from Lancaster; DeeAnn Leines, Red Lake County Extension; Judy Lokstad, Quin County CHS; Nancy Maurstad, Marshall County Nursing Service; Helene McCauley, Thief River Falls school psychologist; Eric Mickelson, fifth grade teacher from Goodridge; and Dr. Owen Nelson, Red Lake Falls physician.

Students attending the camp enjoy a unique blend of education and recreation and find that they not only make new friends, but grow in self-esteem and leadership.

The reason a camp setting was chosen for the learning session, says Carol Borchert, Quin County Director, is "because it works so well. The students are away from distractions and can concentrate on learning," as well as enjoying the outdoor setting and two days away from school.

At the end of the session, each student receives a packet of materials on chemical abuse prevention to take back to their school, along with ideas on presentations to classmates and other grades in their school, as well as to the community.

The TAD Program not only equips students to teach classmates, but provides schools with ideas on how to present chemical awareness to students through newsletters, bulletin board materials, a curriculum manual, and support material such as videos, models, balloons, buttons and T-shirts.

In 1990, the Quin County TAD Project was awarded the "Minnesota Department of Health Award of Excellence for Health Promotion," an award based on goals and objectives met as determined by local community needs assessments.

The TAD Project originated in 1989 with a two year grant from the Governor's Drug Program through the State of Minnesota. The grant provided $33,000 per year for the program and local service clubs, schools, corporations and citizen volunteers also aided in funding.

In 1991, the grant was not renewed and TAD turned to local schools and counties for funding. Carol Borchert says that TAD is presently funded independently by grants, contributions from organizations and service clubs and fees from participating schools. The schools also pay for their students' attendance at the camp. Borchert says the program presently operates on about $5,000 per year.

The following area students and an advisor from each school were recently trained as peer educators at TAD Camp held at Camp Minne-WaKan at Cass Lake:

Kelsey Johnsrud and Mindy and Dustin Kotrba (advisor Eric Mickelson) from Goodridge school; Brandon Deschene and Jackie Magnusson (advisor Holly Deschene) from Argyle public school; Soren Bolstad, Kirsten Gunnarson, Paul Morrison and Catherine Brobeck (advisor Terry Thoreson) from Kittson County Central school; Nicole Bugstrom and Mark Bernstrom (advisor James Laager from Lancaster school; Alicia and Rhandi Halvorson and Andy and Josh Larson (advisor Doug Haven) from Marshall County Central school; and Cynthia Raiter and Doug Melby (advisor Deloris Haugen) from Oklee school.

Also, Jenny McMullen and Kyle Walter (advisor Lisa M. Tvedt) from Plummer school; Kylah Violette and Dustin Arlt (advisor Barb Seeger) from St. Joseph's school in Red Lake Falls; Angela Jain, Tara Johnson, Todd Higgins, Paul Hokanson, Alyssa Manecko and Kris Juhlin from Roseau school and Kayla Miller and Brannon Anderson (advisors Judy Lund and Jeanette Grangor) from Malung school; Ben Dziengel and Rachel Sang (advisor Al Anton) from Stephen schools; and Natalen Holte and Nathan Oast (advisor Mike Oast) from Grygla school.

Grand opening at Plummer Rec Center Saturday

Grand opening of the Plummer Rec Center in the former Mutt Hardware building is being held today (Saturday, November 12) from 3 to 11 p.m.

The public is welcome to attend at any time during the day but the hours of 7 to 9 p.m. have been designated as a time for adults to view the facilities. Coffee and cookies will be served and prizes awarded during those hours.

The Rec Center is a cooperative community venture with the school district leasing the building and a local governing board of students set up to handle the operations. It is open to young people from 3 to 10 p.m. during the week and 3 to 11 p.m. on Saturday.

WHEN THE DUST SETTLES, IT WON'T BE IN OUR SAW

In a constant shower of sawdust, we tested our Husky saw against a leading competitor's. Afterwards, theirs was packed with dust and losing power. Ours was clean with power at 100%. It's all because of our new Air Injection System. A system that keeps the intake air so clean, you can saw up to 20 times longer before cleaning the filter. And when you can do that... you can save time and money. You'll find this system in our 254 XP, 257 XP 262 XP, and the 394 XP... not to mention our consumer saws, the 36 and 41.

for ball fields, $825,000 for parking lots, $570,000 for site work and landscaping, $250,000 for an access link to Northland Community College, $162,000 for loose equipment, $732,000 for a contingency fund and $483,600 in fees.

The state included $2 million for the project in its bonding bill for the 1994 session with $1 million in addition to come from local funding or in-kind services for a total project cost of $3 million.

The proposed facility would be located east of the technical and community college complex along highway 1. Stated goal of the project is to provide the Thief River Falls region and northwest Minnesota with a facility that will serve education, recreation and competitive athletic activities.

"Users of the facility are potentially all the residents of the region as there is no such comparable facility in this part of the state," notes the project presentation made to the legislature.

Meeting planned on telecommunications

Dave Hughes, managing partner of Old Colorado City Communications, will speak about the need for a strategic plan in telecommunications at a meeting Wednesday, November 16, at 12 noon in the Best Western Inn of Thief River Falls.

The "Dutch treat" luncheon is open to the public and anyone interested is encouraged to attend.

Old Colorado City Communications is a full service internet, custom communications development and training company located in Colorado Springs. Hughes' talk at noon will follow a meeting from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. with the local telecommunications strategic plan task force.

Hughes will explain why such a plan is needed, how it is developed, what it should consist of and how it could be implemented.

The luncheon meeting is co-sponsored by the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce, TRF Jobs Incorporated, regional library systems, City of Thief River Falls, Northwest Medical Center, Northland Community College, Northwest Technical College in Thief River Falls, Thief River Falls public schools, Pennington county board of commissioners, Pennington county extension service and the Red River Trade Corridor.

Members of the task force include Deb Zak, county extension service; Ken Murphy, Pennington county board chairman; Heidi Hoks, Northwest Regional Library; Dick Sjoberg, Chamber of Commerce; Dr. Orley Gunderson, Northwest Technical College, Thief River Falls; Sue Minniek, Northland Community College; Arlo Rude, City of Thief River Falls; Chad Broadwell, Jobs Incorporated; Rhonda Amundson, Red Lake county extension; and Dick Spyhalski, Northwest Medical Center.

Northland Community Hospice celebrates Nov. Hospice Month

"November is National Hospice Month and a good time to reflect on the impact of hospice to society," states Martha Wissmann, executive director of Northland Community Hospice. "We are celebrating 20 years in America of offering compassionate, comprehensive care to terminally ill patients and their families.

"Hospice is a patient and family focused, cost effective way of humanely caring for terminally ill persons when curing the disease is no longer possible," she added. "It has grown from a single program in New Haven, Connecticut in 1974 to more than 2,000 hospice organizations across the country today. More and more people are finding hospice is a form of health care which addresses basic human needs."

"When people think about issues of death and dying," states John J. Mahoney, president of the National Hospice Organization in Arlington, VA, "they think about them in terms of fear—fear of dying alone, fear of dying in pain, fear of being a burden on the family. And certainly the family is fearful of how they're going to get along after the person dies.

"There are a lot of issues there, and they're more than just one dimensional. It goes to the basis of what hospice care is—that is, a philosophy of care that addresses the physical, emotional and spiritual needs of patients and families."

Hospice care was introduced to the United States by Dame Cicely Saunders, founder of the modern-day hospice health care concept and St. Christopher's Hospice just outside London, England.

As more hospice programs sprang up around the country, the need for movement-wide guidance, public awareness and financial stability became apparent. Final passage of the Medicare hospice benefit in August of 1982 made hospice care even more accessible to America's terminally ill patients and their families.

"The Medicare benefit made hospice accessible to people in a way we couldn't have dreamed of 20 years ago," Wissmann said. "Our hospice is Medicare pending at this time in order to respond to our patients' care needs and our own fiscal needs."

Today, the Medicare/Medicaid benefit provides almost 100 per cent coverage for the patient's needs relating to the terminal illness. About 60 per cent of all hospice patients are cared for under this benefit. Hospice care is also covered by most private health insurance plans.

"Many people hope to see the entire regulatory, legislative and professional education approach to hospice care broadened, while a volunteer-based community focus for hospice services is maintained," Wissmann said.

"Our success nationally is directly proportionate to our success in the community. You can't have one without the other."

According to Wissmann, recognizing the importance of practicing wellness—attending to the needs of the grieving family as well as the patient—is critical.

"The real challenge is to weave hospice care within the total fabric of the health care system," Wissmann said. "Many of the principles that relate to people who are terminally ill are equally applicable to those who aren't terminally ill. That, to me, continues to be the big challenge."

Northland Community Hospice has gained considerable experience in care of the dying over the 11 years it has been in existence.

"Palliative care is not something health care people study in school," Wissmann explains. "Knowledge about how to care for the dying is only obtained today through highly specialized training and under the supervision of qualified and experienced teachers. This our hospice has gone through in its nearly 12 years of experience and has already proven itself in its skill to the community.

Wissmann became director of the local hospice two years ago when she came to Thief River Falls after 10 years of work in caring for the dying.

"It became a special interest of mine when I worked with families trying desperately to provide loving care to their dying members. It truly is an act of love. I want to do whatever I can to help them do it," she said.

"Our hospice is a non-profit organization supported entirely by the community, grants and the United Way. Recently, in answer to my appeals for funding, we received generous support from the City of Red Lake Falls, the county governments of Red Lake and Pennington and the Otto Bremer Foundation.

"These organizations recognized the special financial needs of a non-profit in health care and our ability to deliver proven quality care," she said.

During this National Hospice Month, Northland Community Hospice will make an extra effort to actively teach about death and dying in the community. Those interested in having a spokesperson for hospice come to their community or church group should call 681-4240 and ask for extension 115.

Lioness club raises funds in lefse sale

Moonlighters Lioness club will conduct a lefse sale fund raiser for its local community benefit projects Saturday, November 19, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Heritage Community Center in Thief River Falls.

The "hot off the griddle" lefse will be sold by the sheet or package and a bake sale will also be held. At 9 a.m. serving of soup, sandwiches, bars and doughnuts will begin. This project will replace the club's regular meeting.

Twomey named MVP at Prowler tennis banquet

Kamie Twomey was named the most valuable player on the 1994 Thief River Falls girls high school tennis team at the Prowlers' awards banquet Monday.

Kate Ihle was selected as the most improved player and Heidi Johnson was voted hardest worker.

Twomey, Shari Evenson and Anne Padilla were picked to serve as the Prowlers' tri-captains next fall, a position held this year by Jami Framstad.

Athletic letters went to Framstad, the lone senior on the 1994 roster; juniors Vicki Bitzegaio, Bobbi Dahlstrom, Kiki Goddard, Kate Nordin, Lisa Gathy, Evenson, Padilla, and Twomey; sophomores Tiffany Brouse, Kelly Natvik, Elizabeth Odette, Ihle, and Johnson; freshman Beth Goddard; along with student managers Angeline Gunstad and Andrea Vigen.

Participation certificates were presented to junior Becky Phillipe; sophomores Pauline Cullen, Trisha Harbott, Erin Liden, Kyla Skiple, Laura Steiger, and Teresa Swanson; freshmen Jessica Krankkala, Stephanie Leach, Allison Rantanen, Jenna Tsukichi, and Eeva Young; eighth graders Ann Gustafson, Katie Harbott, Lesley Ihle, Toni LeMoine, Beth Nelson, and Bridgette Stock; seventh graders Amanda Bitzegaio, Dierdre Dally, Jenni Gonsorowski, Rachel Hahne, Jennifer Kimball, Kim Kirkeide, Rebecca Leach, and Kara Skiple; plus sixth grader Heidi Young.

"Our won-loss record doesn't look quite as good as it might have been because we played a lot of different kids," pointed out first-year Thief River Falls coach Jim Bitzegaio. "We might have sacrificed a win here and there, but we gave a lot of kids an opportunity to play, and hopefully that will entice them to continue playing tennis."

With the graduation loss of just one senior and 16 underclassmen picking up letters this fall, the Prowlers could be in position to compete for a North Sub-Section 8AA title in 1995, according to Bitzegaio.

Some winter sports start drills Monday

Monday, Nov. 14, marks the start of the 1994-95 winter sports season for Minnesota high schools.

That's the first official day of practice, as allowed by the Minnesota State High School League, for hockey and girls basketball teams.

Starting date for wrestling and boys basketball practice is Monday, Nov. 21.

Boys swimming will get underway Monday, Nov. 28.

University of Minnesota men's basketball coach Clem Haskins met with Thief River Falls boys high school basketball coaches Myron Peterson (left) and Scott Brekke during a recent visit to northwestern Minnesota to talk about the Prowlers' Kyle Sanden, a 6-10 junior. "It proves," said Brekke, "that if you have the talent, put in the time, and practice hard, coaches like Clem Haskins will find you." (Submitted photo).

Huschle is Academic All-State in volleyball

Sarah Huschle, a Thief River Falls senior, has been named to the 1994 Minnesota Academic All-State high school volleyball team, it was announced recently by Prowlers coach Helen Anderson.

To earn the honor, participants must be a senior; carry a 3.80 or better grade-point average cumulative from the first semester of their sophomore year through the second semester of the junior year; be free of any Minnesota State High School League violations throughout their high school athletic career; be a member of school's tournament team; and the coach must be a member of the Minnesota Volleyball Coaches Association.

Huschle is a 4.0 student (straight A) who plans to study marine mammology at either Concordia College or the University of Minnesota-Morris.

In addition to volleyball, Huschle is a member the Lincoln basketball and softball teams; has participated in choir, drama, and the Target organization promoting a drug and alcohol-free lifestyle; organized the Lincoln Environmental Club; and is a member of the National Honor Society. She has also been active in church work; served as a volunteer in wildlife projects; and was one of ten students selected for a summer internship program at the Minnesota Zoo.

1994 Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke football...

Blue Devils improve record

Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke made the climb from 2-6 in 1993 to a 5-4 finish in the recently-completed 1994 high school football season.

The Blue Devils' offense centered around 170-pound senior Jim Verbout, who rushed for 1,023 yards and scored 12 touchdowns. His 192 carries were twice as many attempts as any of the other Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke ball carriers.

"Jim got a lot of yards for us," acknowledged Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke coach Darwin Hagen. "He has good quickness. His overall speed isn't that great, but he's quick."

Trevor Kiesow, a 165-pound junior, ranked a distant second in the Blue Devils' rushing figures with 400 yards on 96 carries. He scored six touchdowns.

Passing is not usually a big part of the Blue Devils' offense, but quarterback Brady Wiseth, a 145-pound senior, was an effective 43-for-82 in the air (52 percent). He threw for 646 yards and 10 touchdowns.

"We probably had the best throwing statistics we've had in a long time," noted Hagen. "Brady did a nice job throwing the ball."

Leading receiver was Jamie Lunsetter, a 165-pound senior, who caught 23 passes for 339 yards.

"Jamie had good hands, and good speed," pointed out Hagen.

Defensively, 200-pound senior Aaron Miller led the Blue Devils with 80 tackles. Shaun Verbout, a 165-pound sophomore, ranked second on the tackle list with 53.

"Aaron was our veteran coming back in the line this year, and he did a nice job for us," said Hagen. "He has good quickness and good strength."

The Blue Devils opened the year by overwhelming Ulen-Hitterdal 50-0. They lost start No. 2 to Tri-County 8-6, but then won four of their next five – beating Kittson County North 26-20 in overtime, Marshall County Central 40-6, Argyle 26-20 and East Grand Forks Sacred Heart 49-18, while losing to Kittson Central 30-10. Regular season ended with a 29-14 loss to Stephen, and the Blue Devils were eliminated by Clearbrook-Gonvick-Trail 24-8 in the first round of the Section 8 Nine-Man playoffs.

"Overall, we did about as well as we thought we might," noted Hagen. "We hoped to do a little better in the playoff, though. You're never ready for it to end."

There will be a group of lettermen coming back in 1995, but the Blue Devils will have to fill key positions – quarterback, center, runningback, guard – to remain a playoff team, explained Hagen.

Our Seamless gutters are manufactured from .032 gauge pre-painted aluminum: the heaviest gauge used in the industry. If your home is 20 feet or 200 feet in length our seamless gutter is made in one continuous length, eliminating any joints or seams in the middle. Inquire before you purchase "Seamless Gutter" about the thickness of the material used and be certain that it is made in one continuous length.
Seamless gutter is formed, cut and installed on site by a two-man crew...saving on labor cost. Freight charges are eliminated. Waste is almost unheard of due to gutter being measured and cut on site to exact lengths. No need to store left over odds and ends that get damaged before they can be used. Most jobs can be completed the same day. Call us for complete information and free estimates of your job at no obligation to you.

"What is Profitable Stewardship"
Dr. Don Wyse, Executive Director, Minnesota Institute of Sustainable Agriculture
The conference will open with Dr. Don Wyse, Executive Director of the Minnesota Institute of Sustainable Agriculture. The Institutes promotes the concept that people involved in food production should practice sustainable agriculture. Farmers can use sustainable practices that pose minimal threats to the environment and continue to make a living from agriculture. Many different ideas exist about the way to accomplish these goals of sustainability, stewardship and profitability. Don will give us the most accepted definitions of each providing conference participants with common ground to start the day with.

10:15 a.m.–Small Group Conferences
Throughout the conference, participants will be choosing various workshops. Each workshop will be 40 minutes in length. Speakers will present their experiences with the topic and allow time for conference attendees to ask questions about how to apply it to their own farm. Three workshops will be held concurrently and repeated once, immediately afterward.

Old Mill Park open all year

by Mary Henry, Manager
Old Mill State Park

Thank you to the visitors to Old Mill State Park and park supporters for a great summer. I have greatly enjoyed my first summer at the park. As of Sunday, October 2, the park had recorded 32,016 visitors with 2,447 overnight guests during the past calendar year.

Old Mill State Park is open all year. Services and facilities will be adjusted seasonally. For example, the flush toilets and showers in the campground are shut off from mid-September to early May, but outdoor toilets and electrical sites are available during that time.

Winter activities are coming soon. Skiing and sliding, I have been told, are Old Mill favorites. This year snowshoes will be available to rent and two-hour "Snowshoe Interpretive hikes will be offered free at 1 p.m. Saturday, December 17; Sunday, January 15; and Sunday, February 19. Skis may be available to rent in the park soon. Call the number listed below for details.

The park will offer a wreath making day Saturday, December 3. Two sessions will be held. Register in advance by November 23 by calling the park office.

The picnic shelter will be the warming house for the winter months for park visitors. Snowmobilers may ride down to the shelter and warm up this winter. Snowmobilers are again reminded not to ride their machines on the cross-country ski trails since it destroys the skiers track.

Vehicle permits are required to enter the park. The 1995 annual permits may be purchased now and will allow entry at 66 Minnesota state parks from now though Dec. 31, 1995.

For more information or to register for classes, write the Old Mill State Park, Route 1, Box 43, Argyle, MN 56713 or call (218) 437-8174.

The public can view the changes during an open house Thursday, November 17, from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Help name merged college

If you can't have a college named after you, perhaps you can at least help select the name for one.

Charged with recommending several possible names for the combined Thief River Falls campus of Northwest Technical College and Northland Community College, a name selection committee is seeking public help with suggestions.

There is no contest as such, but the committee is seeking to expand its area of expertise to include everyone with an idea for a name.

Suggestions should reflect the area the college serves (basically a 60-mile radius of Thief River Falls) and be brief enough for convenient appropriate use.

The selection committee will recommend two or more names to Sue Minnick, acting president at Northland Community College, and Dr. Orley Gunderson, Thief River Falls campus president at Northwest Technical College. They will select a name or names to be provided by Jan. 1, 1995 to Chancellor Jay Noren and submitted by him for approval by the board of Minnesota State Colleges and Universities.

Suggestions will be taken beginning November 14 and accepted through November 30. To suggest a name or names, send the suggestion to Northland Community College, 1101 Highway 1 East, Thief River Falls, MN 56701, call 681-2181 or 1-800-628-9918 or send a FAX to 218-681-6405.

All state universities, community colleges and technical colleges are scheduled to be merged under one state organization on July 1, 1995. Northland and the Thief River Falls campus of Northwest Technical College have been working on accelerating their combined status.

Area elections hold interest for the voters

Roseau County

In Roseau county voter turnout was measured at between 66 and 67 per cent. In that county there were four races where challengers were vying for the same position.

In the race for county commissioner, district 5, Glenn C. Darst received 716 votes, and Mark Foldcal received 700 votes.

In the race for county attorney, Michelle Moren received 3,377 votes and Shaw M. McCabe received 2,882 votes.

In the county treasurer race, Diane Gregerson received 4,583 votes, and John Douglas received 1,670.

In the race for county sheriff, Curt Hauger received 3,677 votes and upset the incumbent sheriff, Pat Novacek, who received 2,620 votes.

In unopposed races, the following results were recorded: Doran E. Horner recieved 859 votes for district 1 county commissioner, Orris A. Rasmussen received 1,185 votes for county commissioner, district 3, Bessie Fagleberg received 5,828 votes for county recorder, Anne Granitz received 5,824 votes for county auditor, and Bryon B. VandeWege, MD, received 5,763 votes for county coroner.

Key issues program set

Thief River Falls chamber of commerce has scheduled a "Key Issues 1995" session for Friday, November 18, at 12 noon at the Best Western Inn in Thief River Falls.

Bill Blazar, vice president of government affairs and policy development for the Minnesota Chamber of Commerce, will be the speaker and receive input from local chamber members. Reservations for the Dutch treat luncheon should be made by calling 681-3720 by Wednesday, November 16.

CARD OF THANKS
The family of Kenny Traitline would like to extend a sincere thank you to all who assisted us in the search and rescue of our beloved son and brother. Those included all family, friends and neighbors, Deputy Ray Kuznia, Penn. Co. Sheriff's Dept., MN State Patrol, Penn. Co. dive/rescue team, St. Hilaire, and T.R. Falls Fire Departments, EMS of T.R. Falls and the Civil Air Patrol. Also, a special thank you to all that brought food, gifts, memorials and love and support. To Pastor Terri Skidum, Erhling Johnson and staff and Green Funeral Home for their assistance and guidance. Words cannot express the gratitude that we feel towards each and everyone of you. Please know that you are in our hearts forever.
May God And Kenny Bless You.

As the winds blow and the eagles soar,
Remember, now I'm free.
As the sun sets and the stars shine,
Remember, now I'm free.
As time passes and the pain eases--
Remember me and that Now I am free.
Don and Evelyn Traitline,
Kris and Dave Salo and Luke, Karlee,
Ann and Randy Homme and Shane, Angie.

MISSING YOU
We are missing you today,
Mother, Grandma - Friend;
But through our heavenly Father,
Our love to you we send.

We are missing you today,
As we make Thanksgiving plans;
But you're still here in our hearts,
And safely in our Father's hands.

We miss your joyful singing,
The precious hymns you knew so well;
Now you're singing with the Angels;
"That Old, Old Story to tell."

With every passing year,
And even at day's end,
We'll still be missing you,
Dear Mother, Grandma – friend.

Written by granddaughter, Nancy Stenberg Dahl, in memory to Minnie Bucholz who passed away Nov. 4, 1992. Sadly missed by her family and friends.

Elections results from area cities

Several cities in the Northern Watch area also held elections. Most of the candidates were unopposed.

Goodridge

Dr. David Brown, who was unopposed, received 48 votes for mayor. David Brown Jr. received 30 votes for one of the two terms on the city council. Clifford Johnson received 29 votes to win the second seat. Marion Zavoral received 22 votes.

Grygla

In Grygla, four candidates were running for the two four-year terms on the city council. The incumbents, Richard Mosher and Joy Nordby were re-elected. Joy Nordby received 52 votes. Richard Mosher received 49 votes. DelRay Ruud received 45 votes. Susan Saurdiff received 42 votes. The mayor, Steve Olson, ran unopposed and was re-elected.

Karlstad

George Wikstrom Jr., who was unopposed, received 312 votes for mayor. Jillayne Olson received 280 votes for one of the two four-year terms on the city council. Kenneth Loveness won the other seat with 277 votes. Eugene LaDoucer received 314 votes for a two-year term on the city council.

Middle River

M. Isabelle Hanson received 102 votes in her unopposed bid for mayor. Gayle Gram received 99 votes to win one of the two four-year terms on the city council. Edward D. Johnson received 94 votes to win the second seat. Mark Stromsodt received 105 votes for one two-year term on the city council.

Newfolden

According to Ron Kragness, city mayor, Newfolden has had a liquor issue on its ballot nearly every year for the past 15 years. It was defeated again on Tuesday, with 89 votes against liquor sales in Newfolden, 81 for.

In the race for mayor, Ron Kragness received 150 votes. Marlia Lee and Marcel Douglas received 146 votes and 152 votes respectively to win the two four-year terms on the city council.

Red Lake Falls

Red Lake Falls was one of the few cities in which voters were given a choice for candidates running for office.

In the race for mayor Ken Tischart, incumbant, was defeated by Deb Eukel who received 415 votes. Tischart received 247 votes.

In the race to fill two four-year terms on the city council, Joyce Kalbakdalen received 184 votes, and Keith Pearson received 583 votes. Lorri Ann Hartel received 193 votes for a two-year term on the city council.

Plummer

In the race for two four-year terms on the city council, there were three candidates. Lynn Gallant received 117 votes. James Schaefert received 83 votes. Martin Eskeli received 63 votes.

Voters turn out for school dist. elections Tues.

Results from the consolidation issue in Greenbush and Middle River school districts are still unofficial and a bit confusing because school districts do not follow county boundaries.

In Marshall county, voters rejected the measure by one vote, 213 to 214. In Roseau county, voters approved the issue 815 to 230. Residents living in the school district in Kittson county approved the issue 10 to 5. Residents of Marshall county living in the school district approved the issue 5 to 0. Two additional votes were received in Roseau county from school district 440. Both votes were in favor of the issue.

As it was recorded on Thursday, the unofficial results were 830 in favor and 235 against in School District 678. In Middle River School District 440, the unofficial results were 215 in favor and 214 against. A recount is expected.

School District 561

In Goodridge, School District 561, voters were asked to approve an excess levy referendum, and they did approve it, 195 to 153.

School District 630

In Red Lake Falls, School District 630, residents were asked to elect two individuals to the school board to serve three year terms. There were five candidates for the two positions. Pete Stich received 543 votes. Mike Swendra received 526 votes. Deb Hams received 476 votes. Dennis Haglund received 369 votes. Jay Cardinal received 242 votes.

School District 564

A request for an excess levy in Thief River Falls, School District 564, was deined by voters Tuesday.

The school District was asking voters to approve an increase to its general education revenue by $289.29 per actual pupil unit. The property tax portion of the levy would require an estimated referendum tax rate of approximately 0.0566 per cent of the referendum market value of all taxable property in the district for taxes payable in 1995. It would have been applicable for 10 years unless otherwise revoked or reduced as provided by the law. The excess revenue would be used to finance school operations.

Voters defeated the referendum 2,700 to 1,796. The issue was defeated in all precincts except Thief River Falls 5A where voters approved of the measure 179 to 161.

Three seats on the school district board of directors were also on the ballot. The three candidates running for the seats were unopposed. Larry Belmont, an incumbent, received 3,205 votes. Hank Hallstrom, an incumbent, received 3,535 votes. Cheryl Lee who was running for the remainder of a two year term she vacated last year because of a potential conflict of interest, received 3,835 votes.

Moderate turnout in Pennington Co. races

Election day turnout at the polls was less than expected in Pennington county. Two years ago - a Presidential election year - 6,450 residents voted. Four years ago during a similar election year in which an election for Governor and several county offices were on the ballot, 5,132 residents voted. Tuesday, during a year in which three county positions faced challenges and a important school district bond referendum was on the ballot, 4,884 residents voted. The total number of registered voters as of 7 a.m. on election day was 7,357. A total of 532 people registered on election day.

The race for county commissioner, second district, was the closest and is expected to require a recount because it was so close. In that race, Bob Carlson, a former mayor of Thief River Falls, and Bob Jablinske, sanitation department superintendent for the city, were vying for a position vacated by Ken Murphy who sought election to Minnesota House District 1B.

Although it is a county commissioner seat, the second district covers only three precincts in Thief River Falls — 1B, 2A and 2B. When the votes were counted, Bob Carlson was declared the winner by 16 votes (394 to 378). Bob Carlson carried precincts 1B and 2B, but the candidates tied in 2A with each receiving 155 votes. A recount is expected.

In the other two races in which candidates were vying for the same office — county recorder and county treasurer — the results were not as close.

In the race for county treasurer, Vickie Bjorgaard, the incumbent, defeated Laura Nelson 3,285 to 1,474. Bjorgaard carried 31 of the 34 precincts. Nelson carried the precincts of Goodridge township, River Falls and St. Hilaire.

In the race for county recorder, Ken Schmalz, who was appointed to fill the vacancy created in the office last summer when Eugene Prestegaard retired, defeated Lemay Moe 3,002 to 1,703. In doing so, Schmalz captured 28 of the 34 precincts. Moe carried the precincts of Cloverleaf, Goodridge, Highlanding, Polk Centre, Reiner and Star.

In the race for county commissioner, district 4, Arden (Bud) Comstock was unopposed and received 711 votes.

In the race for county auditor, Kenneth (Terry) Olson was unopposed and received 4,324 votes.

In the race for county sheriff, Gerald E. Moe was unopposed and received 4,354 votes.

In the race for county attorney, David M. Olin was unopposed and received 4,277 votes.

In the race for county coroner, Richard W. Henrichs, MD, was unopposed and received 4,244 votes.

In the race for Soil and Water Supervisor, district 4, Harry Hanson was unopposed and received 4,262 votes.

State and Federal races

How did results from Pennington county compare with statewide results?

In the race for U.S. Senate in Minnesota, Pennington county residents picked Rod Grams over Ann Wynia, 2,434 to 2,151. Wynia carried 10 of the 34 precincts in Pennington county and tied with Grams in two precincts. With 100 per cent of the precincts reporting, Grams received 875,358 votes to 784,206 received by Wynia. Wynia carried the Twin Cities and the Iron Range.

In the race for U.S. representative, district 7, Pennington county residents strongly favored Peterson. Returns show that Peterson carried 31 of the 34 precincts in Pennington county. Bernie Omann carried two precincts and tied once with Peterson. Peterson received 2,981 votes to Omann's 1,804 votes.

In the district, Peterson received 51 per cent 108,438 of the votes. Omann received 102,232 votes or 49 per cent of the votes cast.

In the race for governor, Pennington county residents gave Carlson 2,639 votes. Marty received 1,962 votes. He carried 10 of the county's 34 precincts. Carlson carried 22 precincts and there were two ties.

Statewide, Carlson received 1,107,409 or 64 per cent of the votes cast, and John Marty received 590,735 or 34 per cent of the votes cast. Marty carried two of Minnesota's counties.

In the race for Minnesota representative, district 1B, Pennington county residents gave the nod to Finseth. Finseth received 2,475 votes to Murphy's 2,353 votes. Finseth carried 19 precincts in the county. There were two ties and Murphy carried 13 of the county's 34 precincts.

In the district, Finseth received 6,627 votes or 57 per cent of the votes cast, while Murphy received 5,089 or 43 per cent of the votes cast.

Kidney is gift of life for Nicholas from Grandpa

Warren — Four-year-old Nicholas Bell of Warren will be receiving a gift of life from his grandfather, Lyle Tradell, in the near future. Tradell will be donating a kidney to his grandson in an operation at the University of Minnesota Hospital that will take about four hours. Nicolas' problem was discovered in August when he went to a doctor with a fever. After testing, it was learned that Nicholas' kidneys were tiny and apparently had not grown since he was born. After trying other forms of treatment, the doctors decided he needed a new kidney.

Karlstad plans to be the Moose Capitol of the North

Karlstad — A group of women is promoting the city of Karlstad as the Moose Capitol of the North. They hope to have a moose logo for the city, and are currently selling moose-imprinted napkins and tickets for a drawing on a moose painting and a moose print "quillo," which is a little quilt that folds into a pillow. A statute of Murphy Moose stands in Moose Park in Karlstad, there is a moose on the city's water tower, and the Welcome to Karlstad banners in town also have a picture of a moose.

Propane furnace explodes, injuring 3

Bagley — Three young men from Bagley were burned when the propane furnace in their recreational vehicle exploded last Friday at a hunting campsite near Bad Medicine Lake. Stewart Dukek, Jim Redding and Jon Broyold had just arrived at the campsite and lit the stove when it exploded. Broyold kicked the door open and got the other two men out of the vehicle and then drove them to Clearwater County Memorial Hospital in Bagley in the other vehicle they had at the site.

Police in Thief River Falls are investigating a report of a rape.

On November 15, police in Thief River Falls received a report from an 18-year-old local woman who said that while walking in the area of Centennial Drive at about 11:30 p.m. November 3, she was approached by a person wearing a face mask. She was forced into a vehicle and driven out into the county where a knife was used to threaten her during a sexual assault. The man who assaulted her was described as white male, 5-feet, 10-inches tall and weighing about 170 pounds. After assaulting her, he took her back to the area where she was abducted.

Police are investigating the incident.

TRF Chamber seeks nominations for three new awards

Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce has established three new awards. Any community member may submit a nomination for Customer Satisfaction, Volunteer of the Year, and Outstanding Young Leader prior to December 30. Forms are available at the Chamber of Commerce office, Norwest Bank, Northern State Bank, First National Bank and The Times.

The Customer Satisfaction award recognizes individuals or a business that has contributed to making Thief River Falls a better community by giving outstanding overall quality service. Any individual or business who has given outstanding quality service for area residents and customers is eligible for this award.

Volunteer of the Year recognizes an individual for exceptional contributions to the community through overall volunteer service. Any person in the Thief River Falls area who has given outstanding volunteer service to the community and citizens is eligible. Volunteer work is not limited to Chamber activities; it may include work for other organizations, such as church or school.

Outstanding Young Leader recognizes a Thief River Falls area youth who has exhibited outstanding leadership qualities. Individuals below the age of 30 who demonstrate outstanding leadership that benefits the community and its citizens are eligible. Outstanding service includes working with youth, adults and families to improve quality of life. Leadership qualities include creativity, responsibility, dependability, problem solving, respectfulness, cooperation and organizational skills.

Nominations will be judged by an awards committee.

Each recipient of the Customer Satisfaction award will be recognized with a certificate and newspaper feature. The recipients of the other two awards will be presented with a plaque at the Annual Chamber meeting.

New ZRT 600 fills gap between three-cylinder snowmobiles

Joel Hallstrom, Team Arctic Manager, unveiled the new Arctic Cat ZRT 600 triple to a crowd of Arctic Cat racers and performance enthusiasts at the Team Arctic Racing Forum held this week in Thief River Falls. The new ZRT 600 features a high-tech three-cylinder motor in ZR chassis.

The most anticipated and exciting new snowmobile of the 1995 season arrived Thursday night when vice president of research and development Roger Skime, Donn Eide of engine research and development, and Team Arctic Manager Joel Hallstrom unveiled the new Arctic Cat ZRT 600 triple to a crowd of Arctic Cat racers and performance enthusiasts at the Team Arctic Racing Forum held recently in Thief River Falls.

The new ZRT 600 fills the gap between its larger silky-smooth and super-fast three-cylinder siblings, the Thundercat 900 and ZRT 800, and the proven power-to-weight ratios of the twin-cylinder racing stalwarts, the ZR 700, ZR 580 and ZR 440.

"The ZRT 600 is the latest example of Arctic Cat's commitment to technological superiority and racing dominance," said Hallstrom. "It features the proven performance of our ZR chassis, AWS IV front suspension and FasTrack rear suspension combined with the awesome power of our all-new Suzuki 594cc triple with case-reed induction and triple pipes."

With a bore of 66.5mm and a short stroke of just 57mm, the new Suzuki 600 is a very compact mill, and at 72 pounds, the 600 triple weighs only 11 pounds more than the 580 twin. The engine is also canted forward 15 degrees to lower the center of gravity further and to position the bank of three Mikuni VM36 carburetors at an optimum level to force feed the reed-inducted motor. Warren's hospital adopts new name

North Valley Health Center is the new name selected from 163 different entries in a contest to find a new name for Warren Community Hospital, according to Everett Butler, hospital administrator.

The hospital's board of directors selected the name submitted by Deb Erickson of Warren. Butler said the many diverse services now being offered at the hospital building prompted the quest for a new name.

"The response to the contest was overwhelming," Butler said. "We received over 200 responses with 163 different name change ideas. There were entries from every town in Marshall county and as far away as Colorado. We want to thank everyone for their interest and suggestions."

"Just as health care delivery on a national level is changing, so is it changing on a local level," notes Phil Thompson, board president. "While we still provide acute care, there are many other health care services available at North Valley Health Center."

Presently housed in the hospital building are the Warren hospital and its ancillary services, Marshall County Nursing Service, Warren Community Hospital Clinic and the Northwest Eye Clinic. The Warren Clinic also has an operating agreement with the hospital.

North Valley Health Center will become the official name upon completion of a name search by the Minnesota Secretary of State's office, a procedure required to prevent any copyright infringement.

Early morning tree lighting planned for Thief River Falls

Lighting of the community Christmas tree in Thief River Falls will take place Friday, November 25, at 7 a.m. in Floyd B. Olson park.

No, those are not typographical and identification errors. The lighting ceremony will start at 7 o'clock in the morning and the location will be at Floyd B. Olson park instead of Elk's park.

Music will be provided by the Heritage Community Center Choir. Kermit Genereux will serve as master of ceremonies and Hazel Huot will read the Christmas Story. Mayor Bob Reeve will give the welcome and light the tree and Rev. William Kerr will have the closing prayer.

Elections results from area cities

Several cities in the Northern Watch area also held elections. Most of the candidates were unopposed.

Goodridge

Dr. David Brown, who was unopposed, received 48 votes for mayor. David Brown Jr. received 30 votes for one of the two terms on the city council. Clifford Johnson received 29 votes to win the second seat. Marion Zavoral received 22 votes.

Grygla

In Grygla, four candidates were running for the two four-year terms on the city council. The incumbents, Richard Mosher and Joy Nordby were re-elected. Joy Nordby received 52 votes. Richard Mosher received 49 votes. DelRay Ruud received 45 votes. Susan Saurdiff received 42 votes. The mayor, Steve Olson, ran unopposed and was re-elected.

Karlstad

George Wikstrom Jr., who was unopposed, received 312 votes for mayor. Jillayne Olson received 280 votes for one of the two four-year terms on the city council. Kenneth Loveness won the other seat with 277 votes. Eugene LaDoucer received 314 votes for a two-year term on the city council.

Middle River

M. Isabelle Hanson received 102 votes in her unopposed bid for mayor. Gayle Gram received 99 votes to win one of the two four-year terms on the city council. Edward D. Johnson received 94 votes to win the second seat. Mark Stromsodt received 105 votes for one two-year term on the city council.

Newfolden

According to Ron Kragness, city mayor, Newfolden has had a liquor issue on its ballot nearly every year for the past 15 years. It was defeated again on Tuesday, with 89 votes against liquor sales in Newfolden, 81 for.

In the race for mayor, Ron Kragness received 150 votes. Marlin Lee and Marcel Douglas received 146 votes and 152 votes respectively to win the two four-year terms on the city council.

Red Lake Falls

Red Lake Falls was one of the few cities in which voters were given a choice for candidates running for office.

In the race for mayor Ken Tischart, incumbant, was defeated by Deb Eukel who received 415 votes. Tischart received 247 votes.

In the race to fill two four-year terms on the city council, Joyce Kalbakdalen received 184 votes, and Keith Pearson received 583 votes. Lorri Ann Hartel received 193 votes for a two-year term on the city council.

Plummer

In the race for mayor of Plummer, John Helley Sr. received 141 votes.

In the race for two four-year terms on the city council, there were three candidates. Lynn Gallant received 117 votes. James Schiefert received 83 votes. Martin Eskeli received 63 votes.

Warren

Warren residents were also given a choice between candidates running for office.

In the race for mayor, Roy G. Engh received 491 votes. Rick Roley received 341 votes.

In the race for two four-year terms on the city council there were four candidates: Glenn Halvorson received 235 votes, David Maurstad received 222 votes, Jon Linnell received 184 votes, and David Conely received 102 votes. In the race for second ward city council, Robert Kliner received 396 votes.

Voters turn out for school dist. elections Tues.

Results from the consolidation issue in Greenbush and Middle River school districts are still unofficial and a bit confusing because school districts do not follow county boundaries.

In Marshall county, voters rejected the measure by one vote, 213 to 214. In Roseau county, voters approved the issue 815 to 230. Residents living in the school district in Kittsen county approved the issue 10 to 5. Residents of Marshall county living in the school district approved the issue 5 to 0. Two additional votes were received in Roseau county from school district 440. Both votes were in favor of the issue.

As it was recorded on Thursday, the unofficial results were 830 in favor and 235 against in School District 678. In Middle River School District 440, the unofficial results were 215 in favor and 214 against. A recount is expected.

School District 561

In Goodridge, School District 561, voters were asked to approve an excess levy referendum, and they did approve it, 195 to 153.

School District 630

In Red Lake Falls, School District 630, residents were asked to elect two individuals to the school board to serve three year terms. There were five candidates for the two positions. Pete Stich received 543 votes. Mike Swendra received 526 votes. Deb Hams received 476 votes. Dennis Haglund received 369 votes. Jay Cardinal received 242 votes.

School District 564

A request for an excess levy in Thief River Falls, School District 564, was deined by voters Tuesday.

The school District was asking voters to approve an increase to its general education revenue by $289.29 per actual pupil unit. The property tax portion of the levy would require an estimated referendum tax rate of approximately 0.0566 per cent of the referendum market value of all taxable property in the district for taxes payable in 1995. It would have been applicable for 10 years unless otherwise revoked or reduced as provided by the law. The escess revenue would be used to finance school operations.

Voters defeated the referendum 2,700 to 1,796. The issue was defeated in all precincts except Thief River Falls 5A where voters approved of the measure 179 to 161.

Three seats on the school district board of directors were also on the ballot. The three candidates running for the seats were unopposed. Larry Belmont, an incumbent, received 3,205 votes. Hank Hallstrom, an incumbent, received 3,535 votes. Cheryl Lee who was running for the remainder of a two year term she vacated last year because of a potential conflict of interest, received 3,835 votes.

Moderate turnout in Pennington Co. races

Election day turnout at the polls was less than expected in Pennington county. Two years ago - a Presidential election year - 6,450 residents voted. Four years ago during a similar election year in which an election for Governor and several county offices were on the ballot, 5,132 residents voted. Tuesday, during a year in which three county positions faced challenges and a important school district bond referendum was on the ballot, 4,884 residents voted. The total number of registered voters as of 7 a.m. on election day was 7,357. A total of 532 people registered on election day.

The race for county commissioner, second district, was the closest and is expected to require a recount because it was so close. In that race, Bob Carlson, a former mayor of Thief River Falls, and Bob Jablinske, sanitation department superintendent for the city, were vying for a position vacated by Ken Murphy who sought election to Minnesota House District 1B.

Although it is a county commissioner seat, the second district covers only three precincts in Thief River Falls — 1B, 2A and 2B. When the votes were counted, Bob Carlson was declared the winner by 16 votes (394 to 378). Bob Carlson carried precincts 1B and 2B, but the candidates tied in 2A with each receiving 155 votes. A recount is expected.

In the other two races in which candidates were vying for the same office — county recorder and county treasurer — the results were not as close.

In the race for county treasurer, Vickie Bjorgaard, the incumbent, defeated Laura Nelson 3,285 to 1,474. Bjorgaard carried 31 of the 34 precincts. Nelson carried the precincts of Goodridge township, River Falls and St. Hilaire.

In the race for county recorder, Ken Schmalz, who was appointed to fill the vacancy created in the office last summer when Eugene Prestegaard retired, defeated Lemay Moe 3,002 to 1,703. In doing so, Schmalz captured 28 of the 34 precincts. Moe carried the precincts of Cloverleaf, Goodridge, Highlanding, Polk Centre, Reiner and Star.

In the race for county commissioner, district 4, Arden (Bud) Comstock was unopposed and received 711 votes.

In the race for county auditor, Kenneth (Terry) Olson was unopposed and received 4,324 votes.

In the race for county sheriff, Gerald E. Moe was unopposed and received 4,354 votes.

In the race for county attorney, David M. Olin was unopposed and received 4,277 votes.

In the race for county coroner, Richard W. Henrichs, MD, was unopposed and received 4,244 votes.

In the race for Soil and Water Supervisor, district 4, Harry Hanson was unopposed and received 4,262 votes.

State and Federal races

How did results from Pennington county compare with statewide results?

In the race for U.S. Senate in Minnesota, Pennington county residents picked Rod Grams over Ann Wynia, 2,434 to 2,151. Wynia carried 10 of the 34 precincts in Pennington county and tied with Grams in two precincts. With 100 per cent of the precincts reporting, Grams received 875,358 votes to 784,206 received by Wynia. Wynia carried the Twin Cities and the Iron Range.

In the race for U.S. representative, district 7, Pennington county residents strongly favored Peterson. Returns show that Peterson carried 31 of the 34 precincts in Pennington county. Bernie Omann carried two precincts and tied once with Peterson. Peterson received 2,981 votes to Omann's 1,804 votes.

In the district, Peterson received 51 per cent 108,438 of the votes. Omann received 102,232 votes or 49 per cent of the votes cast.

In the race for governor, Pennington county residents gave Carlson 2,639 votes. Marty received 1,962 votes. He carried 10 of the county's 34 precincts. Carlson carried 22 precincts and there were two ties.

Statewide, Carlson received 1,107,409 or 64 per cent of the votes cast, and John Marty received 590,735 or 34 per cent of the votes cast. Marty carsied two of Minnesota's counties.

In the race for Minnesota representative, district 1B, Pennington county residents gave the nod to Finseth. Finseth received 2,475 votes to Murphy's 2,353 votes. Finseth carried 19 precincts in the county. There were two ties and Murphy carried 13 of the county's 34 precincts.

In the district, Finseth received 6,627 votes or 57 per cent of the votes cast, while Murphy received 5,089 or 43 per cent of the votes cast.

One way to find that elusive buck

Warroad — Tony Rogers, reporter on the Warroad Pioneer, told the true deer hunting story of the woman who, suitably clad in blaze orange and, of course, toting a rifle, was taking a large air pot filled with coffee to her husband in a deer stand. Just as she was turning onto the trail where her husband's stand was located, she heard the sound of deer hooves coming down the path behind her. She spun around as the deer reached her and hit him on the head with the heavy air pot filled with coffee, but the bump didn't faze him a bit. He kept on running and ran right over the woman, stepping smack dab on her knee. Despite the pain of a smashed kneecap, the woman rolled over and leveled her rifle at the buck, aiming to kill, but it happened that she forgot to release the safety and the buck escaped. She missed the kill but certainly shows the hardy resiliance of northern women.

A really special gift for Nicholas from Grandpa

Warren — Four-year-old Nicholas Bell of Warren will be receiving a gift of life from his grandfather, Lyle Trudell, in the near future. Trudell will be donating a kidney to his grandson in an operation at the University of Minnesota Hospital that will take about four hours. Nicolas' problem was discovered in August when he went to a doctor with a fever. After testing, it was learned that Nicholas' kidneys were tiny and apparently had not grown since he was born. After trying other forms of treatment, the doctors decided he needed a new kidney.

Karlstad plans to be the Moose Capitol of the North

Karlstad — A group of women is promoting the city of Karlstad as the Moose Capitol of the North. They hope to have a moose logo for the city, and are currently selling moose-imprinted napkins and tickets for a drawing on a moose painting and a moose print "quillo," which is a little quilt that folds into a pillow. A statute of Murphy Moose stands in Moose Park in Karlstad, there is a moose on the city's water tower, and the Welcome to Karlstad banners in town also have a picture of a moose.

Propane furnace explodes, injuring 3

Bagley — Three young men from Bagley were burned when the propane furnace in their recreational vehicle exploded last Friday at a hunting campsite near Bad Medicine Lake. Stewart Dukek, Jim Redding and Jon Brovold had just arrived at the campsite and lit the stove when it exploded. Brovold kicked the door open and got the other two men out of the vehicle and then drove them to Clearwater County Memorial Hospital in Bagley in the other vehicle they had at the site.

Police in Thief River Falls are investigating a report of a rape.

On November 15, police in Thief River Falls received a report from an 18-year-old local woman who said that while walking in the area of Centennial Drive at about 11:30 p.m. November 3, she was approached by a person wearing a face mask. She was forced into a vehicle and driven out into the county where a knife was used to threaten her during a sexual assault. The man who assaulted her was described as white male, 5-feet, 10-inches tall and weighing about 170 pounds. After assaulting her, he took her back to the area where she was abducted.

Police are investigating the incident.

TRF Chamber seeks nominations for three new awards

Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce has established three new awards. Any community member may submit a nomination for Customer Satisfaction, Volunteer of the Year, and Outstanding Young Leader prior to December 30. Forms are available at the Chamber of Commerce office, Norwest Bank, Northern State Bank, First National Bank and The Times.

The Customer Satisfaction award recognizes individuals or a business that has contributed to making Thief River Falls a better community by giving outstanding overall quality service. Any individual or business who has given outstanding quality service for area residents and customers is eligible for this award.

Volunteer of the Year recognizes an individual for exceptional contributions to the community through overall volunteer service. Any person in the Thief River Falls area who has given outstanding volunteer service to the community and citizens is eligible. Volunteer work is not limited to Chamber activities; it may include work for other organizations, such as church or school.

Outstanding Young Leader recognizes a Thief River Falls area youth who has exhibited outstanding leadership qualities. Individuals below the age of 30 who demonstrate outstanding leadership that benefits the community and its citizens are eligible. Outstanding service includes working with youth, adults and families to improve quality of life. Leadership qualities include creativity, responsibility, dependability, problem solving, respectfulness, cooperation and organizational skills.

Nominations will be judged by an awards committee.

Each recipient of the Customer Satisfaction award will be recognized with a certificate and newspaper feature. The recipients of the other two awards will be presented with a plaque at the Annual Chamber meeting.

New ZRT 600 fills gap between three-cylinder snowmobiles

Joel Hallstrom, Team Arctic Manager, unveiled the new Arctic Cat ZRT 600 triple to a crowd of Arctic Cat racers and performance enthusiasts at the Team Arctic Racing Forum held this week in Thief River Falls. The new ZRT 600 features a high-tech three-cylinder motor in ZR chassis.

The most anticipated and exciting new snowmobile of the 1995 season arrived Thursday night when vice president of research and development Roger Skime, Donn Eide of engine research and development, and Team Arctic Manager Joel Hallstrom unveiled the new Arctic Cat ZRT 600 triple to a crowd of Arctic Cat racers and performance enthusiasts at the Team Arctic Racing Forum held recently in Thief River Falls.

The new ZRT 600 fills the gap between its larger silky-smooth and super-fast three-cylinder siblings, the Thundercat 900 and ZRT 800, and the proven power-to-weight ratios of the twin-cylinder racing stalwarts, the ZR 700, ZR 580 and ZR 440.

"The ZRT 600 is the latest example of Arctic Cat's commitment to technological superiority and racing dominance," said Hallstrom. "It features the proven performance of our ZR chassis, AWS IV front suspension and FasTrack rear suspension combined with the awesome power of our all-new Suzuki 594cc triple with case-reed induction and triple pipes."

With a bore of 66.5mm and a short stroke of just 57mm, the new Suzuki 600 is a very compact mill, and at 72 pounds, the 600 triple weighs only 11 pounds more than the 580 twin. The engine is also canted forward 15 degrees to lower the center of gravity further and to position the bank of three Mikuni VM36 carburetors at an optimum level to force feed the reed-inducted motor. The Nicasil plated 7-port

Warren's hospital adopts new name

North Valley Health Center is the new name selected from 163 different entries in a contest to find a new name for Warren Community Hospital, according to Everett Butler, hospital administrator.

The hospital's board of directors selected the name submitted by Deb Erickson of Warren. Butler said the many diverse services now being offered at the hospital building prompted the quest for a new name.

"The response to the contest was overwhelming," Butler said. "We received over 200 responses with 163 different name change ideas. There were entries from every town in Marshall county and as far away as Colorado. We want to thank everyone for their interest and suggestions."

"Just as health care delivery on a national level is changing, so is it changing on a local level," notes Phil Thompson, board president. "While we still provide acute care, there are many other health care services available at North Valley Health Center."

Presently housed in the hospital building are the Warren hospital and its ancillary services, Marshall County Nursing Service, Warren Community Hospital Clinic and the Northwest Eye Clinic. The Warren Clinic also has an operating agreement with the hospital.

North Valley Health Center will become the official name upon completion of a name search by the Minnesota Secretary of State's office, a procedure required to prevent any copyright infringement.

Early morning tree lighting planned for Thief River Falls

Lighting of the community Christmas tree in Thief River Falls will take place Friday, November 25, at 7 a.m. in Floyd B. Olson park.

No, those are not typographical and identification errors. The lighting ceremony will start at 7 o'clock in the morning and the location will be at Floyd B. Olson park instead of Elk's park.

Music will be provided by the Heritage Community Center Choir. Kermit Genereux will serve as master of ceremonies and Hazel Huot will read the Christmas Story. Mayor Bob Reeve will give the welcome and light the tree and Rev. William Kerr will have the closing prayer.

Here are some ideas you might like to try for your Thanksgiving dinner this year.

This lightly sweet side dish gets flavor from cinnamon and would be perfect for Thanksgiving dinner:

SPICED CARROT STRIPS

5 large carrots, julienned
2 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted
1 tablespoon sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon ground cinnamon

Place carrots in a saucepan; cover with water. Cook until tender, 8-10 minutes. Drain.

Combine butter, sugar, salt and cinnamon. Pour over carrots and toss to coat. Serve immediately.

Recipe serves 4-6 people.

Make something really special this year with this crunchy dish:

BUTTERNUT SQUASH BAKE

1/3 cup butter or margarine, softened
3/4 cup sugar
2 eggs
1 (5 ounce) can evaporated milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 cups mashed, cooked butternut squash

Topping
1/2 cup crisp rice cereal
1/4 cup packed brown sugar
1/4 cup chopped pecans
2 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted

In a mixing bowl, cream butter and sugar.

Beat in eggs, milk and vanilla. Stir in squash (mixture will be thin).

Pour into greased 11x7 inch baking pan.

Bake, uncovered, at 350 degrees for 45 minutes or until almost set.

Combine topping ingredients and sprinkle over casserole. Bake 5-10 minutes more or until bubbly.

Recipe serves 6-8 people.

Here is a lighter version of those traditional candied sweet potatoes:

SWEET POTATO APPLE BAKE

3 medium sweet potatoes, cooked, peeled and sliced
2 large unpeeled apples, thinly sliced
1/3 cup golden raisins
1/4 cup chopped toasted almonds
2 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted
1/3 cup packed brown sugar
1/2 cup quick cooking oats
2 teaspoons grated lemon peel

In a large bowl, combine sweet potatoes, apples, raisins and almonds. Spoon into a shallow 1 1/2 quart baking dish.

In a small bowl, combine butter, brown sugar, oats and lemon peel. Sprinkle over sweet potato mixture.

Bake, uncovered, at 350 degrees for 35 minutes or until apples are tender.

Recipe serves 6.

This tart relish sounds like it would taste great with the turkey and you can make it right now:

CRANBERRY CONSERVE

4 cups fresh or frozen cranberries, halved
1 tablespoon grated orange peel
2 oranges, peeled, sliced and quartered
1 cup raisins
1 1/4 cups water
1 cup chopped pecans
2 1/2 cups sugar

In a large saucepan, combine cranberries, orange peel, oranges, raisins and water.

Cover and simmer over medium heat until cranberries are soft.

Add pecans and sugar and stir well. Simmer, uncovered, 10-15 minutes, stirring often. Cool.

Spoon into covered containers. Refrigerate.

Serve as a relish with poultry or pork or spread on biscuits or rolls.

Recipe makes 3 pints.

LETTERS

To The Editor:

An open letter to President Bill Clinton:

Mr. President, you have expressed puzzlement and dismay at the overwhelming rejection which your party received in the recent mid-term congressional elections. I would submit that it can be attributed to an intense distrust of government in general, and I would like to cite three examples of why this widespread cynicism was not only predictable but fully justified.

First, consider the National Education and Standards Improvement Council—part of a bureaucracy commissioned by your administration, funded with taxpayer dollars and charged with the responsibility of recommending to the nation's educators what subject matter should be included in the American History curriculum of our country's elementary and secondary schools.

Among their recommendations: George Washington is never mentioned as our first President, the U.S. Constitution is not mentioned at all. By contrast, the Ku Klux Klan gets 17 mentions and Sen. Joe McCarthy and McCarthyism are mentioned 19 times. Harriet Tubman, who helped slaves escape via the underground railroad, is cited six times while the like of Alexander Graham Bell, Thomas Edison, Albert Einstein, Dr. Jonas Salk and the Wright Brothers collectively receive zero mentions.

Mr. President, this is not history nor is it responsible eduction; it is simply "political correctness" carried to an insane extreme, and it will be interpreted by our citizens as a political sop to your ultra-liberal constituency, at the tragic expense of our nation's students.

Another example is the Smithsonian Institution's upcoming display of the Enola Gay, the B-29 which dropped the atomic bomb on Hiroshima nearly 50 years ago to end World War II. The original script which was to accompany this display, prepared by the museum staff and again funded by tax revenues, depicted the crew of the Enola Gay as something less than heroic, and suggested that the American people should share a collective guilt for having used this weapon to end the war.

The Japanese people were portrayed as the victims in the war, rather than the ruthless and brutal aggressors they actually were. This re-writing of history to suit the "political correctness" values emphasized by your administration is a slap in the face to the patriotic Americans who lived through that era. Where was the Smithsonian's Board of Regents (headed by Chief Justice Rehnquist and Vice President Gore) when this presentation was being planned, and why did is require intervention by the American Legion to attempt a correction of this outrage?

A third issue I would address is the illegal immigration problem in California, culminating in Proposition 187. To me, the most incredible aspect of this entire situation is the fact that it has become an issue at all.

Let's suppose that an uninvited trespasser broke into my home and then demanded that, since he was there, I was now obligated to pay for his education and health care. Outrageous? Of course, yet this, collectively, is precisely what the government is demanding of the taxpayers of California. Is there a shred of common sense or responsiveness to the citizenry in this policy? I fail to see it.

These are but three examples of bureaucracy gone berserk. One shudders to contemplate how many others are yet undiscovered. The fact is that our government has become a bloated, self-serving entity which is almost totally insensitive and unresponsive to the values and priorities of mainstream Americans.

Mr. President, in your 1992 campaign you taunted George Bush with the slogan, "It's the economy, stupid." I suggest that the emphatic message just sent to you by the electorate is, "It's the government, stupid." And it's your government, Mr. Clinton.

Sincerely,
Edward T. Nelson

Storm causes power outage for many in TRF

Several residents of Thief River Falls were left without power in the first serious snow storm of the season Friday.

Arlo Rude, superintendent of utilities, said Friday morning that four areas in the city of Thief River Falls were without power as a result of a snow storm that brought high winds and ice. Areas without power included the area around the School District Service Center and one block on South Main near the American Legion, an area in and around Riverside trailer court, residences from Eighth to Third Street east of Davis, and an area by the Thief River Falls Golf course. Rude said he expected power to be restored to all areas by 10 a.m. Friday morning.

Get Government Off Our Back.....

Few organizations have titles more clear and descriptive of their purpose than one formed as a non-partisan network of individuals, businesses and grass-roots organizations dedicated to the idea of a smaller, less intrusive government. The group calls itself Get Government Off Our Back. The name tells the story.

We encourage readers of this editorial to also read the article by State Sen. Roger Moe headlined "Negativism in Politics Bodes Ill For the Future" and the public opinion letter from Edward T. Nelson, both published in this issue of the Northern Watch. Both express viewpoints on how the people seem to find ways to express themselves when they are at odds with their government.

As Get Government Off Our Back illustrates, enough situations have occurred to enough people in enough places to cause organized resistance to develop. We don't consider that to be unhealthy at all so long as that discontent is channeled into reform through the legislative and legal system. In fact, our impression is that our founding fathers had in mind the right of the people to self-government, and that must come through responsive representation.

Elected officials paid the price in the recent general election for allowing the bureaucracy to grow out of control as much as for their personal deeds or misdeeds. And it was the candidates—incumbents as well as challengers, Republicans as well as Democrats—not the people, who chose to focus on their opponents' shortcomings.

Two examples cited by Get Government Off Our Back help to point out how elected officials turn good intentions over to an agency whose primary goal must be self-perpetuation and then are bewildered at the results.

° The Occupational Safety, and Health Administration (OSHA) was created with the mission to ensure that workers were provided with safe working environments. That seems like a reasonable purpose. But according to the Association of General Contractors, eight of the 10 most frequently issued OSHA fines are not for safety violations but for paperwork infractions.

° The Environmental Protection Agency was started in 1972 to police environmental polluters with an original staff of 800 and a budget of $455 million. Early on it established a list of hazardous waste sites deemed essential for clean-up. In eight years EPA had grown to 13,000 employees and its budget had nearly tripled to $1.35 billion. And by 1992 it employed 18,439 people with a budget that had ballooned to $4 billion. Despite that financial and personnel inflation, only 80 of an identified 1,275 most hazardous waste sites had been cleaned up and the EPA had discovered such major environmental problems in lawnmower emissions and the odor of baking bread.

In the process of this self-perpetuating growth, agencies such as OSHA and EPA invent problems and devise regulations to solve them, all requiring more money and personnel and each adding to paperwork and restrictions in private lives and businesses. The people wind up paying for these intrusions and are getting more government than they want or need.

This year Cost of Government Day—the day when American workers could begin working entirely for themselves if they had previously paid all of their income for taxes, regulations, mandates and the deficit—was July 10. More than half of the worker's year is spent laboring for government before providing for personal and family needs. And when a portion of those funds are expended to pay for agencies that intrude into individual lives, should it be a mystery why there is discontent in the land?

The voters across the nation have turned the majority in the U.S. Senate and House of Representatives over to the Republicans, but most probably did so feeling they were choosing the lesser of two evils. Republican Senators and Congressmen who interpret their election any other way are deceiving themselves. They must now face up to the challenge of effecting meaningful change, and that means more than just reshuffling the power structure and dividing the spoils.

It means grabbing the bureaucracy by the ankles, turning it upside down and shaking it until all the unnecessary funding falls out of its pockets. It means demanding a return by agencies to the primary purpose for which they were created and a corresponding reduction in funding to get the job done. It means saying no to special interest funding and vote-buying handouts to the home town folks. It means rejecting the temptation to throw money at problems and a resolve to have confidence in the ability of Americans to act responsibly and opt for individual freedoms.

It is certainly possible to redirect government to a fiscally responsible direction, balance the budget and reduce the deficit. The question will be whether the new majority has the courage of its convictions and the ability to handle the task. To be honest, however, we don't expect to be able to hold our breath until it happens.

Northern Watch Policies

Letters To The Editor: The staff of the Northern Watch encourages written responses to editorial comment or letters with original thoughts or ideas of general interest. Letters should be intended for publication in Northern Watch exclusively; letters sent to multiple publications will generally not be accepted. Right is reserved to edit letters for length and clarity and to reject letters deemed to be promotional in nature or in poor taste.

Letters Must Be Signed: All letters must be signed and contain an address or phone number of the writer so authenticity can be verified. Signatures must appear on letters published. The staff believes that there is greater credibility in letters signed in print and will not withhold names of writers from publication.

Responses Invited: Letters critical of individuals or other entities may be shown to those individuals or representatives of those entities in advance of publication with an invitation by newspaper staff for response in the same issue as the original letter.

Corrections: If an error is made in news or advertising publication, the staff encourages readers to call it to our immediate attention by calling 681-4450. We will attempt to correct the error or clarify the misunderstanding in the next issue.

LETTERS

To The Editor:

Please don't blame the taxpayers for the failed tax levy or the lack of "content" in our schools. Only two years ago when we were asked to vote on an $18 million bond issue, we were told that if we voted yes, we would be on the "cutting edge" and this new school system would take us well into the 21st Century. Dr. Duncan and his steering committee made that bond sound like the answer to every parent's dream.

We urged them to include smaller class sizes, among other things, in that bond package. We told Dr. Duncan and those on the steering committee that what should matter to all of us is not only the building they are taught in, but the quality of the education our children receive. Dr. Duncan said that by consolidating all of our elementary schools, we would be saving money and we would have more money for the very things he now says we need a new tax levy to pay for.

Someone should have noticed at the time of the bond issue that money was getting tight. I would think that Dr. Duncan would have decided that state and federal mandates, books and staff and curriculum development were just as important as a new building and informed the taxpayers at that time.

I may not have a Doctorate degree, but I do know that there is a limited amount of money that taxpayers are able to spend on school taxes. If it all goes into the first purse, there's nothing left for the next one! I don't think the taxpayers of our district know that $18 million would not be enough!

I have heard Dr. Duncan say that the bond money cannot be used on operating costs. But if it can buy TV sets and VCRs for every classroom and meeting room at Challenger, why couldn't it buy books and computer software? They are obviously much more educational. Maybe I need to be a politician to understand that one!

Yes, there is confusion, misunderstanding and lack of information. It happened two years ago when we guaranteed $18 million for our schools by a slim margin. Now it will take some brilliant management techniques and budget juggling to justify our trust in school officials when we voted two years ago. I think they are up to the Challenge!

Sincerely,
Deanna Sorvig

Two killed in accident near Oklee Thursday

Minnesota state patrol is investigating an accident near Oklee in which two people were killed.

Report of an accident on Highway 92 four miles south of Oklee was received at about 5:30 p.m. Thursday, November 17. A state patrol spokesperson said two were killed in a head-on collision between a car and semi-truck. Names of the victims are being withheld pending notification to relatives.

Greenbush plans Santa Claus Day

Negativism in politics bodes ill for the future

by State Senator Roger Moe

If you're like most people who followed the 1994 political season closely, you are glad it's finally over. From a personal perspective, you may or may not be happy with the results.

Beyond the results, though, the process was very disturbing. We can't afford to lose track of how elections are run because the trends over the past several elections have been unhealthy for everyone involved—Democrats, Republicans and Independents alike.

With each campaign year, the tone gets more negative and more voters seem to be turning off when it comes to politics.

We are headed in a bad direction, and the ultimate consequences down the road are very disturbing. The highest profile election races typically have become nasty, triggering a predictable negative response from the public.

Every year, more people are sounding off against politics and those of us who hold elected office. The cycle spirals endlessly downward. An already-cynical citizenry is subjected to high-profile election campaigns dominated by personal attacks. Public distrust and hostility naturally intensifies.

The situation has the potential for becoming a self-fulfilling prophecy. Opposing politicians successfully portray each other as something only slightly more worthy than serial killers, and the public reflects this view when it ranks the integrity of politicians in comparison with other employment groups—at the bottom of the list.

Who would want to go into politics when people have such a low opinion of politicians. The answer is terrifying.

Although it isn't a popular notion, I truly believe that most of my legislative colleagues are motivated by a desire to do what's best for their constituents and the State of Minnesota.

In the future, though, I'm afraid we will see a different breed of politician. Candidates for office will be tough-skinned climbers who are most capable at cutting down opponents rather than serving the interests of the public.

Changing this scenario for the sake of democracy won't be easy. No single group is responsible for the current cynical climate, and no simple solutions are available. Attitudes must change. At least three groups have responsibility for making this fundamental shift in attitudes happen.

We can't change the cynicism about politics and government without changing the way politicians operate. We must start recognizing that brutal personal attacks will come back as a negative reflection on ourselves and all of the public policy decisions we make.

The news media must reflect seriously on its role in elections and coverage of policy-making. Elections get reduced to simple sloganeering, and very little issues-analysis reporting is done—especially among the largest media operations that have resources and staff to do the job effectively.

Most candidates this year—Republicans and Democrats alike—claimed they would lock up criminals as long as possible, but at the same time they would slam the lid on taxes and spending. These fundamentally incompatible messages were never seriously challenged by media in this state or across the nation.

When a candidate stood on principle and said he would not go with personal attacks, the focus became his faltering campaign organization and his utter inability to mount a serious threat to win the election. The media's silent message was "you've blown your only chance to make this race interesting because you've allowed your moral backbone to get in the way."

Ultimately, it is most important that public attitudes must change. The citizenry must turn away from frustration and alienation and seek out informed debate and positive public policy actions. Campaigns are nasty because voters are willing to be more influenced by personal attacks and filmsy rhetoric than thorough debate of the issues.

If the public allows negative personal attacks to positively determine the outcome of elections, then those tactics will continue. It is the public's will.

For the sake of democracy, though, attitudes must change. The politicians, press and—most importantly—the public, must recognize the problem and demand a higher level of political and public policy discussion.

M. Hagerty book is available at Hugo's in TRF

Stories of the CCC boys, cutting ice on the Red River and the invention of the headbolt heater are part of a book called "Echoes" published this fall by the Grand Forks Herald.

The book is a selection of stories and columns by Marilyn Hagerty, a staff member of almost 30 years. The selection reflects changing lifestyles on farms and in the towns. It includes stories about people who picked potatoes and farmed with horses. The book has a section about people who rise to the occasion and another on travel with stories about eating mussels in Brussels and bumping along with the bicycles in Shanghai.

"Echoes" begins with a prologue describing the relentless change through the decades since the Depression. It has 80 selections on 260 pages in soft cover. The book sells for $10.95 with tax and mailing costs for a total of $12.75. It is available through the Grand Forks Herald, Box 6008, Grand Forks, ND 58206-6008. It is also available at Hugo's in Thief River Falls.

Proceeds from the books will be used for scholarships for women in journalism.

Eight sophomores are on NCC squad

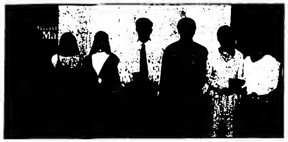
■ Pioneers men's basketball

Sophomores fill eight of the 14 spots on the 1994-95 Northland Community College men's basketball roster.

The group of returning veterans include 5-10 guard Demond Watson (Chicago, IL), 6-1 guard Chad Kujava (Warren), 6-3 forward Tim Olson (Viking), 6-8 center Anthony Kallod (Fargo, ND), 6-4 forward Rob Burley (Thompson, ND), 6-2 guard Ryan Rislov (Badger), 6-6 forward Ivan Hirst (Newfolden), and 6-5 forward Gary Carey (Brooklyn, NY).

Watson was a Minnesota Community College Conference All-Northwest Division selection last year when he averaged 15.5 points per game for the 8-14 Pioneers. Kujava carried a 13.8 scoring average as a freshman and Hirst averaged a team-leading 5.6 rebounds per game.

Freshmen rounding out coach Mark Dannhoff's roster include 6-1 guard Jake Rantanen (Newfolden), 5-10 guard Matt Gustafson (Hallock), 6-5 guard James McNeil (Chino Valley, AZ), 6-3 forward Jeremy Anderson (Karlstad), 6-4 forward Mike Whitlock (Lancaster), and 6-8 center John Brown (Minneapolis).



The Pioneers, who began practice Oct. 17, will open play with a Tuesday, Nov. 29, game against UND-Lake Region in Devils Lake, ND. Their home opener is a Thursday, Dec. 1, contest against the Concordia College junior varsity.

Minnesota Community College Conference play will start Jan. 6. A revised MCCC format will feature a single Northern Division instead of the Northwest/Northeast alignments used in the past. The Pioneers will be joined in the Northern Division by Mesabi, Vermilion, Hibbing, Rainy River, Brainerd, and Fergus Falls.

Former Northland players Antonio Parker and Parrish Tatum are serving as student assistant coaches this winter.

Bjerknes, Mooney top runners

Most valuable honors went to senior Dan Bjerknes and freshman Becky Mooney Tuesday at the Thief River Falls boys and girls high school cross country banquet.

Seventh graders Brady Anderson and Emile Mugaas were selected as the most improved runners. Senior Nathan Anderson was presented with the boys Coaches Award, while juniors Leah Helgeneset and Angie Klinker shared the girls award.

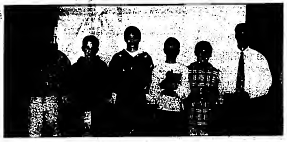
Brady Anderson was also named top junior high runner.

Boys earning athletic letters included seniors Nathan Anderson and Dan Bjerknes; junior Jeremy Swanson; sophomores Chris Pribula, Ryan Hendrickson and Nels Brown; freshmen Brian Unbehaun and Brandon Gerardy; plus seventh graders Brady Anderson and Zach Olson.

Girls awarded letters were senior Jessica Bugge; juniors Leah Helgeneset and Angie Klinker; sophomores Jocelyn Helgeland and Kate Ihle; freshman Becky Mooney; and seventh grader Emile Mugaas.

Participation certificates for the boys went to junior Kyle Sanden; sophomores Stefan Roschetti, Jordan Goldesberry and Hamilton Keefe; eighth grader Derek Berg; seventh graders Seth Harlow, Ryan Wang and Matt Trontvet; along with sixth graders Dewey Worker and John Schwartz.

Girls presented with participation certificates included juniors Lisa Swanson, Lisa Risdahl and Lori Risdahl; plus sophomore Angie Edlund.



Also part of the awards program was presentation of the Prowlers' Super Teams trophies – a reward for points accumulated during the season-long competitive conditioning events such as flag football, hill relay, soccer, volleyball, and basketball that were designed to break up the daily practice routine.

Super Teams champions were captained by Bjerknes and also included Brandy Anderson, Olson, Gerardy, Harlow, Wang, and Keefe.

The Prowlers battled injuries, illness and small numbers throughout the 1994 season. "It was the most injuries I can ever remember," said Lynn Dyer, completing his 15th year as the Prowlers coach. "Lack of numbers was a problem. And since we did not have a lot of numbers to start with, the injuries and illness added to the problem."

However, the season still had its bright spots. "We had a good group of kids to work with," said Dyer. "We had a lot of new kids. We've got some good-looking junior high kids. If they stay with the program, they're going to be good runners."

With just three seniors on the combined boys and girls roster, the Prowlers will start the 1995 season with a solid group of lettermen to build around. The key, acknowledged Dyer, will be to increase the numbers. "Somehow we've got to find some more kids who are interested in running cross country," he said. "But that's hard to do. It's a tough sport."

Members of the winning team in the Super Teams competition conducted throughout the year by the Thief River Falls boys and girls high school cross country team were presented with trophies during the Prowlers' annual banquet Tuesday. The group included, left to right, Hamilton Keefe, Brady Anderson, Brendon Gerardy, Seth Harlow, Zach Olson, and Dan Bjerknes. Not present at the time of the picture: Ryan Wang.

Women's basketball

Kronschnabel is Northland's leading scorer

Kelli Kronschnabel, a 6-0 center/forward from Fertile, is the top returnee from last year's state tournament squad as the Northland Community College women's basketball team prepares for the start of the 1994-95 season.

Practice started Oct. 31. The Pioneers' season and home opener will be a Thursday, Dec. 1, contest against the Concordia College junior varsity.

Kronschnabel averaged 10.6 points per game for a 10-14 Northland team that earned a Minnesota Community College Conference state tournament spot for the first time since 1978 and only the third time in school history.

Other returning sophomores include 5-6 guard Denise Johnson (Middle River), who averaged 7.7 points per game, 5-7 forward Carlena Jadrny (Hawley) and 5-9 forward Tracy Anderson (Stephen).

Freshmen on hand include 5-5 guards Carrie Olsen and Marcy Olsen (Starbuck), 5-6 guard Amy Arlt (Plummer), 5-5 guard Alana Spilde and 5-9 guard/forward Jeri Spilde (Karlstad), 5-6 guard Gina Selverson (Fosston), 5-8 guard Kristy Johnson and 6-1 center Val Horachek (Goodridge), 5-10 forward/center Angel Mickelson (Gklan), and 5-8 forward Stacy Plante (Red Lake Falls).

Head coach Rick Nikunen has two of last year's sophomore starters – Ronda Olson and Holly Gram – serving as student assistant coaches this year.

A new format for Minnesota Community College Conference basketball teams this year will be a Northern Division line-up for the Pioneers (along with Mesabi, Vermilion, Hibbing, Rainy River, Brainerd, Itasca, and Fergus Falls) instead of the Northwest and Northeast Divisions used in the past.

Bergland playing in IHL

National Hockey League players have been idled by labor negotiations with NHL management this season, but Tim Bergland is continuing his professional hockey career as a member of the Chicago Wolves of the International Hockey League.

Bergland, a Thief River Falls native and former University of Minnesota hockey captain, is an NHL veteran with Washington and Tampa Bay who became a free agent following the 1993-94 season.

He figured to sign with an NHL team this year, but those plans were sabotaged when the season was put on hold during the labor impasse.

Bergland has played in the IHL in the past while splitting time between the Lightning and their top minor league team in Atlanta.

TRF has a pair of state swim meet veterans

The surroundings will be familiar for Thief River Falls' Theresa Gianque and Jennifer Olin when they take part in the 1994 Minnesota girls state high school swim meet, scheduled to be held Tuesday and Wednesday, Nov. 22 and 23, at the University of Minnesota Aquatic Center in Minneapolis.

They've both been there before. Gianque, a senior, will be appearing in her fourth state meet. Olin, a junior, will be competing at the state level for the second time.

Performances at the Nov. 11-12 Section 8 swimming and diving championships at Alexandria earned the state meet trips. Gianque won the 200 and 500 freestyle races, while Olin finished second in diving.

State meet competitive starts with Tuesday prelims – diving at 10:30 a.m. and swimming events at 3:30 p.m.

Wednesday swimming and diving finals begin at 1 p.m.

Oscar Johnson of Gully, who will be 93-years-old next month, enjoyed a successful 1994 firearms deer hunting season when he downed this nice doe with a single shot through the neck from 80 yards. Johnson had cataract surgery on both eyes after the 1993 hunting season and suffered a heart attack and a stroke last winter, but nevertheless was in the field for the '94 opener. His stand is an old fish house on a snowmobile trailer that is transported to various locations on the family farm. He drives his car to the stand and hunts alone. He had the deer field dressed before the rest of the hunting party arrived. He was also happy to report that 12-year-old granddaughter Kara Lynn shot her first deer this fall, a large buck that she downed 10 minutes after arriving at her stand on opening morning.

ASK YOUR LOCKSMITH
Questions And Answers

How can I choose the right locksmith company when I need service?

Most locksmiths advertise in the Yellow Pages. Look for one close to you or one who clearly indicated he offers the service that you need. Check the ad to see if it indicates membership to a locksmith association such as the Associated Locksmiths of America, Inc. (ALOA). Membership in an association is not a guarantee of satisfaction. However, only the most conscientious business person takes the trouble to join a professional trade association.

Hides for Habitat program of the Thief River Falls chapter of the Minnesota Deer Hunters Association is well underway. Members of the chapter gathered Wednesday night to clean and salt 360 hides donated to the program so far. Hunters with hides to donate are reminded that they can spoil rapidly in warm weather being experienced this fall. They should be turned in as soon as possible to Erl's Market or Falls Radiator Shop and will be cared for on a weekly basis. Under the program, donated hides are sold in quantity at a negotiated price and the proceeds used for area habitat improvement and (if necessary) feeding projects. In the top photo are (left to right) chapter president Al Hugg and members Harvey Delage and John Fisher. Willing helpers in the bottom photo are Brandon Narlock (left) and Ryan Lee. Persons who donate hides to the program receive one chance per hide in a drawing to be held later for a rifle and one of 30 boxes of rifle shells.

Johnston Farms has top cows in Red Lake DHIA

Johnston Farms had the first and second place producers among cattle on test with the Red Lake County Dairy Herd Improvement Association in September, according to information provided by the association. Placement is based on dollar value of product.

There were 47 cows recognized as having completed 305-day or less lactations in September with production of at least 22,000 pounds of milk, 750 pounds of butterfat and/or 700 pounds of protein.

Association-leading cows from the Johnston Farms herd had respective production in 305 days of 36,294 pounds of milk, 1,156 pounds of butterfat and 1,103 pounds of protein and 28,394 pounds of milk, 1,089 pounds of butterfat and 947 pounds of protein.

Northwest Agricultural Experiment Station had the third place cow with production of 28,631 pounds of milk, 909 pounds of butterfat and 933 pounds of protein.

Other cows in the top 10 came from the following herds with pounds of milk, butterfat and protein listed respectively:

Don and Karen Konickson, 28,055, 890 and 902; Johnston Farms, 26,791, 1,056 and 866; Don and Karen Konickson, 28,538, 622 and 825; Northwest Agricultural Experiment Station, 25,310, 856 and 818 and 26,044, 820 and 793; Kevin and Beth Roppe, 25,527, 758 and 823; and Tom and Diane Kolstoe, 24,942 1,053 and 703.

Not counting the top 10, herds with cows meeting the minimum standards mentioned above included the following: Northwest Agricultural Experiment Station (5), Wayne Nelleson (5), Tom and Diane Kolstoe (2), Johnston Farms (6), Harold Derosier and Sons (3), Don and Karen Konickson (7), Greg and Susan Zak (4), Beyer Farms, John and Warren Malwitz, Kevin and Beth Roppe, Safranski Dairy, Randy and Jo Gast, Greg Kilen and Gary and Grant Gullekson.

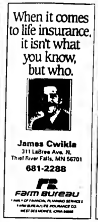
cylinders feature a wide exhaust port with a center bridge, while the triple tuned pipes empty into a single canister to promote free exhaust flow.

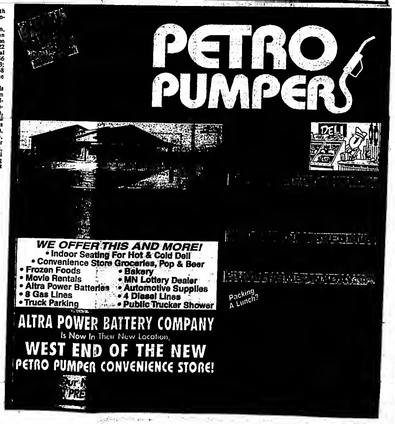
"Rather than build a triple that was near the upper reaches of its design limitations like the Polaris XLT, we built an engine that pushes the envelope of technology and offers considerable latitude in future design," said Eide.



Besides the new engine, the ZRT 600 bristles with all the high-tech ZR touches proven on the race track: chrome-moly A-arms and spindles, internal floating piston Fox Gas Shox, plastic/aluminum composite skis, and the Wilwood hydraulic disc brake. It all adds up to one formidable racing sled. And one big headache for the competition.

"Without a doubt, the new ZRT 600 is the sled many have been waiting for," said Skime. "It combines the nimble and controlled handling of the ZR chassis with the power of a high-tech three-cylinder motor in the most popular class of snowmobile, the 600 class."

However, those waiting to trade up to the new ZRT 600 will probably have to wait until the 1996 model year, because only a few 1995 ZRT 600s will escape the race tracks, and they will more than likely be used by dealers as demonstrators.



A total of 500 will be manufactured this year. Most of those will go to racers, field tests and demos, which will give Arctco a full season on the new sled before it goes into full production next year.

With the introduction of this new sled, Team Arctic intends to form in Formula 3 racing this year. Hallstrom added that they feel good about the motor, and racers for Team Arctic this year.

TRF city council affirms position on Soo Depot

Thief River Falls city council reaffirmed its position that it is not interested in purchasing the Soo Line Depot, unless goals and objectives of the Depot Renovation Project are met.

Tuesday evening during a regularly scheduled meeting of the city council, the council learned that The Canadian Pacific railroad agreed to an extension of a purchase agreement to April 30. The original deadline to reach a goal of $400,000, which would help the city reach goals and objectives of depot renovation, was passed in mid November. To date, just over $100,000 has been collected and another $200,000 pledged if the committee can raise $200,000.

The city reaffirmed its position Tuesday night because of the costs associated with any renovation of the depot. A "Soo Line Depot Restoration/Adaptive Reuse Study" prepared by Michael J. Burns Architects, estimated renovation project costs at $678,900. Most of the cost would involve $347,800 in site improvements and exterior and interior building repairs, but also $79,500 in plumbing and heating repairs, $60,000 in asbestos and lead paint removal, $55,400 in electrical repairs, and many other costs.

Once the $400,000 is raised from the community, a private developer will be selected to occupy the depot in an arrangement similar to that which the city has on the Carnegie Library with the Red Lake Watershed District. This developer would provide the remaining $279,000 needed for restoration.

With the approval of an extension of time on the purchase agreement, it is the Depot Preservation Committee's intent to continue to pursue fund-raising during the next few months.

The resolution adopted by the city council, stated that any support by the city of Thief River Falls would be in the form of in-kind services to assist the Depot Preservation Committee's work with no commitment for any direct cash outlay from the city to acquire or restore the Depot.

■ Transfer of funds approved for mini-light project.

The city council approved a transfer of funds from the Avenue of Flags project fund to the new Highway 59 Mini-Light project fund. Both funds contain donations from individuals who support the project and no cash or cash commitment from the city of Thief River Falls. At this time, any assistance provided by the city to either project has only included professional services assistance.

The request to transfer funds made by Bob Bergan, executive vice president of the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce. Bergan informed the council that he had received signatures and approval of individuals who donated funds to the Avenue of Flags fund. Began noted that some funds will remain in the Avenue of Flags project fund, and the transfer of

Wednesday, Pennington County board of commissioners approved a motion to proceed with designs to make the county courthouse handicapped accessible.

The county board met in a special session Wednesday, November 23, with Foss Associates, engineers, architects and interiors, to discuss design proposals. Several different designs were proposed, but the county board approved a design that puts an elevator and entrance on the northwest corner of the building. The representative from Foss Associates was instructed to continue design development to the next stage, which would include aspects of an additional design. The representative of Foss Associates explained that this was necessary in case the county board decided to change their minds and go with a design that included a building; and, it would allow the designers to develop a design for an entrance and elevator that could be compatible with any possible design changes in the future.

The proposed design takes into account parking and establishes handicapped parking stalls in the parking lot behind the courthouse and near the proposed entrance.

The county board instructed the county engineer to negotiate with the city to purchase additional property, if needed to accomodate the proposal.

The county board has not ruled out a joint venture between the county and the City of Thief River Falls.

The county board did instruct the representative of Foss Associates to be ready to call for bids in February or March and start construction in the spring. Chairman Ken Murphy, however, reminded the representative that the City of Thief River Falls has not made a decision and once they do it might mean going back to the drawing board in a month.

Curfew considered in Red Lake Falls

Red Lake Falls — The Red Lake Falls City Council brought up the subject of a curfew to get the city's young people out of The Spot bar at an earlier hour, but Sheriff Al Morken said instead of a curfew he'd like to see a place for the kids to go other than the bar. He suggested a teen center similar to the one recently opened in Plummer. He added, "We may end up having to put in a curfew, but we have a superb bunch of young people and there are a few we have problems with. Until we have a vandalism problem, I don't see why we need a curfew."

Agassiz refuge issues firewood cutting permits

Agassiz National Wildlife Refuge is issuing woodcutting permits valid through the 1994-95 winter season. Wood is for personal use only and there is a $10 administrative charge.

Wood cutters may select a plot where all standing live and dead aspen, balsam poplar and willow must be cut. All other tree species that are standing can not be removed, although all fallen timber may be taken.

Wet conditions in some plots may prevent access until freeze-up, according to refuge personnel. A refuge map showing locations of the areas and plots and a list of special use permit conditions are available at the refuge office.

Wood cutting and hauling will be permitted during daylight hours. The permittee must be present during any wood cutting or hauling activity and have in possession the wood cutting permit. Helpers are allowed and encouraged for safety purposes. There is no cord limit within each plot.

Firearms, bow and arrows, alcoholic beverages and drugs are not permitted.

Interested people may contact Agassiz National Wildlife Refuge at 449-4115 or stop at refuge headquarters located 11 miles east of Holt on Marshall County Road 7. Inspection hours are Monday through Friday from 7:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. excluding holidays.

Perseverance keys Van Ackeren success

Quadriplegic student Rob Van Ackeren masters drafting program and is selected as Student of the Year

by Marvin Loodin
Northern Watch Editor

When Cindie Van Ackeren was told by social workers she should get ready to place her 30-year-old quadriplegic husband Rob in a nursing home, she knew what his reaction would be. It simply wasn't going to happen.

This week Rob, Cindie and their two daughters (Kendra, 8 and Kelsey, 6) are moving to the Mesa area of Arizona where, far from going into a nursing home, he is going into employment as a draftsman with an architectural firm.

What happened in the interim between his lack of progress assessment in 1991 in the rehabilitation program of a Grand Forks hospital and his remarkable progress to date is a tribute to his own attitude and perseverance, his instructors and others in the architectural drafting and design program at Northwest Technical College in Thief River Falls, and the support of his family and friends.

"I'm really a pretty stubborn person," is Rob's self-assessment. "I tend to make up my own mind about things, especially things that directly affect me. And going into a nursing home is one thing I wasn't going to do!"

Van Ackeren has been selected by a committee from the technical college here as its Outstanding Student of the Year. He will be recognized at the annual convention of the Minnesota Association of Technical Colleges in January in Minneapolis and was in Thief River Falls this week to discuss arrangements to attend that event.

Rob graduated from high school in Langdon, ND, then attended a two-year educational program in business, attending one year at the North Dakota State School of Science at Wahpeton and a second year at Lake Region Junior College at Devils Lake, ND.

He farmed with his father while going to school, then took a job with a landscape firm in Colorado Springs, CO, when it became evident that there was little means for him to become further involved in farming. He met Cindie in Phoenix on a trip to Arizona and they were married in her home town in Colorado in 1988.

In 1989 they moved to Grand Forks, ND, where Rob had accepted employment with another landscape firm. Among his duties there was the drawing of landscape plans.

In November of 1990, tired from a long drive after a western state elk hunt and a couple of long days at work, he was in a hurry to reach his home at Langdon to hunt with his father. He missed a turn on a correction line in a rural road and his car flipped end over end two and a half times and struck a railroad embankment. He appeared to have escaped serious injury, but x-rays in Grand Forks nearly nine hours later revealed two fractured vertebrae and damage to his spinal cord.

He spent a month in the intensive care unit, another month in the acute care unit and five months in the rehabilitation unit. When it was determined he had reached a progress plateau and wouldn't respond to further therapy, the suggestion of transfer to a nursing home was made.

Van Ackeren said his stubborn streak took over. He put himself on a regimen of self-imposed therapy, believing that the two hours morning and afternoon in the hospital was not enough. He had asked for longer sessions but been refused.

Gradually he was able to regain some movement and strength, especially in his right arm, but it is severely limited and difficult to control precisely. He has been Hunters with hides to donate are reminded that they can spoil rapidly in warm weather being experienced this fall. They should be turned in as soon as possible to Erl's Market or Falls Radiator Shop and will be cared for on a weekly basis. Under the program, donated hides are sold in quantity at a negotiated price and the proceeds used for area habitat improvement and (if necessary) feeding projects. In the top photo are (left to right) chapter president Al Hugg and members Harvey Deisga and John Fisher. Willing helpers in the bottom photo are Brandon Narlock (left) and Ryan Lee. Persons who donate hides to the program receive one chance per hide in a drawing to be held later for a rifle and one of 30 boxes of rifle shells.

Johnston Farms has top cows in Red Lake DHIA

Johnston Farms had the first and second place producers among cattle on test with the Red Lake County Dairy Herd Improvement Association in September, according to information provided by the association. Placement is based on dollar value of product.

There were 47 cows recognized as having completed 305-day or less lactations in September with production of at least 22,000 pounds of milk, 750 pounds of butterfat and/or 700 pounds of protein.

Association-leading cows from the Johnston Farms herd had respective production in 305 days of 36,294 pounds of milk, 1,156 pounds of butterfat and 1,105 pounds of protein and 28,394 pounds of milk, 1,089 pounds of butterfat and [illegible] pounds of protein.

Northwest Agricultural Experiment Station had the third place cow with production of 28,631 pounds of milk, 909 pounds of butterfat and 933 pounds of protein.

Other cows in the top 10 came from the following herds with pounds of milk, butterfat and protein listed respectively:

Don and Karen Konickson, 28,055, 890 and 902; Johnston Farms, 26,791, 1,056 and 866; Don and Karen Konickson, 28,538, 622 and 825; Northwest Agricultural Experiment Station, 25,310, 856 and 818 and 26,044, 820 and 793; Kevin and Beth Roppe, 25,527, 758 and 823; and Tom and Diane Kolstoe, 24,942 1,053 and 703.

Not counting the top 10, herds with cows meeting the minimum standards mentioned above included the following: Northwest Agricultural Experiment Station (5), Wayne Vettleson (3), Tom and Diane Kolstoe (2), Johnston Farms (6), Harold Derosier and Sons (3), Don and Karen Konickson (7), Greg and Susan Zak (4), Beyer Farms, John and Warren Malwitz, Kevin and Beth Roppe, Safranski Dairy, Randy and Jo Gast, Greg Kilen and Gary and Grant Gullekson.

cylinders feature a wide exhaust port with a center bridge, while the triple tuned pipes empty into a single canister to promote free exhaust flow.

"Rather than build a triple that was near the upper reaches of its design limitations like the Polaris XLT, we built an engine that pushes the envelope of technology and offers considerable latitude in future design," said Eide.

Besides the new engine, the ZRT 600 bristles with all the high-tech ZR touches proven on the race track: chrome-moly A-arms and spindles, internal floating piston Fox Gas Shox, plastic/aluminum composite skis, and the Wilwood hydraulic disc brake. It all adds up to one formidable racing sled. And one big headache for the competition.

"Without a doubt, the new ZRT 600 is the sled many have been waiting for," said Skime. "It combines the nimble and controlled handling of the ZR chassis with the power of a high-tech three-cylinder motor in the most popular class of snowmobile, the 600 class."

However, those waiting to trade up to the new ZRT 600 will probably have to wait until the 1996 model year, because only a few 1995 ZRT 600s will escape the race tracks, and they will more than likely be used by dealers as demonstrators.

A total of 500 will be manufactured this year. Most of those will go to racers, field tests and demos, which will give Arctco a full season on the new sled before it goes into full production next year.

With the introduction of this new sled, Team Arctic intends to focus on Formula 3 racing this year. Hallstrom added that they feel good about the motor, and racers for Team Arctic this year.

TRF city council affirms position on Soo Depot

Thief River Falls city council reaffirmed its position that it is not interested in purchasing the Soo Line Depot, unless goals and objectives of the Depot Renovation Project are met.

Tuesday evening during a regularly scheduled meeting of the city council, the council learned that The Canadian Pacific railroad agreed to an extension of a purchase agreement to April 30. The original deadline to reach a goal of $400,000, which would help the city reach goals and objectives of depot renovation, was passed in mid November. To date, just over $100,000 has been collected and another $200,000 pledged if the committee can raise $200,000.

The city reaffirmed its position Tuesday night because of the costs associated with any renovation of the depot. A "Soo Line Depot Restoration/Adaptive Reuse Study" prepared by Michael J. Burns Architects, estimated renovation project costs at $678,900. Most of the cost would involve $347,800 in site improvements and exterior and interior building repairs, but also $79,500 in plumbing and heating repairs, $60,000 in asbestos and lead paint removal, $55,400 in electrical repairs, and many other costs.

Once the $400,000 is raised from the community, a private developer will be selected to occupy the depot in an arrangement similar to that which the city has on the Carnegie Library with the Red Lake Watershed District. This developer would provide the remaining $279,000 needed for restoration.

With the approval of an extension of time on the purchase agreement, it is the Depot Preservation Committee's intent to continue to pursue fund-raising during the next few months.

The resolution adopted by the city council, stated that any support by the city of Thief River Falls would be in the form of in-kind services to assist the Depot Preservation Committee's work with no commitment for any direct cash outlay from the city to acquire or restore the Depot.

■ Transfer of funds approved for mini-light project.

The city council approved a transfer of funds from the Avenue of Flags project fund to the new Highway 59 Mini-Light project fund. Both funds contain donations from individuals who support the project and no cash or cash commitment from the city of Thief River Falls. At this time, any assistance provided by the city to either project has only included professional services assistance.

The request to transfer funds made by Bob Bergan, executive vice president of the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce. Bergan informed the council that he had received signatures and approval of individuals who donated funds to the Avenue of Flags fund. Began noted that some funds will remain in the Avenue of Flags project fund, and the transfer of

Red Lake Falls — The Red Lake Falls City Council brought up the subject of a curfew to get the city's young people out of The Spot bar at an earlier hour, but Sheriff Al Morken said instead of a curfew he'd like to see a place for the kids to go other than the bar. He suggested a teen center similar to the one recently opened in Plummer. He added, "We may end up having to put in a curfew, but we have a superb bunch of young people and there are a few we have problems with. Until we have a vandalism problem, I don't see why we need a curfew."

Pennington board reviews courthouse remodeling designs

Wednesday, Pennington county board of commissioners approved a motion to proceed with designs to make the county courthouse handicapped accessible.

The county board met in a special session Wednesday, November 23, with Foss Associates, engineers, architects and interiors, to discuss design proposals. Several different designs were proposed, but the county board approved a design that puts an elevator and entrance on the northwest corner of the building. The representative from Foss Associates was instructed to continue design development to the next stage, which would include aspects of an additional design. The representative of Foss Associates explained that this was necessary in case the county board [illegible] go with a design that included a building; and, it would allow the designers to develop a design for an entrance and elevator that could be compatible with any possible design changes in the future.

The proposed design takes into account parking and establishes handicapped parking stalls in the parking lot behind the courthouse and near the proposed entrance.

The county board instructed the county engineer to negotiate with the city to purchase additional property, if needed to accomodate the proposal.

The county board has not ruled out a joint venture between the county and the City of Thief River Falls.

The county board did instruct the representative of Foss Associates to be ready to call for bids in February or March and start construction in the spring. Chairman Ken Murphy, however, reminded the representative that the City of Thief River Falls has not made a decision and once they do it might mean going back to the drawing board in a month.

Heritage Community Center Choir provided Christmas music Friday morning for the Christmas Tree lighting ceremony. Mayor Bob Reeve gave the welcoming address and Hazel Huot read the Christmas story. Approximately 50 were in attendance at the event.

Agassiz refuge issues firewood cutting permits

Agassiz National Wildlife Refuge is issuing woodcutting permits valid through the 1994-95 winter season. Wood is for personal use only and there is a $10 administrative charge.

Wood cutters may select a plot where all standing live and dead aspen, balsam poplar and willow must be cut. All other tree species that are standing can not be removed, although all fallen timber may be taken.

Wet conditions in some plots may prevent access until freeze-up, according to refuge personnel. A refuge map showing locations of the areas and plots and a list of special use permit conditions are available at the refuge office.

Wood cutting and hauling will be permitted during daylight hours. The permittee must be present during any wood cutting or hauling activity and have in possession the wood cutting permit. Helpers are allowed and encouraged for safety purposes. There is no cord limit within each plot.

Firearms, bow and arrows, alcoholic beverages and drugs are not permitted.

Interested people may contact Agassiz National Wildlife Refuge at [illegible] or stop at refuge headquarters located 11 miles east of Holt on Marshall County Road 7. Inspection hours are Monday through Friday from 7:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. excluding holidays.

Perseverance keys Van Ackeren success

Quadriplegic student Rob Van Ackeren masters drafting program and is selected as Student of the Year

by Marvin Lundin
Northern Watch Editor

When Cindie Van Ackeren was told by social workers she should get ready to place her 30-year-old quadriplegic husband Rob in a nursing home, she knew what his reaction would be. It simply wasn't going to happen.

This week Rob, Cindie and their two daughters (Kendra, 8 and Kelsey, 6) are moving to the Mesa area of Arizona where, far from going into a nursing home, he is going into employment as a draftsman with an architectural firm.

What happened in the interim between his lack of progress assessment in 1991 in the rehabilitation program of a Grand Forks hospital and his remarkable progress to date is a tribute to his own attitude and perseverance, his instructors and others in the architectural drafting and design program at Northwest Technical College in Thief River Falls, and the support of his family and friends.

"I'm really a pretty stubborn person," is Rob's self-assessment. "I tend to make up my own mind about things, especially things that directly affect me. And going into a nursing home is one thing I wasn't going to do!"

Van Ackeren has been selected by a committee from the technical college here as its Outstanding Student of the Year. He will be recognized at the annual convention of the Minnesota Association of Technical Colleges in January in Minneapolis and was in Thief River Falls this week to discuss arrangements to attend that event.

Rob graduated from high school in Langdon, ND, then attended a two-year educational program in business, attending one year at the North Dakota State School of Science at Wahpeton and a second year at Lake Region Junior College at Devils Lake, ND.

He farmed with his father while going to school, then took a job with a landscape firm in Colorado Springs, CO, when it became evident that there was little means for him to become further involved in farming. He met Cindie in Phoenix on a trip to Arizona and they were married in her home town in Colorado in 1986.

In 1989 they moved to Grand Forks, ND, where Rob had accepted employment with another landscape firm. Among his duties there was the drawing of landscape plans.

In November of 1990, tired from a long drive after a western state elk hunt and a couple of long days at work, he was in a hurry to reach his home at Langdon to hunt with his father. He missed a turn on a correction line in a rural road and his car flipped end over end two and a half times and struck a railroad embankment. He appeared to have escaped serious injury, but x-rays in Grand Forks nearly nine hours later revealed two fractured vertebrae and damage to his spinal cord.

He spent a month in the intensive care unit, another month in the acute care unit and five months in the rehabilitation unit. When it was determined he had reached a progress plateau and wouldn't respond to further therapy, the suggestion of transfer to a nursing home was made.

Van Ackeren said his stubborn streak took over. He put himself on a regimen of self-imposed therapy, believing that the two hours morning and afternoon in the hospital was not enough. He had asked for longer sessions but been refused.

Gradually he was able to regain some movement and strength, especially in his right arm, but it is severely limited and difficult to control precisely. He has been

Instructor Kim Philipp arranges the Headmaster on the head of Rob Van Ackeren in the architectural drafting and design department at Northwest Technical College in Thief River Falls. The unit permits Van Ackeren to operate a computer that makes his drawings. In combined class and home study, Rob has more than 3,500 hours of computer aided drafting experience.

Gaming manager sentenced for pull tab theft

Crookston — The former gaming manager at VFW Post 1902 in Crookston was sentenced November 11 for stealing pull tab money. Allen Nelson, 51, of Crookston, was sentenced to one year in prison which was stayed for 10 years, 210 days at Northwest Regional Corrections Center, 100 hours of community service and ordered to undergo a gambling addiction evaluation for stealing the alleged amount of $36,823.50 in pull tab money in the latter months of 1993 from the Crookston American Legion Club. In regard to restitution, Nelson is disputing the amount he will have to pay back, an a hearing was set to resolve that matter.

Gaming manager sentenced for pull tab theft

Crookston — The former gaming manager at VFW Post 1902 in Crookston was sentenced November 11 for stealing pull tab money. Allen Nelson, 31, of Crookston, was sentenced to one year in prison which was stayed for 10 years, 210 days at Northwest Regional Corrections Center, 100 hours of community service and ordered to undergo a gambling addiction evaluation for stealing the alleged amount of $36,823.50 in pull tab money in the latter months of 1993 from the Crookston American Legion Club. In regard to restitution, Nelson is disputing the amount he will have to pay back, so a hearing was set to resolve that matter.

Whatever the men can do...

Bejou — Four women from the Bagley area bagged a 950 pound moose on their first moose hunting expedition. Hunting in the Bejou area, Gloria Goodwin from Bagley, Shirlee Guenther from Waubun, Paula Halvorson from Lengby and Avis Bevins from White Earth got a three-year-old moose on their first day of hunting. After dragging the moose out of the woods, they helped gut and skin the creature. Each received 91 pounds of moose meat after processing.

SOUPCON
Sherry LaCoursiere

What to do with those turkey leftovers? Try some of today's main dish meals.

This dish will make a good meal from those leftovers:

TURKEY BAKE
12 slices bread, crusts removed Leftover cooked turkey, cubed
Celery, chopped (optional)
4 eggs
3 1/2 cups milk
Salt and pepper
Cream of mushroom soup
1/3 can water

Butter both sides of bread. Place six slices on bottom of cookie sheet with sides.

Add layer of turkey and then one of celery. Place six more slices of bread on top.

Beat eggs, milk, salt and pepper and pour on bread. Let stand several hours or overnight.

Bake 1 hour at 350 degrees. Top with mixture of mushroom soup and water and heat well.

This is dish makes something a bit more elegant out of your leftovers:

TURKEY ASPARAGUS CASSEROLE
1 box Nabisco Triscuits
2 (15 ounce) cans asparagus
2 cups cubed turkey
2 cans button mushrooms
2 cans cream of chicken soup
1/2 cup mayonnaise
1 small jar chopped pimento

Crush Triscuits and put half in bottom of 9x13 pan. Add turkey, then asparagus.

Combine soup, mushrooms, pimento and mayonnaise and pour over asparagus. Top with remaining crumbs.

Bake at 350 degrees for 45 minutes.

This would be a great dish for Sunday brunch:

TURKEY STROGANOFF
3 cups cooked turkey, cut in strips
1 can cream of chicken soup
1 (4 ounce) can mushrooms, drained
1/4 cup chopped pimento, drained
1 tablespoon instant minced onion
1 tablespoon flour
1/2 teaspoon mustard
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon garlic powder
1/3 teaspoon pepper
1 cup sour cream

In 10 inch skillet, combine all ingredients except sour cream. Stir to combine and cook, uncovered, over medium heat, stirring occasionally, until mixture comes to a boil, about 5 minutes.

Stir in sour cream and heat through. Serve over toasted English muffins, pastry shells, rice or noodles.

You can't get much easier than this, and I bet it is delicious:

TURKEY CASSEROLE
Turkey chunks
1 package frozen broccoli
1/2 cup sour cream
1 cup Minute Rice, uncooked
1 can Cheddar cheese soup

Layer chicken and broccoli in casserole. Mix remaining ingredients and pour over.

Bake at 350 degrees for 25 minutes.

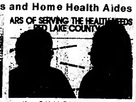
This recipe was in Wednesday's Grand Forks Herald. I am going to try it because I always have leftover gravy and potatoes, so I just had to include it in today's recipes:

PILGRIM PIE
4 cups cooked turkey chunks
1 cup frozen peas
1 cup frozen corn kernels
2 (10 1/2 ounce) cans turkey gravy or 2 1/4 cups leftover homemade gravy
1/4 cup snipped chives, divided
1 1/2 teaspoons dried thyme
4 cups leftover mashed potatoes

Preheat oven to 400 degrees.

In a large bowl, mix turkey, peas, corn, gravy, 2 tablespoons of the chives and thyme. Place in shallow 2 1/2 to 3 quart baking dish and set aside.

Warm potatoes in microwave and mix in remaining chives. Cover turkey mixture with potatoes.



Place dish on baking sheet and bake at 400 degrees about 25 minutes (in center of oven) until mixture is bubbly and potatoes begin to brown.

Serve with cranberry sauce, if desired.

Roseau history book due out in mid-December

In observance of the Roseau county centennial, a committee of county residents has arranged for publication of "The Centennial Book"—a 200-plus-page history of the county.

Co-chairpersons Irene Olson and Hazel Wahlberg said the book "is pure history in a lighter vein with a human viewpoint. It won't be dull reading."

They also pointed out that it is a different book than the one being published by the Roseau Area Friends of the Library, which is a compilation of creative writing and art work by county residents.

The book will sell for $20 and reservations are being taken by the Roseau County Historical Society and Museum at 218-463-1918.

Editorial opinion published on this page, whether locally written or re-printed from other sources is intended to stimulate thinking and discussion among our readers. Clinton Recruits For The Religious Right

Following editorial was written by John L. Bechtel, a Seventh-day Adventist and pastor and religion editor of the Sacramento Valley Mirror. It was printed in the November/December issue of Liberty magazine:

Who has been the greatest asset to the Religious Right in the past few years?

Pat Robertson? Bill Bennett? Jesse Helms? Pat Buchanan?

Would you believe—Bill Clinton?

Indeed, while deploring the fact that Clinton "has not focused his administration to the people of faith," Mike Russell, communication director for Pat Robertson's Christian coalition, says that since Clinton came to office, the organization has had a steady increase in new members, sometimes averaging "as many as 8,000 to 10,000 new members or activists in a single week....and that has been fairly consistent."

Author and radio speaker James C. Dobson and his focus on the Family organization has been growing by leaps and bounds. Paul Hetrick, vice president of Focus on the Family, says a big increase started "just prior to the election and then especially just after the election....In both the donations and also the number of people wanting to be added to our mailing list."

Family Research Council, the conservative think tank and lobbying group headed by Gary Bauer and closely associated with Dobson's Focus on the Family, has also had a big increase since Clinton moved into the White House. The 1992-1993 fiscal year brought a bonanza of funds, more than doubling their budget of $3 million the previous year to $7 million.

Bauer, former domestic policy advisor to Ronald Reagan, said that the increase came "without us really doing any of the things that other conservative groups do. In other words, we didn't rent any massive mailing lists and do cold mailings. We just continued to do our work here in Washington and found that the interest in what we are doing increased enough that we more than doubled our budget."

Bauer said that his organization used to receive about 5,400 pieces of mail a month, but since Bill Clinton's election, "we get 15,000 a month."

It hasn't been just the Religious Right that has benefited. Shortly after Clinton took office, Republican national Committee chair Haley Barbour said, "Bill Clinton's done more to unite the Republicans in four months than I'll do in four years."

"Clinton," wrote Fred Barnes in the New Republic, "has touched the hot button of every ilk of conservatives—free market purists, social issue conservatives, right-to-lifers, anti-tax crusaders, the Christian Right, deficit hawks. The result is an explosion or right-wing activism, coupled with a surge of support for Republican candidates and growing public support for some conservative positions."

Even the National Rifle Association added 350,000 new members within less than a year of the inaugural.

Prior to the 1992 election some New Right leaders anticipated that Clinton in the White House might be to their best advantage. They had no idea. However much the New Right might decry his politics, his morals, and his views on separation of church and state, Bill Clinton has become their top recruiter and fund-raiser.

The New Right will, no doubt, continue to oppose Clinton right up through the 1996 election. Yet Pat Robertson and other New Right leaders must realize that if the President has been able to increase their budgets, drive up membership and increase interest in many of the issues it deems important—why should they want him out?

Though Religious Right leaders wouldn't say it publicly, they must at least be thinking: Four more years! Four more years!

Children's Views Given On Electricity

Owen Bishop of Carolina Country, the statewide consumer magazine in North Carolina, collected elementary school students' views on electricity and how to conserve it. Some of the children's comments were published in the PKM News, a publication of PKM Electric Cooperative with offices in Warren.

One student who obviously hadn't experienced gasoline and kerosene lamp and lantern days noted that "Electricity has been with us forever and maybe even longer." One who understood the meaning of readily available electric current, however, wrote: "The Dark Ages lasted until the invention of electricity."

Another pointed out that "The indians did not have electricity. They used smoke signals in both the A.C. and D. C. times." One who this aging writer can identify with explained, "I looked up what a neutron is twice, but I forgot it three times."

Perhaps one youngster has a budding career in writing assembly instructions for manufacturers in the Orient. Isn't there familiar sentence structure in this observation? "Every time I think how electricity does so much for us, I have joy feels all over. From now on, I will put both gladness and wonder in my same thought about electricity."

And the children had some classic suggestions for ways to reduce energy use:

- Lower people's body temperatures to 68 degrees;
- Put more hot sauce on all the food.
- Eat more carrots so we can see just as good with less light.
- Make it a rule that there has to be at least two people in every big bed that uses an electric blanket.
- Find out if tulip bulbs give off heat.
- Dip everything that is made into stuff that glows in the dark.
- Don't have so many days of school.

Northern Watch Policies

Letters To The Editor: The staff of the Northern Watch encourages written responses to editorial comment or letters with original thoughts or ideas of general interest. Letters should be intended for publication in Northern Watch exclusively; letters sent to multiple publications will generally not be accepted. Right is reserved to edit letters for length and clarity and to reject letters deemed to be promotional in nature or in poor taste.

Letters Must Be Signed: All letters must be signed and contain an address or phone number of the writer so authenticity can be verified. Signatures must appear on letters published. The staff believes that there is greater credibility in letters signed in print and will not withhold names of writers from publication.

Responses Invited: Letters critical of individuals or other entities may be shown to those individuals or representatives of those entities in advance of publication with an invitation by newspaper staff for response in the same issue as the original letter.

Corrections: If an error is made in news or advertising publication, the staff encourages readers to call it to our immediate attention by calling 681-4450. We will attempt to correct the error or clarify the misunderstanding in the next issue.

SWCD officials in Grygla area go to state meet

Supervisors and staff of the Marshall-Beltrami Soil and Water Conservation District will join about 800 others from around the state at the 58th annual convention of the Minnesota Association of Soil and Water Conservation Districts in Bloomington December 11-13.

Theme of the convention is "Soil and Water Partnerships—Our Commitment for the Future."

"These conventions give us an excellent opportunity to learn from what other SWCDs around the state are doing and take advantage of the training sessions offered," states Lloyd Wiseth, chairman of the district's board of supervisors.

"We come home with new ideas and new skills to help us carry them out."

This year's convention features Elton Redalen, Minnesota Commissioner of Agriculture, speaking about striking a balance between profitable farming and environmental pressures. He will also discuss a new low-interest loan program designed to help rural Minnesotans pay for projects that protect water quality.

Training sessions offered at the convention will provide information on construction site control, reauthorization of the federal Clean Water Act, and improving the efficiency of meetings. Participants will vote on resolutions and elect new officers of the state association.

Conservation cooperators from each district will be honored at a December 13 lunch sponsored by The Farmer magazine. A Farmer/Sportsman of the Year Award will also be presented at the event.

Roseau woman receives injuries in accident Thurs.

Tiffany Wojciehowski, 17, Roseau, was treated at Northwest Medical Center in Thief River Falls for cuts and bruises following an accident early Thursday morning.

According to the accident report, Wojciehowski, was driving a 1988 Mercury Tracer east on County road 11 about two miles west of Red Lake Falls when she lost control of the vehicle and it went into the ditch and rolled. The vehicle was considered a total loss.

Lincoln High School Honor Society President Kelly Liden, stretches to point to $100,000, the halfway point in the fund drive to "Save the Depot" in Thief River Falls.

Kmart in Thief River Falls donated 20 boxes of food for Thanksgiving to families in the community who are in need of assistance. Joy Eiseth (center), Kmart personnel and training manager, assisted representatives of the Violence Intervention Project in Thief River Falls, load the food into a truck after the food had been collected and brought to the store by Kmart Manager Mark Little. Each box of food contained 20 pounds of potatoes, a 10 to 15 pound turkey, dressing, pie, two loaves of bread, four cans of vegetables, and one can of cranberries and was delivered to low income families. The Kmart store in Thief River Falls is one of 2,400 Kmart stores participating in the Kmart Community Volunteer program, which will assist an estimated 48,000 needy families this year.

Hazel Huot read the Christmas story for early risers who bundled up and crawled out of warm beds to see the city's Christmas tree lighting ceremony. The time, 7 a.m. at Floyd B. Olson park, marks a departure from the traditional evening ceremony held at Elks park. About 35 people plus the Heritage Community Center Choir and other officials attended the event. Hot chocolate was served at Hardee's following the event.

City council affirms decision on Soo Depot

funds does not mean they are going to forget about the Avenue of Flags project.

The transfer of funds was approved.

The Highway 59 or Third Street mini-light project involves placing Christmas lights on trees located in the center berm of Highway 59 south from First Street to Kendall Avenue. Residents of the city should see the results of that project fairly soon.

■ The city council approved a variance and zoning change for a garage.

A variance request and zoning amendment request by Jeff Brouse for The Shop located at 703 Atlantic Avenue North was approved. The requests were approved following hearings before and recommendations from the Board of Zoning Appeals and the Planning Commission. Brouse proposes to erect a wood, sight-obscuring fence not less than six feet in height and to install vegetative plantings around the outside perimeter of the proposed fence.

There were no people in attendance at the hearings or at the city council meeting in opposition to the request. The Community Development department had received three contacts prior to the October 24 hearing all of which were in opposition to the request. During the discussion at the hearing, Brouse indicated that he has attempted to keep sight pollution to a minimum and that no business is being conducted on the property after 9 p.m. Rezoning and the variance request would allow him to construct a garage and keep more of the vehicles being repaired in the buildings or within the proposed fenced in area.

■ The city council approved a budget request from Tri-Valley Heartland Express.

The council approved a 1995 budget request from Tri-Valley Heartland Express, but did not approve an application for funds to replace a vehicle. Tri-Valley Heartland Express was requesting $8,629.06 in operating expenses and $1,094.48 for the purchase of a new bus. The conditional approval was granted because the council wants the Transit Needs committee to review the request. The Transit Needs committee is also looking into other ideas, such as routes, hours of operation, and marketing. Some council members also expressed a concern that it appears that the city is paying more than its fair share for the bus service.

In other business, the council: approved the city's participation in the Community Telecommunications Committee; approved a progression raise for Keith Iverson; formally recognized the formation of the Swimming Pool Advisory Committee; approved employment of Mark Beedy as a Liquor store clerk; approved reclassification of Dave Johnson as a category I employee; approved dance application permits for Julie/Matt Gustafson for November 26 at the armory, Jordan Lindquist for December 2 and 16 at the Armory, and Matt Perkins for December 9 and 22 at the Armory.

Wreath making session set at Old Mill State park Dec. 3

Old Mill State Park west of Newfolden will offer a wreath making day Saturday, December 3. Space is limited and offered on a first call first come basis.

First session will be at 1 p.m. and will be filled first. Second session will be at 3 p.m. To sign up call the park office at 218-437-8174.

Participants will have the opportunity to make a holiday wreath or spray out of natural evergreen boughs of balsam fir, pine, cedar and pine cones. The program will be held in the picnic shelter and parking will be in the main parking area.

"Because of the popularity of the program, we ask that you limit the project to one wreath per household, although we encourage it being a family project," states Mary Henry, park manager.

"Please bring a wire coat hanger or another type of wreath base, a pair of pliers or wire cutters and a spool of thin, flexible craft wire. Hot coffee and cocoa will be provided."

The workshop is free of charge but all vehicles will need a daily or annual park sticker to enter the park. The new 1995 sticker is now available and valid.

Depending on snow conditions, the sliding hill will also be open during the day. For more information call the park at the number listed above.

Student from Greenbush in BSU event

Andrea Novacek of Greenbush is one of 60 students at Bemidji State University who play a part in the BSU Madrigal Dinners in early and mid December.

A freshman majoring in music, Novacek works with the food preparation and plays the role of a scullery maid in the production. BSU students portray characters, play instruments and work behind the scenes to create the music, drama, cuisine and setting authentic to a traditional Yuletide feast in medieval England.

The dinners will be held at 7 p.m. December 2, 3, 4, 9 and 10 on the BSU campus and December 12 and 13 at the Minneapolis Marriott Hotel.

Kari Johanning, ninth grader at Our Saviour's Christian Academy in Thief River Falls, was a grand champion in the school's annual science fair last Tuesday with her project entitled "What Is Air Pressure?" She is the daughter of Arlene Johanning of Thief River Falls and Bob Johanning of Red Lake Falls.

Grand champion project at the annual science fair at Our Saviour's Christian Academy in Thief River Falls was created by ninth grader Jon Lee, son of Arvid and Jan Lee. His project was entitled "How The Ear Works."

Johanning and Lee champions at science fair

Karie Johanning and Jon Lee won championships at the annual science fair held Tuesday at Our Saviour's Christian Academy in Thief River Falls.

The daughter of Arlene Johanning of Thief River Falls and Bob Johanning of Red Lake Falls, Karie created a project entitled "What Is Air Pressure?" The son of Arvid and Jan Lee of Thief River Falls, Jon created a project entitled "How The Ear Works." Both are ninth grade students at the academy.

Every student from kindergarten through grade 12 at the school participated in the competition and evening exhibit which opened with an International Dinner. Each family brought a food item native to another country to the dinner.

The International theme was intended to focus the students' attention on the International ACE convention to be held in Denton, TX, in May. Students may earn a trip to this convention by winning at the state convention held prior to it. Competition may be entered in a number of areas, including the science exhibits.

Blue ribbon winners were Rachal Bray, Daren Asp, Jared Asp, Laura Bailey, Sara Bailey, John Deppa, Jason Hicks, Becca Palmer and Amy Mercil.

Receiving red ribbons were Marcy Myhrer, Kay Mercil, Matthew Trochmann, Jonethen Larson, Larry Myhrer, Christine Anderson, Kirsten Melvie, Andrew Fortier, Nathan Palmer, Becky Bray, Natasha Hicks, Vanessa DeHaan, Marissa DeHaan, Seth Eckstein, Jay Mercil, Ely Mercil and Esther Palmer.

Judges for the science fair were Dr. Bryce Bray, Marv Kading and Mrs. Kenya Paradis.

Academy Honor Roll

Our Saviour's Academy has also determined its fall quarter honor roll, according to principal Delores Kading. Named to the scholastic honor list were the following:

A Honor Roll—Christine Anderson, Jared Asp, Laura Bailey, Sara Bailey, Rebekah Bray, Marissa DeHaan, Vanessa DeHaan, John Deppa, Andrew Fortier, Jason Hicks, Natasha Hicks, Jonethan Larson, Kirsten Melvie, Amy Mercil, Ely Mercil, Kay Mercil, Larry Myhrer, Marcy Myhrer, Nathan Palmer, Becca Palmer and Thomas Stenvik;

B Honor Roll—David Bray, Rachal Bray, Seth Eckstein, Karie Johanning, Kenturah Kelly, Jonathan Lee, Jay Mercil, Tammy Myhrer and Esther Palmer.

Fast changeover workshop hosts area companies

Minnesota Technology is sponsoring a Fast Changeover workshop to be held December 1 and 2 in room 131 at Northwest Technical College in Thief River Falls. Area companies have been invited to participate with attendance limited to five companies and 25 participants.

George Vigoren will conduct the workshop which is intended to help firms recognize why setup reductions are necessary and how to bring this capability into the organization.

Companies attending are to bring videotapes of one of their processes for analysis at the workshop which is arranged into three segments. The first teaches the fundamentals of implementing fast changeover. The second rehearses the techniques on a simulated setup of Vigoren's. The third is live performance to reduce the changeover time in the participants' setups.

A half-day follow-up session is scheduled four to six weeks after the workshop to encourage implementation of fast changeover techniques on additional setups in the companies' plants and to answer questions.

ASK YOUR LOCKSMITH
Questions And Answers

Q I would like to have some locks installed, but I don't know if the door is in good enough shape to have this work done.
Should I find a carpenter to fix the door before I put new locks on it?

A No. Your professional locksmith usually can repair most problems with ordinary doors by adding new hardware, hinges, closers, locks, and/or strike plates. He also can solve the problem of sagging doors and ill-fitting strike plates so that the door will fit smoothly and lock and the strike plate will function properly.

Rick Anteau named MVP on NCC squad

Rick Anteau, a sophomore linebacker from Toledo, Ohio, was named the most valuable player on the 1994 Northland Community College football team, it was announced by Pioneers coach Gene Klinke.

Anteau was also selected as the most valuable player on defense. J.P. Lammers, a freshman quarterback from Ann Arbor, Michigan, was voted the most valuable player on offense.

Most valuable lineman honors went to Dan Koehmstedt, a sophomore center from Middle River, and Ray Reinhart, a sophomore defensive tackle from Warroad.

Named most valuable backs were Dan Nelson, a sophomore runningback from Redwood Falls, and Shawn Blackmon, a freshman defensive back from Ann Arbor, Michigan.

Blackmon was also selected as the Pioneers' most valuable special teams player.

Named captains of the 1995 Pioneers were Blackmon; Brian Remick, a defensive back from Red Lake Falls; John Lee, a nose guard from Warroad; and Brent Miller, a runningback from Mahnomen.

Thief River Falls girls high school swimming coach Ryan Lokken accompanied the Prowlers' Jennifer Olin (center) and Theresa Glauque to the 1994 state high school swim meet held Tuesday and Wednesday at the University of Minnesota Aquatic Center in Minneapolis. Olin earned the state meet trip with a second place finish in diving at the Section 8 meet, while Glauque advanced with sectional championship performances in the 200 and 500 freestyle.

Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke girls...

Wolverines will field an improved line-up

Caliber of ball that will be played by the Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke girls during the 1994-95 high school basketball season will be improved. Time will tell if that improvement will be reflected in the won-loss column, where the Wolverines were 6-16 last winter.

There was just one senior on the 1993-94 team – Kristy Johnson, who is now playing basketball at Northland Community College.

List of returning starters is headed by senior Brandi Stratton, a North Border All-Conference pick as a junior when she averaged 9.8 points and 9.9 rebounds per game.

Juniors Deanna Kotrba (7.5 points per game) and Melissa Bernstein (6.2) were full-time starters and Jamie Berndt was a part-timer.

"We have some experience, and a lot of depth," noted Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke coach Mike Gast. "We have a lot of good athletes. We should be able to play a lot of kids. That will make our full-court pressure more effective."

The Wolverines open the season Tuesday against Argyle in Grygla.

"We are a better ball club than we were last year," said Gast. "It's a tough conference, but we will be competitive."

TRF plays host to hockey jamboree

Section 8A high school hockey jamboree is being playing today (Saturday) at the Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center in Thief River Falls.

The scrimmages will feature two 11-minute periods. Section 8A teams Red Lake Falls and Kittson Central will not be in the jamboree due to extended football seasons.

Section 8A Jamboree

4:50 p.m. - Bagley vs. Indus; 6 p.m. - Crookston vs. Lake of the Woods; 7:10 p.m. - Warroad vs. Roseau; 8:20 p.m. - Thief River Falls vs. East Grand Forks.

Gators will be tough to beat

If opponents want to beat the Badger/Greenbush-Middle River girls high school basketball team this winter, they better do it early. That according to Gators coach Tom Neibauer.

A tough early-season schedule and the search for a quarterback to direct a potent offense could slow down a team that many figure is among the favorites in Section 8A.

Four starters return from a team that won Section 8A Sub-Section 4 honors last year and finished third in Section 8A after losing a 53-50 semifinal decision to eventual champion Fosston.

Among that group is Krissi Super, already recognized as one of the top players in the state. She begins her junior season with 1,564 career points. The 5-11 forward averaged 20.6 points and 8.7 rebounds per game as a sophomore.

Also back are seniors Jessica Borgen, Heather Anderson and Ali Hietala. Borgen averaged 11.1 points and 7.4 rebounds per game and Anderson scored 7 points per game last winter. Hietala moved into the starting backcourt at tournament time.

The talent and experience is there, acknowledged Neibauer, but to achieve the success many are predicting for the Gators, they will have to compensate for the graduation loss of point guard Sara Melby, who averaged 8 assists per game for last year's 22-5 ball club. Her 216 assists were almost twice as many as anybody else in the North Border Conference.

"We'll be respectable," said Neibauer. "We're going to get beat a couple of times before Christmas. But we'll be tough after Christmas. It just depends on how long it takes us to learn to play without Sara Melby. It takes a while to replace a player like that."

Hietala will inherit the position.

Sophomores Nikki Wahl and Robin Kilen are the top candidates for the other guard spot.

The Gators will have to develop a bench to back up the front line talent, noted Neibauer. "We're really thin," he said. "We'll be moving some young kids in there later."

Malwitz leads young RLCC team

Red Lake County Central will have a young, inexperienced line-up on the court Tuesday when the Mustangs open the 1994-95 girls high school basketball season against Tri-County.

Coach Rick Koivisto will be looking to the future with a team that does not have a single senior.

"Everything we do now is for the next couple of years," said Koivisto. "Wins (this year) will be a bonus."

There is just one returning starter from an 8-14 team in 5-9 junior Meckenzie Malwitz, a good inside player who averaged a team-leading 12.7 points and 7.9 rebounds per game as a sophomore.

Biggest loss in the graduation department for the Oklee/Plummer cooperative is Angel Mickelson, who averaged 11 points and 11 rebounds per game last year. She is currently playing basketball at Northland Community College.

Top candidates to join Malwitz in the lineup are juniors Maria Austad and Marci DuChamp; sophomores Ami Tvedt and Shelly Perreault; along with freshman Angie Chervestad.

With Malwitz, DuChamp, who is 5-10, and Chervestad, a promising six-footer, the Mustangs will try to work the ball close to the basket.

"We hope to have a good inside game," said Koivisto, whose biggest concern is the lack of experience at point guard.

MCC girls face a major rebuilding job in basketball

Marshall County Central girls face the same rebuilding project in basketball this winter as the Nordics did in volleyball this fall. Basketball coach Tom Mjelde hopes he is as good a carpenter as was volleyball coach Mark Jorgenson.

Despite heavy graduation losses and some early-to-mid-season struggles, the volleyball team surprised most observers with a repeat appearance in the Section 8A Sub-Section 4 finals.

Marshall County Central was also the sub-sectional runner-up in basketball last year. But with just one full-time starter returning, Mjelde and the Nordics have their work cut out for them if they want to be in the finals again. They may not match last year's team record-wise (19-5), but with time, the traditionally strong program could be a factor by tournament time – much like the volleyball team.

"We need to gain some experience, and the only way we're going to be able to to that is to play games," said Mjelde. "I think you will see us getting better every game."

The Nordics will build around Tricia Pederson, a 5-10 junior who averaged 11.7 points per game last winter.

Darlene Nelson, a 5-9 junior, was a top reserve a year ago and Jessica Rekke, a 5-6 junior, saw playing time toward the end of the season.

The Nordics will also get a boost from Jackie Magner, a 5-5 junior point guard, who suffered a knee injury in the 1994-95 opener and missed the entire season.

Junior Amanda Myhrer could give Marshall County Central's offense a boost with her 3-point shooting, while seniors Sara Hodny and Amie Lokstad, along with freshman Miki Waterworth, will try to help out inside.

Biggest loss from the Marshall County Central Class of '94 is Sara Lokstad, the school career scoring leader with 1,443 points.

"The key is whether we can score some points," acknowledged Mjelde. "We will be quicker. We'll use pressure defense, we'll work on the transition game, and our quickness may help our rebounding. But We'll have to find some scorers. You can only play defense for so long."

Christmas gifts needed for children

Various individuals and groups within the city and county are involved in a project to obtain Christmas gifts for children in the community who would not otherwise receive a gift. This project is being organized and administered as a community effort.

The public is being asked that if they know someone who is in need of gifts for Christmas to fill out forms that can be obtained by contacting Wendy at 681-6161 or Melinda at 681-2880 by December 16. All names will be kept confidential.

Donations of money or gifts, or supplies to wrap presents would also be greatly appreciated.

The names of children needing gifts will be coded and tags will be placed on the Christmas tree at Pamida. Please feel free to pick up a tag from the tree at Pamida and donate a gift. For individuals who wish to donate money, an account has been established at Northern State Bank in Thief River Falls. Checks should be made payable to "Christmas for Pennington County".

Christmas tree permits given by forest service

Christmas tree cutting permits for people who would like to cut their own tree for the holiday are available at the Chippewa and Superior National Forests once again this year. Permit cost is $5.

The permit may be purchased in person by visiting any USDA forest service office during regular weekday hours or by mail (enclose a $5 check made payable to USDA Forest Service). Permit holders will receive a metal tag which should be attached to the tree and sealed at the time of cutting.

Trees may be cut anywhere on National Forest land except campgrounds, roadsides, plantations or the BWCA wilderness. Cutting the top off a large tree is not permitted. Local ranger district personnel can recommend the best spots to look for spruce, balsam fir, red or white pine.

Different rules apply to the different forests and some districts have specific regulations, so visitors should check with individual district offices for information before going into the woods to select a tree.

"Be prepared for a tree with character," suggests Mary Nordeen of the Chippewa National Forest. "Most have grown naturally where they dropped as seeds."

Chippewa National Forest district offices are located at Blackduck, Cass Lake, Deer River, Marcell or Walker. Phone number for the supervisor's office in Cass Lake is 218-335-8600.

Area counties added to list for disaster aid

Gov. Arne Carlson has requested that five more Minnesota counties including Kittson and Lake of the Woods be declared federal agricultural disaster areas. Polk, Red Lake and Pennington were declared federal disaster areas earlier this fall.

Once the counties are officially declared disaster areas by the U.S. Secretary of Agriculture, farmers in those and adjacent counties will be eligible for low-interest loans to help them cover their losses and gear up for the next season. Current interest rates on those loans are between three and four per cent.

Approval is expected within about eight weeks. Other counties for which disaster declaration has been requested are Becker, Le Sueur and Jackson.

The Rob Van Ackeren family includes his wife Cindie and daughters Kelsey (left), age six and Kendra, age eight. Informed three and a half years ago he could never expect to achieve movement below his neck, Rob confounded the experts by regaining some motion. He has completed the two-year architectural drafting and design program at Northwest Technical College in Thief River Falls and left with his family this week to take a job in Arizona.

encouraged by the partial recovery, however, and continues to devote about an hour a day to his therapy exercises.

He heard about the computer aided drafting program at the technical college here through the college's television advertisement and arranged to find out more about admission. He talked to Scott Slocum of Garrison, ND, a student with similar handicap, who was in the program (he graduated a year ago). After finally finding housing for himself and his family, he started classes a couple of weeks late in the fall of 1992.

Because he lacked the physical ability to do physical drafting board drawings, instructors at the college started him on the computer aided drafting (CAD) program immediately. At first he utilized a student tutor to a large extent, but in the latter stages of his program was primarily self-sufficient.

"There had to be some adaptive work done to modify equipment to meet Rob's handicap," states Kim Philipp, one of the instructors in the program and the primary instructor in the CAD area. "He uses a unit called a Headmaster which fits on his head and activates selected computer commands by blowing a small puff of air into a tube near his mouth."

Philipp said that at the time of his graduation from the program with the rest of his class last spring, the only part of the program he could not handle himself was the physical loading of paper into the plotting (drawing) equipment. He knows the procedure, however, and can direct someone else on how to do it.

The North Dakota Department of Vocational Rehabilitation provided Rob with a computer and the necessary software so he could work on his lessons at home. The equipment is provided as a "loan," but is his to use as long as he remains employable and can use it. Should he be unable to use it, it would be reclaimed by the DVR.

Van Ackeren will take the equipment with him to Arizona where he expects to be able to use it in work he can do at home. He said he concentrated his job search in the Arizona and Colorado areas—and primarily in Arizona—because his body's thermostat has low function and his body temperature drops when exposed to cold.

Rob gives credit to a number of people for his success in the drafting program leading to graduation and now employment in that field. They include Dave Colby, now CAD coordinator at the college but previously an interested and knowledgeable individual who helped devise adaptive equipment and instruct in its use; Dr. Orley Gunderson, campus president; Carol Torgerson, support services coordinator; and instructors Kim Philipp, Mike Lopac and Rod Lahren.

He said he appreciated the help of the instructors who seemed more like friends than teachers and the department's emphasis on AutoCad which makes graduates of the program more employable.

Those people mentioned share an admiration for Van Ackeren's positive attitude, strong work ethic and determination to learn and to succeed.

Rob said that he has logged more than 3,500 hours of study time on computer aided drafting in the two years since he started the program—an average of nearly five hours a day, seven days a week. That number, as well as examples of his work, has impressed people with whom he has had telephone interviews.

Cindie, who is understandably proud of her husband and his progress and accomplishments, credits his spirit and determination while acknowledging the help and support of many people and agencies. She said that the Options organization has been helpful in providing direction on where to go for finding solutions to problems.

It will not be an easy road for the Van Ackeren family as it begins another new life in the Southwest, but the outlook is the brightest it has been since November of 1990... and definitely better than the nursing home suggestion rejected in 1991.

Arena Walking program began on November 14

On Monday, November 14, the Thief River Falls Arena Walking program began its eight year at the Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center. Again this year, Northwest Medical Center and the Falls Clinic, a division of Dakota Clinic Ltd., will sponsor the program in cooperation with the city of Thief River Falls.

This walking program was developed in 1986 and was the first of its kind in this area. The program was implemented to encourage people to walk on a regular basis as part of their exercise and fitness programs. Since the program is held in the Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center, anyone, no matter what their age, may undertake a walking program, even in the coldest weather.

This year, walkers are asked to register at the front desk of Northwest Medical Center where you will be asked to fill out a brief registration form. You will then receive a "Walking Wellness Achievement" logbook and sticker. Registration is $3 and will insure eligibility for some great incentives.

Walkers reaching the 25-mile mark will receive a neon elastic band for glasses. Walkers who complete 50 miles will receive a frisbee. Walkers completed 100 miles will receive a bottle of herbal seasonings (recommended by Rob Sweetgall, nationally known walker and talker). Walkers who reach 150 miles will receive a pair of marathon walking socks. Walkers who complete 200 miles will receive fleece ear warmers. Walkers who complete 300 miles will receive lip ointment. Walkers who complete 400 miles will receive hiker socks, and those reaching the 500 mile mark will receive an Arena Walking Program trophy.

The Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center is available for walking seven days a week but certain time restrictions must be observed in order to allow other activities. Walkers are invited to use the facility daily from 7:30 a.m. to closing. Participants are discouraged from walking during hockey games, recreational skating and other activities at the arena. No walking will be allowed from 7:30 a.m. to noon on days following hockey games, which allows employees to clean the arena. The arena opened to walkers on November 21. Walkers registering before that date can log "outside" miles.

Everyone is welcome to participate, but pre-registration is required to be eligible for prizes. Instructions on how to obtain incentive awards will be included in the initial registration packet.

Questions can be directed to Gail Holland, public relations coordinator at Northwest Medical Center, 681-4240, extension 210.

Woodcrafters build toys for area children

Members of Northland Area Woodcrafters have once again taken on the project of building toys to be donated to the Violence Intervention Project for Christmas giving.

At their October meeting, members of the woodworking group voted to continue the project which the club began four years ago. At the November meeting to be held at 7 p.m. Monday, November 28, at the Occupational Development Center on highway 32 south, members are to bring the toys they have created for display and discussion.

Following the meeting the items will be on display at the Thief River Falls public library until they are brought to the Violence Intervention Project office for distribution. Club members are reminded to bring the items they have made to the meeting.

Program for the evening will be a demonstration by Vincent Rasen of Erskine on use of the Incra-Jig for making a number of projects with both saw and router.

All persons interested in making items from wood are invited to attend the meeting.

Students from area get NDSU scholarships

Several area students at North Dakota State University in Fargo have received scholarships for the current school year.

Brenda Lutovsky, a sophomore from Thief River Falls, has received a $175 Delsie Holmquist Memorial scholarship and a $500 NDSU Development Foundation honor scholarship.

Rodney Schmitz, a junior from Red Lake Falls, received a $350 Betty Critchfield Herm journalism scholarship.

Nichole Haphey, freshman from Salol, received a $300 Fine Arts Presidential scholarship.

CARD OF THANKS
I would like to take this opportunity to thank Dr. Bray and Dr. Johnson for there exceptional care of my wife Dorothy and to all the nurses and nurse's aides and other personnel that gave Dorothy such warm and loving care, which in my opinion went above and beyond the call of duty.
Sincerely,
Gerhard Molskness and Family.

Kuznias may never collect on judgment

Stephen — In regard to the court-awarded judgment of $105,000 to Eugene and Theresa Kuznia of Stephen in the wrongful death of their daughter, the Kuznias' attorney has stated that the defendant, Tony Wynne, had no automobile insurance at the time of the accident and has no assets to collect from to satisfy the judgment. The attorney went on to say that it is unlikely that the Kuznias will ever be able to collect on the $105,000 judgment.

Secret Santa Friend fun in Mahnomen

Mahnomen — the Mahnomen Pioneer is sponsoring a "Secret Santa Friend" group for Christmas again this year and the entire town of Mahnomen is invited to participate. Those joining the group will send or bring a small gift to their "Secret Santa Friend" each week before Christmas, while they will, in turn, be given a gift by their own "Secret Santa Friend."

Jail break in Roseau was first in 30 years

Roseau — For the first time in 30 years, a prisoner escaped from the Roseau County Jail. The escape, however, was short lived since he was captured in Fargo, ND, eight hours later. Shawn Christopher Bercier, 20, escaped from the jail by breaking into a utility closet in his cell, crawling through a vent there and then jumping from the roof of the building. Bercier was being held on a previous escape charge and charges of burglary in Cass County. New escape charges against Bercier are now pending in Roseau county.

Bjerklie receives 15 months for embezzlement

Rodney Lyno Bjerklie, former weatherization director of a community action program for indigent people in northwestern Minnesota, was sentenced Wednesday, November 30, in United States District Court to 15 months in prison and three years supervised release, according to a news release from the office of the U.S. Attorney, District of Minnesota. Bjerklie was also ordered by Judge Robert J. Renner to pay $111,000 in restitution.

According to the news release, Bjerklie, 43, Trail, and five co-defendants, Richard Orbin Tharaldson, 58, Darwin Lee Eidelbes, 44, and Theresa Johnsrud, 34, Carol Jean Eidelbes, 41, and Danny Allen Johnsrud, 36, all of Goodridge, were indicted by a federal grand jury in June 1994. All six pled guilty in September.

The pleas relate to the embezzlement of money from the weatherization program administered by the Inter-County Community Council (ICCC).

The ICCC is located in Oklee, and serves Pennington, Red Lake, Clearwater and East Polk counties in northwestern Minnesota. The ICCC ran a weatherization program which winterized homes for eligible poor people. The program received funding from the U.S.

Lincoln bands in concert Monday

Lincoln high school bands under the direction of Bruce Felt will present their first concert of the 1994-95 school year Monday, December 5, at 7:30 p.m. in the Lincoln high school auditorium.

Lincoln jazz band, concert band and wind ensemble will perform and there is no admission charge.

The jazz band will perform three selections featuring solos by Rob Stock on trumpet, Jill Dekkers on alto saxophone and Kelly Newton on tenor saxophone. One song entitled "Easy to Love" will feature the entire saxophone section.

Concert band will present four selections. Felt said the highlight of this portion of the concert will be the band's final number, "Okeanos," which is a musical depiction of the sea.

The wind ensemble will open its portion of the concert with a highly dramatic work—"The American Dream." It will also perform a major work for band entitled "Scenes From The Louvre." This five movement work will feature solos by many members of the band.

Ending the concert will be the band's traditional rendition of LeRoy Anderson's "Christmas Festival."

Band Boosters organization will host a coffee and cookie reception in the Lincoln cafeteria following the concert.

Four generations were among the "spiffy" models in the Skylite Fall Fashion Show held last week. Other models were all residents at Skylite Apartments. Shown are (left) great-grandmother Anna Aschberger, a resident of Skylite Apartments; (center) mother Sharon Noreen; grandmother Jan Helling; and great-granddaughters seven-year-old Amanda and five-year-old Michelle. Great-granddaughter Kristina Dahl, eight, is shown seated at left.

Fashion show at Skylite

by Sherry LaCoursiere
Northern Watch Reporter

Fashion shows are great fun — what a treat to see those models parading down the runway wearing those spiffy clothes, hair done up in the latest styles, with faces, eyes and lips making a definite fashion statement that everyone will copy in the coming year.

Last week there was a fashion show in town, but it was a bit different than the usual type of fashion show. Models were residents of Skylite Apartments in Thief River Falls and they wore festive fashions provided by Twice But Nice.

But the show at Skylite was as impressive as any in Paris or New York. Models were friends, mothers and grandmothers of those in the audience, familiar, yet so elegant they were hardly recognizable.

The models wore spiffy fashions they chose themselves from Twice But Nice — their hair and make-up were exquisite — and they paraded in front of a very appreciative full house, escorted by dapper Larry Haugen, the son of Corinne Haugen, one of the models.

Models were volunteers from the Skylite Apartments and also included a four generation group consisting of great-grandmother Anna Aschberger; grandmother Jan Halling; mother Sharon Noreen; and great-granddaughters five-year-old Michelle and seven-year-old Amanda Noreen and eight-year-old Kristina Dahl. All are from Thief River Falls.

Other models were Mable Mosbeck, originally from Black River township; Luecile Yonke, originally from rural St. Hilaire;

Roger Skime selected for induction into International Snowmobile Hall of Fame

Roger Skime, vice president of engineering for the snowmobile division at Arctco, Inc., in Thief River Falls has been selected for induction into the International Snowmobile Hall of Fame at Bovey. Although he attended only one year of pre-engineering at Bemidji State University, he is credited with many design creations and developments, including the slide rail suspension concept which is now used throughout the industry. Skime is shown in the photo at right with Dennis Zulewski (left) and David Thompson, two of the five managers in his division. Thompson, who is a member of the Snowmobile Racing Hall of Fame, has been involved with manufacture of Arctic Cat snowmobiles for 27 years. Zulewski is a 24-year veteran of snowmobile design and development.

by Marvin Lundin
Northern Watch Editor

"Arctic Enterprises and now Arctco, Inc., have been extremely fortunate to have Roger Skime as a creative giant in snowmobile development," states Edgar Hetteen of rural Roseau, founder of the snowmobile industry in Thief River Falls.

Hetteen was commenting on the announcement of Skime's induction into the International Snowmobile Hall of Fame at Bovey in late February, 1995. Himself a member of the Hall of Fame, Hetteen nominated Skime—who is vice president of engineering for the snowmobile division of Arctco, Inc.—as a worthy candidate for the recognition.

According to a news release from the Hall of Fame, induction ceremonies will take place at a banquet Saturday evening, February 25, at the Sawmill Inn of Grand Rapids where the weekend's events will be centered.

Also inducted this year will be C. J. "Bud" Wiemnn of Lillian, Alabama, who has lengthy service as a volunteer in snowmobile organizations from local to international levels, and C. Willard Pike (deceased), nominated as a volunteer by New Hampshire snowmobile, fish and game, and parks and recreation organizations.

"I don't know if Roger ever owned a wrist watch," Hetteen said. "If he does, it probably isn't of much use to him. When it comes to his work in the snowmobile industry his finest measurement of time is the calendar."

Work Ethic Shown Early

Hetteen said he was impressed with Skime's work ethic early on in their lengthy business relationship.

"I was down in the basement at the first plant (Hetteen began building snowmobiles in Thief River Falls in what is now the School District 564 service center)," he recalls. "I had my nail apron on and a hammer in my hand and was showing someone how to nail crates together faster. When I turned around, there was a young man in a suit standing there.

"About that time the secretary called down the stairs that there was a phone call for me. I went upstairs to take the call, and when I came back down, the young man had my nail apron tied on over his suit and was nailing crates together.

"I asked him, 'What do you want?' He said, 'I want a job.' I asked, 'Can you start Monday?' The point is, there was no job interview. It was apparent Roger could see that something needed to be done and he was willing to go ahead and do it."

Career Began In 1962

Skime said he began his work in the early years of snowmobile manufacturing in 1962. He worked in the production area along with four or five others, assembling tracks during a time when it was difficult for the company to produce a single snowmobile a day.

He became a supervisor in production and in 1964 was asked to work on design and development of a new model. Hetteen also remembers how that came about.

"I needed a couple of people to do some testing," he said, "so I got Roger and Dave Erickson off the assembly line. As we were driving, I heard the words 'dean's list' mentioned in the discussion. I asked Roger if he had gone to college. He said he had. I asked what he studied. He said engineering. I could have strangled him for not telling me before."

If the truth be known, Skime laid no claim to being a graduate engineer. The Wannaska area farm boy had taken one year of pre-engineering at Bemidji State University but had to find a job to make a living. He found one with Hetteen's fledgling Arctic Enterprises, Inc. The rest of his education has been on the job.

Bjerklie receives 15 months for embezzlement

Rodney Lynn Bjerklie, former weatherization director of a community action program for indigent people in northwestern Minnesota, was sentenced Wednesday, November 30, in United States District Court to 15 months in prison and three years supervised release, according to a news release from the office of the U.S. Attorney, District of Minnesota. Bjerklie was also ordered by Judge Robert J. Renner to pay $111,000 in restitution.

According to the news release, Bjerklie, 43, Trail, and five co-defendants, Richard Orbin Tharaldson, 58, Darwin Lee Eidelbes, 44, and Theresa Johnsrud, 34, Carol Jean Eidelbes, 41, and Danny Allen Johnsrud, 36, all of Goodridge, were indicted by a federal grand jury in June 1994. All six pled guilty in September.

The pleas relate to the embezzlement of money from the weatherization program administered by the Inter-County Community Council (ICCC).

The ICCC is located in Oklee, and serves Pennington, Red Lake, Clearwater and East Polk counties in northwestern Minnesota. The ICCC ran a weatherization program which winterized homes for eligible poor people. The program received funding from the U.S.

Lincoln bands in concert Monday

Lincoln high school bands under the direction of Bruce Felt will present their first concert of the 1994-95 school year Monday, December 5, at 7:30 p.m. in the Lincoln high school auditorium.

Lincoln jazz band, concert band and wind ensemble will perform and there is no admission charge.

The jazz band will perform three selections featuring solos by Rob Stock on trumpet, Jill Dekkers on alto saxophone and Kelly Newton on tenor saxophone. One song entitled "Easy to Love" will feature the entire saxophone section.

Concert band will present four selections. Felt said the highlight of this portion of the concert will be the band's final number, "Okeanos," which is a musical depiction of the sea.

The wind ensemble will open its portion of the concert with a highly dramatic work—"The American Dream." It will also perform a major work for band entitled "Scenes From The Louvre." This five movement work will feature solos by many members of the band.

Ending the concert will be the band's traditional rendition of LeRoy Anderson's "Christmas Festival."

Band Boosters organization will host a coffee and cookie reception in the Lincoln cafeteria following the concert.

Four generations were among the "spiffy" models in the Skylite Fall Fashion Show held last week. Other models were all residents at Skylite Apartments. Shown are (left) great-grandmother Anne Aschberger, a resident of Skylite Apartments; (center) mother Sharon Noreen; grandmother Jan Halling; and great-granddaughters seven-year-old Amanda and five-year-old Michelle. Great-granddaughter Kristina Dahl, eight, is shown seated at left.

Fashion show at Skylite

Fashion shows are great fun — what a treat to see those models parading down the runway wearing those spiffy clothes, hair done up in the latest styles, with faces, eyes and lips making a definite fashion statement that everyone will copy in the coming year.

Last week there was a fashion show in town, but it was a bit different than the usual type of fashion show. Models were residents of Skylite Apartments in Thief River Falls and they wore festive fashions provided by Twice But Nice.

But the show at Skylite was as impressive as any in Paris or New York. Models were friends, mothers and grandmothers of those in the audience, familiar, yet so elegant they were hardly recognizable.

The models wore spiffy fashions they chose themselves from Twice But Nice — their hair and make-up were exquisite — and they paraded in front of a very appreciative full house, escorted by dapper Larry Haugen, the son of Corinne Haugen, one of the models.

Models were volunteers from the Skylite Apartments and also included a four generation group consisting of great-grandmother Anna Aschberger; grandmother Jan Halling; mother Sharon Noreen; and great-granddaughters five-year-old Michelle and seven-year-old Amanda Noreen and eight-year-old Kristina Dahl. All are from Thief River Falls.

Other models were Mable Mosbeck, originally from Black River township; Lucelle Yonke, originally from rural St. Hilaire;

Kuznias may never collect on judgment

Stephen — In regard to the court-awarded judgment of $105,000 to Eugene and Theresa Kuznia of Stephen in the wrongful death of their daughter, the Kuznias' attorney has stated that the defendant, Tony Wynne, had no automobile insurance at the time of the accident and has no assets to collect upon to satisfy the judgment. The attorney went on to say that it is unlikely that the Kuznias will ever be able to collect on the $105,000 judgment.

Jail break in Roseau was first in 30 years

Roseau — For the first time in 30 years, a prisoner escaped from the Roseau County Jail. The escape, however, was short lived, since he was captured in Fargo, ND, eight hours later. Shawn Christopher Bercier, 20, escaped from the jail by breaking into a utility closet in his cell, crawling through a vent there and then jumping from the roof of the building. Bercier was being held on a previous escape charge and charges of burglary in Cass county. New escape charges against Bercier are now pending in Roseau county.

Roger Skime selected for induction into International Snowmobile Hall of Fame

Roger Skime, vice president of engineering for the snowmobile division at Arctco, Inc., in Thief River Falls has been selected for induction into the International Snowmobile Hall of Fame at Bovey. Although he attended only one year of pre-engineering at Bemidji State University, he is credited with many design creations and developments, including the slide rail suspension concept which is now used throughout the industry. Skime is shown in the photo at right with Dennis Zulawski (left) and David Thompson, two of the five managers in his division. Thompson, who is a member of the Snowmobile Racing Hall of Fame, has been involved with manufacture of Arctic Cat snowmobiles for 27 years. Zulawski is a 24-year veteran of snowmobile design and development.

by Marvin Lundin
Northern Watch Editor

"Arctic Enterprises and now Arctco, Inc., have been extremely fortunate to have Roger Skime as a creative giant in snowmobile development," states Edgar Hetteen of rural Roseau, founder of the snowmobile industry in Thief River Falls.

Hetteen was commenting on the announcement of Skime's induction into the International Snowmobile Hall of Fame at Bovey in late February, 1995. Himself a member of the Hall of Fame, Hetteen nominated Skime—who is vice president of engineering for the snowmobile division of Arctco, Inc.—as a worthy candidate for the recognition.

According to a news release from the Hall of Fame, induction ceremonies will take place at a banquet Saturday evening, February 25, at the Sawmill Inn of Grand Rapids where the weekend's events will be centered.

Also inducted this year will be C. J. "Bud" Wieman of Lillian, Alabama, who has lengthy service as a volunteer in snowmobile organizations from local to international levels, and C. Willard Pike (deceased), nominated as a volunteer by New Hampshire snowmobile, fish and game, and parks and recreation organizations.

"I don't know if Roger ever owned a wrist watch," Hetteen said. "If he does, it probably isn't of much use to him. When it comes to his work in the snowmobile industry his finest measurement of time is the calendar."

Work Ethic Shown Early

Hetteen said he was impressed with Skime's work ethic early on in their lengthy business relationship.

"I was down in the basement at the first plant (Hetteen began building snowmobiles in Thief River Falls in what is now the School District 564 service center)," he recalls. "I had my nail apron on and a hammer in my hand and was showing someone how to nail crates together faster. When I turned around, there was a young man in a suit standing there.

"About that time the secretary called down the stairs that there was a phone call for me. I went upstairs to take the call, and when I came back down, the young man had my nail apron tied on over his suit and was nailing crates together.

"I asked him, 'What do you want?' He said, 'I want a job.' I asked, 'Can you start Monday?' The point is, there was no job interview. It was apparent Roger could see that something needed to be done and he was willing to go ahead and do it."

Career Began In 1962

Skime said he began his work in the early years of snowmobile manufacturing in 1962. He worked in the production area along with four or five others, assembling tracks during a time when it was difficult for the company to produce a single snowmobile a day.

He became a supervisor in production and in 1964 was asked to work on design and development of a new model. Hetteen also remembers how that came about.

"I needed a couple of people to do some testing," he said, "so I got Roger and Dave Erickson off the assembly line. As we were driving, I heard the words 'dean's list' mentioned in the discussion. I asked Roger if he had gone to college. He said he had. I asked what he studied. He said engineering. I could have strangled him for not telling me before."

If the truth be known, Skime laid no claim to being a graduate engineer. The Wannaska area farm boy had taken one year of pre-engineering at Bemidji State University but had to find a job to make a living. He found one with Hetteen's fledgling Arctic Enterprises, Inc. The rest of his education has been on the job.

Prize winning bread

Crookston — Mary Barstad won first prize for her Oatmeal Walnut Bread in a bread baking contest held at Villa St. Vincent Nursing Home last week to celebrate National Bread Baking Day. Entrants made two loaves of bread for the contest, one for judging and one for sharing with staff and residents. The winning recipe is: Combine 1 package yeast, 1/4 cup water and 1 teaspoon sugar; mix well and then let rest. Add 1/3 cup oatmeal, 2 tablespoons oil, 3 tablespoons molasses, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 cup warm water, 1/2 cup chopped walnuts and 2 cups flour. Knead and then let raise for 20 minutes. Press down, shape, and place in pan. Let rise to top of pan. Bake at 375 degrees for 25-30 minutes. Butter top.

Heroine in Skime

Skime — Angie Swan of Roseau was a heroine last week when she rescued six children from a pond near Skime. Several families were attending a birthday party at a Skime residence, including Angie Swan and her son, and the children decided to play outdoors. Angie stepped outdoors and heard children screaming. She found the children falling through thin ice over a deep pond. Angie rushed into the pond and began pulling children out of the water and handing them to another of the guests, Don Kohl, who also heard the children's screams. Swan's son, Tory, was among those she rescued. No one was hurt in the incident — just cold and wet.

Will "Ruse It" be the new "Trivial Pursuit"?

Morris — A Morris resident has come up with a new game. Linda Westgate invented a game called "Ruse It" and is selling the game at the Ben Franklin Store in Morris and hopes to market it in other stores in the near future. She will also be selling the game from her home at 1118 Park Lane in Morris. Westgate says the game is not like "Trivial Pursuit," but it is a quick family game that just about anyone of any age can play. She says it is also a good party game because any number of people can play.

High speed chase results in arrest of Gonvick man

Bagley — A Gonvick man was arrested Tuesday afternoon after a 14-mile high speed chase on Highway 92 seven miles north of Bagley. Law enforcement officers from the Clearwater Sheriff's Department, Minnesota Highway Patrol and the Clearbrook Police Department participated in the chase. Randall Lee Edevold, 29, driving a 1988 Chevrolet Celebrity, was signaled to stop after reports that the vehicle was driving "all over the road." Instead of stopping, Edevold increased his speed, leading law enforcement officers on a chase at speeds up to 80 miles an hour. The vehicle was eventually stopped after it rammed patrol vehicles from the Sheriff's Department and State Patrol, causing extensive damage. Edevold was arrested for assault in the second degree, criminal damage to property in the first degree, and driving while under the influence.

Man charged in baseball bat damage

Karlstad — A Karlstad man was arrested by Kittson County Sheriff's officers Monday, November 21, after he allegedly forced his way into a home owned by Brion Nelson and smashed holes in the wall with a baseball bat. Jamie John Olstad, 24, of Karlstad, was charged with a total of seven criminal charges as a result of the incident. Kittson County Sheriff Ray Hunt stated that a baseball bat is considered a dangerous weapon and the gravity of the charges against Olstad increase considerably because of that fact. Included in the charges are three counts of first degree burglary, one count of terroristic threats, one count of aggravated harassment, and one gross misdemeanor count of criminal damage to property. Olstad made his first court appearance on November 23 and was released on $2,500 bond.

SOUPÇON

Get a start on that Christmas baking with some breads.

JULEKAGA

2 packages yeast
1/2 cup lukewarm water
3 cups scalded milk
1/2 cup butter
3/4 cup sugar
2 teaspoons salt
2 eggs, beaten
1/2 cup currants
3/4 cup raisins, chopped
1/2 cup chopped citron
1/2 cup candied cherries
1/2 teaspoon cardamom
6 cups flour (may need more)

Dissolve yeast in 1/2 cup lukewarm water.

Pour scalded milk over butter and sugar. When lukewarm, add yeast. Add half of flour and salt and beat 10 minutes.

Add eggs, one at a time, beating after each addition. Add fruit and rest of flour.

Knead and place in greased bowl. Let rise in warm place. Knead down. Let rise until light.

Shape into loaves and place in greased pans. Brush tops of loaves with egg white.

When double in size, bake 35-40 minutes at 350 degrees. When done, brush with melted butter and sprinkle with sugar and cinnamon.

This "sweet-tart" of a bread is always great for the holidays:

CRANBERRY NUT BREAD

1 cup cranberries
1 cup sugar
2 3/4 cup flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup chopped nuts
Grated rind of one orange
1 egg, beaten
1 cup milk
2 tablespoons melted buter

Coarsely chop cranberries, mix with 1/4 cup of the sugar and let stand.

Sift remaining sugar with dry ingredients and add nuts and rind. Combine beaten egg, milk and shortening. Fold in the cranberries.

Pour into loaf pan and bake one hour at 350 degrees.

Bet this bread would be very Christmas-y made with red and green gumdrops (preferably fruit flavored, of course):

GUMDROP BREAD

1 pound flavored gumdrops (no black ones), cut up
1 pound white raisins
1 cup chopped nuts
1 cup flour
1 cup shortening
2 cups sugar
2 eggs
1 1/2 cups applesauce
3 cups flour
1 teaspoon soda
1 tablespoon hot water
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 teaspoon each of cloves, cinnamon, allspice and nutmeg
Dash of salt

Add 1 cup flour to the gumdrops, raisins and nuts and set aside.

Cream shortening, sugar and eggs. Add applesauce, 3 cups flour, soda dissolved in hot water, vanilla, spices and salt.

Add gumdrop mixture.

Bake in greased and floured pans for 2 hours at 275 degrees. Fill tins only one-half full.

Loaves can be decorated with nuts and cherries.

Agassiz Santa Lucia Festival in Stephen

Agassiz Swedish Heritage Society will hold its 8th Annual Santa Lucia Festival 2:30 p.m. Saturday, December 10, at the First Lutheran church in Stephen.

Sevi-Maria Susanne Himanen of Karkola, Finland, will portray Santa Lucia. She is an exchange student in her senior year attending Lincoln high school in Thief River Falls and living with the Bernard and Carmen Stinson family of rural Thief River Falls.

Her attendants will be Allison Widner, Caroline Hvidsten, Beth Anderson, Staci Johnson, Joetta Faye, Kari Paulson and Katie Halfmann of Stephen.

Hugo Magnuson of Grand Forks, ND, will read the Christmas story from the book of Luke in Swedish and Dale Rasmussen of Stephen will respond verse by verse in English. Magnuson, in his 90s, will also sing in Swedish.

ASHS President Lyndon Johnson of Hallock will sing Swedish numbers, and special music will also be rendered by Leslie Widner, Cheryl Hvidsten and Ann Woinarowicz.

First Lutheran Pastor Rev. L. Michael Schendel will give the meditation. Maria Erlandson will be the organist. Co-ordinating the festival is ASHS board member, Elaine Olson of Stephen.

Members are asked to bring Christmas goodies for the lunch following the festival. Hugo Magnuson will provide saffron buns, a tradition he has provided for many years.

Everyone is invited, whether of Swedish descent or not, to the Swedish Heritage Christmas Festival on December 10.

Date and time corrected for city hearing

The date and time set for the Truth and taxation hearing for the city of Thief River Falls was incorrectly stated on the proposed property tax notice sent to local property owners.

The correct date and time is 5 p.m. December 6 at the Northwest Regional Library in Thief River Falls.

Plummer to have lighting contest

Plummer Community Club is again sponsoring a Christmas lighting contest. Persons interested in having their holiday lighting judged are asked to register at the Plummer State Bank. Judging will take place on December 19.

Bring a sweet or sandwiches to Goodridge event

Luncheon at the annual Christmas Lighting in Goodridge will be potluck sweets and sandwiches. Those attending should bring one or the other. Beverages will be provided by the Goodridge Area Historical Society. The tree lighting and annual meeting of the historical society will be held Saturday, December 3, at 7:30 p.m. at Tvedt Park. The story on the tree lighting in The Times did not mention the potluck luncheon. The Times regrets the error.

LETTERS

To The Editor:

We are bombarded with so much negative news. We are always hearing of people that are being treated badly. The news is full of violence with neighbor against neighbor. With that atmosphere in mind it feels especially reassuring to meet a Good Samaritan.

On Saturday, November 19, I had a flat tire on Highway 59 West. It was dark and the wind was cold. Jeff Asp, whom I had never met before, stopped and changed my tire. He refused payment saying, "It feels good to do something nice for someone else."

Thank you, Jeff, for your act of caring. We need more such acts of kindness in this world.

Sincerely,
Kay Wedul-Steiger

To The Editor:

The multitude of lies about Vietnam veterans provided in small doses for long periods of time through the media and movies not only intoxicate but disorient.

Where I was, in the Central Highlands, there was a high level of discipline and an extraordinary fellow-feeling among the troops. In my opinion, no movie has yet portrayed those who fought in Vietnam with the care and respect they deserve.

I don't appreciate those in the media or movies who castigate Vietnam veterans and make "heroes" out of professional athletes, rock stars and movie personalities who couldn't even dream of being in the same league with Medal of Honor recipients, plain ordinary "grunts" or soldiers who have won other decorations for valor in Vietnam.

The young men I remember from combat were devoted to doing their best under trying circumstances. They weren't the stereotypical image of a Vietnam veteran —pill swallowing, vein popping dopers or savage killers, as many in the media and Hollywood attempt to portray them just to make a buck at their expense.

Anyone who's been in combat knows that it's a place of broken dreams where everyone is lonely. For veterans, these experiences are often as raw and shocking as an open wound. And each has a story all his own.

Sincerely,
Dan Bacon
Thief River Falls.

Opinions

Marvin Lundin
Editor

Editorial opinion published on this page, whether locally written or re-printed from other sources is intended to stimulate thinking and discussion among our readers. Opinions expressed by the editor are his own and not necessarily those of other staff members. Opinions expressed in items from other publications may be contradictory to the editor's own views but are offered for their general interest.

Can We Afford To Abandon Nationalism?

There is nothing wrong with developing positive relationships among nations and making efforts to increase exchange of products and/or materials among them. Whether the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (OATT) is a proper vehicle to contribute toward that exchange is unknown and, although passed by the House of Representatives, still a matter of considerable debate in the U.S. Senate.

What should be a greater concern for Americans than the potential for opening our borders to more cheaply manufactured goods is the continued erosion of our national sovereignty. Robert Morris, considered a leading geopolitical authority and chairman of America's Future, points out that "what we are experiencing is the drift of our foreign policy toward global solutions. Under both the Bush and Clinton Administrations, we have been delegating more and more power to the United Nations, although its efforts for the most part have been unsuccessful."

For a nation which has earned and held a position of power and respect in the world for decades, the erosion of that individual entity should be disturbing to its citizens.

The Clinton White House insists that the World Trade Organization (WTO), successor to OATT, will promote a new era of world prosperity by lowering tariffs universally by 30 per cent. Those who disagree—such as Eagle Forum, a national organization of patriotic women—cite U.S. government estimates that the WTO will cost the U.S. nearly $40 billion in lost tariff revenues over 10 years.

Why the switch from nationalism to globalism is taking place can be understood by looking at the background of people in high government circles. President Clinton's top foreign affairs advisor, Strobe Talbott, was the President's roommate when they both were Rhodes Scholars and served for 22 years as an editor at Time magazine. Seventeen of Talbott's associates from the Aspen Strategy Group and the Council on Foreign Relations are now senior policymakers in the Clinton Administration.

In an article entitled "The Birth of the Global Nation" that he wrote for Time in July, 1992, Talbott predicted that in the next century "nationhood as we know it will be obsolete (and) all states will recognize a single global authority." He also wrote that "national sovereignty wasn't such a great deal after all." In other essays he has expressed the opinion that "internal affairs of the nation are no longer off limits" to world government.

If the rest of the governments of the world had a better system than the United States, the idea of world government might not seem so bad. But they don't have better systems and internal chaos, anarchy, bloodshed and turmoil are rampant outside our borders. Our government provides for peaceful correction when it strays from the provisions of the Constitution, and at least a part of that correction is expected to be soon underway with a change in congressional majority.

And since world government can offer only a deterioration rather than improvement, it makes sense to resist it as vigorously as possible. Instead, we seem to be taking the opposite course.

"Our Declaration of Independence proclaimed that we are a 'free and independent' nation," Morris notes. "Much of what the globalists are doing seems to be a repudiation of that noble document."

An indication of the trend can be found in annual appropriations for the State Department. Throughout the 30 years leading up to the late 1980s, Congress stipulated that "none of the funds appropriated to this title shall be used to pay the United States contribution to any international organization which engages in the direct or indirect promotion of the principle or doctrine of one world government or one world citizenship."

In 1987, this provision was dropped from the appropriations statement without explanation and has not appeared since. We believe that action and other actions reducing independent nation status for the United States are a serious concern.

Congratulations To Roger Skime

Our congratulations to Roger Skime, vice president of engineering for the snowmobile division at Arctco, Inc., on his selection for induction into the International Snowmobile Hall of Fame. It is a deserved recognition for a quiet, individual who epitomizes the term "low profile" as a public figure but has made monumental contributions within the snowmobile industry in general and manufacturers of Arctic Cat snowmobiles in particular.

Roger's devotion to snowmobile design and engineering spans more than three decades from the heavy, lumbering motorized toboggans of the early 1960s to the sleek and shiny sleds which streak across the winter landscape today. He has had a heavy hand in that transition, including the improvements which have led to greater dependability and reduction of maintenance.

Roger's success is a parallel to the concept of the American Dream. He started with no money and virtually no formal training and parlayed a strong work ethic, a creative mind, a dogged determination and a lot of personal fortitude into a successful career doing what he enjoys. Along the way he encountered and overcame a number of obstacles to reach his objectives.

Recognition of Skime's contributions to the industry is a good news-bad news story. The good news is that public recognition is being given to a deserving recipient who has made his mark behind the scenes and out of the public eye. The bad news is that not all people who deserve such recognition attain it.

Roger would be the first one to credit others for his success. In our estimation, that is another quality that makes his recognition all the more appropriate.

Northern Watch Policies

Letters To The Editor: The staff of the Northern Watch encourages written responses to editorial comment or letters with original thoughts or ideas of general interest. Letters should be intended for publication in Northern Watch exclusively; letters sent to multiple publications will generally not be accepted. Right is reserved to edit letters for length and clarity and to reject letters deemed to be promotional in nature or in poor taste.

Letters Must Be Signed: All letters must be signed and contain an address or phone number of the writer so authenticity can be verified. Signatures must appear on letters published. The staff believes that there is greater credibility in letters signed in print and will not withhold names of writers from publication.

Responses Invited: Letters critical of individuals or other entities may be shown to those individuals or representatives of those entities in advance of publication with an invitation by newspaper staff for response in the same issue as the original letter.

Corrections: If an error is made in news or advertising publication, the staff encourages readers to call it to our immediate attention by calling 681-4450. We will attempt to correct the error or clarify the misunderstanding in the next issue.

Blood drive will be held in Grygla Dec. 12

United Blood Services will conduct a blood drive at the Grygla Community Center from noon to 5:30 p.m. Monday, December 12.

All healthy persons between the ages of 17 and 79 are invited to give blood during the blood drive to help patients in this community.

Donating is safe, simple and satisfying. Your body contains about 10 to 12 pints of blood and, since your body manufactures blood constantly, the amount you give is quickly replaced.

The entire process usually takes less than an hour, and only five to seven minutes for the actual donation. Before you give, a careful medical history is taken. Your temperature, blood pressure, pulse and hemoglobin level will be checked.

After the blood is drawn, it is typed and tested for diseases which might be transmitted to the receiving patient or patients. This mini-physical actually benefits the donor as well as the patient, because if any of the tests indicate a need for medical attention, the donor is referred to his or her personal physician.

Almost all the units of blood are broken down into components to assure maximum utilization. This means that your blood donation may actually help several different patients. Since whole blood must be used within 35 days of donation, and some of the components within a few hours, there is always the need for a constant, fresh supply of blood to be donated by volunteers in this community.

Blood is one of the doctor's most valuable tools, and many people are alive today because blood was available when they needed it. In our area, 3,000 units of blood are needed each month. Blood centers don't need blood, people do. United Blood Services relies entirely on volunteer donors to help perpetuate a constant, sufficient blood supply, because blood comes from only one source — healthy people who are willing to give of themselves.

If you have any questions about the upcoming blood drive, or if you would like to make an appointment to donate, please call Mildred Klamer at 459-3436, Loren Lusignan at 294-6294 or 6155, or Iona Aune at 294-6323 or Ralph Rundell at 294-6127.

Beef Cattle Day Dec. 12 at Crookston

Twenty-seventh annual Beef Cattle Day will be held Monday, December 12, at the Northwest Experiment Station, University of Minnesota—Crookston.

Registration will begin at 9:30 a.m. at the ag research center auditorium with a $15 registration fee covering lunch, beef booklet and other program costs.

Harvey Windels, animal scientist at the experiment station will present the opening session at 10 a.m. on the "Effect of Vomitoxin on the Performance of Beef Steers."

At 10:30 a.m., Alfred DiCostanzo, extension animal scientist in beef cattle nutrition and management from the St. Paul campus of the University of Minnesota will discuss "Strategies for Reducing Feed Cost of Gain."

"Carcass Quality and Target Markets" will be the topic of Brent Woodward, extension animal scientist in beef cattle production systems, St. Paul, at 11 a.m.

At 11:30 a.m. Brian Buhr, livestock marketing specialist with the U of M in St. Paul, will discuss "Use of Industry Indicators to Aid in Making Marketing Decisions."

Ron Eustice of the Minnesota Beef Council will make a presentation at 11:50 a.m. and lunch will be served in the conference center at 12:15 p.m.

Dr. Cindy Schweiter of the Beef Industry Council in Chicago, IL, will speak on "Eating in America Today" at 1:15 p.m.

Tom Scott of the Meat Export Federation in Denver, CO, will be the 2 p.m. speaker on "What Is the Meat Export Federation" Are Beef Exports Making a Difference?"

Breakout sessions to permit in-depth discussion on two topics will be held at 2:45 p.m. Brian Buhr will lead a session on "Application of Industry Indicators to Make Marketing Decisions" and Hugh Chester-Jones, animal scientist at the Southern Experiment Station, Waseca, will conduct the session on "Strategies for Feeding Holstein Steers."

Adjournment is scheduled for 3 p.m.

2nd meeting on Long's Bridge set

Individuals interested in replacement of Long's Bridge scheduled for the 1995 construction season will receive another opportunity to air their concerns at a meeting now scheduled for 3:30 p.m. December 13.

The meeting is scheduled to be held in the commissioners board room in the Pennington county courthouse.

At a recent meeting held on the proposed construction, individuals in attendance expressed an interest in having a field location noted by stakes. Employees of the Pennington county highway department have completed that task. The stakes show the approximate locations of centerline and right-of-way locations for alternatives 2 and 3, which were discussed at the previous meeting.

All interested individuals are encouraged to attend.

Legion/Auxiliary to meet in EGF

Christmas party for the Ninth District American Legion and Auxiliary will be held Sunday, December 11, at Post 157 club rooms in East Grand Forks. Dinner will be served at 2 p.m. following a social hour.

Department Commander Bill Barbknecht of Underwood and State President Bev Otterness of North Branch will be attending. Reservation fee of $8 for the dinner should be sent to Lucy Iarombek, 1228 Oak Street, Grand Forks, ND 58201 by December 8.

Special entertainment will be provided from Post 24 in Roseau. Exchange of gifts valued under $5 will take place with women to bring a gift for a lady and men to bring a gift for a man.

A membership turn-in will follow the party. Post and unit members from throughout the district are invited to attend.

ASK YOUR LOCKSMITH
Questions And Answers

Q What features should I look for when choosing a good deadbolt for my home?

A There are many good quality locks on the market and your professional locksmith is your best source for advice on the right one for you. A good deadbolt lock should be a tubular design with at least a one inch throw locking bolt. It should also have a tapered outside collar to resist wrenching, a high security strike plate to reinforce the door frame and at least two 1/4 inch hardened steel bolts to securely fasten the lock to the door. Proper installation should be done by your professional locksmith so that you will get the greatest measure of protection from any locking device.

Third welding demonstration day at NTC-TRF

Third annual welding demonstration day will take place Wednesday, December 7, from 9 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. at Northwest Technical College campus in Thief River Falls.

Eight industry representatives will demonstrate various types of welding with each demonstration repeated throughout the day. Participants are asked to bring their own helmets and safety glasses.

New this year is a one-hour presentation from 10 to 11 a.m. in the Northland Community College theater. Welding demonstrations will be suspended during the program hour.

Providing information at the 10 a.m. session will be Rick Stenseth, plant manager of Arctco, Inc. in Thief River Falls; Bill Stenberg, owner of Stenberg Welding and Fabricating of Fosston; and Jeff Gustafson, job service specialist with Minnesota Jobs and Training.

Demonstrators, the company they represent and area of interest being demonstrated include the following:

Jack Valentine, Thermacote/Welco, spray powder, soldering and brazing;

Brent Ireland, Lincoln Electric Company, programmable Mig & Tig equipment;

Chuck Buckley, Corex Company of Ohio, flux cored and dual shield wires;

Joe Lambrecht, Thermal Dynamics, inverter power supplies on Tig and stick;

Ralph Williams, Dow Welding Supply, manual plasma cutting and gauging;

Jamie McEnelly, Pipe Fitters Local No. 126, preparation and welding of steel pipe;

Steve Magee, Miller Electric, Miller Welding products; and Dean Hambleton, Smith Equipment, oxy fuel safety.

"The technical college demonstration day has seen impressive growth over the past three years, beginning with just 50 students to over 200 scheduled to attend this year from high schools in northwest Minnesota and several in northeast North Dakota," reports Don Howe, enrollment management coordinator at the Thief River Falls campus.

"The increased interest is attributed to the growth of industry in this region, which has dramatically increased the demand for qualified, technically skilled employees."

Tree walk will help to raise funds for area hospice

Tree walk in the barn at Pine Tree Farm operated by Jim and Robin Blitzegale and their family will raise funds for Northland Community Hospice.

A number of local groups have decorated trees donated by Pine Tree Farm and the decorated trees are on display in the renovated barn on the Blitzegale farm two miles north of Thief River Falls on highway 59 and three-fourths mile west.

Collection buckets have been placed by each tree and those visiting the farm this weekend (December 3 from 10 a.m. to dark and December 4 from 12 noon to dark) will make donations in support of the decorating group of their choice. The tree receiving the largest amount in donations will earn a plaque for its decorating group and all donations will go to the hospice organization.

The decorated trees themselves, complete with the decorations, will be given to the county social services for distribution to needy families.

Groups decorating trees include kindergarten at Challenger school, Head Start, Girl Scout Troop 190, Kiwanis, Key Club, National Honor Society, youth at First Baptist church, Rose Wold's day care and Pine Tree Farm.

Santa Claus will be receiving letters at TRF Post Office

Santa Claus will be at the Thief River Falls post office Thursday, December 8, from 6 to 7:30 p.m. to receive letters directly from area youngsters. No postage is necessary, according to postmaster Dick McCloskey.

The post office in Thief River Falls has also scheduled extended window hours during the pre-Christmas season to make it easier for patrons to avail themselves of postal services. Windows will be open Monday through Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. from December 5 through December 23. Starting December 23, Saturday hours will be from 8:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. through December 17.

For after-hours mailing needs, full service contract stations are located at Jubilee Foods and Hugo's Supermarket, McCloskey said. He urges postal patrons once again to mail Christmas cards and packages early to assure delivery before Christmas.

As a special service, postal workers will be visiting Skylite Apartments on December 7 at 2 p.m. and December 14 at 10 a.m., Riverside Terrace Apartments on December 8 and 15 at 10 a.m., Valley Home on December 7 at 10 a.m. and Oakland Park Nursing Home on December 8 and 15 at 2 p.m. All mail services will be provided at each of the locations.

Biblical tour to Israel planned

Mark Hovestol and Rev. Dale Pederson, respective president and faculty member at Oak Hills Bible College at Bemidji, are organizing a study tour to Israel March 11-24. Personal extensions in Jordan, Egypt and Europe are available.

Tour price of $2,395 includes round trip airfare from Minneapolis and hotels, meals, a study manual and all touring costs for 14 days in Israel.

Indication of interest is needed by January 1 with a registration deadline of February 1. For more information and a brochure with a full itinerary and other details, contact Rev. Pederson at 751-8670 or 1-800-262-8902.

Skime is named to Hall of Fame

Skime became chief engineer for the company, instrumental in design of what was then the revolutionary 1965 Panther—the model that elevated snowmobiles from the rugged workhorse category into the more stylish and spirited recreational field.

It had a black fiberglass hood instead of a steel cowling and a motor mounted ahead of the chassis instead of behind the driver. The hood opened for access to the engine and the design utilized an aluminum tunnel and chassis for reduced weight. It also utilized one of Skime's design developments—a spring loaded slide rail suspension system which replaced the conventional bogey wheels of the day.

Today all snowmobiles use the slide rail concept which Skime developed and refined.

"He is an absolute perfectionist," Hetteen added. "Roger was never willing to release anything for production if he wasn't completely satisfied that it was ready. He has set many industry standards for others to study, copy and imitate. And if a machine needed testing at any speed, he wouldn't ask anyone to do it unless he had already done it himself."

In recognition of his abilities and knowledge, Skime became director of research and development for Arctic Enterprises and eventually vice president of engineering.

20 Years To Unemployment

After nearly 20 years of devoting his life to snowmobile design and development, Roger found himself out of work in 1981 when Arctic Enterprises closed and later liquidated under bankruptcy proceedings. It was a traumatic time for Skime and many others.

"Snowmobiles were my life. They were involved in anything I had ever done in employment. Dennis Zulawski and I got together to manufacture and sell a suspension system kit. We kept working on development on our own, even without a company."

Refusing to accept the death of the Arctic Cat snowmobile, Roger worked with a number of other former Arctic Enterprises employees to develop interest in starting another company. Their effort, foresight and courage in taking financial risk paid off with the birth of Arctco, Inc., and the rebirth of the Arctic Cat snowmobile line in 1983.

Skime has been vice president of engineering of the company's snowmobile division since its start. From two models produced in 1983, the company's line has increased to 36 different models for the 1995 product year. The snowmobile engineering division now occupies new quarters in the remodeled manufacturing facility and has five managers and about 60 employees.

Objective Never Changes

"The changes in technology and manufacturing processes are unbelievable," Skime said. "We are using highly sophisticated computer programs in our design work. But the objective never changes. We still want to keep refining and improving and developing to provide our customers with the best performance and trouble-free operation it is possible to provide.

"When we look back at what has happened in the industry since the early 1960s, the changes are certainly impressive, but they didn't come all at once. They developed on a gradual basis, one improvement at a time. It has been exciting for me to have had a part in it."

TRF girls lose opener 57-46

Sally Wiltse will try to channel Thief River Falls' aggressiveness into an effective defensive tool as the 1994-95 girls high school basketball season progresses. But in the Tuesday season and home opener against Warren-Alvarado-Oslo the Prowlers attacking style of play got them in trouble – foul trouble as the Ponies cashed in on 21 of 33 free throw opportunities en route to a 57-46 win.

"We were overly aggressive," admitted Wiltse, whose team watched an 8-7 first quarter lead turn into a 24-12 halftime deficit. "We do not have a lot of people with varsity experience. We made a lot of mistakes, and nerves played a part of it."

Ann Ellerbusch of Warren-Alvarado-Oslo led all scorers with 22 points. The Prowlers were led by senior Kelly Skeim with 12 points and eighth grader Nicole Kopari, who scored 9 points in her varsity debut.

Thief River Falls had plenty of chances at the free throw line, too, but missed 14 of 28 attempts, and the Prowlers were beat on the boards 41-35.

"Defensively we didn't play that bad," said Wiltse. "Offensively we were impatient. But I thought we made a noticeable improvement from the first half to the second half. That was encouraging. We will get better."

Scoring

	1	2	3	4	T
Warren-A-O	7	17	16	17	57
Thief River Falls	8	4	16	22	46

W-A-O - Christina Erickson 8, Janine Diedrich 2, Erin Aakre 13, Kelly Fulton 5, Jami Copp 10, Brenda Myrfield 2, Kelly Hapka 1, Ann Ellerbusch 22.

TRF - Lisa Swenson 6, Kelly Skeim 12, Nicole Kopari 9, Kim Stenseth 8, Sarah Huschle 5, Cami Sorenson 1, Jocelyn Helgeland 7.

TRF wrestlers debut Tuesday

No-shows will take a bite out of Thief River Falls' 1994-95 high school wrestling line-up.

Although the Prowlers lost just one senior to graduation off a 4-14 team, 13 underclassmen who were in the program last winter decided not to wrestle this year. Four of those were likely varsity starters.

Those losses will hurt, admitted Prowlers coach John Anderson, turning his team "instantly young" and creating holes (and probable forfeits) in several weight classes.

Anderson said he won't throw young, inexperienced wrestlers into varsity competition just to fill a line-up. He did that in the past, and the constant beating those kids took may have played a role in some of the departures. "We'll wrestle the young kids only if they (opposing teams) have young kids too," he explained.

Team-wise, the Prowlers may struggle, but a handful of individuals could shine this winter.

"We've got five-six solid kids who should do well for us," noted Anderson.

That group includes seniors Dusty Eddleman (112 or 119 pounds) and John Davis (190 or heavyweight), juniors Justin Johnson (170) and Kyle Miller (heavyweight), along with sophomores Luke Davis (145 or 152) and Kyle Nelson (160). John Davis will start the year at his football weight before dropping pounds; Miller will miss Tuesday's season opener vs. Larimore while resting a minor knee problem; and Johnson looks like a promising varsity newcomer if he can make weight.

Other lettermen on hand include seniors Jason Homme and Phillip Nelson, junior Nick Dee, and freshman Brian Unbehaun.

Rest of the team members in grades 9-through-12 include junior Justin Brunkhorst, sophomores Jay Tanner and Adam Kuck, along with freshmen Eric Thayer, Josh Stinson, Ryan Olson, and Dacian Wolf.

Also introduced were the Prowlers whose GPA were used when Thief River Falls was named the 1994 Minnesota Class A high school football academic state champions – Bjorgaard, Henney, Homme, Philip Nelson, Phillips, and Nathan Anderson (seniors); Keith Anderson, Bendickson, Chiodo, Dee, Fogarty, Fulton, Peter Johnson, Lawrence, Miller, Darren Nelson, Rambeck, Stock, Cota, Harris, Fasbo, and Gonsorowski (juniors); plus Brandt, Kopari, Nordhagen, Clark, Donarski, Jensen, Lane, Kyle Nelson, and Froiland (sophomores).

The Prowlers were 7-4 this year, reaching the Section 8A finals against Detroit Lakes.

Wolverines beat horn, Argyle with final shot

The 1994-95 girls high school basketball season started with a bang for Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke Tuesday as the Wolverines beat Argyle 57-55 on a Brandi Stratton basket at the buzzer. The game was played in Grygla.

"It was a great win for us," said Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke coach Mike Gast. "It was a great team effort. A lot of people came off the bench to help out."

Stratton and Jill Schuler both finished with 12 points and junior Desiree Kotrba had a 10-point, 10-rebound game.

The Wolverines were 25-for-49 from the field (51 percent) and 7-for-14 at the free throw line. The Eagles made 23 of 56 shots from the field (41 percent) and sank 7 of 16 free throws.

Hockey team wins opener over Bemidji

Keith Anderson, Brian Howe and Tim Barry did the scoring Thursday as Thief River Falls made a successful 1994-95 high school hockey debut under new head coach Pat Cullen by beating host Bemidji 3-2.

Barry scored once and had two assists, while Anderson and Howe both scored once and picked up one assist for the Prowlers, who led 1-0 at the end of the first period and maintained a 2-1 edge through 30 minutes.

Barry's second goal opened up a two-goal advantage at 12:10 of the third period, but the Lumberjacks made it close down the stretch on a goal by Brad Johnson just 55 seconds later.

"I thought we played well," said Cullen. "We played pretty disciplined hockey. We played well in our end. We did a lot of the little things well like finishing our checks and not coughing up the puck."

The Prowlers will be at Grand Forks Central Saturday before taking on defending Class A state champion Warroad Tuesday in their home opener.

Scoring

First period - TRF, Keith Anderson (Tim Barry), 8:41.

Second period - TRF, Brian Howe (Barry), 3:15; Bemidji, Shawn Winkler (Ben Hopkins-Bob Brink), 11:43.

Third period - TRF, Barry (Anderson-Howe), 12:10; Bemidji, Brad Johnson (Luke Whiting), 13:05.

Goalie Saves

TRF - Chane Keefe 6-10-9–25; Bemidji - Jeremy Stay 5-1-11–17.

Royals win 75-70 match-up against visiting Pioneers

Northland Community College men's basketball played well in its 1994-95 season opener Tuesday, but still came up short in a 75-70 loss to UND-Lake Region in Devils Lake.

"We played really well," said Northland coach Mark Donnhoff. "It was a great college basketball game. It was back and forth the entire game. It just came down to a couple of possessions at the end. It was a very well-played game on both sides."

Chad Kujava scored a game-high 24 points for the Pioneers. Teammate Ryan Rislov netted 13.

Northland was 20-for-59 from the field (47 percent) and a busy 21-for-28 at the free throw line.

Scoring

Gators' experience tops Nordics 73-39

Experience won out big time over inexperience Tuesday as Badger/Greenbush-Middle River handled Marshall County Central 73-39 in girls high school basketball at Greenbush.

It was the season-opener for the two teams who met in last year's Section 8A Sub-Section 4 finals. But while the Gators return four starters off that title-winning club, the Nordics had five new faces in the line-up for their 1994-95 debut.

Complicating matters for Marshall County Central was the fact that 5-10 junior Tricia Pederson, the lone returning starter, suffered an ankle sprain in practice the day before that may sideline her for a month or more.

"That really hurt," said Marshall County Central coach Tom Mjelde. "Our biggest concern coming into the season was scoring, and Tricia should be good for 20 points a game. I don't know if it would have made a difference (won/loss-wise) if she would have played, but I think it would have been a closer game."

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River junior Krissi Super continued to rack up numbers that have attracted state-wide attention with a 26-point night. Jessica Borgen added 14 and Nikki Wahl had 12 for the Gators.

"We didn't play real good defense," acknowledged Mjelde. "We gave them a lot of shots in the paint."

Darlene Nelson led the Nordics with 13 points.

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River was 31-for-58 from the field (53 percent) and 9-for-20 at the free throw line. Marshall County Central went 16-for-45 from the floor (36 percent) and 4-for-14 at the line. The Gators out-rebounded the Nordics 29-18.

B/G-MR is easy 60-33 winner over Warroad

A 35-point game by Krissi Super and strong team defense led Badger/Greenbush-Middle River to a 60-33 girls high school basketball win over Warroad Thursday.

The point spread surprised Gators coach Tom Neibauer. "They're one of the better teams in the (North Border) conference," he said. "I thought they might dump us. But we played well defensively. Our half-court man defense held their good athletes to 3-4 points."

The Gators cashed in on 20 of 27 free throw opportunities. Warroad made 11 of 12.

It was the second one-sided win of the week at Greenbush for the Gators, who opened the season Tuesday with a 73-39 victory over Marshall County Central.

Wolverines beat Nordics 55-47 to start season 2-0

Jenny Johnson scored 18 points Thursday to lead Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke to a 55-47 girls high school basketball win over Marshall County Central in Newfolden.

It was the second season-opening win of the week for the Wolverines and the second straight loss for the Nordics.

"We did very well in sports," reported Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke coach Mike Gast. "It was another good team effort. The kids are working hard."

Darlene Nelson scored a game-high 22 points for the Nordics.

The Wolverines were 26-for-55 from the field (47 percent) and 3-for-11 at the free throw line. The Nordics went 18-for-55 from the field (33 percent) and 11-for-19 at the line. Marshall County Central had a 36-26 rebound advantage.

Tri-County tops Mustangs 67-42 girls basketball

All nine Mustangs who played scored points, but not enough of them as Red Lake County Central lost a season-opening 67-42 girls high school basketball game to Tri-County at Plummer.

It was the defense that concerned Red Lake County Central coach Rick Koivisto as Sara Bogestad netted 23 points to lead a trio of Tri-County double figure scorers. "We did run the offense, but defensively I felt we could have been more intense," said Koivisto. "We gave them too many shots."

The Wildcats were 30-for-65 from the field (46 percent), while the Mustangs went 19-for-63 (30 percent). Tri-County made 4 of 11 free throws; Red Lake County Central sank 3 of 8. The winners had a 35-26 rebound advantage.

Marci DuChamp led Red Lake County Central with 14 points.

Erl's Market in Thief River Feild donated over $1,000 to TRFAHA. The donation was raised by donating a percentage of sales of gas, broasted chicken, Frito-Lay products, and Coca Cola products during July. The money was raised to help youth in the community. Erling Olson presented the donation last week to Mark Enge, and a group of youngsters in the six and under hockey program.

Moose harvest figures are listed

Minnesota's moose hunters had another very successful season in 1994, according to the Department of Natural Resources. A total of 398 moose were taken by 451 licensed moose hunting parties in 38 zones. In northwestern Minnesota zones, 262 parties took 244 moose, for a 93 percent success rate. In the northeast, 189 parties took 154 moose, for an 82 percent success rate. Approximately 70 percent of the moose taken were antlered bulls.

Dave Schad, DNR Forest Wildlife Program leader, noted that success rates were comparable to past years. "Most parties reported seeing good numbers of moose," Schad said. "Some areas of zones 3, 4 and 5 in the northwest had very wet ground conditions that limited hunter access and created difficulty for hunters, but otherwise hunting conditions were generally very good."

Moose hunts have been held since 1971 in Minnesota; 1994 marked the beginning of annual seasons after every-other-year hunts since 1971. Licenses are issued to parties of two to four hunters, and are available only to residents. Beginning with the 1991 season, the Minnesota Legislature made moose hunting a "once-in-a-lifetime" opportunity. In 1994, more than 10,000 parties consisting of 32,000 individuals applied for the 451 available licenses.

Applications for the 1995 hunt will be available about May 1.

Wildlife Crime Doesn't Pay

Fines for federal wildlife violations in Minnesota dramatically increased October 1 when a revised fine schedule for violations became effective. The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service has primary responsibility for enforcing the Migratory Bird Treat Act and Lacey Act, where the most significant increases took place.

"The previous fines, last revised in 1984, were wholly inadequate as a deterrent or punishment for wildlife crime," stated Senior Resident Agent Dick Dickinson. "Fines regarding waterfowl hunting violations have generally doubled."

Violations of the Migratory Bird Treaty Act have a maximum penalty of up to six months in prison and/or a fine of up to $5,000. In addition, each extra illegal duck is $50 and each illegal goose is $75. This provides an equitable method for assessing fines based upon the level of violation. When the number of birds killed is in excess of the daily limit, the fine is $250; but if there were five ducks taken over the limit, the fine would be $500.

Most dramatic increase under the new fine regards violations under the Lacey Act. These typically relate to people who violate game laws in one state, then unlawfully transport the wildlife to another state. Under the previous provision, forfeitures for Lacey Act violations were $300 plus collateral additions of $100 for all big game species. Fines are now $1,500 with collateral additions for big game species as high as $2,500. Elk, moose, caribou and sheep/mountain goat are $2,000; deer, black bear and pronghorn are $1,000; and mountain lion and brown bear are $2,500. Most of the Lacey violations are investigated and tickets issued for a misdemeanor violation, which carries a term of up to one year in prison and/or a fine of up to $100,000.

Further provisions include the following: fines are not mandatory and are at the discretion of the law enforcement officer; a violator may be required to appear and face any punishment prescribed by law which may be imposed upon any conviction; illegal wildlife taken as a result of violations of law are automatically forfeited; and fines for violations by organizations, such as corporations, partnerships or associations, are doubled.

The new schedule takes into account new statutory penalties, other federal collateral schedules and state bond schedules. This revision brings the federal judicial district of Minnesota in line with other federal districts and states. Revised schedules for forfeiture are pending in Wisconsin.

RLCC girls fall behind early in Thursday loss

Mahnomen jumped out to a 20-8 first quarter lead and finished with a 58-48 girls high school basketball win over Red Lake County Central Thursday in Oklee.

"The first quarter did it," said Red Lake County Central coach Rick Kolvisto. "We had way too many turnovers."

The Mustangs were 20-for-59 from the field (34 percent) and 7-for-11 at the free throw line. The winners were 26-for-66 from the floor and 8-for-19 at the line.

It was the second loss of the week for Red Lake County Central.

Scoring

UMC to offer first graduate course in '95

First graduate level course at the University of Minnesota in Crookston will be offered Thursday evenings, January 5 to March 16, from 6:45 to 10:05 p.m. The course is Organizational Development in Industry and Business (#5760) and is offered through interactive television in conjunction with the University of Minnesota at Morris.

The class is an introduction to major concepts, skills and techniques for organizational development in industry and business. Topics will include definition, need, history, diagnosing organizations, intervention theories, change strategies, consulting and issues.

The course is part of a degree program offered by the department of vocational and technical education. UMC's outreach office will arrange for academic advising for any prospective student interested in pursuing a university degree.

Tuition for the four-credit course ranges from $107 to $183.75 per credit depending on type of registration. For more information or to register, contact Barbara J. Muesing, director of outreach, at 218-281-8681.

Agassiz Heritage Society appoints committee heads

Committee chairmen were determined when the board of directors of the Agassiz Swedish Heritage Society met recently at Newfolden.

Jerome Johnson of Strathcona will serve as historian with Alvin Grandstrand of Viking and Einar Karlason of Roseau in charge of scholarship. Marlene Sllnes of Warren chairs the membership committee, Marilyn Mattson of Warren is publicity chair, Vangie Myhre of Warren is newsletter editor and Matt Edman of East Grand Forks is program chairman.

President of the society is Lyndon Johnson of Hallock with Edman as vice president, Gen Johnson of Karlstad as secretary and Ruth Gustafson of Hallock as treasurer.

In addition to the officers, other directors are Lloyd Nordling and Delores Anderson, Alvarado; Verne Nyblad, Stephen; Maxine McEwen, Thief River Falls; and Elaine Olson, Stephen.

The council will sponsor its annual Santa Lucia program December 10 at Stephen.

117 give blood at drive here November 22-23

One hundred and forty people volunteered to donate blood and 117 were able to give during Thief River Falls' November 22 and 23 blood drive, according to United Blood Services of Fargo, ND.

Four of the donors gave blood for the first time at the drive held in the C&NC chapel at Northwest Medical Center.

Evelyn Myrum organized the drive sponsored by the Northwest Medical Center Auxiliary, which assisted with publicity, refreshments, registering donors and helping to unload and re-load the mobile equipment.

Others who assisted with the drive were Margo Prestebak, Libby Jones, Pat Dunning, Clarice Galliher, Ruth Nepper, Peggy Kraemer, Shelby Sorvig, Sylvia Grindley, Eileen Reierson, Bunny Dondelinger, Delores Wilson and Evie Womack.

Rhonda Ellefson of United Blood Services said the donations will help meet the blood needs of many patients in 46 area hospitals served by the organization.

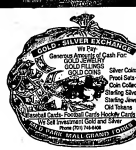
Dianne Gagner heads Plummer community ed

Dianne Gagner has been elected chairman of the community education committee in the Plummer school district.

Lynn Gallant serves as vice chairman and Karen Demarais is secretary-treasurer. New members on the committee are Polly Skjerven, John Helley, Mary Beth Westlake and student representative Marci DuChamp.

Leaving the committee after many years of service are Arlene Zimpel and Inga Linder. A special recognition event in their honor will be held later.

Arizona student wants to know about Minnesota



Chris Quezada, a 10-year-old fifth grader in Clarendon elementary school, Phoenix, AZ, is looking for personal information about Minnesota. It is a year-long state study project assigned by his teacher, Heather Eppley.

"I'm writing my state report on Minnesota," Chris states in a letter to The Times/Northern Watch. "Would you please print my letter in the newspaper so that people in Thief River Falls will see it and write to me? I'm hoping that someone will send me a brochure to help me with my report.

"Phoenix is a very hot place. What is the weather like in Minnesota? If you write to me, please send me a copy of my printed letter."

Anyone interested in responding to Chris' letter may write to Chris Quezada, Miss Eppley's Fifth Grade, Clarendon Elementary School, 1225 W. Clarendon Avenue, Phoenix, AZ 85013.

Corinne Haugen, Thief River Falls; Fern Kopecky, Black River township; Odessa Anderson, Sanders township; Gustie Thorson, Thief River Falls; Agnes Hanson, Thief River Falls; Janice Booen, Thief River Falls; Jessie Bessler, Roseau; and Gladys Johnson, Numedal township.

The music for the afternoon was provided by Paul Furuseth, Ray Hedlund and Ida Nordvall, and a luncheon was served after the show. Gusty Thorson served coffee, Carol Barros served cookies, and Rosella Schlofer presided at the guest book.

This was the first fashion show presented at Skylite and it was a huge success. Dolly Hallstrom, manager of the Skylite Hair Care Center, came up with the idea. "I've seen other fashion shows and I thought it would be fun," she said. "I like to do things that are fun."

With the help of many people, including the residents and staff at Skylite, Dolly and Mollie Ose, Skylite tenant service coordinator, put together an impressive show. Dolly and Sharon Noreen from The Barbers did the hair and make-up of the models. Connie Omdahl and Sue Kiesow of Twice But Nice provided the fashions and helped the ladies choose what they would wear, and the luncheon and door prizes were donated by several local businesses.

Arnold Avenue Store, Gary's Bakery, Hugo's and Jubilee Foods provided the luncheon, and Evergreen Eating Emporium, Hair Care Center, Price World, Thrifty White Drug, Twice But Nice and Wanda's Flowers and Gifts provided door prizes.

Dolly said Audrey Bruggeman, Skylite manager, and Brian Olson, custodian, were also instrumental in making the show a success. Will Dolly do it again next year? "I don't know," she said. "It's a lot of work but everybody sure enjoyed it. I might do it again."

Mabel Mosbeck, shown at left, and Luceile Yonke, right, were two of the models at the fashion show held last week at Skylite Apartments. Fashions were provided by Twice But Nice.

Kristina Dahl waits patiently to model her outfit at the Skylite Fashion show. She and her cousins, Michelle and Amanda Noreen, were part of a four generation group that modeled at the show.

Cloverbuds to begin program December 13

Pennington county 4-H Cloverbud program will begin Tuesday, December 13, with meetings to be held on the second Tuesday of each month through the end of the school year.

"This is a program that introduces 4-H to children in kindergarten through second grade," states Van Swanson, Pennington county extension educator for 4-H.

"The youth will participate in educational activities, learn the 4-H pledge and with parental help will be able to exhibit at the county fair.

Meetings will be held in the activity room in the K-1 wing of Challenger elementary school from 3 to 4 p.m. Parents are encouraged to attend with their children and it is their responsibility to have the child picked up at 4 p.m.

"Our meetings usually include refreshments and activities," Swanson said, "therefore we ask you to register so we know the numbers we can expect to attend. Please call the extension office at 681-2116 if you are interested."

The news release states, "The Indictment charged an elaborate scheme that ran from 1989 through 1992 and involved fraudulent billings, fictitious compaules, embezzlement of program funds and kickbacks.

"Bjerklie allegedly embezzled money from the ICCC by creating and submitting fraudulent orders and bills for labor and building materials supposedly used for the weatherization program. Fictitious companies created by Bjerklie, the Eidelbes and the Johnsruds were used on the bogus invoices and bills. Payment checks were issued to these straw companies and were deposited into personal checking accounts controlled by the Eidelbes or the Johnsruds, who then wrote kickback checks to Bjerklie.

"Another co-defendant, Tharaldson, owner of Tharaldson Construction, received payments from Bjerklie for work never performed on program houses.

"Bjerklie is alleged to have received over 90 kickback checks totalling approximately $111,574 during the course of the conspiracy.

"Carol and Darwin Eidelbes were both sentenced November 18 to four months in prison and were both ordered to pay $10,000 in restitution. Tharaldson and Theresa and Danny Johnsrud await sentencing.

"The case is the result of an investigation by U.S. Department of Energy, Office of the Inspector General and Minnesota Department of Jobs and Training."

Olin elected to board of state ass'n.

Pennington County Attorney David M. Olin has been elected a director on the board of the Minnesota County Attorneys Association for the period of November 1994 to November 1995.

Shafland named to scholarship honor society

Heidi Shafland, daughter of Dan and Jane Shafland of Thief River Falls, was among 61 students initiated into the Iowa Alpha chapter of Alpha Chi, national college honor scholarship society, at Wartburg College in Waverly, IA.

Alpha Chi is a coeducational society whose purpose is to promote academic excellence and exemplary character among college and university students. Members come from all academic disciplines but must be in the top 10 per cent of the junior or senior class.

Northland Theatre plans Christmas dinner and variety show December 15 through 17

Northland Community College theater department is hosting a Christmas dinner and variety show on December 15, 16 and 17 at the college.

Each evening's program will include a social hour at 6 p.m., complete turkey dinner at 7 p.m. in the college commons and a variety show following in the college theater.

Cost of the dinner and performance is $12 and reservations may be made by calling 681-2181 or 1-800-628-9918. Seating is limited and the December 16 performance is already sold out.

The variety show, "Northern Reflections of Christmas," is a unique blend of Christmas favorites including songs, dances, readings, memories, traditions and even a few special guest appearances. A cast of more than 20 students, staff, children and community members will be involved. Door prizes will also be given away throughout the evening.

Home Health Care week starts Nov. 27

On Sunday, November 27, the Marshall County Nursing Service joined thousands of home care providers in celebrating National Home Health Care week, and the first annual World Home Care Week.

Proclaimed by Dr. Knight Steel, president of the World Organization for Care in the Home, World Home Care Week, November 27 through December 3, pays tribute to the dedicated physicians, nurses, therapists and aides who provide high-quality health care in homes around the world.

In Marshall county, Home Health has been a service provided by the Marshall County Nursing Service for many years and became Medicare certified in 1981. At present, there are seven nurses and 15 health care aides that bring health care into the homes of people of all ages. In 1994, approximately 9,600 health care visits have been made.

Marshall County Home Health provides care to those who have been discharged from the hospital and need help at home during convalescence. They also care for the chronically ill or disabled, who with a little help, could stay home rather than enter a nursing home. Services are also provided to those people with a terminal illness who wish to remain at home.

A registered nurse does health teaching, IV therapy, dressing changes, medication monitoring, shots, and catheter care. The nurse reports progress and changes to the doctor.

A Home Health Aide assists with bathing, shampoo, meal preparation, exercise programs and keeping the environment safe and clean.

Those who are interested in Home Health Care can contact the Marshall County Nursing Service at (218) 745-5154. Marshall County Home Health is non-profit. Most privately owned nursing services are for profit. Payment sources for nursing services from Marshall County Home Health are available through Medicare, Medicaid, Veteran Administration, private insurance in some cases, and private pay with a sliding fee in accordance to ability to pay.

Home Health Care Services have become increasingly important over the past few years as people are living longer (often with one or more chronic illness with which to cope), and increasing nursing home costs. Many persons are able to remain in their homes with services from the Home Health Case program. A good reason to celebrate Home Health Care Week.

DARE adds program suspends another

Drug Abuse Resistance Education (DARE) program begins its fourth year in Thief River Falls in January. One major addition to the program this year will be a refresher class for seventh graders in Thief River Falls and eighth graders in Goodridge. In addition to this change, DARE has incorporated lessons on conflict resolution and violence prevention.

Local DARE board members learned Thursday that DARE had adopted a revised program to incorporate lessons on violence prevention. Of the over 350 officers in the state to complete training on the now program were two officers from Pennington county, Sheriff's Deputy Ray Kuznia and Police Officer Craig Mattson.

While the main DARE program for Thief River Falls students in grade 5 and Goodridge students in grade 6 begins in January, refresher classes for some junior high school students begin in December. Refresher classes for the remainder of seventh and eighth grade students begin in April. (The grade levels are different because DARE is designed for students in classes exiting one school for another.)

The emphasis of the DARE program for the junior high/middle school level is to provide or reinforce the information and skills which enable students to resist pressure and other influences in making personal choices. In addition, the lessons focus on helping students manage their feelings of anger and resolving conflicts without causing harm to themselves or others and without resorting to violence or the use of alcohol and drugs.

The instruction consists of a series of 10 lessons on social skills and violence prevention strategies to be taught cooperatively by the officer and the classroom teacher.

Red Lake Electric round up benefits many organizations

Fifteen northwest Minnesota non-profit community organizations were recent recipients of Operation Round Up Grants. The Red Lake Electric Trust board of directors awarded a total of $11,975 in grants at their October 31 meeting.

Money which makes these grants possible is provided by customers of Red Lake Electric cooperative headquartered in Red Lake Falls. Customers voluntarily "round up" their monthly electric bills and these pennies are turned over to Red Lake Electric Trust, a separate non-profit corporation, for grant determination.

Currently, over 80 per cent of Red Lake Electric's customers participate in the Operation Round Up program. Over $19,000 is raised annually and grants are made at semi-annual Red Lake Electric Trust meetings. Since the program began in January 1993, $32,075 has been given to area community organizations.

The Crookston Community Hospice was awarded $2,000 to provide care for the terminally ill and their families. Five hundred dollars was given to the Red Lake Falls Keen-Age club which provides meals for the elderly. The Marshall County Literacy Council was granted $200 to provide books to children of low-income families for Christmas. The Crookston Literacy Alliance was awarded $300 for the same purpose.

The Spruce Valley Community Center in Middle River was given $1,000 for improvements to their kitchen facility. The Red Lake County Good Neighbor Fund provides toys and clothes for children at Christmas and $700 was awarded for this purpose. A similar program in Pennington county was given $1,000. The Red Lake Falls Public Library was also awarded $1,000 to assist in computerization of books and resource material which links them to larger libraries in the region.

The Pennington county 4-H organization was awarded $400 to assist their gun safety training program. A new Recreation Center for youth in the Plummer area was awarded $500 for furnishings. Five hundred dollars was given to the Goodridge Area Historical Society to help restore the old depot recently moved back to Goodridge.

Red Lake County Emergency Services was awarded $1,175 to purchase floatation vests for the four emergency service locations in the county. The Red Lake County Youth Resource project will hold events for youth to foster alternatives to alcohol and drugs with the $1,000 grant made. The Plummer

Environmental learning lab on Greenwood trails

In days gone by it was a productive dairy farm. Today, little remains of its past. Its future, however, belongs to education as an outdoor learning station associated with the community of Thief River Falls and Independent School District 564.

The Greenwood Trails Environmental Learning lab has come a long way since the first meeting a year ago, to organize outdoor science instruction areas in the Thief River Falls School District. Chair, Bill Fogarty, a biology instructor at Lincoln high school, says a brochure and system of marked science stations will be ready for students next spring, thanks to active community support this summer and fall.

"Each station is marked by a post, with a corresponding teacher's guide for instruction and suggested activities. The entire route is about a half mile. It's going to be a great science area for elementary and middle school students," Fogarty said.

Learning stations include basswood cloning, animal habitat, geologic history, the effect of the 100 year flood, non-native plant species, the remains of the farmhouse foundation, forest, grassland and riverbank ecology, and the effect of humanity on the land and landscape.

Boy Scout Troop 57, the Thief River Falls Park and Recreation department, and the Rotary club, put out a team effort to install the marker posts and make improvements along the trail. Troop 57 made the posts, part of an Eagle School project by Fogarty's son, Bill Fogarty, Jr. Financial support was provided by the Eagles, Sons of the American Legion, VFW and Rotary.

The Greenwood trails project is one of three outdoor science areas in the school district. Fogarty says a second site is being developed at Challenger school, with a third site for high school studies in Sanders township, west of Thief River Falls. Fogarty says committee members "hope students will find a better appreciation of nature and science, and even encourage active conservation activities directly related to each outdoor learning area."

As far as the history of Greenwood Trails, Fogarty says they would like more information about the dairy farm that once marked the site. "We would appreciate anything anyone can tell us about the last, private property owners, the Mickelson family estate. Our research has turned up little information about the family, and we would like to include the history of the area in the brochure. Fogarty can be contacted through Lincoln high school in Thief River Falls.

LHS Honor Society makes Depot donation

Lincoln High School National Honor Society recently made a donation to help save the historic Soo Line Depot in downtown Thief River Falls.

Honor Society President Kelly Liden, this week, presented a check for more than $500 to the Historic Depot Preservation committee. Liden says National Honor Society sponsored a "candy drive fund-raiser" this fall, and plans a Christmas gift wrapping event at the Falls Mall in December as a second benefit for the Depot. Liden says, "One of our members saw a presentation about the Depot at a Rotary Club meeting this fall. Each year we sponsor a community project and this really caught our attention. They need $200,000 and they're already half-way there."

National Honor Society is a national young people's group devoted to academic and community excellence, with chapters in high schools across the nation, including Lincoln high school in Thief River Falls.

Country music jam session in Fosston Dec. 4

Country music lovers are urged to attend the monthly Country Music Jam Session to be held on Sunday afternoon, December 4, beginning at 1 p.m. and continuing through the potluck supper at 5 p.m. and on into the evening.

All who play musical instruments are invited to participate. The afternoon will be spent hearing individuals and small groups. After supper, a time of playing together in larger groups will be featured.

Those who enjoy listening are also invited to attend. Many types of country and old time music is usually included among the tunes performed. There is no admission charge.

Musicians from all over the Red River Valley come together for this unique feature held at the Embassy Community Center at Third and North Eaton in Fosston.

For more details contact Country Music Chairperson Rodney Myhrum (218) 435-6913 evenings.

Waste pesticides collected total over 100 tons

Minnesota Department of Agriculture collections netted a record of more than 100 tons of waste pesticides during 1994. This total represents more pounds collected and destroyed than in any previous year since the program began in 1990.

Almost 1,600 participants brought waste pesticides to collection sites that served areas generally west and north of the Twin Cities during 1994. All Minnesota farmers and other pesticide users have had at least one opportunity to participate in the waste pesticide collection program. The waste pesticide collection program's goal is to remove old and unusable pesticides from the land.

"Minnesota's agricultural community is very concerned about our environment, and their efforts demonstrate their concern," said Minnesota Department of Agriculture Commissioner Elton R. Redalen. "The MDA works with pesticide users to provide for safe and proper disposal of waste pesticides, and to help keep our environment clean."

In 1994 the program's pace was accelerated to provide all Minnesota farmers and other pesticide users an opportunity to participate in the pesticide collection program every other year. Next year's collections will generally take place in southern Minnesota.

More than 430,000 pounds of waste pesticides have been destroyed since the program began in 1990. Many of these collected pesticides are decades old, and were originally purchased, but never used. It is estimated that many, many tons of old and unusable pesticides remain stored in Minnesota.

For additional information, contact Joe Spitzmueller, Minnesota Department of Agriculture, 90 West Plato Blvd., St. Paul, MN (612) 297-5296.

ABE program in Newfolden open to all

Adult Basic Education (ABE) is for all adults who would like to:

1) "Brush up" or further their education in reading, math or writing;

2) Prepare for the GED (high school equivalency);

3) Be tutored in English as a second language;

4) Receive help in preparing for the written portion of the Minnesota Drivers Test;

5) Improve their spelling.

ABE classes are being held at the Newfolden Community Center on Wednesday mornings at 10 a.m. Evening classes can be scheduled by appointment. Classes and books are free to the students. Classes are informal with students working at their own pace.

Whole Wheat BIBLE STUDY

Are works important?

After you read through this Bible study, go back and look up the Scriptures and highlight them in your Bible.

Did Jesus Christ glorify God by performing good works (Matt. 5:16; John 8:29, 39; 10:37-38)? Are we supposed to serve Jesus Christ by following His example of doing good works (John 12:26)? Will some of us do greater works than He did (John 14:12)?

We hear good fruit by doing good works (Col. 1:10). If good works are the same as good fruit, then isn't it by doing good works that we prove ourselves to be Jesus Christ's disciples (John 15:8)? Were we not chosen and appointed by Christ to go out and bear good fruit, which is doing good works (John 15:16)?

The false Christians—which the Bible calls dogs, goats, bearers, wicked, tares and bad fruit—are those who profess to know God but are worthless for any good works (Titus 1:16). If Jesus Christ is the axe described in Matthew 3:10, and if we are the trees and the fruits are good works, what is this verse saying?

Are good works necessary for a resurrection of life (John 5:29)? What kind of works is Jesus Christ talking about (Matt. 25:33-46, Luke 14:13; 1 Peter 4:11, 2)? Didn't Jesus Christ die that we might live to righteousness (1 Peter 2:24)? Isn't living to righteousness doing good (1 Peter 3:11, 13)? Didn't Paul warn disciples of Jesus Christ to learn to do good (Titus 3:8, 14)? Isn't Christ making for Himself a people who are zealous for good works (Titus 2:14)? Isn't doing good works how you overcome (Rom. 12:21; Rev. 2:26)? Aren't we warned not to get weary of doing good works (Gal. 6:9; 2 Thess. 3:13)? Were we not created in Christ Jesus for good works (Eph. 2:10)? Don't good works include helping the needy (James 2:15-16, 1 John 3:17-19, Luke 3:11)?

Aren't we, then, to bring forth good fruit if we say that we have repented (Luke 3:8, Acts 26:20)? Isn't this the Way (Acts 24:22)? Isn't this the message of how to be righteous? Isn't this the message many people refuse to believe when they hear it (Matt. 21:32)? Isn't this how you know you are born again and considered righteous by God, no longer a child of Satan (1 John 2:29; 3:7, 10)? Isn't doing good works how you serve God and glorify His name (Mal. 3:18; Matt. 5:16)? Isn't this how you do God's Will and enter God's rest (Matt. 7:21; Heb. 4:10)? Isn't this the Way of righteousness Jesus lived, which we are to imitate (1 Cor. 11:1)?

After reading all these Scriptures, do you believe good works are important in God's complete message of salvation (Acts 5:20)?

Konickson cow leads Red Lake DHIA in October

Don and Karen Konickson had the top producer in the Red Lake County Dairy Herd Improvement Association for the month of October. The four-year-old produced 32,007 pounds of milk, 884 pounds of butterfat and 1,046 pounds of protein in a 305-day lactation.

Thirty cows in the association gained placement on the top production list in October by completing 305-day or shorter lactations with minimum production of 22,000 pounds of milk, 750 pounds of milk or 700 pounds of protein. The top producers are ranked by dollar value of product produced.

Johnston Farms had the second place cow with a four-year-old that produced 28,179 pounds of milk, 957 pounds of butterfat and 880 pounds of protein.

Third place cow was from the Richard Dummer herd and in its second lactation produced 26,817 pounds of milk, 925 pounds of butterfat and 819 pounds of protein.

Other cows in the top ten had the following production with pounds of milk, butterfat and protein listed respectively.

Tom and Diane Kolstoe, 27,114, 930 and 780; Wayne Nelson, 26,987, 823 and 784; Johnston Farms, 23,443, 980 and 798; Wayne Vettleson, 24,382, 949 and 777; Wayne Nelson, 27,435, 850 and 717; and Richard Dummer, 22,857, 940 and 755 and 25,008, 869 and 716.

Other dairy farmers who had cows listed as achieving one or more of the minimum requirements included the following: Wayne Nelson, Arnie and Barb Schmits (2), Richard Dummer (6), Don and Karen Konickson (3), Arlan and Barb Weiss (2), Wayne Vettleson (2), Johnston Farms, Goodvue Ayr Farms II, Tom and Diane Kolstoe and Kevin and Beth Roppe.

DARE adds program and suspends another

The lessons and activities were designed to be implemented as an instructional block of 10 days during a required course period such as health, science, social studies or other appropriate academic subject, as designated by the individual school district.

While the implementation of additional drug abuse resistance curriculum in the school district signifies the DARE board's commitment to drug and violence education, the board was forced to suspend the CounterAct program in the fourth grade. CounterAct was introduced to students in Thief River Falls before the DARE program, as a cheaper and less time-consuming alternative. The CounterAct program is based on DARE training techniques and lessons but is not as involved. Only one officer is trained to teach the CounterAct program.

The program was suspended because of a lack of funds, and more importantly, because of a lack of time and resources in the police and sheriff's department. Implementing all of the programs would mean officers being pulled off of necessary shifts and leaving the departments with a manpower shortage that would place other individuals at risk.

Suspension of CounterAct will be reviewed by the DARE board next Spring. The DARE board consists of law enforcement officers, teachers, school district administrators, and community volunteers. Funds to support the DARE program comes from a number of community organizations, such as the Elks club, United Way, VFW, Hartz Foundation, Women of Today, SnoDrifters, Great Lakes Gas Transmission, Goodridge Area Development, Order of Eastern Star, in-kind assistance from the city of Thief River Falls and Pennington county, and donations from a number of individuals.

This year in Minnesota, DARE will be taught to about 60,000 students.

Round-up benefits many organizations

Cub Scouts were given $200 and the Red Lake County Health Promotion Council was awarded $1,500 for a portable computer to conduct health screenings and diet analysis.

The Red Lake Electric Trust directors are Mark Naplin and Beverly perreault of rural Red Lake Falls, and Gene Nelson of rural Viking. Veral Mosbeck and Ron Kennedy serve as ex-officio directors in their positions as Red Lake Electric Cooperative board president and general manager.

The next Operation Round Up grants will be made in March 1995. Organizations requesting funding should obtain an application from Red Lake Electric Cooperative (253-2168). Applying organizations must be non-profit and provide services to area people.

Strandquist

F. Myrtle Vagle
436-2133

On Friday, Ben and Brad Kasprowicz put in a ramp for Frank Kleinvachtar. Clifford Brosdahl, Gordon Pietruszewski and Lowell Lefrooth also stopped in.

Pearl Thompson accompanied by Elsie Lefrooth attended the Light for the Lost banquet at the Assembly of God church on Monday evening.

The weather report this morning was anything but nice for a couple of "Oldies" I know that had appointments in Grand Forks this afternoon, but now it looks real sunny but windy. Hopefully it won't reach the Minnesota border before dark or Jim and Cindy may have some not so brave ones in their guest room. The storm at 40 miles per hour could make it from Devils Lake to Grand Forks by this afternoon.

Toni Kasprowicz and Elphia Adiis visited Frank and Judy Kleinvachter Friday afternoon and in the evening Pat Larson and Betty Pietruszewski came to see them.

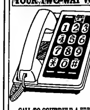
Saturday, Donny, Marlys and Greg Lefrooth had supper at Elsie Lefrooth's.

Monday Kari Kasprowicz, Wayne Martinson, Kelly Lefrooth, Amanda and Jessica, and Claudia Barggren and Jessie visited Frank Kleinvachters. Wednesday evening Brian Nelson was their guest.

Isaac and Betsy Thompson and Walter Thompson had dinner at Elsie Lefrooth's after which they attended the Harvest Festival at Bethesda Lutheran church in Strandquist.

The Strandquist Senior Citizens met last Thursday at Irene's Cafe for a delicious Thanksgiving dinner with all the trimmings. 15 members enjoyed a meal and later went to the Center for a business meeting and to work on crafts. Bingo was played until all had won a prize and Phyllis Budziszewski won. A potluck dinner is planned for December 1 at noon in the Center and a gift exchange of $5.00 value will take place after the meal.

Chuck and JuliaAnn Engler from Heron Lake and Michelle and James Pulzini from Brewster spent the weekend at Mary Johnson's. They were deer hunting and filled their licenses and returned home. JuliaAnn is the daughter of Lorraine Setten and Michelle is her granddaughter.



Sunday visitors at Frank and Judy Kleinvachter's were Brian Nelson, Lowell Lefrooth, Wayne Martinson and Kari Kasprowicz.

Those who attended Daniel Nelson's 9th Birthday Party on November 13th at the home of Donald Nelson were Bonny and Bruce, C.J., Shelly and Cassie, Kim and girls, Brenda Kasprowicz. Shelane and Jeremy, Gayhard and Irene Nelson, Brian Nelson and family, Marlin Nelson family and Gina Henrickson.

A weekago Tuesday, Shirley Anderson drove to Chatfield with Eva Barnard. Jenny Anderson came to Chatfield and spent Wednesday night there with them. On Thursday, Shirley returned to St. Paul with Jenny and then took Amtrak to Grand Forks Friday morning.

Pearl Thompson, Karen Zimmerman, Isaac and Betsy Thompson and Walter Thompson visited Elsie Lefrooth on Sunday.

Transportation needs, need to be answered

by David Hill
Associate Editor

Thief River Falls city council recently approved a budget request of over $8,000 from Tri-Valley Heartland Express, which provides bus service in the community. Tri-Valley isn't the only bus service in the community of Thief River Falls. In fact, if churches, taxis and large organizations such as the Occupational Development Center are taken into account, there are at least 11. Actually, 51 surveys were mailed in a survey this summer to known service providers and potential service providers in Pennington county.

How many people know of these services or know that Tri-Valley Heartland Express provides the service or has a regular route? How many people know that this service is available to anyone who wants to use it? According to another survey of residents, not very many.

What's disturbing is not just how much money is being spent on these services but how many people need the service, but don't know it's available or need the service but can't take advantage of it because they don't know provider's route or routine.

It seems it is a lot easier to get to a casino by bus than it is to catch a bus to the hospital, downtown, school or to another community.

The survey indicated that 96.4 per cent of respondents use their own vehicle for transportation, but 25 per cent indicated that their household would use public transportation services. The survey also indicated that 15.6 per cent of the respondents who indicated they use public transportation services provided by a volunteer driver program, public transportation or carpool program, only 11.7 per cent of these people pay for services. Of those using transportation service, the primary purpose is for medical and dental needs, second is shopping, then personal business, work, and social and recreational purposes. In response to the question: "are local bus stops or pick up points easily identified and close enough to use?", only 11.9 per cent said yes, while 26 per cent said no, 62 per cent didn't respond.

This information just didn't pop up on its own. It was collected by a task force established in May 1993 to address transit needs. This task force was a joint city of Thief River Falls/county committee which includes service providers. The committee has met a few times since then and made an effort to collect some information, but they need to be encouraged to continue to meet and do something with the information they have collected. Cooperation of service providers needs to be encouraged and routes made public so more people who need the service can take advantage of the service.

Travel Safely This Holiday Season

by Colonel Mike Chabries
Chief, Minnesota State Patrol

As everyone's thoughts turn to the holiday season, keeping this time of year safe and happy is a primary concern for you and the members of your family. With the amount of travel and celebrating often involved, extra care should be taken when getting to and from your celebrations.

Unfortunately, last year over Christmas and New Year's, eight people were killed on Minnesota's roads and nearly 800 were injured. These shocking figures are even more tragic when you realize almost 40 per cent of the deaths involved alcohol and could have been prevented. It's also likely that many of these injuries and deaths would not have occurred if people had been wearing their seat belts.

In 1993, at least 67 per cent of all those who died in alcohol-related crashes had been drinking. In addition more than one-fourth (26 per cent) of all people killed or injured in motor vehicles in 1993 were not wearing seat belts at the time of the crash. An extremely sad fact is that this number increases even more for young children ages 1 to 3. Studies indicate that more than 44 per cent of children involved in crashes were not in child safety seats.

Statistics like these are frightening at any time. But at this time of year, when celebrating with family and friends is important and part of so many people's lives, the numbers are particularly disturbing.

As you reflect on your wishes and hopes for your loved ones during these holidays, give a gift that will last forever - safe travel. Make certain that all young children are properly fastened in their car seats. Buckle every passenger into their seat belt and buckle yourself every time you drive.

If your holidays involve drinking, please make sure you don't drive and don't let friends or family members get behind the wheel if they've been drinking.

Holidays ought to be a time of celebration remembered with happiness. So please, buckle up and don't drink and drive.

Thursday afternoon, Peggy took her parents to Lakewood, CO. Where they visited with former pastor of Viking Covenant church, Sheldon and Claudette Lorenson who have recently returned from South Africa where they had served as missionaries.

Since Carey didn't have school on Friday because of Veterans' Day we went to the mountains where Corey prefers snow boarding to skiing. Not too much snow in some areas so they were closed so we drove through the Eisenhauer tunnel and on to Dillion, Keystone, Breckenridge and then to 'Loveland' ski area. He had a great time on the slope and we all enjoyed a picnic on the Chalet deck.

The Hagbergs hosted a brunch Saturday morning with guests being LeRoy and Ruth, Orville and Marion Sustad and their son, Mark and April and children, Scott, Laura and Natalie of Arvada, CO, after which Dan and Peggy took her parents and Orville and Marion to the new Denver International airport where Dan gave them a tour of the new facilities. That evening the Sustads attended the Senior Social Activities at the Arvada Covenant which included a piano concert.

Sunday morning was beautiful, the Hagbergs and LeRoy and Ruth attended services at Calvary Free church in Broomfield, CO. However by late afternoon it had cooled. Peggy Ann took her parents Sunday evening over to the Arvada Center of Performing Arts where they met Orville and Marion. She then returned to Thornton. There was to have been a travelogue on Ireland by Ken Creed, but due to circumstances it was changed and one on Maine was shown instead which was greatly enjoyed. As they left the Center it was snowing heavily and driving was hazardous so LeRoy and Ruth stayed overnight at the Orville Sustad home, by Monday a foot of snow had accumulated, driving was no better and grandson, Corey had another day off from school so he busied himself with shoveling snow.

Tuesday morning was beautiful. Most main streets had been cleared and traffic was about back to normal. By midmorning the Sustads were leaving the airport for their trip home which was perfect. The view of the mountains was now snow covered. The flatlands of the Dakotas showed green and brown and looked like Fall. Dan Sustad met his folks in Grand Forks and was glad to hear of a very enjoyable trip.

Gordon Sigerven was a coffee guest at the Earl Erickson home on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Erickson helped aunt Ann Hanson celebrate her 94th birthday at Valley Home.

Mr. and Mrs. Willard Peterson of Lake Bronson and Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Sustad enjoyed noon luncheon on Wednesday at the Best Western in Thief River Falls.

Irene Grandstrand celebrated her birthday, November 19 with breakfast in the little cafe and later in the day Berb and Ward Binn, Jim and Angie Hoglo and children, Dean, Patty and Connar Grandstrand and Gordon and Lila Grandstrand and Gordon and Lila Grandstrand from Stephen brought greetings.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Erickson became parents of a baby girl on the 17th. She weighed 7 pounds, 11 oz and is named Alexandria Rebecca.

LeRoy and Ruth Sustad attended the Concert Sunday evening given by Linda Short of the Covenant church in Warren.

Thursday afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Sustad visited with Alice Tangquist in Warren.

Transportation needs, need to be answered

by David Hill
Associate Editor

Thief River Falls city council recently approved a budget request of over $8,000 from Tri-Valley Heartland Express, which provides bus service in the community. Tri-Valley isn't the only bus service to the community of Thief River Falls. In fact, if churches, taxis and large organizations such as the Occupational Development Center are taken into account, there are at least 11. Actually, 51 surveys were mailed in a survey this summer to known service providers and potential service providers in Pennington county.

How many people know of these services or know that Tri-Valley Heartland Express provides the service or has a regular route? How many people know that this service is available to anyone who wants to use it? According to another survey of residents, not very many.

What's disturbing is not just how much money is being spent on these services but how many people need the service, but don't know it's available or need the service but can't take advantage of it because they don't know provider's route or routine.

It seems it is a lot easier to get to a casino by bus than it is to catch a bus to the hospital, downtown, school or to another community.

The survey indicated that 96.4 per cent of respondents use their own vehicle for transportation, but 25 per cent indicated that their household would use public transportation services. The survey also indicated that 15.6 per cent of the respondents who indicated they use public transportation services provided by a volunteer driver program, public transportation or carpool program, only 11.7 per cent of these people pay for services. Of those using transportation service, the primary purpose is for medical and dental needs, second is shopping, then personal business, work, and social and recreational purposes. In response to the question: "are local bus stops or pick up points easily identified and close enough to use?", only 11.9 per cent said yes, while 26 per cent said no, 62 per cent didn't respond.

This information just didn't pop up on its own. It was collected by a task force established in May 1993 to address transit needs. This task force was a joint city of Thief River Falls/county committee which includes service providers. The committee has met a few times since then and made an effort to collect some information, but they need to be encouraged to continue to meet and do something with the information they have collected. Cooperation of service providers needs to be encouraged and routes made public so more people who need the service can take advantage of the service.

Travel Safely This Holiday Season

by Colonel Mike Chabries
Chief, Minnesota State Patrol

As everyone's thoughts turn to the holiday season, keeping this time of year safe and happy is a primary concern for you and the members of your family. With the amount of travel and celebrating often involved, extra care should be taken when getting to and from your celebrations.

Unfortunately, last year over Christmas and New Year's, eight people were killed on Minnesota's roads and nearly 800 were injured. These shocking figures are even more tragic when you realize almost 40 per cent of the deaths involved alcohol and could have been prevented. It's also likely that many of these injuries and deaths would not have occurred if people had been wearing their seat belts.

In 1993, at least 67 per cent of all those who died in alcohol-related crashes had been drinking. In addition more than one-fourth (26 per cent) of all people killed or injured in motor vehicles in 1993 were not wearing seat belts at the time of the crash. An extremely sad fact is that this number increases even more for young children ages 1 to 3. Studies indicate that more than 44 per cent of children involved in crashes were not in child safety seats.

Statistics like these are frightening at any time. But at this time of year, when celebrating with family and friends is important and part of so many people's lives, the numbers are particularly disturbing.

As you reflect on your wishes and hopes for your loved ones during these holidays, give a gift that will last forever - safe travel. Make certain that all young children are properly fastened in their car seats. Buckle every passenger into their seat belt and buckle yourself every time you drive.

If your holidays involve drinking, please make sure you don't drive and don't let friends or family members get behind the wheel if they've been drinking.

Holidays ought to be a time of celebration remembered with happiness. So please, buckle up and don't drink and drive.

From The Times Files of Fifty Years Ago

Elks Assists Nurse Recruiting Drive

"Cooperating with the National Elks War Commission's concentrated campaign to help relieve the alarming national shortage of nurses in the country's 94 veterans' hospitals, Ole Engelstad, exalted ruler of Thief River Falls Elks lodge, has announced the appointment of a committee to study the requirements to be met by applicant nurses, and to canvass the women of this community during the next few weeks to impress upon those among them who are registered nurses, the urgent work of mercy which they can perform at the bedsides of the men who have returned wounded from the battle-areas."

School Patrol Formed Around Auditorium

"As the result of cooperation between local school authorities and the police department, a school patrol has been established to direct traffic on the streets surrounding the auditorium block while pupils are on their way to school in the morning, during the noon hour and after school is dismissed. Police Chief Leonard Hanson stated that the patrol has authority over not only students but over vehicular traffic as well. He also issued a warning against jay-walking."

City Electricity Users Get Extra $6,600 Rebate

"Patrons of the Thief River Falls municipal power plant who pay their November bills by December 10 will receive an extra forty percent discount as a Christmas present in addition to the usual ten percent discount for prompt payment. City Clerk P. O. Pederson said the extra 40 percent rebate would aggregate approximately $6,600."

Library Will Collect Books For Merchant Marine

"The American Merchant Marine Library association is conducting a campaign for books for the rapidly expanding merchant marine, and has designated Mrs. Hazel Halgrim, Carnegie librarian, as collecting agent. Single books or small collections of suitable works may be left at the library. The goal of the campaign is to place a library aboard every Liberty ship, troop transport and all vessels sailing under the American flag."

Jr. Chamber To Plan Wild Game Dinner

"Detailed plans for the program next Wednesday evening at the annual wild game dinner of the Junior Chamber of Commerce in the Palm Garden cafe will be worked out at the regular meeting this evening at 6:30 in the Palm Garden, it was announced today by Archie W. Hoserud, president."

—Electricity users should smile when they pay their November bills and get that fifty per cent Christmas discount.

—Hens, say a commentator, would display more sense if they laid the most eggs when prices were high.

—Shopping note: War bonds make nice Christmas gifts.

—Reports of frequent accidents in the corn belt indicate that corn pickers may be classed as deadly weapons.

—The men who carry the mail get deserved recognition on the 1944 Christmas seal.

—Baudette's Billy Noonan noticed during the recent deer season that fewer hunters than usual spoke with a Bourbon accent.

—Governor Ed Thye carried all but nine counties in the state in the November 7 election. That makes it fairly definite.

—There must be some prosperous folks in Kittson county. One man up there donated $2,000 to the recent War Service Fund drive.

—Here's one for the record: They were fishing in the river pool in Thief River Falls on Thanksgiving Day.

—Minnesota is looking up in the air, judging by the manner in which the aviation amendment to the state constitution was approved in the November election.

—Rumor has it that something has happened to Herr Adolf, but there seems to be a half-dozen robot Hitlers ready to take his place.

—Prime Minister Churchill on Thanksgiving Day acclaimed the U.S.A. as the world's greatest military power. To which opinion we doubt that Premier Stalin will say, "Amen."

—Thought for today: Someone has said that a letter from home is a five-minute furlough for the serviceman overseas.

Friday forenoon visitors and dinner guests at the Arnold and Vernice Larson home were Kenny and Sybil Cwikla and Don Larson.

Our little Town of Newfolden woke up on Friday morning the 18th to a darkness. I looked through the window and no lights could be seen so Elaine lit our old fashioned kitchen kerosene lamps for light. It brought back many memories of when we were children that was the only light we had to work by and do our school work, etc. So many of these modern conveniences we have and we take for granted till we don't have them we must be more Thankful of what we have.

Saturday evening supper guests at the Carvel Gillunds were Stanley Larson, Steve Larson, Scott Larson and Sandra Larson and Sam.

On Tuesday forenoon Clara Hanson visited with Olga Thompson and enjoyed coffee and cookies with her.

Monday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Bring visited with Alice Ellingson.

Tuesday, Henry Nelson visited and brought Hanna Moen birthday wishes.

Sunday, Roy and Laura Roppe visited with Lester and Carolyn Larson.

Aaron and Blanche Waterworth visited at the Gerald Mortenson home on Sunday.

Tuesday evening Lillie Olson received a telephone call from her grandson, Craig Olson who is stationed at South Carolina wishing her a Happy Thanksgiving Day.

Saturday visitors and dinner guests at the Arnold Larson home were Sue Dondelinger, Karl Jesme and Collin, Gail Larson and Sarah, and Carol Ness, the girls also helped with some baking and had a real nice time visiting.

Last Thursday evening the 17th, Curt Thompson visited with Percy Stokke while Elaine and Vernace went to the Ladies Aid at the church.

Saturday evening visitor and luncheon guest of Arnold and Vernice Larson was LaVoi Thun.

Sunday, Carvel and Ruby Gillund attended the meeting at the Rehab in Grand Forks for Laryngotomy.

Wednesday afternoon, Vernice Larson visited with Olga Thompson and enjoyed coffee and goodies with her.

Monday evening, Bert and Adeline Roppe visited and brought Laura Roppe birthday wishes.

Aaron and Blanche Waterworth spent from Wednesday until Saturday visiting at the Gene Waterworth home in Fargo.

Sunday, Arnold and Vernice Larson and Kenny and Sybil Cwikla were among many to attend the benefit for Dean Anderson and enjoy a very good meal.

Tuesday evening the 22nd, Curt and Elaine Thompson were reminded of their Wedding Anniversary when Olga Thompson, Emma Kammen, Floyd and Adeline Nelson came over with wishes and gifts. We had cake and ice cream and enjoyed the evening.

Sunday afternoon, Arnold and Vernice Larson visited and enjoyed lunch at the Tom and Sue Dondelinger home.

Richard Larson visited with Carvel and Ruby Gillund on Tuesday.

Tuesday, Roy and Laura Roppe went to Warren then Frank and Harriet Kujava and Roy and Laura went to Grand Forks and did some shopping.

Sunday evening those that visited and brought Don Larson birthday wishes were Arnold and Vernice Larson and Kenny and Sybil Cwikla.

Shirley Wagner and Olga Thompson visited with Emma Kammen on Thursday afternoon and enjoyed coffee and cake with her.

A week ago Sunday, Aaron and Blanche Waterworth went with Elmer Holmstrom to Red Lake Falls to visit with Anna Holmstrom.

Tuesday evening, Carvel and Ruby Gillund visited and had lunch with Arnold and Vernice Larson.

Greg Carlson visited on Thursday with his grandmother, Olga Thompson and enjoyed coffee and cookies with her.

Monday visitors at the Carvel Gillund home were Mrs. Gerald Gillund, Jay Gillund and Natashia.

Sunday evening, Shirley Lalrooth was a brief visitor at the Arnold Larson home.

Men 25-44 most likely to smoke, report indicates

According to the US Department of Health and Human Services National Health Interview survey in 1988, the largest percentage of smokers is among men 25 to 44 years of age. For that age group, the trend is the same for women where the percentage is 29.7 per cent.

The statistics also show that the highest percentage of smokers by race is among black males where the percentage of smokers is 32.9 per cent.

When that statistics are broken down by education, 39.9 per cent of smokers, the largest group, are individuals with less that a high school diploma. According to those statistics, the more education a person has the less likely they are to be a smoker.

Income appears to be less of a factor as the percentages of those who smoke appear to be found in all income categories and at about the same percentage, except for individuals who earn more than $40,000, according to a 1986 study from the Centers for Disease Control, office on smoking and health.

The American Cancer Society estimates there will be 172,000 new cases of lung cancer and 153,000 lung cancer deaths in 1994. Cigarette smoking is responsible for 90 per cent of lung cancer cases among men and 79 per cent among women - about 87 per cent overall.

The five-year relative survival rate for lung cancer is only 13 per cent, regardless of stage at diagnosis. The rate is 46 per cent for cases detected when the disease is still localized, but only 18 per cent of lung cancers are discovered early. Rates have improved only slightly over a recent 10-year period. The five year relative survival rate for all cancers is about 51 per cent.

Smoking has been implicated in cancers of the mouth, pharynx, larynx, esophagus, pancreas, cervix, kidney, bladder and lung. Smoking accounts for about 30 per cent of all cancer deaths.

Since 1987, more women have died of lung cancer than breast cancer. For more than 40 years, breast cancer was the major cause of cancer death in women. In 1950, women accounted for fewer than 20 per cent of lung cancer deaths. Now, the number has increased to 35 per cent. Even though more men smoke than women, fewer women are quitting smoking. Between 1976 and 1988, the percentage of adult male smokers dropped by 27 per cent, while the percentage of female smokers decreased by only 18 per cent. By the mid 1990s, female smokers are expected to out number male smokers for the first time. If the current trend continues to the year 2000, 23 per cent of women will smoke compared with only 20 per cent of men.

According to the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS), 75 per cent of all teenage smokers come from homes where parents smoke.

Teenagers who plan to complete four years of college have smoking rates less than half of teenagers without similar plans. Smoking can cause numerous short-term negative effects, even to the youngest smoker. HHS points out that smoking almost immediately reduces lung function and causes respiratory difficulties. Its most harmful consequence is the likelihood of lifelong addiction. The earlier a person starts smoking, the more difficult it is to quit later in life.

MN Introduces new instant lottery game

Minnesota State Lottery has introduced a new instant lottery game called Double Take. It offers a chance for players to double their prizes, from $1 to $500, on each ticket.

For a chance to win, players scratch off the play area to reveal six dollar amounts. If three like amounts match, the player wins that amount. Or, if two like amount and a bar appear, the player wins double that amount.

Prizes include $1,000, $500, $200, $100, $50, $40, $20, $10, $8, $5, $4, $2, and $1. Overall odds are 1:4.49 with a 64.5 per cent prize payout.

Motorists asked to share road with snowplows

Winter in Minnesota is back! Now that the snow is falling once again, the Minnesota Department of Transportation reminds motorists that sharing the road means sharing the responsibility for maintaining safety.

Last winter there were 112 accidents with Minnesota department of transportation snow plows throughout the state. There was a total of seven fatalities and 70 personal injuries that resulted from those crashes. Forty-seven of the total crashes involved rear end collisions with a plow. As Rodney Pletan, state maintenance engineer, reflects, "These statistics should provide an early reminder of just how dangerous winter driving in Minnesota can be."

Minnesota department of transportation will impress upon the motoring public the keys to sharing the responsibility for keeping everyone safe this season. Whenever it snows, those keys to safe travel lie in the department's three main messages:

- Plows travel slower than other vehicles. Reduce your speed.
- Never drive into a snow cloud.
- Be certain which lane a plow and its blade are in before trying to pass.

The speed differential between snowplows and other vehicles can be much greater than most drivers expect. For example, if a plow is moving 15 miles per hour and a vehicle behind the plow is moving 45 miles per hour, the vehicle approaching the snowplow will close the distance to the plow at a rate of 44 feet per second. Motorists must reduce their speed whenever it snows.

Snow clouds create another obstacle in winter driving. Large vehicles, such as semi-trucks and snowplows, tend to produce dense clouds of blowing snow that make it difficult for other drivers to see ahead. Whenever snow clouds are encountered, drivers should stay back and never drive into the cloud.

Many people do not realize that snowplow trucks can have a plow blade on either the right or left side of the vehicle. On multi-lane roadways, the plow itself can also be in either the right or left lane. Because of this, it is important for travelers to be sure which lane a plow and its blade are in before attempting to pass.

Minnesota department of transportation snowplow operators have been gearing up for this winter since early October. On October 5, the department hosted its 1994 Snowfighter Roadeo in the Twin Cities area. Each year drivers challenge their skills at snowplowing while competing in the Roadeo. The Roadeo also provides an opportunity for employees to explore the latest in technological advancements in snow and ice control.

Snowplow drivers are highly skilled and motivated, but the cooperation of motorists is necessary to operate safely this winter. Transportation Commissioner James Denn reminds citizens, "Minnesota department of transportation continues to work on new and better methods for removing snow and preventing ice on our roads. But we also need your help in keeping the roads safe. Please watch for plows and their flashing lights, and share the road. . . share the responsibility."

Myths dispelled about SSI benefits paid for children

Myths and Facts About SSI Benefits for Children

Many people have misconceptions about the Supplemental Security Income (SSI) program and the families and children who receive it. The SSI program provides cash benefits and eligibility for medical assistance to disabled persons. Children who have physical and/or emotional, psychological or behavior problems may qualify for SSI if their families have low incomes.

Myth #1: Parents coach their children to lie and misbehave in order to fake disability to receive SSI benefits.

Fact: Children with minor problems cannot qualify for SSI. It is very difficult to prove that a child is entitled to SSI based on emotional or behavioral problems. Misbehavior in school is not sufficient proof.

First, a medical professional must diagnose the child as having a specific underlying disorder. Second, the child's functioning is reviewed. The worker examines the child's activities in school as well as in the home, day care, church, with friends, with family and doctors. Finally, the Social Security Administration requires testing of various kinds by professionals like psychologists who are trained to detect "faked" symptoms.

Myth #2: Parents get a "windfall" from SSI benefits.

Fact: SSI is a benefit that is only available to individuals with low incomes. The maximum benefit is $446 per month, and this amount is reduced if there is any other income. If the family receives Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC), the child receiving SSI no longer receives AFDC.

Sometimes the families receive a one time amount that is larger than $446. This is because eligible persons have to wait for their first SSI check. The delay is often up to a year. The individual is entitled to the monthly amount that accumulates between the time of application and receipt of the first check, then, just pays back benefits.

Sometimes people observe SSI parents with little income suddenly spending large amounts of money in a short period of time. This can happen because federal law requires parents to spend these back benefits within six months for the child's benefit. If any parent abuses their duty to spend the money for the benefit of the child, the Social Security Administration can and will remove the parents as the "representative payee" for the child and find another responsible person.

Myth #3: Applying for SSI benefits harms children because it labels them as disabled.

Fact: Although teachers and others understandably wish to avoid giving children labels that might be negative, identifying a child's disability for SSI purposes can help a child. Depending on the amount of earned and unearned income and size of the family, the family could receive up to an additional $446 in monthly income.

More important to many low income families is the Medical Assistance which will pay for needed counseling, medication, personal care attendants, and other special medical care that a child with disabilities may need. Identifying children with disabilities for SSI purposes gives them the opportunity to receive needed income and medical care.

ASK YOUR LOCKSMITH Questions And Answers

Q What features should I look for when choosing a good deadbolt for my home?

A There are many good quality locks on the market and your professional locksmith is your best source for advice on the right one for you. A good deadbolt lock should be a tubular design with at least a one inch throw locking bolt. It should also have a tapered outside collar to resist wrenching, a high security strike plate to reinforce the door frame and at least two 1/4 inch hardened steel bolts to securely fasten the lock to the door. Proper installation should be done by your professional locksmith so that you will get the greatest measure of protection from any locking device.

Privacy laws are changed in 1994

"Right to privacy is a hot topic these days as more Americans become concerned about what type of information is private and what is public," states Sen. LeRoy Stumpf of Thief River Falls.

Sen. Stumpf says that the state legislature jumped into this debate and amended state privacy laws in the 1994 session.

Lawmakers increased access to some types of information while restricting access to others, he said.

"If you ever call 911, rent video tapes or are in a traffic accident, the changes could apply to you," the senator noted. "School and government officials could also be affected."

On 911 services, a caller's permission will not be required before his or her recorded call could be broadcast on radio or television. A call transcript could still be made public, but only if the caller's identity is not revealed. Emergency services personnel will still have access to recorded calls for investigations or training.

"Video rentals will also be affected by the changes," Sen. Stumpf added. "The legislature based this part of the law on a federals statute requiring privacy to customers. By having the state supplement the federal law, violations could now be prosecuted locally.

"Video stores must get written permission before releasing details about a customes, including information about what he or she has rented. The idea behind this amendment is that customers espect some privacy in their leisure pursuits."

School safety concerns forced another change that will mean gaeater access to juvenile crime records. Law enforcement officials are now allowed to let education authorities know about young offenders enrolled in school.

In the past, police and sheriffs have been prevented from releasing this type of information. Due to growing worries about school violence, administrators told the legislature they want to know if any of their students have committed violent crimes.

Legal authorities will also be able to release more information about traffic accidents. They will be allowed to make public the blood-alcohol level of the drivers involved.

"This section was enacted with the hope that when the blood-alcohol content of drivers involved in accidents is reported in newspapers, it would raise readers' awareness of the risk of drinking and driving," Sen. Stumpf said.

Government meetings also come under the new law. Anyone who intentionally violates the state's open meeting law will face a higher penalty. The fine climbs from $100 to $300. Someone who pursues an intentional violator could also get legal fees up to $13,000.

"Balancing public access with individual rights is a tough issue that has been debated for a long time," Sen. Stumpf said. "As technology becomes a bigges part of our lives, most esperts predict that the information and privacy debate will get even more important in the future."

No cheerleaders in RLF right now

Red Lake Falls — The Red Lake Falls School Board approved a motion not to sanction the cheerleading program at the present time. Principal Mike Verdun said, "The concensus (of the extra-curricular committee) is we're not against cheerleading but the experiment didn't go well. There were problems with discipline, even though the cheering was good. . . no coaches in any sport wanted to continue it." In response to a board member's statement that she got a phone call from an irate parent stating if someone is not interested in sports or band, there is nothing to participate in, Verdun responded, "I think we should consider chorus, knowledge bowl or a one-act play first. But there are dollar signs." The committee determined that fall and winter sports cheering teams cost the school approximately $5,531.

19th community Christmas Eve dinner planned

Preparations are underway for the 19th annual Christmas Eve community dinner to be served at 5 p.m. Saturday, December 24, at the Evergreen Eating Emporium in Thief River Falls.

The event is sponsored by the Thief River Falls community with reservations handled by the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce but preparation, organization, arrangements, serving and clean-up handled by many local volunteers.

Christmas Eve meal, socializing and entertainment is intended for all those who will otherwise be alone on Christmas Eve, including shut-ins, transients, elderly, couples or individuals who for one reason or another have no place to go to celebrate Christmas Eve. Santa Claus will make a visit with special gifts for all attending.

The evening's meal and entertainment are provided free of charge, but it is appreciated if those planning to attend will make reservations with the chamber of commerce office at 681-3720. Advance reservations will assist volunteers in making adequate meal and other preparations.

Transportation to and from the Evergreen Eating Emporium will be provided to those who need it for whatever reason. Meals will also be delivered to those who are unable to attend and who request such delivery by calling the number listed above.

Calls for reservations at the Evergreen or for delivered meals should be received by the chamber of commerce by Friday, December 23.

Donations of time and/or money are again needed to support the annual event. Cash donations will be used toward the purchase of food, paper products and small gifts. Some of these items may also be donated by local business people or other community residents. Any funds remaining after paying costs of the dinner will be donated to the Thief River Falls Area Food Shelf.

Checks should be made payable to the City of Thief River Falls and mailed to City of Thief River Falls, Christmas Eve Community Dinner, c/o Roges DeLap, P.O. Box 528, Thief River Falls, MN 56701.

In addition to the money needed to purchase food and other items, a large number of volunteers will be needed to make the event a success. They will provide transportation, work on meal and dining area preparation, delivery of meals, serving, clean-up and other places where needed. Those wishing to volunteer should call the chamber of commerce office and indicate the time that they will be available to help.

Cast members of the Northland Community College variety show "Northern Reflections of Christmas" have been working hard in preparation for their performances December 15, 16 and 17 at the college. The event includes a social hour beginning at 6 p.m. each evening, followed by a complete turkey dinner at 7 p.m. and a variety show. The show is a unique blend of Christmas favorites including songs, dances, readings, memories, traditions and even a few special guest appearances. Cast members include: (front row, from left) Rebekah Solem, Teddy Perfecto, Angel Perfecto; (second row) Nicholas Haven, Mandi Halvorson, Marilyn Wigness, and Carlana Jadrny; (third row) Valerie Solem, Janet Aarness, Diane Haven, Lucy Meyers, Amber Vaughn, and Deb Jacobson; (fourth row) Mike Trudeau, Jerry Wigness, and Kathy Olson.

MS self-help group plans info program

Pennington County Multiple Sclerosis self-help group will sponsor an educational program Saturday, December 17, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Heritage Community Center in Thief River Falls.

The program will deal with problems that arise with most disabilities and is intended for the general public, not just those with disabilities.

At 10 a.m. Eva Hanson of the Options office in Thief River Falls will open the program, followed by a physical therapist at 10:30 a.m. At 11 a.m. Vicki Heckman of the mental health division of Northwest Medical Center will be the speaker. From 1 to 2 p.m. tax information will be presented by a representative of Brady Martz & Associates in Thief River Falls.

A soup and sandwich lunch will be served at 12 noon with a suggested donation of $1.50 per person. For more information on the program and to reserve seating for the dinner call Bob Anderson at 681-2641 in Thief Rives Falls, Jedi Stenvik at 294-6657 or Julie Long at 1-800-344-4867.

Vernon Johnson, a board member of the Red Lake Watershed District board of directors was recently elected president of the Minnesota Association of Watershed Districts. Nine individuals serve on the board, which is supported by 42 watershed districts. Johnson lives in Clearbrook and serves on the Red Lake Watershed District board as a representative of Clearwater county.

String concert Monday at Lincoln auditorium

More than 100 orchestra students in School District 564 will be presented in a holiday concert Monday, December 12, at 7 p.m. in the Lincoln high school auditorium. The concert will feature students from fourth through 12th grade and is free and open to the public.

Beginning orchestra students will be performing five selections that they have learned since starting practice six weeks ago. "O Come Little Children" and "Skip To My Lou" will be two of the selections that the fifth grade orchestra will be playing, according to Brian Cole, orchestra director for the school district.

Franklin middle school orchestra students will be performing selections from a variety of musical time periods. Composer Tschaikovsky's "Nutcracker" will be featured, along with the contemporary theme from "Charlie Brown."

For the first time in several years, the Lincoln high school chamber orchestra will be accompanied by members of the Lincoln high school wind ensemble under the direction of Bruce Felt. The combined orchestra will perform the first movement of Beethoven's "First Symphony" and the "Waltz of the Flowers" from the "Nutcracker."

Members of the middle school and high school orchestras include the following:

Franklin Middle School
Sixth Grade Orchestra

Violin I—Karen Christensen, Kim Schneider, Joanie Johnson, Beth Brown and Benji Sayler;

Sentences issued to two more cited for embezzlement

United States Attorney's office announced Thursday that Danny and Theresa Johnsurd of Goodridge had been sentenced in a United States District Court on charges related to the embezzlement of money from a community action program for indigent people in northwestern Minnesota.

According to the news release, "Danny Allen Johnsrud, 36, and his wife, Theresa Johnsrud, 34, were each sentenced to three months home detention and five years probation. Both were sentenced by Judge Robert O. Rennes in St. Paul. They were ordered to pay restitution in the amount of $30,908."

The news release continues, "The Johnsruds and four co-defendants including the director of the weatherization program, Rodney L. Bjerklie, Richard Orbin Tharaldson, 58, Darwin Lee Eidelbes, 44, Carol Jean Eidelbes, 41, all of Goodridge, were indicted by a federal grand jury in June 1994. All six pled guilty in September.

"Bjerklie was sentenced November 30 to 15 months in prison and three years supervised release and was ordered to pay $111,000 in restitution. Carol and Darwin Eidelbes were both sentenced November 18 to four months in prison and were both ordered to pay $10,000 in restitution. Tharaldson was sentenced December 2 to three years supervised release and was ordered to perform 300 hours of community service and pay $5,549 in restitution.

"The sentences relate to the embezzlement of money from the weatherization program administered by the Inter-County Community Council (ICCC).

"The ICCC is located in Oklee, MN, and serves Pennington, Red Lake, Clearwater and East Polk counties in northwestern Minnesota. The ICCC runs a weatherization program, which winterized homes for eligible poor people. The program receives funding from the U.S. Department of Energy and the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services.

"The indictment charged an elaborate scheme that ran from 1989 through 1992 and involved fraudulent billings, fictitious companies, embezzlement of program funds and kickbacks.

"The case is the result of an investigation by U.S. Department of Energy, Office of the Inspector General and the Minnesota Department of Jobs and Training."

Landowner's Rights Ass'n. prepares policy statement

At its meeting in Thief River Falls Wednesday, the board of directors of the Minnesota Landowner's Rights Association adopted a policy statement and made preliminary arrangements for representation at the 1995 Minnesota legislative session.

The five-member board of the state association met at the American Legion club rooms Wednesday afternoon along with a number of other interested individuals from the local area and as far away as Moorhead.

Board members include Loren Hentges, Blaine, chairman; Mildred Klamar, Gatzke, secretary-treasurer; Joe Preiner, Forest Lake; Dave Zavoral, Grygla; and Leonard Furuseth, Thief River Falls, directors.

The board and others meeting with it discussed the coming session of the Minnesota legislature and the importance of having the association and its positions represented. A resolution authorizing Dave Zavoral to serve in that capacity was approved. He will keep the organization informed of pending legislation and contact legislators regarding the organization's positions and objectives.

A proposal by a lobbyist to serve as the organization's representative at the session and throughout the year was made to the board and remains under consideration. It was felt by the board of the new but growing organization that it was too early to commit to professional representation at this time.

Membership Grows To 700

Membership in the state organization is presently at more than 700 and is growing every day, Mrs. Klamar informed the board Wednesday. Annual membership costs $20 and membership application blanks are available from Mrs. Klamar at Route 2, Box 75, Gatzke, MN 56724.

The board also authorized the ordering of 1,000 copies of "The Pocket Guide To Your Private Property Rights" from an organization called the Defenders of Property Rights with offices in Washington, DC. The guides will be distributed to the Minnesota association's membership and used as a membership recruitment item.

A policy statement prepared by board member Preiner for consideration was reviewed and modified by those in attendance at the meeting Wednesday. The statement notes that it is the purpose of the Minnesota Landowner's Rights Association to "....aid others to

Red Lake Falls — The Red Lake Falls School Board approved a motion not to sanction the cheerleading program at the present time. Principal Mike Verdun said, "The concensus (of the extra-curricular committee) is we're not against cheerleading but the experiment didn't go well. There were problems with discipline, even though the cheering was good ... no coaches in any sport wanted to continue it." In response to a board member's statement that she got a phone call from an irate parent stating if someone is not interested in sports or band, there is nothing to participate in, Verdun responded, "I think we should consider chorus, knowledge bowl or a one-act play first. But there are dollar signs." The committee determined that fall and winter sports cheering teams cost the school approximately $5,531.

19th community Christmas Eve dinner planned

Preparations are underway for the 19th annual Christmas Eve community dinner to be served at 5 p.m. Saturday, December 24, at the Evergreen Eating Emporium in Thief River Falls.

The event is sponsored by the Thief River Falls community with reservations handled by the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce but preparation, organization, arrangements, serving and clean-up handled by many local volunteers.

Christmas Eve meal, socializing and entertainment is intended for all those who will otherwise be alone on Christmas Eve, including shut-ins, transients, elderly, couples or individuals who for one reason or another have no place to go to celebrate Christmas Eve. Santa Claus will make a visit with special gifts for all attending.

The evening's meal and entertainment are provided free of charge, but it is appreciated if those planning to attend will make reservations with the chamber of commerce office at 681-3720. Advance reservations will assist volunteers in making adequate meal and other preparations.

Transportation to and from the Evergreen Eating Emporium will be provided to those who need it for whatever reason. Meals will also be delivered to those who are unable to attend and who request such delivery by calling the number listed above.

Calls for reservations at the Evergreen or for delivered meals should be received by the chamber of commerce by Friday, December 23.

Donations of time and/or money are again needed to support the annual event. Cash donations will be used toward the purchase of food, paper products and small gifts. Some of these items may also be donated by local business people or other community residents. Any funds remaining after paying costs of the dinner will be donated to the Thief River Falls Area Food Shelf.

Checks should be made payable to the City of Thief River Falls and mailed to City of Thief River Falls, Christmas Eve Community Dinner, c/o Roger DeLap, P.O. Box 528, Thief River Falls, MN 56701.

In addition to the money needed to purchase food and other items, a large number of volunteers will be needed to make the event a success. They will provide transportation, work on meal and dining area preparation, delivery of meals, serving, clean-up and other places where needed. Those wishing to volunteer should call the chamber of commerce office and indicate the time that they will be available to help.

Cast members of the Northland Community College variety show "Northern Reflections of Christmas" have been working hard in preparation for their performances December 15, 16 and 17 at the college. The event includes a social hour beginning at 6 p.m. each evening, followed by a complete turkey dinner at 7 p.m. and a variety show. The show is a unique blend of Christmas favorites including songs, dances, readings, memories, traditions and even a few special guest appearances. Cast members include: (front row, from left) Rebekah Solem, Teddy Perfecto, Angel Perfecto; (second row) Nicholas Haven, Mandi Halvorson, Marilyn Wigness, and Carlene Jadrny; (third row) Valerie Solem, Janet Aarness, Diane Haven, Lucy Mayers, Amber Vaughn, and Deb Jacobson; (fourth row) Mike Trudeau, Jerry Wigness, and Kathy Olson.

MS self-help group plans info program

Pennington County Multiple Sclerosis self-help group will sponsor an educational program Saturday, December 17, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Heritage Community Center in Thief River Falls.

The program will deal with problems that arise with most disabilities and is intended for the general public, not just those with disabilities.

At 10 a.m. Eva Hanson of the Options office in Thief River Falls will open the program, followed by a physical therapist at 10:30 a.m. At 11 a.m. Vicki Heckman of the mental health division of Northwest Medical Center will be the speaker. From 1 to 2 p.m. tax information will be presented by a representative of Brady Martz & Associates in Thief River Falls.

A soup and sandwich lunch will be served at 12 noon with a suggested donation of $1.50 per person. For more information on the program and to reserve seating for the dinner call Bob Anderson at 681-2641 in Thief River Falls, Jodi Stenvik at 294-6657 or Julie Long at 1-800-344-4867.

Vernon Johnson, a board member of the Red Lake Watershed District board of directors was recently elected president of the Minnesota Association of Watershed Districts. Nine individuals serve on the board, which is supported by 42 watershed districts. Johnson lives in Clearbrook and serves on the Red Lake Watershed District board as a representative of Clearwater county.

String concert Monday at Lincoln auditorium

More than 100 orchestra students in School District 564 will be presented in a holiday concert Monday, December 12, at 7 p.m. in the Lincoln high school auditorium. The concert will feature students from fourth through 12th grade and is free and open to the public.

Beginning orchestra students will be performing five selections that they have learned since starting practice six weeks ago. "O Come Little Children" and "Skip To My Lou" will be two of the selections that the fifth grade orchestra will be playing, according to Brian Cole, orchestra director for the school district.

Franklin middle school orchestra students will be performing selections from a variety of musical time periods. Composer Tschaikovsky's "Nutcracker" will be featured, along with the contemporary theme from "Charlie Brown."

For the first time in several years, the Lincoln high school chamber orchestra will be accompanied by members of the Lincoln high school wind ensemble under the direction of Bruce Felt. The combined orchestra will perform the first movement of Beethoven's "First Symphony" and the "Waltz of the Flowers" from the "Nutcracker."

Members of the middle school and high school orchestras include the following:

Franklin Middle School Sixth Grade Orchestra

Violin I—Karen Christensen, Kim Schneider, Joanie Johnson, Beth Brown and Benji Sayler;

Violin II—Aaron Northup, Brandi Fort, Melissa Comstock, Amie Tuthill and Danny Sayler;

Cello—Tana Bachand and Jessica Heieren;

Viola—Carissa Hendrickson and Melissa Clark.

Franklin Middle School Seventh and Eighth Grade Orchestra

Violin I—Gretchen Hanson, Tom Bachand, Hannah Kelly and Rick Boutain;

Violin II—Becky Wegner, Shaun Fort, Brandon Lee, Rory Hoven and Jessica Molstad;

Landowner's Rights Ass'n. prepares policy statement

At its meeting in Thief River Falls Wednesday, the board of directors of the Minnesota Landowner's Rights Association adopted a policy statement and made preliminary arrangements for representation at the 1995 Minnesota legislative session.

The five-member board of the state association met at the American Legion club rooms Wednesday afternoon along with a number of other interested individuals from the local area and as far away as Moorhead.

Board members include Loren Hentges, Blaine, chairman; Mildred Klamar, Gatzke, secretary-treasurer; Joe Preiner, Forest Lake; Dave Zavoral, Grygla; and Leonard Furuseth, Thief River Falls, directors.

The board and others meeting with it discussed the coming session of the Minnesota legislature and the importance of having the association and its positions represented. A resolution authorizing Dave Zavoral to serve in that capacity was approved. He will keep the organization informed of pending legislation and contact legislators regarding the organization's positions and objectives.

A proposal by a lobbyist to serve as the organization's representative at the session and throughout the year was made to the board and remains under consideration. It was felt by the board of the new but growing organization that it was too early to commit to professional representation at this time.

Membership Grows To 700

Membership in the state organization is presently at more than 700 and is growing every day, Mrs. Klamar informed the board Wednesday. Annual membership costs $20 and membership application blanks are available from Mrs. Klamar at Route 2, Box 75, Gatzke, MN 56724.

The board also authorized the ordering of 1,000 copies of "The Pocket Guide To Your Private Property Rights" from an organization called the Defenders of Property Rights with offices in Washington, DC. The guides will be distributed to the Minnesota association's membership and used as a membership recruitment item.

A policy statement prepared by board member Preiner for consideration was reviewed and modified by those in attendance at the meeting Wednesday. The statement notes that it is the purpose of the Minnesota Landowner's Rights Association to "... and others to

Sentences issued to two more cited for embezzlement

United States Attorney's office announced Thursday that Danny and Theresa Johnsrud of Goodridge had been sentenced in a United States District Court on charges related to the embezzlement of money from a community action program for indigent people in northwestern Minnesota.

According to the news release, "Danny Allen Johnsrud, 36, and his wife, Theresa Johnsrud, 34, were each sentenced to three months home detention and five years probation. Both were sentenced by Judge Robert G. Renner in St. Paul. They were ordered to pay restitution in the amount of $30,908."

The news release continues, "The Johnsruds and four co-defendants including the director of the weatherization program, Rodney L. Bjerklie, Richard Orbin Tharaldson, 58, Darwin Lee Eidelbes, 44, Carol Jean Eidelbes, 41, all of Goodridge, were indicted by a federal grand jury in June 1994. All six pled guilty in September.

"Bjerklie was sentenced November 30 to 15 months in prison and three years supervised release and was ordered to pay $111,000 in restitution. Carol and Darwin Eidelbes were both sentenced November 18 to four months in prison and were both ordered to pay $10,000 in restitution. Tharaldson was sentenced December 2 to three years supervised release and was ordered to perform 300 hours of community service and pay $5,549 in restitution.

"The sentences relate to the embezzlement of money from the weatherization program administered by the Inter-County Community Council (ICCC).

"The ICCC is located in Oklee, MN, and serves Pennington, Red Lake, Clearwater and East Polk counties in northwestern Minnesota. The ICCC runs a weatherization program, which winterized homes for eligible poor people. The program receives funding from the U.S. Department of Energy and the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services.

"The indictment charged an elaborate scheme that ran from 1989 through 1992 and involved fraudulent billings, fictitious companies, embezzlement of program funds and kickbacks.

"The case is the result of an investigation by U.S. Department of Energy, Office of the Inspector General and the Minnesota Department of Jobs and Training."

Board of directors of the Minnesota Landowner's Rights Association met in Thief River Falls Wednesday afternoon along with local area concerned citizens. Left to right are Leonard Furuseth, Thief River Falls; Mildred Klamar, Gatzke, secretary-treasurer; Loren Hentges, Blaine, chairman; Joe Preiner, Forest Lake; and Dave Zavoral, Grygla.

Did the Grinch steal Christmas in Wadena?

Wadena — A Santa in Wadena quit after two days on the job because he felt that children who were not having their pictures taken with him were being discriminated against. Herb Handt, otherwise known as Santa, said he was told not to ask children who did not have pictures taken with him what they wanted for Christmas. He said he was told to give them candy and say something like "Merry Christmas, come back when we have more time." Several children were apparently upset when Santa did not ask what they wanted for Christmas. At least two disgruntled letters to the editor of the Pioneer Journal were written and Handt said the letters influenced his decision to quit. Chamber of Commerce director Jim Dye denies that Handt was instructed to hurry along the children who did not have their pictures taken with him. Dye said the photo opportunity will likely be canned next year because of the problems.

Malfunctioning water heater causes smoke damage

Red Lake Falls — Three people suffered smoke inhalation from a malfunctioning water heater at the Townview apartments in Red Lake Falls. The Red Lake Falls Fire Department was called at 6:01 p.m., along with the Sheriff's Office and the Red Lake Falls Ambulance service. One person was transported to Riverview Hospital in Crookston for smoke inhalation, and two others were monitored by the Red Lake Falls Ambulance service at the scene.

Fire chief Dan Geller said there was damage to one of the apartments and one of the inside walls will have to be replaced, but the amount of smoke damage to the building has not been estimated.

Raid in Graceton results in arrest

Graceton — A Graceton area woman was arrested in a raid on her home on November 23. Lori C. Smith, 31, has been charged with one felony count of possession of a controlled substance, gross misdemeanor counts of receiving stolen property and possession of a pistol without a permit, and a misdemeanor count of driving after revocation of a driver's license. The early morning raid on the residence followed an extensive investigation, according to Lake of the Woods Sheriff Bob Paulseth. Bond for Smith was set at $5,000.

SOUPÇON
Sherry LaCoursiere

Today's recipes are Christmas favorites gathered from several area newspapers.

These chocolate goodies are a favorite at Christmas time:

PEANUT BLOSSOMS

1 3/4 cups flour
1 teaspoon soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup butter
1/3 cup peanut butter
1/2 cup white sugar
1/2 cup brown sugar
1 egg
1 teaspoon vanilla
Chocolate kisses or stars

Mix dry ingredients together.

Cream butter, peanut butter and sugars. Add egg and vanilla.

Mix in dry ingredients.

Shape into balls and roll in sugar. Bake 7-8 minutes at 350 degrees, then remove from oven and place a chocolate kiss or star on top.

Put pan back in oven for 2-5 minutes more.

Some people call this "sponge" candy — it is an old time favorite:

ANGEL FOOD CANDY

1 cup sugar
1 tablespoon vinegar
1 pound chocolate almond bark
1 cup dark corn syrup
1 tablespoon soda

Combine sugar, syrup and vinegar in large, heavy saucepan. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until sugar dissolves.

Cook without stirring until temperature reaches hard crack (300 degrees on candy thermometer). DO NOT OVERCOOK.

Remove from heat and quickly stir in baking soda. Stir well (mixture will bubble up).

Pour into buttered 9x13 inch pan. Do not spread candy — it will not fill pan completely.

When cool, break into pieces and dip in melted chocolate. Place on waxed paper until chocolate is firm.

Store in tightly covered container.

You might like to plan ahead to make this Scandinavian favorite with your Christmas Eve lutefisk:

NELSON'S SWEDISH MEATBALLS

2 pounds lean ground beef
1 pound lean pork
2/3 cup ground bread crumbs
1 teaspon salt
2 teaspoons allspice
1/2 to 2/3 cup milk
2 eggs, slightly beaten,
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1 large onion, grated

Mix all ingredients together very well. Dip hands in cold water to form meatballs and roll them firmly. Brown in shortening in fry pan.

If gravy is desired, remove meatballs from pan and drain fat. Add water to loosen accumulated brown from pan and stir in 1 can cream of mushroom soup and enough water to make gravy consistency.

Return meatballs to pan and simmer for 20-30 minutes.

Make this salad at least the day before you want to serve.

CRANBERRY NUT SALAD

1 (12 ounce) bag of cranberries
2 cups water
2 cups sugar
1 (6 ounce) cherry gelatin
1 (20 ounce) can crushed pineapple
1 cup chopped nuts
8 ounce package cream cheese, softened
1/2 package miniature marshmallows
1 pint whipping cream

Wash cranberries and cool. Add 2 cups water and cook until they pop, then boil slowly for eight minutes.

While hot, stir in sugar, gelatin, pineapple and nuts. Pour into 9x13 inch pan and refrigerate until set.

In a large bowl, crumble cream cheese and add marshmallows. Pour whipping cream over the mixture and refrigerate overnight.

The next day, bring cream cheese mixture to room temperature. Whip and spread over cranberry mixture (it will be a little chunky).

Cut into squares to serve.

ASK YOUR LOCKSMITH
Questions And Answers

Q What features should I look for when choosing a good deadbolt for my home?

A There are many good quality locks on the market and your professional locksmith is your best source for advice on the right one for you. A good deadbolt lock should be a tubular design with at least a one inch throw locking bolt. It should also have a tapered outside collar to resist wrenching, a high security strike plate to reinforce the door frame and at least two 1/4 inch hardened steel bolts to securely fasten the lock to the door. Proper installation should be done by your professional locksmith so that you will get the greatest measure of protection from any locking device.

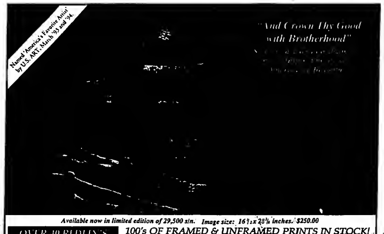
Marshall County immunization Clinic is Dec. 13, not Dec. 27

The December 27 immunization clinic at Marshall County Nursing Service has been rescheduled to December 13 from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m.

Clinics are open to the public and anyone who needs immunizations is encouraged to attend. The vaccine used is provided free of charge by the Minnesota Department of Health for use in community-based clinics.



There will be a $4 fee for administering the vaccine, but no one will be refused because of inability to pay.

The clinic asks that you to take your infant to your family physician for the initial DTP and oral polio immunization or bring a signed referral from the physician indicating the immunization is to be given by the clinic. The clinic also wants to state that immunization services given at the public clinics should not be substituted for the child's usual well-child visit with his or her physician. Bring the child's immunization record with each time the child is brought for a shot. Immunizations will not be given unless the immunization record is presented, unless it is the first shot.

For more information contact Nancy Maarstad, RN, at the Marshall County Nursing Service at 218-745-5154.

Snowmobile safety class in Goodridge

Stolen snowmobiles recovered in GF

Four Grand Forks area residents face charges following the theft of four snowmobiles and a trailer from Pennington county.

Pennington county law enforcement officials received a report Wednesday from an investigator in Grand Forks, that four snowmobiles and a trailer that had been taken from Pennington county had been recovered in Grand Forks. The law enforcement center in Pennington county had not been aware of the theft as it hadn't been reported yet. They learned that the snowmobiles belonged to David Bruggeman.

Deputy Sheriff Ray Kuznia reported that a sheriff's deputy in Grand Forks had observed a vehicle pulling a snowmobile trailer, which didn't have any tail lights. He stopped the vehicle and upon talking to the driver, he found the individual's story not credible. He called for assistance and upon further investigation, they learned that the snowmobiles had been taken from a residence in Rocksbury township in Pennington county.

Items taken from Pennington county included: a snowmobile trailer valued at $1,800, a 1993 Arctic Cat EXT valued at $4,200, a 1990 Arctic Cat Prowler valued at $2,700, a 1994 Polaris EFI 500 valued at $5,000, and a 1979 Arctic Cat Pantera valued at $650.

Investigators from Pennington county later interviewed three of the four suspects, and three allegedly admitted taking the snowmobiles. Three of the four individuals are in custody at Grand Forks Correctional Center and face charges of possession of stolen property. The three individuals in custody include: Tomas Mott, 18, Emerado, ND; John Christopher Pulliam, 19, Arvilla, ND; and Shelby Robert Brouillette, 19, Emerado, ND. Charges could also be filed against Dennae Norman, 18, East Grand Forks. Charges are pending in Pennington county against the same individuals.

All of the snowmobiles have been recovered. Law enforcement officials were looking for a 1979 Arctic Cat Pantera that apparently fell off the trailer somewhere enroute to Grand Forks. A local citizen contacted the law enforcement center Thursday to report seeing a snowmobile in the ditch near Plummer. It was the missing snowmobile.

Red Lake Watershed District (RLWD) recently presented a $5,000 contribution to support programs being provided by the Agassiz Environmental Learning Center. This is the second year that the RLWD has provided such a contribution to support land and water stewardship awareness. The Agassiz Environmental Learning Center provides a variety of outdoor education programs to groups visiting the Fertile Sand Hills. Many of the schools in the RLWD, including Crookston, East Grand Forks, Red Lake Falls, and Thief River Falls have attended programs at the center, which served over 3,000 people in the past year. Pictured from left are: Russell Sender, east Polk RLWD board member, Richard Dougherty, chairman of the RLWD board, Roland Gullekson, and Gerhard Ross, west Polk RLWD board member. Lowell Enerson, director for RLWD, said RLWD is concerned and supportive of an Environmental Learning Center in the Red River because all other similar centers are located in northeast or northcentral Minnesota. And so by having an environmental learning center in a primarily agricultural area, people learn that the environment is not being ruined by agriculture. Being located in this area, he added, will also encourage more people to become involved in and aware of environmental concerns.

Groundbreaking for recycling plant Saturday

Groundbreaking ceremonies are scheduled today (Saturday, December 10) at 11 a.m. for a 100x300 foot building for the Swiss-Pennington Regional Recycling Facility south of Thief River Falls on highway 32.

A reception will follow at the River Road Casino southeast of Thief River Falls. An earlier announcement had said the reception would be at the Best Western Inn. The Red Lake Nation is a limited partner in the new recycling facility which will be equipped with machinery having the latest developments in waste separation technology.

Public attendance is welcome at the groundbreaking and reception.

TRF man shoots self

Hardy Hodge of Thief River Falls is being treated at United Hospital in Grand Forks for a gunshot wound to his lower back.

On December 6 at 7:07 p.m. Northwest Medical Center reported they were treating an individual in the emergency room with a gunshot wound.

Upon investigation, law enforcement officials learned that Hardy Hodge of Thief River Falls had tucked a pistol in the back of his pants under his parka and when he went to move a battery the gun came loose. He reached back to secure the handgun and it accidentally discharged causing a bullet to strike him in the lower back just above the buttocks and to the left of his spine.

Hodge was later transferred to United Hospital in Grand Forks, ND. He was listed in stable condition as of Thursday afternoon.

Set hearing on juvenile delinquency

Judges of the Ninth Judicial District have scheduled three public hearings to receive public input before developing written guidelines to be used by the judges in determining juvenile delinquency dispositions.

The guidelines are being developed under state law (Chapter 576, Section 59, of the 1994 Session Laws) and the public is encouraged to attend the hearings, voice opinions and make suggestions.

All of the hearings begin at 5 p.m. and will be held December 14 in courtroom No. 1 at the courthouse in Brainerd, December 15 in the second floor conference room of the courthouse in Bemidji and December 16 at courtroom A in the courthouse in Thief River Falls.

Alice Knutson selected a phone number from her list to make a free call Wednesday from her room at Valley Home. Scott Sheriden of Cellular One in Thief River Falls brought a cellular phone to the home and helped about 35 residents make free five-minute calls to anyone they wanted to call in the United States. The calls were a Christmas gift from the company.

While his wife Claire talked to a family member, Gordon Johnson read the Valley Home newsletter. Scott Sheridan of Cellular One visited the home last Wednesday and offered a free five-minute long distance phone call to any of the residents who wished to make one as a pre-Christmas gift. About 35 of the residents took advantage of the offer to call relatives.

Lincoln poets recognized

Seven poems written by three Lincoln high school students were awarded recognition in the 11th annual Emerging Writers Awards competition sponsored by the English department of the College of St. Catherine to encourage the potential of young women writers.

Six cash prizes, 12 high honorable mentions and 11 honorable mentions were awarded among 155 students who competed in the event this year. Entries were judged by members of the English department, many of whom are published authors and poets.

All juniors and members of the creative writing program in the Northern Expressions School of the Arts at Lincoln high school, the local award recipients included the following:

Angela Haugen, daughter of James and Penny Haugen, was awarded a high honorable mention for her poem "Bathing Beauties."

Angeline Gunstad, daughter of James and Rose Gunstad of St. Hilaire, was awarded an honorable mention for her poems "Marching Band Immortality," "Morning Mass" and "Riding In My Truck."

Tina Krogstad, daughter of Richard and Carole Krogstad, was awarded an honorable mention for her poems "The Temp," "Jocks" and "Mirror, Mirror."

RLCC ends unbeaten status for Wolverines

Red Lake County Central girls knocked Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke out of the unbeaten ranks Thursday with a 51-39 high school basketball decision over the host Wolverines.

The 2-2 Mustangs had quarter leads of 14-12, 29-23 and 38-34. The 3-1 Wolverines cut into a six-point Red Lake County Central lead at the end, scoring the final basket with two seconds to play.

"It was our best outing so far," said Red Lake County Central coach Rick Koivisto.

Meckenzie Malwitz scored 15 points to lead a balanced Red Lake County Central offense that also included a 10-point, 13-rebound game by Angie Chervestad and a 9-point, 13-rebound effort by Marci DuChamp. Jenny Johnson scored a game-high 17 points for the Wolverines.

Red Lake County Central was 22-for-48 from the field (46 percent) and 6-for-18 at the free throw line. Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke went 22-for-74 from the floor (30 percent) and 4-for-9 at the line. The Mustangs finished with a sizable 40-28 rebound advantage.

Marshall Co. Central game is rescheduled

A water main problem in Newfolden forced postponement of Thursday's Marshall County Central vs. Roseau girls high school basketball game.

The Nordics will be at the Tri-County invitational in Karlstad Monday and Tuesday. In Monday semifinals, Argyle plays Stephen at 6:30 p.m. and Marshall County Central takes on Tri-County at 8.

Tuesday finals include the third place game at 6:30 p.m. and championship game at 8.

Middle School

Red Lake Falls defeated the Franklin Middle School seventh grade girls B basketball team 29-21 Monday. Jennifer Rude and Kia Nyland netted 4 points apiece to lead the Franklin scorers.

Goodridge Christmas concert is Tuesday

Junior varsity and varsity bands and the school choir at Goodridge public schools will be presented in concert Tuesday, December 13, at 7:30 p.m. in the school gymnasium.

There is no admission charge and the area public is invited to attend, according to Kristin Buckley, music instructor for the Goodridge schools.

Junior varsity band will open the concert with "Little Czech Suite" and "Jingle Bell Rock," followed by the choir singing "The Power and the Glory," "Sixties With a Twist," "Can You Feel the Love Tonight?" and "Christmas Finale."

Soloist Kari Nelson will sing "The Christmas Song" and the varsity band will play "Brookpark," "March Prelude," "Instant Concert" and "Oing! Dong! Merrily on High."

Participating in the concert will be the following students:

Huskies' slow start leads to 78-51 loss

Goodridge spotted defending Section 8A champion Climax/Fisher a 13-0 head start Tuesday and wound up with a 78-51 season-opening boys high school basketball loss.

"We had some first game jitters," said Goodridge coach John Rahn. "It's just something we had to get out of the way. We played hard, and except for the start, I felt we held our own."

The winners led at the quarter breaks 18-8, 39-21 and 58-33.

Guard Alex Peterson put on a 27-point shooting display to lead a group of four Climax/Fisher double figure scorers. Martin Dahlen had an 11-point, 10-rebound game for the Huskies, while teammate Benji Marquis contributed 10 points.

Goodridge shot 52 percent from the field (22/42), but made just 5 of 15 free throw attempts. Climax/Fisher shot 56 percent from the floor (28/50) and went 9-for-16 at the line. The Huskies had a 35-27 rebound advantage.

Eagles lose 59-57 season opener to Warroad Tuesday

A final-possession shot was of the mark Tuesday as Grygla-Gatzke dropped a 59-57 season-opening boys North Border Conference high school basketball decision at Warroad.

"We had numerous opportunities, but couldn't convert," reported Grygla-Gatzke coach Vern Johnson.

Warroad had quarter leads of 17-15, 36-26 and 42-39.

"We did a nice job to catch them, but every time we caught up, they made the plays to go back on top," explained Johnson.

Nic Thompson had a game-high 20 points for Warroad. Scott Hogenson led Grygla-Gatzke with 16.

Grygla-Gatzke shot 38 percent from the field (19/50); Warroad shot 45 percent (18/40). The two teams combined to shoot 62 free throws – 17/34 for the Eagles; 19/28 for the winners, including a 9-for-13 fourth quarter. Grygla-Gatzke had a 36-20 rebound advantage. The turnovers were even at 16-apiece.

Cold-shooting Northland women lose by 25 points

Shooting 30 percent from the field and 48 percent at the free throw line won't win you many basketball games. The Northland Community College women found that out Tuesday when the Pioneers made just 13 of 43 field goal attempts and only 13 of 27 free throws in a 67-42 home court loss to the North Dakota State College of Science.

Northland lost in similar 72-40 fashion to the Concordia College junior varsity to open the season.

"We haven't shot well in either of our first two games," acknowledged Northland coach Rick Nikunen, who isn't disturbed with the Pioneers' 0-2 start. "We played two of the toughest teams we'll see all year right off the bat," he explained. "We did that by design. I think we learned a lot from the two games."

Gina Salverson scored 11 points and Angel Mickelson had 10 for the Pioneers. Michelle Bervig of the Wildcats led all scorers with 13 points.

Lincoln hockey JV beaten by Warroad

Warroad edged Thief River Falls 3-2 in overtime Tuesday in junior varsity high school hockey.

Craig Huot and Chris Bruggeman scored the goals for the 1-2 Thief River Falls squad, out-shot 34-18.

Warroad holds off TRF 7-5

Warroad got the win, but Thief River Falls still managed to accomplish a couple of goals Tuesday as the Prowlers dropped a 7-5 high school hockey home opener to the defending Class A state champions.

Shut out by Grand Forks Central 8-0 Saturday, Thief River Falls appeared to be headed for another long night while facing a 4-0 deficit midway through the second period against Minnesota's No. 1 rated team in Class A hockey.

But the 1-2 Prowlers almost threw those rankings for a loop in storming back for a 5-5 third period tie before a pair of late Warroad goals ended the Thief River Falls comeback.

First year Thief River Falls coach Pat Cullen was more than satisfied with the Prowlers' efforts. "We showed a lot of character coming back like that," he said. "I think we showed we're for real. We played with the best; we took the defending state champion to the wire. They knew they were in a hockey game. I'm happy with it."

University of Minnesota-bound Warroad senior Wyatt Smith used a defenseman as a screen as he scored on a hard shot from the top of the face-off circle during a one-on-one rush at 11:19 for the only goal of the first period.

A scramble around the net resulted in a close-in backhand goal for Nels Grefstrom at 4:21; Tanner Martell scored on a blast through Thief River Falls goalie Chane Keefe at 6:42; and a loose puck in front was banged off a Thief River Falls defenseman by Derek Stromberg at 7:13 as Warroad opened up a 4-0 second period cushion.

Thief River Falls got back in it when Keith Anderson knocked in a bouncing puck near the Warroad net during a 4-on-4 situation at 8:20, and came back to score on a power play rebound at 12:12 for a 4-2 game.

Keefe stopped Smith on a point-blank shot in the final minute of the second period, but Zach Hallett managed to push the rebound under the netminder at 14:46 to produce a three-goal spread.

Three Thief River Falls goals in a 1:39 flurry in the middle of the third period tied the game and got the large Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center crowd thinking upset.

A soft shot from the point by Andy Furuseth trickled past Warroad goalie Willy Marvin at 7:15 to start the rally. Jason Breiland cut across the goal mouth and dribbled one into the net at 8:12, and with the Prowlers swarming around Marvin, Nick Chiodo finally corralled a rebound for the equalizer at 8:54.

Stomberg quieted the crowd with his second goal of the night when he got by the Thief River Falls defense and gave Warroad a 6-5 lead on a close-in backhand at 12:58.

Tanner Martell joined Stomberg and Anderson in the two-goal category by hitting an open net on a power play with just two seconds left. Tanner Martell also had two assists, as did Smith and Allen Hasbargen.

Smith, Chad Furuseth, Tanner Martell, and Kaine Martell all began their hockey careers in the Thief River Falls program before heading north – Smith and Furuseth previously when their families relocated for job opportunities; the Martells this year under the state's open enrollment policy.

Scoring

First period - Warroad, Wyatt Smith (Josh Heppner-Ryan Tessier), 11:19.

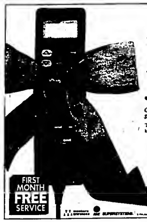
Second period - Warroad, Nels Grafstrom (Tanner Martell), 4:21; Warroad, Tanner Martell (Kaine Martell), 6:42; Warroad, Derek Stomberg (Allen Hasbargen-Rocky Rybolt), 7:15; TRF, Keith Anderson (David Halsa-Nick Chiodo), 8:20; TRF, Anderson (Jason Breiland), 12:12; Warroad, Zach Hallett (Smith), 14:46.

Third period - TRF, Andy Furuseth (un.), 7:15; TRF, Breiland (Brian Howe), 8:12; TRF, Chiodo (un.), 8:54; Warroad, Stomberg (Allen Hasbargen), 12:58; Warroad, Tanner Martell (Smith), 14:58.

Goalie Saves

TRF - Chane Keefe 10-8-12-30. Warroad, Willy Marvin 5-8-5-18.

TRF wrestlers open with a win



Six pins and a pair of forfeits added up to a 48-30 season-opening Thief River Falls dual meet high school wrestling win over visiting Larimore Tuesday.

Recording pins for the Prowlers were Jay Radniecki at 112 pounds, Philip Nelson 145, Luke Davis 152, Kyle Nelson 160, Adam Kuck 171, and heavyweight John Davis.

The winners picked up additional points at 119 and 125 – weights vacated by the Polar Bears, who got six of those points back via a Thief River Falls forfeit at 130.

TRF 48, Larimore 30

Fertile-Beltrami opened the game by hitting three consecutive 3-point shots Tuesday and went on to outscore Red Lake County Central 86-82 in boys high school basketball at Plummer.

The Falcons jumped out to a 24-13 first quarter lead, had a 46-32 halftime advantage and maintained a 65-55 third quarter spread.

"We made a game of it down the stretch, but we struggled to get back in it," said Red Lake County Central coach Todd Fore. "We didn't play very good defense."

The game featured nine double figure scores, led by the Mustangs' Aaron Chaput with 29 points and the Falcons' Aaron Thompson with 24.

Red Lake County Central was 29-for-65 from the field (45 percent) and 16-for-22 at the free throw line. Fertile-Beltrami went 34-for-60 from the floor (57 percent) and 10-for-16 at the line. The 1-1 Mustangs finished with a 34-29 rebound advantage.

Grand Forks Valley girls top freshman

Grand Forks Valley beat the Thief River Falls A team 54-35 and defeated the Thief River Falls B squad 38-21 Tuesday in ninth grade girls basketball.

Amber Klinker led the Thief River Falls A team with 10 points. Sunny Carlson had 7 points to lead the Thief River Falls B scoring.

Wildcats pull away from NCC men in second half

North Dakota State College of Science turned a narrow three-point halftime lead into a 15-point win over the Northland Community College men's basketball team Tuesday, 85-70.

It was the second half of an NDSCS-NCC doubleheader in Thief River Falls that began with a 67-42 win for the Wildcats' women.

Northland fell to 0-3 with the loss.

Sophomore guard Chad Kujava led the Pioneers with a game-high 22 points, but the only other Northland scorer in double figures was sophomore center Anthony Kallod with 10 points. NDSCS got a 20-point game from Deon Carter, 19 from Bebop Walker and 17 from Jamal Turrentine.

Scoring

Prowlers beaten by Warroad girls 86-42

Warroad blitzed Thief River Falls 86-42 Thursday in girls high school basketball behind a smothering full-court press and a balanced, fast-break offense.

The visiting Prowlers trailed at the quarter stops 19-8, 42-15 and 61-33.

"They have a great team," pointed out Thief River Falls coach Sally Wiltse, and we just didn't play well. We failed in every aspect of the game. We couldn't break their trap and we didn't get back on defense. We were two steps behind all night."

Four Warroad scorers hit double figures, led by Tammy Knudson and Kendra CornelIusen with 15 points each. Nicole Kopari scored 14 and Sarah Huschle had 10 for the Prowlers.

Thief River Falls, 0-3 for the year, shot just 27 percent from the field (18/67) and made 8 of 13 free throws. Warroad shot 51 percent from the floor (37/73), but struggled through an 11-for-27 night at the line. The winners had a 51-30 rebound advantage. The Prowlers topped the turnover figures 27-20, losing the ball 20 times in the first half.

Scoring

Thief River Falls JV girls down Warroad

Thief River Falls defeated Warroad 56-37 Thursday in junior varsity girls high school basketball.

Jocelyn Helgeland scored 11 points for the winners, who improved their record to 2-1 with quarter leads of 15-8, 24-16 and 40-23.

B/G-MR girls build an early edge, win 66-44

Krissi Super (12) and Jessica Borgen (10) combined for 22 first quarter points Thursday as Badger/Greenbush-Middle River built an early lead and coasted to a 66-44 win over Waubun in Day 1 of the Fertile-Beltrami Christmas Classic girls high school basketball match-ups.

Behind an effective press, the Gators led 26-7 after eight minutes and had a 42-16 halftime cushion before using the bench extensively in the second half.

Super finished with 20 points, Borgen 14 and Ali Hietala 10. Missy Hanks led Waubun with 18 points.

The 4-0 Gators were 42-for-70 from the field (60 percent) and 8-for-10 at the free throw line, where the Bombers were 6-for-11.

Hawley knocked off host Fertile-Beltrami 54-46 in the second half of the doubleheader. Friday's pre-set match-ups featured Hawley vs. Waubun and Badger/Greenbush-Middle River vs. Fertile-Beltrami.

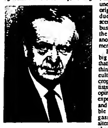
Bob Bergland addresses group in church at Holt

from the Warren Sheaf

Ever the eternal optimist, former Congressman and U.S. Secretary of Agriculture Robert Bergland told a church group at Holt Sunday evening that the future for many rural areas in the United States that have water is bright. Business will be moving to places in the country where people want to live, with electronics overcoming the distance problems.

The Roseau farmer went to Washington in 1970 as a Democratic 7th District Congressman, who defeated three-term Republican Odin Langen of Kennedy. After serving six years, President Jimmy Carter tapped him for U.S. Secretary of Agriculture in 1976. After his four-year stint there, he headed up the Rural Electric Cooperatives Association, from which he retired this year to return to Roseau, where he and his wife Helen are building a new home.

He spoke at the fall meeting of the Agassiz Conference of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America at Nazareth Lutheran church in Holt. Pastor Dick Luedtke of Our Savior's Lutheran Church in Warren and Melo Lutheran churches at rural Warren, dean of the conference, had charge of the meeting.



Bergland reviewed the history of agriculture in the country, starting with the Homestead Act of 1864, which gave 160 acres of land free to homesteaders and which was responsible for the relative quick settlement of the mid-United States. He reviewed the growth of the size of farms and the mechanization of farming after World War II, which has resulted in a surplus of people in the farmbelt. However, he noted, we have not seen the wholesale takeover of land by corporations or foreign interests.

He said the rural areas are, generally, prosperous except the arid country of western North and South Dakota, Montana, Nebraska, Kansas and Oklahoma. Where water is hard to find, development is hard to find, Bergland said.

Business will not go where people do not want to go. There is a big interest in non-farm jobs in rural areas and polls show that people in the cities have a positive reaction to rural communities. In past year, electronics, computers, fiber optics and interactive television have become very important, because they overcome the distance problem for rural ares. "We'll see big companies moving out to rural areas to anyplace that has water, running or still, because that is where people want to live," said Bergland.

He noted that in northwestern Minnesota, there is practically zero unemployment because of locally originated businesses that are producing goods for the national scene. We will be generating more business by doing value added to the crops we raise here. This is another area of non-farm employment that will be more meaningful.

Bergland said the future holds a big challenge for agriculture, but that he is an optimist. "We have to think beyond the old days of agriculture," he said, noting that new crops are going to come as scientists look for new sources of developing energy as oil becomes more expensive to take out of the ground and it becomes economically feasible to grow wood for energy, or gasses, or ethanol. Renewable alternatives will become possible as cheap energy increases in cost, Bergland predicted.

Robert Bergland

Again looking into the future, the world traveled former United States Department of Agriculture head predicted that our future of agricultural trade lies in our own hemisphere and the Far East. Russia will, eventually, serve all of Europe. Trade will be much more advantageous between the Americas rather than Europe and Russia which are also in the temperate zone.

Briefly commenting on the stunning Republican takeover of the U.S. Senate and House of Representatives last week, the former Democratic politician said he didn't know if less government, as indicated by the election, will be good or bad, but he thinks it will probably not be for the better, especially in environmental areas. He said the Clinton people did not have their agenda very well defined and the farm bill, up for redoing in 1995, will now be done by people concerned with the budget and not what is necessarily good for farming. The Republicans will not be able to evade the reality of the budget and will not be able to cut taxes and cut spending. Bergland predicted that the Republicans will find that their agenda will not be well defined, that they will not speak as one voice.

Bergland told a story of the difficulty of being Secretary of Agriculture. He said that half of the farm products raised in this country are sold to other farmers. One day he was in Iowa and the corn growers told him the price of corn was too low. The next day, he was in Georgia, where the chicken producers told him that corn was too high. "Then I knew that my dad was right when he said I was dumb to go into politics."

Introduced to the group was Pastor Nancy Werner, a Hawley native who is the new pastor of Nazareth Lutheran Church at Holt and was installed as pastor on Sunday. Merton Roley of Warren, treasurer of the group, explained the finances of the group, much of which goes to support "Lutheran Vespers" on KTRF Radio.

Pastor Chell of Viking informed the group that Stacy Anderson, daughter of the Gary Andersons, would be leaving December 2 for Madagascar on a mission project.

Pastor Luedtke informed the group that he and his wife Marilyn and family and Norval and Mildred Torkelson of Warren, would be visiting Ethiopia over Christmas as guests of the family whose son the Luedtkes played host to while attending school in Warren.

Landowner's Rights group prepares policy statement restore property owners rights as outlined by the United States Constitution and its Bill of Rights."

"....All Should Share Costs"

"The financial burden of Minnesota's 1991 Wetland Conservation Act and the down-zoning effect of many comprehensive land use plans falls on certain landowners and on those who strive to provide necessary housing, roads and public services for a growing population," the policy statement adds.

"Since it is in every individual's best interest to protect our natural resources, every individual should participate in the cost, not just current landowners."

The policy statement says that it is the organization's resolve to: Protect our natural resources against the threat of environmental extremism; repeal the 1991 Wetlands Conservation Act; protect and enforce local watershed management organizations' authority; expose and oppose unfair comprehensive land use plans that demonstrate a violation of private property rights; obtain just compensation for landowners subjected to loss of use of their land or a loss of equity in their land; and support fellow Americans protecting their property rights.

The policy statement is subject to further revision but will serve as a basis for the organization's efforts to effect change in areas where its members believe private property rights are being violated and governmental agencies are abusing discretionary authority.

"Minnesota landowners help feed the world, manage wildlife and safeguard the land," the policy statement says. "Current land use restrictions prevent landowners from expanding their farms, improving wildlife habitat and utilizing their property for the health, safety and welfare of humanity."

Seek Wetland Act Repeal

The statement pulls no punches in its resolve to repeal the 1991 Wetlands Conservation Act which it calls "the biggest property rights infringement since Native Americans were forced onto reservations."

It adds that "county, city and township governmental bodies are now shackled with incomprehensible rules and penalties that prevent them from providing necessary housing, roads and public services for a growing population. Certain landowners are seeing their equity disappear as their land is gobbled up by wetland restrictions, conservation easements and set-back deemed for the public good."

Regarding restrictive land use, the policy statement professes that "A landowner has an inherent right to use his land as it was zoned when he obtained it and a reasonable expectation of a profit when he sells it. Restricting the use of land through down-zoning with comprehensive plans or crippling wetland or woodlot legislation and green belts is a taking. The remedies are simple and simple to administer: A direct tax on the benefitting public and a direct payment to the landowner."

Scientists dig for worm holes' role in affecting water quality

(Following article by Dave Hansen appeared in Minnesota Science, a publication of the Minnesota Agricultural Experiment Station in St. Paul.)

The lowly worm is getting some serious attention. It seems earthworms affect the flow of water through the soil in ways we're just beginning to understand. Sometimes this means less runoff, less erosion and less surface water pollution. In other settings, their slimy holes can be direct conduits to groundwater.

"Past models of water movement in soils have been unable to explain the early appearance of contaminants in groundwater," says soil scientist Satish Gupta. Looking at the role of macropores—small openings caused by earthworms, freezing and thawing, tillage and roots—is leading to more accurate models to predict the flow of water into the ground.

Worm holes are being looked at from every possible angle. Information on diameters, lengths and directions, and quality of burrows is being collected by Gupta, soil scientist John Moncrief and a team of graduate students. They seek to learn how macropores interact with farm practices and water quality.

The burrows of Lubricus terrestris—nightcrawlers—are the most important water carriers. These burrows can be three feet straight down and as wide as a pencil. Gupta says other worm paths are smaller and meander or dead end.

"If the burrows aren't continuous, I don't worry about them," he said.

Tracking worm holes isn't easy. There can be hundreds or even thousands of burrows in a cubic yard of soil, and several methods are used. Soil cores three feet deep are hauled into the laboratory and taken apart inch by inch. Different colored paint is squirted into each hole with a hypodermic syringe and the color traced deeper and deeper. A high tech method sends core samples in for a CT-scan, creating a three dimensional view without disturbing the soil.

Measurements are also made of water flow through undisturbed soil in the field. Pits six feet deep are excavated and collection devices are inserted into the side of the pit to catch water leaching through after rainfalls.

The soil scientists look for macropore differences introduced by agricultural practices. They analyze sites that used only manure as fertilizer for the last decade and compare that with fields that used only commercial fertilizer. They also compare chisel plowed fields with fields not tilled, that have undisturbed worm holes.

"Worm production goes up in manured fields; they like organic matter," says Moncrief. This means dairy areas such as southeast Minnesota will likely have more worms, more worm holes and more conduits for water.

Soils of southeast Minnesota and parts of Wisconsin, Illinois and Iowa are shallow and sit on top of fractured stone that can help surface water become groundwater very quickly. Moncrief says that depending on whether the contaminants are mixed in the soil, or mix with the surface water, can negatively or positively affect their movement. He says some chemicals are also "held" by the material lining worm burrows.

Under development are computer models that may help generate specific recommendations to farmers to reduce the chances of groundwater contamination in these sensitive geological areas. Complicating the models is that nightcrawler populations are not distributed evenly, even on a single farm.

LETTERS

To The Editor:

The Minnesota Association of Wheat Growers wishes to clarify a recent letter to the editor. It was written independently from the MAWG and the thoughts put forth by its two authors may have created some confusion about the MAWG's objectives for the 1995 Farm Bill.

There are six criteria which the MAWG board of directors believes any farm bill proposal should meet: Profitable, simple, consumer or image friendly, environmentally sound, flexible and realistic or attainable.

Following are some of our new resolutions with those criteria in mind, approved with majority vote by the MAWG membership at our recent convention:

• A marketing loan concept coupled with a $4 target price. The target price would help protect growers in short crop years, while an acceptable marketing loan rate would provide a mechanism for clearing the market and help reduce downside market risks.

• Market-oriented substitution that provides 100 per cent planting flexibility on a farm's total acreage base.

• The establishment of a targeted options program in the 1995 wheat program, allowing growers to increase their target price by the same percentage that they agree to increase their set aside.

• Increased proven yields to better reflect current individual yield averages.

• An extension of the regular loan program from a term of nine months to up to 16 months.

In addition, the MAWG supports examination of new farm program ideas and is urging that Minnesota be included in any pilot program established in the 1995 Farm Bill to test new farm program concepts.

Sincerely,
Jerry Nordick
MAWG president
Roseau, Minnesota

Sugarbeet harvest sets a new record

Sugarbeet production at 8.65 million tons is up 11 per cent from October and a record level, according to the Minnesota Agricultural Statistics Service. Yield at 21 tons per acre is up two tons from October and 6.9 tons above the 1993 yield.

Corn production at 928 million bushels was up five per cent from last month and 188 per cent of last year's crop. Yield at 145 bushels per acre was 75 bushels more than 1993.

Soybean production at 229.6 million bushels is up 100 per cent from 1993 output with yield at 41 bushels per acre.

Fall potato production at 17.8 million hundredweight averaged 265 hundredweight per acre and was 41 per cent above last year's yield.

Education, Corrections Vie For Tax Dollars

"As we attempt to toughen Minnesota's sentencing guidelines beyond their current level, what we are doing is investing in reaction. Attacking the problems of crime by building more prisons is like attacking the AIDS problem by building more hospitals."

This analogy is made by none other than Frank Wood, Commissioner of Corrections for the State of Minnesota. "We do need prisons. But we must look at how to conserve our state's resources and focus on and invest in our kids.

"We must look at kids with learning disabilities and kids with poor anger and impulse control. They can be helped before they end up in correctional facilities.

"We must look at how we can help kids who are growing up with abusive parents and kids who are parenting kids.

"We need to look at parent education—maybe even mandatory training for parents. We need to teach parents and kids non-violent conflict resolution skills.

"We've got to remember that even if some want to—you can't throw kids away. They won't disappear. And the costs of dealing with them won't either. They'll take your money when they occupy a cell," Wood says.

Wood was quoted in a publication called "MFT Excellence," published by the Minnesota Federation of Teachers. The article points out that state per pupil foundation aid for a nine-month school year is $3,150 in 1994-95. State cost to house and guard one adult offender for one year is $26,300.

The inference is made that spending more money on education will result in spending less money on corrections. That may or may not be so, although it is difficult to argue with the concept—which is also applicable to other groups and agencies which deal with young people, social services, mental health, etc. Prevention—if it is possible—is always less costly and preferable to dealing with problems after they have developed.

Wood acknowledges that prisons are needed for violent offenders. Minnesota is one of the toughest states in the country in terms of sentences and Wood says that its corrections budget must increase substantially for several years "just to cover the invoices for the laws—and sentences—we've already passed."

But he believes it's far less expensive to invest in tutors, parent education or even one-to-one help for kids. Society will save money, he says, and just may reclaim lives, if it will invest in more "front end" services and fewer correctional facilities.

"We invest in recycling plastic, glass and paper," he said, "we should invest in preserving our most valuable resource, our kids."

As society in general struggles with finding the solutions and paying the bills for education, corrections and other public programs, it is a sad fact that parents of school children may themselves be among the least concerned about the schools' abilities to impart education.

"I don't understand it," one teacher in a Twin Cities area school district said, after the district's voters turned down a technology referendum to update its classroom computers. "We have parents who will spend more on upholstering their kids' butts with expensive denim than they'll spend on those kids' future. It's crazy."

It certainly seems so, doesn't it?

Change In Leadership Requires Statesmanship

One would think that politicians at the Washington level would understand that the November election results were a mandate for positive change—not simply a reversal of roles for political power plays. Somehow the realization that the people are fed up with maneuvering and want attention to governing by their elected officials is last in the shuffle.

Opportunity abounds for the Republican majority in the U.S. House and Senate to make meaningful progress in a number of areas where the voters have shown concern. That opportunity should not be wasted by unnecessarily spending valuable time creating further animosities and rifts between the parties and dwelling on negativism and fault-finding.

In particular, Georgia Congressman Newt Gingrich, newly elected as Speaker of the House, should take his office less literally and do more thinking and less speaking. He is a living example of the wisdom in the saying it is better to remain silent and be thought a fool than to speak and remove all doubt.

From his words and his demeanor, it is becoming more and more obvious that this congressman is a jerk—a jerk with enough seniority to become Speaker but a jerk just the same. The people don't want more arrogance and rhetoric, they want cooperation and results. If our elected representatives don't grasp that fact, they really are totally out of touch with reality. If Gingrich is an indicator, the 1994 election did little but change names in high places. Reality is still as elusive in Congress as trying to shovel smoke against the wind.

The American people have just used the ballot box to send a wake-up call to government. It should be viewed as a less than gentle suggestion to become alert. It is America's way of taking its government by the ears and screaming in its face for attention. If Gingrich et al can't understand and respond to that message, they have two years to ignore it before they, too, are history.

Northern Watch Policies

Letters To The Editor: The staff of the Northern Watch encourages written responses to editorial comment or letters with original thoughts or ideas of general interest. Letters should be intended for publication in Northern Watch exclusively; letters sent to multiple publications will generally not be accepted. Right is reserved to edit letters for length and clarity and to reject letters deemed to be promotional in nature or in poor taste.

Letters Must Be Signed: All letters must be signed and contain an address or phone number of the writer so authenticity can be verified. Signatures must appear on letters published. The staff believes that there is greater credibility in letters signed in print and will not withhold names of writers from publication.

Responses Invited: Letters critical of individuals or other entities may be shown to those individuals or representatives of those entities in advance of publication with an invitation by newspaper staff for response in the same issue as the original letter.

Corrections: If an error is made in news or advertising publication, the staff encourages readers to call it to our immediate attention by calling 681-4450. We will attempt to correct the error or clarify the misunderstanding in the next issue.

All farm index down 16 points from last year

Mid-October Index of Prices Received by Minnesota Farmers was 118, down two points from a month ago and 16 points from last year, according to the Minnesota Agricultural Statistics Service.

Crops index for 1994 in comparison with 1993 was down 12 points from 117 to 105, meat animal index was down 30 from 155 to 125, dairy products index was down six points from 155 to 149 and poultry and eggs index was down three from 103 to 100.

All hay rose $7 per ton in October over September, dry beans increased by $2.20 per hundredweight and wheat gained 26 cents per bushel over last month. These were the only price gainers for crops in the index.

For livestock, the only price increases were all milk at 17 cents per hundredweight and turkeys at two cents per pound over last month. All other livestock prices were down from the previous month.

JoAnn Peters

JoAnn Peters takes course in leadership

JoAnn Peters of Viking recently completed the Leadership Development Program sponsored by the Northwest Minnesota Initiative Fund (NWMIF).

Peters was among a group of 17 northwest Minnesotans attending the program held recently at the Vacationaire Resort near Park Rapids. Since 1988, over 360 northwest Minnesota residents have participated in this four and one-half day program designed to enable participants to identify and fulfill leadership roles in their home communities and build on the area's rural lifestyle and economy.

"Providing high quality leadership training in our area is a high priority of the NWMIF," states Ruth Edevold, NWMIF executive director. "Strong local leadership is necessary to create a high quality of life and economic vitality for northwestern Minnesota."

Leadership training sessions are held three times a year for residents of the counties of Beltrami, Clearwater, Hubbard, Kittson, Lake of the Woods, Mahnomen, Marshall, Norman, Pennington, Polk, Red Lake and Roseau.

For more information, contact Diane Backer at the Initiative Fund office, 218-759-2057 or 1-800-659-7859.

IN MEMORY OF ANDY OSBORN
Miss Me–
But Let Me Go......
When I came to the end of the road and the sun has set for me,
I want no rites in a gloom filled room,
why cry for a soul set free.
Miss me a little–but not too long,
And not with your head bowed low.
Remember the love that we once shared,
Miss me–but let me go.
For this is a journey that we all must take,
And each must go alone.
It's all a part of the Master's plan,
A step on the road to home.
When you are lonely and sick of heart,
Go to the friends we know
And bury your sorrows in doing good deeds,
Miss me–but let me go. (Kristone)

Just in time for the holidays — scams abound in area

Warren — Sheriff Dennis Brekke is warning residents of Marshall county of three different types of scams operating in the county. Two residents have reported losing $16,000 and $23,500. Watch out for the following: callers promising prizes, money or goods at high prices; callers wanting your credit card or checking account numbers; callers wanting you to act immediately; callers who use persuasive language and persistence to get your trust; a caller offers to send someone to pick up your cash or check; a caller wants you to wire money to them or have money wired to your own checking account. Call your local sheriff if you feel you have been cheated or victimized. Brekke says, "Remember, you never have to pay a dime to receive a prize you have won and doing business on the phone can be a very risky practice."

Fire damages lefse rolling pin factory

Newfolden — A fire at the Lokstad rolling pin factory December 7 damaged the roof and one of the machines used to manufacture the internationally-sold lefse rolling pins. David Lokstad said the damaged machine will not be up and running in time for holiday orders. "It's the worst time of the year for this to happen," he said. "We just received a large order for rolling pins and now can't make delivery." Lokstad hopes the plant will be operational again by some time in February.

"Season of Song" concert is Monday

Lincoln high school choirs under the direction of Darcy Reese will present their December concert entitled "A Season of Song" Monday, December 19, at 7 p.m. in the Lincoln high school auditorium. Admission to the concert is free and people from throughout the area are invited to attend.

Performing will be the concert choir of 70 students, an all women's group with 23 singers, a freshman choir of 40 students, the Swingsations vocal jazz group of 24 singers, a six-voice a capella carolers group singing various holiday selections as concert-goers are arriving, and a mass choir of 133 voices.

Lincoln high school chamber orchestra under the direction of Brian Cole will join pianist Cathy Hagen and the mass choir for the final selection of the evening, "Awake the Harp" by Haydn.

Swingsations jazz choir will open the concert with four jazz tunes, including Louis Armstrong's "Cool Yule" with Jill Dekkers on piano; a harmonized a capella version of "Here, There and Everywhere;" "Occapella," popularized by Manhattan Transfer (which the Swingsations members saw and heard December 14 in St. Paul) with Sarah Harger as soprano soloist, and the ever popular "I'll Be Home For Christmas."

Varsity Singers will follow with "In the Bleak Midwinter" with Cathy Hagen as accompanist; a Latin song entitled "Nigra Sum" and "A Carol Consort" featuring soloists Heidi Johnson, Danielle Goulet, Megan Browning and Lana Rodahl.

Concert choir opens its program with "Gloria," including Lauri Williams on piano and Allan Cole on timpani. Two spirituals, "Down at the River" and "Soon and Very Soon," will follow the opening number with Kendra Dimich adding a touch of swing on the piano for "Soon and Very Soon."

Other concert choir selections will include a Latin piece entitled "O Magnum Mysterium" and an Italian number, "Placido E Il Mar." "Run To The Manger" with feature the bass section and a quartet comprised of Vicki Bitzegaio, Sarah Harger, Nathan G. Anderson and Ryan Swanson. Cathy Hagen will accompany the choir on "The Road Not Taken," a Robert Frost poem which has been set to music.

The 40-voice freshman choir will present four selections, all accompanied by Heidi Johnson at the piano. They include "Veni Sancte," the spiritual "Born in Bethlehem," "Three Songs of Nature" featuring tenor soloist Brian Unbehaun and "Rise Up Shepherd."

The audience will become part of the concert as it is invited to join the 133 student vocalists in the singing of three Christmas carols, accompanied by Jill Dekkers on piano.

Following the carol singing the mass choir will sing "There Is a Rose" with Heidi Johnson on piano and Jill Dekkers on flute. "Awake The Harp" with the mass choir and orchestra will end the "Season of Song" concert.

Arctco marks 11th year of profit sharing

Arctco Inc. recently announced its 11th consecutive year of profit sharing by awarding bonuses to its employees. The Arctco profit sharing bonuses will again be paid in two portions, a longevity bonus based on length of service in December, and a fiscal year-end bonus based on performance and profitability in May.

"We believe in sharing the company's profits with the very same people who help us make those profits," said Arctco President and Chief Executive Officer Chris Twomey. "Twice a year we share our profits with all of our employees through bonuses."

The first Arctco profit sharing bonus was paid to production employees in December 1983 to help them get through the seasonal lay-off period while the rest of the employees received their bonuses at the fiscal year-end. In December 1990, Arctco became a public company, and was forced to change the timing of all its profit sharing bonuses to May, due to investor speculation of Arctco's profitability based on bonuses.

Fire caused damage to a shop area inside the Best Western Inn at Thief River Falls Friday morning. As this issue of the Northern Watch was going to press late Friday morning, firefighters from the Thief River Falls fire department were at the scene of the fire. Smoke was being ventilated from the building. Unofficial statements made at the scene indicate that the fire may have started in the area of a water heater. There were no reported injuries. More information will be in the Wednesday, December 21 issue of The Times.

Local physician is reprimanded by medical board

Minnesota Board of Medical Practice has reprimanded Dr. Richard W. Heinrichs of Thief River Falls.

On November 19 the Minnesota Board of Medical Practice voted to issue an order of reprimand on Dr. Richard Heinrich's license because of his personal involvement with a person who became his patient, according to Robert Leach, Minnesota board of medical practice.

The board reprimanded Heinrichs and required:

• Completion of a professional boundaries course;

• That he have a female health care professional on hand during physical examinations of female patients; and,

• That he continue practice in a health care setting, which employs a program of random follow-up surveys with his patients including female patients to determine satisfaction with overall professionalism and quality of care provided by him.

In addition, he had to pay a civil penalty of $7,500.

The order is the result of an investigation into an incident that began in 1982. During 1982, Dr. Heinrichs and the patient referred to in the order had a personal relationship before she became his patient. She became his patient in 1983 and saw him monthly for medication management.

During monthly office visits they engaged in consensual and hugging and kissing and brief conversations of a sexually suggestive and flirtatious nature. Heinrichs has acknowledged that it was inappropriate to accept her as a patient because of their prior relationship.

In the fall of 1993 Dr. Heinrichs, on his own initiative, took steps to address concerns of the board of medical practice including completion of a boundaries and communication course in the practice of medication.

Mattracks go where wheels won't

Units developed by Glenn Brazier are an innovative concept in 4-wheel drive conversion

by Marvin Luodin
Northern Watch Editor

How impressive is the Mattracks track conversion for four-wheel drive vehicles? Impressive enough to warrant attention on the "What's New" page in the January, 1995 issue of Popular Science magazine.

Designed by Glenn Brazier, who founded National Transmission in Thief River Falls 15 years ago and expanded to Bemidji 10 years ago, the Mattracks system is built in Glenn's home town of Greenbush. It has been in development and testing for two years and was just released for sale to the public this August.

Despite the intricacies of its engineering and design, the beauty of the Mattracks system is how simple it is to install or remove and that it is a low maintenance unit. What is really impressive, however, is how it performs.

Popular Science heads its review "Ultimate Traction," then describes the track system as follows:

"When mud, sand, or snow make terrain nearly impassible, the Mattracks conversion system gives a four-wheel-drive pickup truck tanklike traction on all four wheels. Conversion takes 30 minutes with hand tools, says the manufacturer. The $15,000 system uses Kevlar-reinforced belts and a cogged drive. The 16-inch-wide track tread fits nearly all 4x4 models. National Transmission, 1436 Main Ave. No., Thief River Falls, MN 56701."

Brazier said the company—operating as the track division of National Transmission—has manufacturing facilities in Greenbush and office headquarters in Thief River Falls.

Mattracks Draw Attention

Brazier is accustomed to capturing attention after two years of testing and development resulting in the fifth and present major prototype. Wherever the tracked test vehicles have gone—from city streets to road ditches, flooded fields, swamps, sand dunes, snow drifts and other places a wheeled vehicle would never go—they have roted at least second glances.

Those who have witnessed the Mattracks perform at their best under the worst conditions continue to marvel at what they can do.

"Four-wheel-drive trucks are already perfected," Brazier says. "I feel we have perfected the track system to the point where it is not only dependable but able to perform beyond most people's normal expectations."

Tracks Kind To Environment

Some might fear that a crawler truck that can go almost anywhere it can gain traction is a hazard to the environment. Not so, Glenn says. He maintains the Mattracks system is environmentally kind. Its

108 area students in Who's Who

A total of 108 students from this area are included in the 28th Annual Edition of Who's Who Among American High School Students, 1993-1994.

Who's Who, published by Educational Communications, Inc., Lake Forest, IL, is the largest high school recognition publication in the country. Students are nominated by high school principals and guidance counselors, national youth groups, churches and educational organizations based upon students' academic achievement and involvement in extracurricular activities. Traditionally, 99 per cent of Who's Who students have a grade point average of a 'B' or better and 97 per cent are college bound.

This edition features approximately 720,000 students or just six per cent of the nation's 12 million high school students. They represent about 18,000 of the 22,000 public, private and parochial high schools in the country.

The students also compete for $150,000 in scholarship awards and participate in the publication's annual opinion poll of teen attitudes. The book is distributed to up to 15,000 high schools, colleges, universities and public libraries throughout the country.

Local and area students selected include: Thief River Falls — Jenny Altendorf, Nicolle Armstrong, Vicki Bitzegaio, Nicole Burns, Bobbi Dahlstrom, Renae Forsberg, Sally Hagen, Erika Jensen, Mandy Johnson, Stacey Johnson, Amanda Kennedy, Sarah Leach, Tamie Mooney, Jeanne Nelson, Anne Padilla, Amber Peoples, Becky Phillips, Carson Quesnell, Ben Schmitz, Chris Sorenson, Kelsie Steiger, Travis Torblaa, Christopher Vanyo, Corwin Anderson, Ryan Bendickson, Dan Bjerknes, Wendy Dahl, Robby Farbo, Theresa Glauque, Jesse Hanson, Alyssa Johnson, Matt Johnson, Chad Kaushagen, Trevor Knutson, Rebecca Mattson, Allison Myers, Lisa Odegaard, Rebecca Palmer, Brett Peterson, Justin Phillips, Amanda Rodahl, Heather Shafland, Daniel Spielman, Michelle Stevenson, Christopher Tsukichi.

Brooks — Patti Berberich, Jenny Gayner, Kay Mercil, Shannon Perreault, Jenny Gagner, Jeremy Lee, and Heidi Paradis.

Gatzke — Rod Holte, and Jamie Lunsetter.

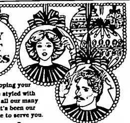
Goodridge — Shonda Anderson, Mandy Brandt, Jamie Berndt, Andrea Dittman, Jennifer Johnson, Ryan Kriel, Leah Vigen, Anthony Kassa, Kari Nelson.

Grygla — Melissa Bernstein, Holly Nordvick, Rachel Rychlock, Brandi Stratton, Jeremy Verbout, Jennifer Wilkens, Sara Newton, Bradley Peterson, Carlye Schuler, Shaunna Thomas, Denny Warne, and Jessica Zavoral.

Middle River — Heather Anderson, Alexis Bengtson, Germaine Carriere, Tanja Lundmark, Molly Rantanen, Kaye Wagner, Aason Beito, Jennifer Carlson, Melissa Lund, Tara Peterson, and Jenny Troskey.

Newfolden — Tiffany Harbott, Jerad Liedberg, Wayne Johnson, and Tracy Olson.

Plummer — Michelle Bamsett, Rachel Demarais, Aaron Rosten, Farrah Brantl, Brad Mossestad, and Patrick Simpson.



St. Hilaire — Danielle Grandbois, Angela Kading, Heather Misson, Angie Hasnedl, Derrick McFarlane, and Paula Zutz.

Strathcona — Amber Kruta, Jennifer Zak, and Angela Lorenson.

Viking — Janette Bjorgaard, Nicol Rockstad, and Heather Larson.

Series of thefts in Fosston last weekend

Fosston — Several separate thefts in downtown Fosston are related, according to Fosston Police Chief Jim Berg. A 1988 GMC Suburban valued at $10,900 was stolen from Haugsrul Auto Sales and two vehicles parked in the downtown area had keys, gloves and a hat stolen from them last weekend. The thefts are under investigation.

Border station is a top construction

International Falls — The U.S. Border Patrol station in International Falls has been recognized as one of the top 10 buildings constructed in the state in 1994 by the Minnesota Chapter of the American Institute of Architects. Eric Kudalis, editor of the organization's official publication, said, "The judges were impressed with the color and vibrancy of the structure. It was definitely the color that got them, like a flag." Larry Millette, architect-critic for the St. Paul Pioneer Press who sat in on the judging said, "I think the judges felt it's kind of a welcoming structure for a place known for its long, grim winters. They liked its energy, its pizaz. It's definitely a looser, less bureaucratic building than what the government often builds."

-Daily Journal

Found money

Red Lake Falls — The City of Red Lake Falls found $69,224.24 last week. City Administrator Todd Bodem was looking through the list of expenses and reserves when he noticed o money account that had not been previously counted in the city's assets. The money had been set aside in case the clinic defaulted on a loan, but the note was paid off and the money was put in reserve. Todem said, "Bruce (Cottew, former city administrator) may have overlooked it when he put together the budget." Finding the money could mean a reduced tax levy for the city next year instead of the proposed 10.5 per cent increase that was planned.

Region jobless rate declines to 3.1 per cent

Unemployment in economic development Region 1, the seven counties of northwest Minnesota, declined to 3.1 per cent in October, according to the Minnesota Department of Economic Security. The rate was 3.7 per cent in September and 4.3 per cent a year ago.

Every county in the region showed a drop in unemployment from September and from October of 1993. Largest percentage decline from a year ago was two percentage points from 5.1 to 3.1 in Pennington county and 7.8 to 5.8 in Red Lake county.

Statewide unemployment was 3.7 per cent—well down from 5.1 per cent a year ago—and the national rate was 5.8 per cent—down from 6.3 per cent a year ago.

Figures for counties in Region 1 are as follows, with rates listed respectively for October 1994, September 1994 and October 1993: Kittson, 3.3, 4.1 and 5.1; Marshall, 7.9, 6.7 and 6.0; Norman, 3.0, 4.3 and 4.1; Pennington, 3.1, 4.1 and 5.1; Polk, 2.5, 2.9 and 3.0; Red Lake, 5.8, 6.5 and 7.8; and Roseau, 2.4, 2.6 and 3.7.

DEATHS

David Fournier, 75

Red Lake Falls — David Fournier, age 75, of rural Red Lake Falls, died Monday, December 12, at Riverview Nursing Home in Crookston where he had resided since October of this year.

Mass of Christian Burial was held Thursday, December 15, at St. Anthony Catholic church in Terrebonne with interment at the church cemetery in the spring.

A complete obituary will be in Wednesday's edition of The Times.

SOUPCON
Sherry LaCoursiere

More Christmas recipes today.

Make this special bread this weekend and freeze until the big day:

Christmas Bread

1 cup melted butter
2 teaspoons salt
2 cakes yeast dissolved in 1/2 cup lukewarm water
8-9 cups flour
1/2 cup chopped almonds
1 cup chopped raisins
2 cups scalded milk
1 cup sugar
1 tablespoon cardamom
1/2 cup sliced candied cherries
1/2 cup citron

Add butter to scalded milk. Add salt and sugar. When lukewarm, stir in yeast which has been dissolved in water.

Stir in 4 cups flour. Put in warm place about 2 hours. Punch down.

Add cardamom, almonds, cherries, raisins and citron. Work in remainder of flour until dough is soft.

Let rise until double. Knead slightly. Divide into 2 pans.

Let rise until double and bake at 350 degrees for 45 to 55 minutes.

Glaze with confectioners sugar icing.

These colorful candy-cookies can be made the last minute and will look frosty and Christmas-y on your cookie tray:

Almond Bark Froot Loop Cookies

2 pounds white almond bark
2 cups crispy rice cereal
2 cups Froot Loops cereal
2 cups colored miniature marshmallows
2 cups salted nuts

Melt almond bark in a double boiler. Mix dry ingredients and pour melted bark over all.

Stir until coated and drop by teaspoonfuls on waxed paper. (Work fast as it hardens fast.)

This recipe makes 4 quarts or 32 servings (4 ounces each) of tasty Christmas punch:

Merry Berry Punch

6 rounded tablespoons lemon-flavored iced tea mix
4 cups ice water
4 cups cranberry-apple drink
4 cups pineapple juice
1 cup strawberries, halved
1 lime, sliced and halved
3 cups chilled ginger ale

Combine tea mix with water. Add cranberry-apple drink and pineapple juice. Chill.

When ready to serve, pour over ice in punch bowl or pitcher.

Garnish with strawberries and lime slices. Pour in ginger ale.

(For alcoholic version, add 1 cup rum before chilling.)

Top off your Christmas meal with this holiday pie:

Egg Nog Pie

1 cup milk
3 egg yolks
1/4 cup sugar
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon gelatin
1/4 cup cold water
1 1/2 teaspoons vanilla or rum flavoring
3 egg whites
1/4 cup sugar
1/2 cup cream, whipped

Scald milk in top of double boiler.

Beat egg yolks and add sugar, nutmeg and salt. Stir in hot milk and return to double boiler and continue cooking and stirring until mixture coats spoon.

Soak gelatin in cold water by letting stand five minutes or until it softens. Add to custard mixture and stir until gelatin dissolves.

Add flavorings.

Beat egg whites until almost stiff. Gradually add 1/4 cup sugar and beat very stiff.

Fold into custard mixture and pour into crumb shell or regular baked shell. Chill for several hours.

Spread with whipped cream flavored to taste and garnish with chopped nuts and/or nutmeg.

Main completes basic training at navy center

Navy Seaman Recruit Ronald J. Main, a 1994 graduate of the area learning center in Thief River Falls, recently completed U.S. Navy basic training at the Recruit Training Command, Great Lakes, IL.

During the eight-week program he completed a variety of classroom study, practical hands-on instruction, an emphasis on physical fitness, naval customs, first aid, fire fighting, water safety and survival and safety skills for working around ships and aircraft.

Instruction was also given on the navy's core values of honor, courage and commitment as they relate to personal and professional conduct.

Some 55,000 men and women will enter the navy this year, training and serving together aboard ships and on shore bases around the world. Basic training also includes preventing sexual harassment and ensuring equal opportunity.

SDSU offers scholarship in Marshall Co.

High school seniors from Marshall county may apply for the Lloyd Thornes scholarships at South Dakota State University.

"The scholarships will be awarded to deserving students from Marshall county who have shown academic excellence and have been active in their community and high school," said Jay Larsen, SDSU financial aid director.

The Lloyd Thornes scholarship recognizes high academic achievement and extra-curricular activities. To apply, seniors must complete the SDSU Academic Scholarship Application and send it to the SDSU financial aid office before January 25.

The Lloyd Thornes scholarship was established by Lloyd Thornes in honor of his home community of Veblen and Marshall county.

Thornes was born in 1910 on the family's homestead in Victor township in Marshall county. He attended elementary school at Victor School No. 1 and helped on the family farm. He started his own farming operation in 1930, and later rented the family farm until retiring in 1975. He received the SDSU Distinguished University Benefactor award in 1985. Thornes died in 1987.

For more information or a scholarship application, contact the SDSU Financial Aid office, Brookings, SD, 57007 or call (605) 688-4696, or contact a high school counselor.

Jay Schantzen gets promotion to army major

Jay Schantzen, MD, son of Darline McGlynn and the late Wilbur J. Schantzen, has been promoted to the rank of major in the U.S. Army Medical Corps in Landstuhl, Germany.

Major Schantzen is a 1979 graduate of Warren high school and 1988 graduate of the University of Minnesota medical school. He has been stationed in Germany since July of 1993.

Kindergarten students in Mrs. Olson's class at Challenger elementary school participated in a program called Penny Harvest. Students collect pennies from their family and then donate them to the local food shelf. This is the third year the class has participated in the program. They also expanded the program to include a math lesson, in which students divided up pennies in cups of 10. They began collecting pennies in the month of November. The pennies were taken to Norwest Bank where they were counted. Students learned that they had raised $51.54. That was matched by Norwest and a check was delivered to the local food shelf in the amount of $103.08.

Party Hunting For Deer Comes Under Fire

A forthcoming case in Todd county brings the issue of party hunting for deer to the front burner of the outdoor hot stove league. The case was brought to greater public attention in a column by outdoor writer Ron Schara in the December 14 issue of the Star Tribune.

According to Schara's column, the case involves 22-year-old Mike Cameron who was arrested by conservation officers for shooting a doe without possession of an antlerless permit. Mike contends he was party hunting with "Jerry", who had a valid doe tag, and shot the deer for him. Jerry, however, was in another woods about seven miles away at the time. The officers confiscated the deer and issued a ticket. Young Mr. Cameron faces a $272 fine, $500 penalty and suspension of hunting privileges if convicted.

Minnesota law allowing party hunting for deer is—perhaps purposely—not too specific. It specifies that the hunters must be hunting "together," but doesn't define what "together" means. Probably no one believed it was necessary to define togetherness...until now.

"Common sense is required here," DNR enforcement information officer Nancy Huonder is quoted as stating in Schara's column. "A party means together to communicate so nobody shoots over the limit."

Conservation officer Mike Grupa is quoted as stating, "We also have party fishing, but that doesn't mean the parties can be on two different lakes. The whole premise of party hunting is to be close enough to not overbag."

We hesitate to predict how any judge would rule, especially when the circumstances leading up to the taking of the deer and the individual bias of any particular judge are unknown to us, but it would seem that a conviction under existing law would be hard to obtain. If the hunting-party members did not take more than the legal number and type of deer that their licenses and permits entitled them to have, the "state" was not harmed by the distance separating the hunters when the deer were taken.

Despite Huonder's and Grupa's rationale on proximity of party hunters, there is no guarantee such proximity will prevent overbagging. Hunters don't need to be very far apart in wooded country to be unaware what their fellow party members are doing. Individual members of a party of five, occupying scattered tree stands in the same woods before first light and agreeing to reconnoiter at 9 a.m., would be hard pressed to tell if any or all of the other four members of their party shot one or more deer before that 9 a.m. rendezvous.

It will be up to the court to decide the matter in question, and many hunters and perhaps others will be interested in the findings. But it is the remainder of Schara's column that we would like to address in this editorial. Schara writes:

"In the meantime, party hunting as a practice deserves to go before another court: deer hunters. It's time the Minnesota Deer Hunters Association, the DNR and other hunters reviewed the party-hunting issue and asked some tough questions.

"Party hunting is an abused rule. Most deer hunters know that.

"Is party hunting really important to the hunt? What personal hunting satisfaction is there in tagging an animal somebody else hunted and killed? Does party hunting promote individual hunting skills and responsibilities or is it merely a meat-gathering ploy?

"Would the fine tradition of deer hunting suffer if the success or failure depended on 'me' instead of 'we'?

"Perhaps you've guessed. Nobody shoots a deer for me."

Mr. Schara's questions invite answers that support his apparent opposition to party hunting. Some would consider his position elitist, but we will stop short of that. Let us rather say that he appears to view deer hunting simply as a sport and states his opinion from that viewpoint. There's nothing wrong with his view—except that his perspective is a little narrow.

Up in this neck of the woods, it seems that the "fine tradition" of deer hunting is "meat gathering." Yes, there is the social atmosphere of deer camps, the gathering of families for the "opener" or for the season, the personal visions of majestic bucks, the lure of the woodlands, the thrill of the hunt, the call of the wild—all the aesthetics that sport hunters acclaim. But the purpose for many hunters is meat gathering.

We don't think deer hunters need to apologize for that. We think most people, including Mr. Schara, would find it preferable for a party hunter to tag a doe another party hunter shot and process it for use as food than for an individual to stalk and kill a trophy buck, hang the head on his or her wall and throw the carcass in a dumpster. The "quality of the hunt" isn't the only consideration.

Schara asks if party hunting promotes individual hunting skills and responsibilities. The question more properly is, "Will party hunting prevent development of individual skills and responsibilities?" It certainly will not. All that party hunting law does is legalize the taking of deer by members of a party for other members of that party. Nothing else changes.

Individual parties may decide among themselves to shoot only bucks, to allow members to shoot only their own deer, to select their method of hunting. Individual license purchasers may decide to hunt with a group or alone. Party hunting allows the elderly, the handicapped, the inexperienced to be part of a group and legally share in the harvest although they may not equally contribute to it in effort or abilities.

If Mr. Schara believes party hunting is an abused rule, he can't begin to imagine the abuses that would take place if party hunting were abolished.

We have no quarrel with Mr. Schara or others who want to test their skills and luck against the wily whitetail on a head-to-head basis, take "personal hunting satisfaction" in their successes and have no regrets if their tag isn't filled. Neither should they demean nor discredit the party hunter with restricted time and budget who may have the same enjoyment of the hunt but is looking for the meat.

Northern Watch Policies

Letters To The Editor: The staff of the Northern Watch encourages written responses to editorial comment or letters with original thoughts or ideas of general interest. Letters should be intended for publication in Northern Watch exclusively; letters sent to multiple publications will generally not be accepted. Right is reserved to edit letters for length and clarity and to reject letters deemed to be promotional in nature or in poor taste.

Letters Must Be Signed: All letters must be signed and contain an address or phone number of the writer so authenticity can be verified. Signatures must appear on letters published. The staff believes that there is greater credibility in letters signed in print and will not withhold names of writers from publication.

Responses Invited: Letters critical of individuals or other entities may be shown to those individuals or representatives of those entities in advance of publication with an invitation by newspaper staff for response in the same issue as the original letter.

Corrections: If an error is made in news or advertising publication, the staff encourages readers to call it to our immediate attention by calling 681-4450. We will attempt to correct the error or clarify the misunderstanding in the next issue.

Rev. Tom Ellison

Missionaries to speak at First Baptist

Missionaries Tom and Mary Lou Ellison will be at First Baptist Church in Thief River Falls on Sunday, December 18. They and their children will meet with the combined Sunday school at 9:45 a.m. and Rev. Ellison will speak and show slides of their work in Japan at the 11 a.m. service.

Rev. Ellison is a graduate of St. Cloud State University and of Bethel Theological Seminary in St. Paul. His wife's parents, the Harris Youngquists, were also missionaries to Japan.

Tom and Mary Lou were married in 1983 and left for Japan in August of 1985. After two years of language study they began church planting in Tokyo and have now completed two terms of missionary service there.

Visitors are welcome to the Sunday morning presentations.

Ben Franklin store joins Chamber of Commerce

Ben Franklin of Thief River Falls recently joined the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce. The store is a recent addition to downtown Thief River Falls. It opened this fall at the corner of Third and Main in the former Woolworth's building.

Paula Randle, store manager, has had a lifetime of experience as her family owns and operates several Ben Franklin stores in Minnesota. She said she has always had in the back of her mind that she would manage a Ben Franklin store. When the family moved a Ben Franklin store into the former Woolworth's store she accepted the challenge and moved to Thief River Falls.

Trends change. Current trends in stores like Ben Franklin, include heavy marketing of crafts. Much of the Ben Franklin store in Thief River Falls is dedicated to crafts. But the store also carries many other things, including a wide range of craft magazines, notions, novelties, pets and pet supplies, and a custom frame shop.

Paula said she has had a lot of positive comments about the store. She's happy to be in Thief River Falls and welcomes everyone to the store. During the holiday season it is open from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Friday, from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Saturday and from noon to 5 p.m. Sunday.

There are 12 employees at the store. Her assistant manager is Sharon Paggen.

Ultimate Health and Fitness is new Chamber of Commerce member

Ultimate Health and Fitness, which is located next to The Times in downtown Thief River Falls, recently became one of the newest members of the Chamber of Commerce.

Ultimate Health and Fitness is owned and operated by Terry L. Vanyo of Detroit Lakes. He has 12 years of health club management, mostly in the Fargo-Moorhead area. Ranada Erickson of Thief River Falls is the manager and aerobics coordinator.

Ultimate Health and Fitness opened its first club in May of 1993 in Detroit Lakes, and will soon be opening its fourth club in Fergus Falls sometime in January.

Vanyo said, "It is our feeling that a town of this size should surely be able to support a full fitness facility. Our idea is to build a strong member base through our aerobics program and if everything goes well, to someday open a multi-purpose club with aerobics, weightroom, and cardiovascular equipment. At this time there is no immediate future plans."

"We really aren't here to compete with anyone, because we feel that our goal is to fill a niche that is being missed — a bigger club concept in smaller markets. You need to have a strong, professionally run facility with great customer service, clean facility and a good product to sell," Vanyo said.

Ultimate Health and Fitness opened its doors on June 27 at 320 Main Avenue North in Thief River Falls. Eighteen classes are offered per week and it prides itself on its variety of times, instructors, music, moves and class formats. Aerobics has come a long way from the old school of high impact moves done at warp speed, Vanyo said.

Ultimate Health and Fitness specializes in safe, comfortable easy to follow moves so your fitness program can last a lifetime. "Yes, we do offer the best in advanced classes, but we feel that the majority of the population is looking for an unintimidating way to start or get back into an exercise program that they are comfortable with. We accommodate this by offering sculpt, step, hi and low, interval, combo and circuit classes at all levels. Our instructors are trained and certified to teach in a manner where the beginner isn't frustrated, and the advanced students isn't bored. The bottom line is we really do try our very best to offer the safest, most enjoyable workout we can in an unintimidating, exciting and fun atmosphere.

"It's not a very fun fact, but the truth is, the average American gains 10 pounds over the holiday season. So, don't wait for your New Year's resolution. Come check us out, your first class is always free and weight management programs are available."

Disabilities affect 48.9 million people in the United States, according to the President's Committee on Employment of People and Dennis West of Options, a resource center for independent living in East Grand Forks.

"The definition of a person with a disability is a mental or physical impairment that substantially limits one or more major life activities," West said. "In October of 1994 there were 675,000 people with disabilities in Minnesota and 123,000 in North Dakota. This is the largest minority group in each state."

"Four million people use a wheelchair for mobility, are deaf or blind," West said. "Obviously, most disabilities are hidden from view. The highest concentration of multiple sclerosis in the world is in northwest Minnesota and northeast North Dakota.

Persons with questions about the Americans With Disabilities Act or other disability issues may call the Options consumer access line at 1-800-726-3692 or 218-773-6100 voice/TDD.

WE WILL BE CLOSING SAT. DEC. 24 AT 3:00 AND CLOSED ALL DAY DECEMBER 25, CHRISTMAS DAY.

Ultimate Health and Fitness, an aerobics center located next to The Times in Thief River Falls, was presented a First Dollar award by chamber of commerce ambassadors. It is owned and operated by Terry L. Vanyo, who plans to open a fourth center in Fergus Falls in January. The manager and aerobics coordinator in Thief River Falls is Ranada Erickson. There are four instructors at the center who either have ACE certification or are in the process of getting a certification. Hours and types of programs vary. For more information call 681-8148. As of January they will also have a Day Care service at the center. Pictured from left are: Regan Rohl, chamber ambassador, Terry Vanyo, Ranede Erickson, Michelle Nellis, future manager of the Fergus Falls center, and Skip Narum, chamber ambassador.

Lutovsky is elected to council office

Brenda Lutovsky, daughter of Darryl and Rene Lutovsky of Thief River Falls, has been elected treasurer of the North Dakota State University Pan Hellenic Council—the governing body of all sororities on campus.

A sophomore in English, Brenda is a member of Kappa Delta sorority, the Phi Eta Sigma Honor Society and the Pan Hellenic Council.

Arctco marks 11th year of profit sharing

A fixed rate longevity bonus is now paid to all Arctco employees in December, which rewards employees for their long-term commitment to Arctco. For example, an employee who has been with Arctco since its inception 12 years ago will receive a $900 longevity bonus this year. Additionally, a much larger portion of the profit sharing bonus is paid to all Arctco employees at the fiscal year-end in May.

"We're proud to be able to say that in the 11-year history of this company, we've always been profitable and we've always shared those profits with our employees," said Twomey.

Arctco, Inc., based in Thief River Falls, designs, engineers, manufactures and markets snowmobiles under the Arctic Cat brand name, and personal watercraft under the Tigershark brand name, as well as related parts, garments and accessories. The company's products are sold through a network of independent dealers located throughout the contiguous United States and distributors representing dealers in Alaska, Canada, Scandinavia and other international markets. The company trades on the NASDAQ market under the symbol ACAT.

What did internationally-acclaimed Chef Greg Taylor use in his latest recipes?
The Original Gold-n-Soft Margarine Surprised?
That little yellow tub you've been saving for your toast does wonders for your recipes, too. Gold-n-Soft is smooth, buttery-tasting, and incredibly easy to blend—even straight from the refrigerator. It's low in saturated fats, cholesterol-free, and so blendable that International Culinary Olympics Gold Medalist Greg Taylor developed an entire recipe collection exclusively for Gold-n-Soft.
So next time you're cooking something special, go for the Gold-n-Soft. It'll be a pleasant surprise.

Smiley 4-H Club members wrapped gifts to be distributed through the "Angel Tree" program Monday night, December 12, at the law enforcement center meeting room. Participating club members included: Jocelyn, Bryanna and Chelsey Helgeland, Alicia Lampe, Brandi Larson, Ryan Lee, Dustin and Lisa Sorteberg, and Laura and Kay Steiger.

Gifts for Grand People, a program supported by Smiley 4-H club, involves bringing gifts to residents at nursing homes. The 4-H club recently visited Oakland Park nursing home and distributed presents to residents of the facility that may not otherwise receive a gift for Christmas. It was the third annual "Gifts for Grand People" club project. Previously, the club has visited Valley Home and the Community Christmas supper guests. Pictured from left are: Vicki Jansen, staff nurse at Oakland Park nursing home, Brandi Larson, Chelsey, Jocelyn, Bryanna Helgeland (seated), and Alicia Lampe.

Kalt has top DHIA herd for October

Kevin Kalt Herd 2 led the Pennington County Dairy Herd Improvement Association for the month of October with an average production of 64.5 pounds of milk and 2.37 pounds of butterfat. During the month 94 per cent of the 36 cows were in milk.

Mark Hanson herd was in second place, followed by Lyle Swanson. The Hanson herd of 60 cows (milked three times a day) was only 78 per cent in milk but averaged 57.6 pounds of milk and 1.82 pounds of butterfat. Swanson's herd of 61 cows, 80 per cent of which were in milk, averaged 52.4 pounds of milk and 1.82 pounds of butterfat.

Other herds in the top 10 include the following with number of cows in the herd, percentage in milk, average pounds of milk and pounds of butterfat produced per day include the following:

Steve Nelson, 54, 94%, 48.5 and 1.83; Walter Bros. Farm, 144, 73%, 48.5 and 1.58; Kelly and Gary Lundeen, 42, 90%, 48.1 and 1.66; Doug and Gloria Barth, 35, 100%, 46.7 and 1.92; Kevin Kalt Herd 1, 64, 73%, 46.7 and 1.68; Hamrick Farms, Inc., 87, 87%, 46.2 and 1.37; and L & R Dairy, 147, 84%, 44.5 and 1.54.

Herd averages include all cows in the herd, including those which are not in production. Some herds will therefore have low average production even though the cows in production are high producers.

During October there were 27 official DHIA herds on test with the Pennington county DHIA.

Prowlers handle Kittson Central 83-63...

TRF boys win home opener

Kyle Sanden and Co. showed flashes Tuesday of being a good high school basketball team. But the Prowlers also made enough second-game mistakes to produce a gym full of head shakers while beating Kittson Central 83-63.

"It was a game of spurts for us," offered Thief River Falls coach Scott Brekke. "We played well in spurts, and we played real bad in spurts. We've got to get rid of those bad spurts. We've got to be more consistent, and I think that will come with time."

The 6-11 Sanden, as expected, was a force in the middle with 24 points. But, as Brekke pointed out, the Prowlers have other weapons, too, as 6-4 sophomore forward Jared Brandt netted 14 points and 6-2 senior guard Nathan Anderson contributed 13, while Eric Bjorgaard (9) and Josh Hedin (8) were both a basket away from joining their teammates in double figures. Hedin, the newcomer in the program after transferring from Carlton, looked like a good fit at point guard.

"Josh did a nice job passing the ball," said Brekke. "They all contributed."

Kittson Central, getting a late start in basketball because of the Wolfpack Nine-Man state championship football season, led briefly at the start, but a run of seven consecutive points by Bjorgaard in a 48-second flurry around the basket wiped out a 6-2 deficit and gave the 2-0 Prowlers a lead they would never surrender.

It was 26-16 at the end of the first quarter, 44-33 at halftime and 68-50 through three quarters.

While the scoreboard spread dipped below double figures just once in the second half – at 44-36 in the first minute – two dozen Thief River Falls turnovers and 17-for-29 Kittson Central free throw shooting kept it from being an official runaway.

"We turned it over too many times," confirmed Brekke. "We rushed things when we didn't have to. We had the lead. We should have been more patient on offense."

Nathan Kasprowicz and Neil Wiese, a pair of senior forwards, led the Wolfpack with 20 and 18 points, respectively.

Thief River Falls shot 57 percent from the field (38/67) and made 7 of 14 free throws. Kittson Central shot 36 percent from the floor (23/64). The Prowlers beat the Hallock-Kennedy cooperative 41-25 on the boards, but it was even at 17-apiece on the offensive end. The Wolfpack turned it over 17 times.

Scoring

	1	2	3	4	T
Kittson Central	15	17	17	15	63
Thief River Falls	26	18	24	15	83

KC - Nathan Kasprowicz 20, Neil Wiese 18, Ryan Schwenzfeier 7, Brett Niles 8, Jacob Hook 10, Brian Huot 1, Jeff Ryden 5.

TRF - Ryan Swenson 2, Dan Bjerkness 3, Josh Hedin 8, Jon Slemker 2, Eric Bjorgaard 9, Nathan Anderson 13, Jared Brandt 14, Kyle Sanden 24, Robby Farbo 7.

Kittson Central guard Brett Niles brought the ball up the court against Thief River Falls defender Josh Hedin during Tuesday's high school basketball game. The Prowlers made their home debut with an 83-63 win over the Wolfpack.

TRF, EGF play to a 2-2 draw

In the eyes of Thief River Falls coach Pat Cullen, there was nothing wrong with coming out of East Grand Forks with a 2-2 overtime tie Tuesday in Section 8A high school hockey.

Especially for a team that had given up 32 goals in losing four straight games after a season-opening 3-2 win over Bemidji.

Improved play in the defensive zone was the difference, according to Cullen. "We played better in our own end," he explained. "We were more disciplined."

Keith Anderson scored both Thief River Falls goals, erasing 1-0 and 2-1 East Grand Forks leads in the process. Bear Landa and Travis Lind both scored in the first period for the Green Wave. Anderson's second goal came at the 3:17 mark of the third period.

Scoring

First period - EGF, Bear Landa (Ross Hollman), 2:02; TRF, Keith Anderson (Andy Furuseth-Nick Chiodo), 8:56; EGF, Travis Lind (Landa-Casey Tice), 14:11.

Second period - none.

Third period - TRF, Anderson (Tim Barry-Furuseth), 3:17.

Overtime - none.

Nordics' balance beats Eagles

A 27-point game by Ben Senger of East Grand Forks Sacred Heart was offset by five Marshall County Central scorers in the 10-to-13-point range Tuesday as the Nordics got by the upset-minded Eagles 57-55 in a boys high school basketball game at Newfolden.

"That (balance) should be a trademark of this team," pointed out Marshall County Central coach Ron Ueland. "We have a number of different kids who can get the job done for us on any given night."

Marshall County Central led 18-17 and 27-22 at the first two quarter stops before Sacred Heart hit 9 of 11 third quarter field goal attempts, including a 3-for-3 showing from 3-point range, to pull even at 43-43 after 24 minutes.

It remained close the rest of the way. The game-winner came on an offensive rebound basket by Kyle Halvorson with 11 seconds left. A final hurried Sacred Heart shot was off the mark.

"They (Eagles) played well," said Ueland. "We played our best game of the year, but we couldn't shake them."

Kent Rokke led the spread-the-wealth Marshall County Central offense with 13 points. Trever Magner finished with 11, while Halvorson, Brandon Borg and Micah Ranum had 10 each. Senger was the only Sacred Heart double figure scorer.

The 2-1 Nordics were 22-for-50 from the field (44 percent) and 8-for-16 at the free throw line. The Eagles connected on 20 of 38 field goal attempts (53 percent) and 9 of 17 free throws. The winners finished with a 31-27 rebound edge. Sacred Heart had more turnovers, 14-11.

Scoring

	1	2	3	4	T
EGF Sacred Heart	17	5	21	12	55
MCC	18	9	16	14	57

EGFSH - Shane Cox 5, Ben Senger 27, Adam Rockstad 7, Chris Meyer 8, Shane Johnson 2, Dave Zavoral 6.

MCC - Micah Ranum 10, Trever Magner 11, Kent Rokke 13, Brandon Borg 10, Terry Olson 2, Kyle Halvorson 10, Craig Ranum 1.

EGF skates past TRF in JV hockey contest

East Grand Forks was a 5-2 winner over Thief River Falls Tuesday in junior varsity high school hockey.

Billy Fogarty and Curt Edwards scored the Thief River Falls goals.

Brian Barry and Brad Inglis combined on 17 saves in the nets for the 3-3 Thief River Falls squad.

Pioneers rank No. 1 in state on defense

Defense is becoming increasingly important for the 1994-95 Northland Community College men's basketball team. And those efforts are reflected in the weekly Minnesota Community College Conference statistics that show the Pioneers, who are giving up 75.5 points per game, currently ranked No. 1 in the state on defense.

Northland bettered that average Tuesday with an 81-68 home court win over NDSU-Bottineau.

"Defense takes a lot of hard work," noted Northland coach Mark Dannhoff. "You have to play good, solid team defense. It's five people playing defense vs. the ball instead of five individuals going one-on-one. We stress it all the time, and the kids are taking pride in their defense."

The Northland defense kept them in the game in the first half when the offense struggled. But after trailing 29-23 at intermission, the offense caught fire, shooting 60 percent over the final 20 minutes, putting together a 20-2 run in the process.

Demond Watson led a balanced Northland attack with 14 points. Anthony Kallod netted 11, while Tim Olson and Gary Carey both scored 10. The Lumberjacks' Eric Morin finished with a game-high 29 points.

The win improved the Pioneers' record to 2-4.

Chaput, RLCC beat RLF

Red Lake County Central was in command, but not completely in control Tuesday as the Mustangs won an 87-67 boys high school basketball game at Red Lake Falls.

"We played in streaks," said Red Lake County Central coach Todd Fore, whose team dropped back-to-back decisions to Fertile-Beltrami and Win-E-Mac by a combined margin of six points before beating the Eagles. "We're still not clicking yet."

The Mustangs led the Eagles at the breaks 23-13, 46-30 and 63-42.

Aaron Chaput scored 29 points to lead the winners, while Scott Lorenson netted 19. Bryce Huotari and Aaron Rosten both contributed 11. Ryan Ulrich and Dan Swendra led the Eagles with 22 and 14 points, respectively.

Red Lake County Central shot well, with a 32-for-62 showing from the field (52 percent) and a 16-for-18 free throw night. Red Lake Falls was 23-for-52 from the floor (44 percent) and 14-for-21 at the line. The Mustangs finished with a 24-20 rebound edge.

Defense leads B/G-MR boys over Warroad

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River trailed 9-0 at the start, but wound up with a 35-point win Tuesday as the Gators handled Warroad 85-50 in boys North Border Conference high school basketball at Greenbush.

Strong defensive pressure, led by senior guards Sheldon Rude and Vance Harren, sparked the winners, who capitalized on 27 Warroad turnovers.

"We played good pressure defense up front, and it created a lot of mistakes on their part," said Badger/Greenbush-Middle River coach Eldon Sparby.

The Warroad turnovers added up to Badger/Greenbush-Middle River points as the Gators posted quarter leads of 16-10, 40-25 and 64-40 in going to 2-0 for the year.

Matt Kuznia hit 9 of 13 shots for a game-high 21 points to lead the Gators' offense. Rude netted 16 and Russell Larson had 11. Tony Jenson led Warroad with 16 points.

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River was 34-for-67 from the field (51 percent) and 12-for-15 at the free throw line. Warroad went 16-for-52 from the floor (31 percent) and 14-for-21 at the line.

Warroad - Ike Miller 2, Todd Morin 8, Tom Otto 2, Nic Thompson 2, Mike Keller 8, Tony Jensen 18, Mike Reinhart 2, Adam Paulson 8, Tim Daniels 8, Dustin Merseth 2.

Red Lake Co. Central ... 69
Lake of the Woods ... 53

Aaron Chaput went over the 1,000-point mark for his high school basketball career with a 36-point show that carried two-time defending tournament champion Red Lake County Central past Lake of the Woods 69-53 in Game 2.

Chaput, a 6-2 junior, started the game needing 27 points to join the 1,000 Point Club. He got 21 of those in the first half, when he had 8 of the Mustangs' 10 field goals, and surpassed the milestone midway through the third quarter.

The Mustangs opened the second half with a 12-0 run to break open a close game. The lead changed hands 11 times and was tied on four occasions in the first half that ended with Red Lake County Central on top 27-25.

NCC Invitational

■ Quarterfinals Thursday - Warroad 56, East Grand Forks Sacred Heart 32; Red Lake County Central 69, Lake of the Woods 53; Grygla-Gatzke 56, Kittson County North 35; Goodridge 71, Red Lake Falls 54.

■ Semifinals Friday - (championship round) Warroad vs. Red Lake County Central, 8:30 p.m.; Grygla-Gatzke vs. Goodridge, 8 p.m.; (consolation round) East Grand Forks Sacred Heart vs. Lake of the Woods, 2:30 p.m.; Kittson County North vs. Red Lake Falls, 4:15 p.m.

■ Finals Saturday - seventh place, 2:30 p.m.; consolation, 4:15 p.m.; third place, 6:30 p.m.; championship, 8 p.m.

Scoring

Grygla-Gatzke ... 56
Kittson Co. North ... 35

Grygla-Gatzke out-scored Kittson County North 34-8 in the second half as the Eagles advanced with a 56-35 win in the first portion of the evening doubleheader session.

A slow start found Grygla-Gatzke trailing 27-22 at halftime, but the Eagles' intensity picked up after intermission and the Cougars' offensive production dropped dramatically. Kittson Central was just 3-for-12 from the field and 2-for-7 at the free throw line over the final 16 minutes.

Jeremy Verbout of Grygla-Gatzke led all scorers with 21 points.

Scoring

Goodridge ... 71
Red Lake Falls ... 54

Brady Wiseth scored 10 straight points to open the second half and finished with 29 as Goodridge completed Day 1 with a 71-54 final-game victory over Red Lake Falls.

First three quarters all ended on buzzer-beating baskets – a 3-pointer by the Huskies' Benji Marquis to close out a 16-6 Goodridge first quarter; a half-court throw by the Eagles' Jeff Martell to cut into a 33-20 Goodridge lead at halftime; and a 15-footer by Red Lake Falls' Jeremy Moran that closed a 52-37 third quarter.

But is was the scoring binge by Wiseth, a 5-11 senior, in the first 1:39 of the second half that put the game out of reach as he hit a 3-pointer, connected from the side, dropped another trey, and finished off a fast break.

Scoring

Crookston beats Thief River Falls in Thursday dual

Six seniors gave Crookston an edge that produced a 102-79 dual meet boys high school swimming win over visiting Thief River Falls Thursday.

"We hung in there pretty well," said Thief River Falls coach Ryan Lokken. "When we swim against each other it seems to bring out the best in both teams. The efforts were unreal on both sides."

A win in the 500-yard freestyle by Chris Pribula highlighted the Prowlers' efforts, according to Lokken.

Marshall Co. Central girls record first win

Tricia Pederson scored 20 points Tuesday to lead Marshall County Central past Stephen 45-40 in the third place game of the Tri-County Holiday Invitational girls high school basketball tournament in Karlstad.

It was the first win after four season-opening losses for the Nordics.

A key, according to Marshall County Central coach Tom Mjelde, was the Nordics' ability to handle the Tigers' full-court pressure – a defense that has been giving them trouble. "We cut our turnovers in half (15)," pointed out Mjelde. "We went to a different press-breaker and did a nice job with it."

Stephen led 13-9 and 19-16 at the first two quarter stops before Marshall County Central went ahead 34-26 in the third quarter.

Jenny Smith led the Tigers with 19 points.

Marshall County Central was 20-for-48 from the field (42 percent) and 5-for-12 at the free throw line. Stephen made only 17 of 54 field goal attempts (31 percent) while hitting the only three free throw attempts they were awarded. The Tigers had a 31-24 rebound edge, and turned it over 16 times.

Tri-County Holiday Invitational

■ Semifinals Monday - Argyle 45, Stephen 37; Tri-County 66, Marshall County Central 42.

■ Finals Tuesday - (championship) Argyle 45, Tri-County 41; (third place) Marshall County Central 45, Stephen 40.

TRF basketball JV defeats Crookston

Derrick McFarlane scored 12 points, Paul Kopari 11 and Jon Blomker 10 Tuesday as the Thief River Falls boys junior varsity high school basketball team beat Kittson Central 57-36.

The winners trailed 10-9 at the first quarter stop, but went ahead 27-16 at halftime and had a 40-25 third quarter spread.

Shooting, turnovers cost TRF girls

Turnovers and poor shooting proved once again to be a deadly combination for the Thief River Falls girls high school basketball team as the 1-4 Prowlers lost a 63-42 game at Crookston.

The two teams played to a 12-12 first quarter draw and the Pirates led only 31-25 at halftime before pulling away in the second half when the shooting (24 percent) and turnovers (27) took a toll on the Prowlers. It was 45-32 at the end of the third quarter.

"I thought we played some pretty good defense, but the offense just wasn't there," reported Thief River Falls coach Sally Wiltse. "The turnovers were definitely a factor, and we just didn't shoot well."

Kim Stenseth scored 13 points, but the 5-10 sophomore was the only Thief River Falls scorer in double figures. Jenny Bruun netted a game-high 16 points to lead a group of four Crookston scorers in double digits.

The Prowlers were 14-for-58 from the field and 15-for-27 at the free throw line. The Pirates went 28-for-69 from the floor (41 percent) and 7-for-10 at the line. The rebounds were even at 32-apiece. The Prowlers had 21 offensive rebounds, but that figure was not reflected in the scoring column. The Pirates turned it over 19 times.

Gators win first game at W-A-O Invitational

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River handled Fosston 70-50 Thursday in the first round of the Warren-Alvarado-Oslo Invitational girls high school basketball tournament.

With the Gators building quarter leads of 16-8 36-18 and 57-29, Badger/Greenbush-Middle River reserves saw extended playing time, but starters Heather Anderson (20), Krissi Super (17) and Jessica Borgen (12) still combined for 49 points. Super also had 10 rebounds and 8 assists.

"We played real well against their box-and-one defense," pointed out Badger/Greenbush-Middle River coach Tom Neibauer.

The Gators were 32-for-65 from the field (49 percent) and 4-for-9 at the free throw line, where the Greyhounds went 8-for-11.

Northland men's team is third at Gogebic tourney

An overtime win against University of Wisconsin-Fond Du Lac helped erase the disappointment of an opening round semifinal defeat at the hands of Midstate Tech as Northland Community College came up with a third place finish in the men's portion of the Gogebic Invitational basketball tournament played Saturday and Sunday at Ironwood, Michigan.

Defending Wisconsin state champion Midstate Tech of Wisconsin Rapids made 12 of 17 free throw compared to a 1-for-3 game at the line for Northland in the Pioneers' 67-61 first round loss.

Chad Kujava scored 21 points and Ryan Rislov had 11 for the Pioneers.

"We felt we out-played them most of the game," said Northland coach Mark Dannhoff. "We felt we deserved to win."

Northland struggled in the third place game, facing a 10-point deficit with five minutes left before a dramatic finish – a rebound basket by high-jumping Demond Watson in heavy traffic at the buzzer – tied the game 70-70.

The Pioneers, with Preston Treat scoring seven of his 10 points in overtime, out-scored the Wisconsin squad 17-7 in the extra sessions.

"We were disappointed we were not in the championship game, but it was nice to pick up that first win," noted Dannhoff, whose team lost its first four starts this winter.

Strong play of the bench was the key, said Dannhoff. That included performances by Gary Carey, who scored 18 points and grabbed 12 rebounds, Ivan Hurst with 12 points and 9 rebounds, plus Treat, a freshman from Thief River Falls and a recent addition to the team. Demond Watson joined them in double figures with 14 points.

Win-E-Mac downs RLCC boys squad in two-point upset

Win-E-Mac surprised Red Lake County Central 64-62 in a late-reported Friday night boys high school basketball game at Oklee.

"It was a nightmare," said Red Lake County Central coach Todd Fore. "We didn't play well at all."

The Mustangs, who made just 5 of 13 free throw attempts, led 17-16 at the end of the first quarter, but fell behind 36-31 at halftime and trailed 49-46 through three quarters.

Aaron Chaput scored a game-high 29 points for Mustangs. Jared Finseth led the Patriots with 20.

Pioneers break into win column

■ Northland women beat NDSU-Bottineau

A height advantage helped the Northland Community College women's basketball team snap a season-opening four-game losing streak Tuesday as the Pioneers beat visiting NDSU-Bottineau 71-61.

Northland's inside combination of Kelli Kronschnabel and Angel Mickelson combined for 32 points and 26 rebounds against the smaller Lumberjacks. Kronschnabel, a 6-0 sophomore from Fertile, scored 18 points and grabbed 13 rebounds, while Mickelson, a 5-10 freshman from Oklee, netted 14 points and matched Kronschnabel's 13 rebounds.

"We were bigger than they were, and those two (Kronschnabel and Mickelson) had a field day," noted Northland coach Rick Nikunen.

The Pioneers, returning from the Gogebic Invitational Saturday and Sunday in Ironwood, MI, led only 28-26 at halftime, but controlled play in the second half.

"We played pretty well," said Nikunen. "We were tired from our trip and we were sluggish in the first half. But we plugged away in the first half, and we found our second wind in the second half. We shot the ball really well in the second half."

While Kronschnabel and Mickelson were doing a number on the Lumberjacks inside, 5-6 sophomore guard Denise Johnson was scoring a team-high 19 points from the outside. Andrea Nero of NDSU-Bottineau led all scorers with 25 points.

The win reflected the Pioneers' steadily improved play, according to Nikunen. "Every game out you can see we're improving," he said. "It may not be happening as fast as I would like, but it's coming along so I can't be too disappointed."

Scoring

NDSU-Bottineau	26	35	61
Northland	28	43	71

NDSU-Bottineau - Andrea Nero 25, Dana Hunt 2, Emmy Loden 15, Mandie Deschamp 1, Nada Parisien 12, Jennifer Helms 2.

Northland - Carrie Olsen 2, Marcy Olsen 6, Alana Splide 6, Denise Johnson 15, Gina Solvereon 4, Kristy Johnson 2, Kelli Kronschnabel 16, Angel Mickelson 14

NCC women finish 0-2 at Gogebic Invitational

Gogebic and Mesabi handed Northland Community College a pair of losses in the women's portion of the Gogebic Invitational basketball tournament played Saturday and Sunday at Ironwood, Michigan.

Playing the host team following a long trip meant trouble for the Pioneers in the opening round 61-40 semifinal loss to Gogebic.

"We struggled the whole game," reported Northland coach Rick Nikunen, whose team shot just 29 percent from the field. "It was a long ride for us to get there, and Gogebic has a deep bench. They just wore us down."

Kelli Kronschnabel scored 14 points and Angel Mickelson had 10 for the Pioneers.

Northland had a 35-21 halftime lead against Minnesota Community College Conference rival Mesabi in the third place game, but faded in the second half of a 63-51 loss.

Twenty-six percent shooting resulted in the 16-point second half offensive output.

"We executed well, but the ball just wouldn't go in for us," explained Nikunen.

Denise Johnson led the Pioneers with 16 points.

RLCC girls lose to RLF

The Red Lake County Central offense never showed up Thursday as the Mustangs lost a 51-31 girls high school basketball decision to Red Lake Falls at Oklee.

"It was a poor offensive showing," acknowledged Red Lake County Central coach Rick Koivisto. "We stood around, and our passing wasn't very good."

Twenty-five turnovers limited the Mustangs to 41 field goal attempts. They made just 11 (27 percent).

The Eagles were 23-for-73 from the field (32 percent) and 2-for-6 at the free throw line, were the Mustangs went 9-for-15.

Meckenzie Malwitz had a 14-point, 10-rebound game for the Mustangs, who fell to 2-3.

Scoring

	1	2	3	4	T
RLF	12	12	14	13	51
RLCC	8	4	7	14	31

RLF - Kari Thompson 7, Jenny Byers 10, Sara Byers 12, Sara Seeger 3, Nikki Mattke 2, Molly Demarais 4, Shelly Audette 5, Sara Kees 3.

Wheat Growers hold Program

Wheat growers from northwestern Minnesota were involved in the Minnesota Statesman Program which held meetings in Grand Forks, ND, Monday and Tuesday.

Individuals selected to participate in the program were Ronald Anderson, Hallock; Steve Biille, Wolverton; Lyle Christianson, Halstad; Bruce Hamnes, Stephen; Curtis Swanson, Thief River Falls; Lorri Hartel, Tracy Sayler, Kris Versdahl, Marvin Zutz and David Torgerson, all Red Lake Falls.

The Statesman Program has been active in the major wheat-producing states of Colorado, Idaho, Minnesota, Montana, North Dakota, Oregon, South Dakota, Wyoming and Washington.

At the sessions in Grand Forks the participants learned about environmental and trade issues affecting the wheat industry and participated in unique training sessions and a variety of discussions on issues such as the Clean Water Act and the North American Fair Trade Agreement.

ASK YOUR LOCKSMITH Questions And Answers
I'm considering purchasing a safe for my home. Where should I go to buy one: an office supply store, hardware store/discount store, or a locksmith?
Although many stores may sell safes, rarely do their personnel have the level of expertise of most locksmiths. Not only is buying the right safe important, but servicing it also should be a primary concern of the customer. Buy from a source that can meet all your needs. Select a locksmith who sells and services safes.

Most recent testing of the Mattracks conversion unit manufactured at Greenbush by the track division of National Transmission in Thief River Falls was in the snow and mountains of West Yellowstone, MT. The unit's performance drew admiration from those who had an opportunity to try it or just watch it being tested.

salvation is in the amount of track surface area it puts on the ground—26 square feet of bearing surface for the four tracks.

"Look at it this way," Glenn explains. "A conventional 4x4 pickup with tires exerts 40 pounds per square inch of down pressure where the round tire contacts the ground surface. The average man creates 6.8 pounds per square inch of down pressure each time he takes a step. With the Mattracks system on a conventional 4x4, the down pressure created is only 1.5 pounds per square inch."

This flotation, along with the traction of the six-ply rubber and Aeromas fabric track, is what allows the Mattracks system to work so well under such a wide variety of surface areas and conditions. The track is flexible, durable and self-cleaning.

"We have a specific reason for doing everything the way we do it in manufacturing these units," Glenn said. "We don't leave anything to chance."

Conversion Quick and Simple

"In half an hour two people can convert a truck from wheels to tracks and in another half hour they can change it back again," Glenn said. "It's basically as simple as changing tires. No other product offers that. You have the advantage of the tracks for off-road use with the option to quickly convert back to wheels for normal driving. The vehicle doesn't have to be tied up with tracks for a long period of time."

Nor does the vehicle have to be a pickup truck. Using the track system on other four-wheel-drive vehicles—such as a GMC or Chevrolet Suburban-type or van—makes an extremely comfortable unit for transporting a number of people through snow, mud or sand. Turning radius is unchanged with the tracks in place and the track design provides a smooth ride on hard surfaces as well as additional clearance and unbelievable traction off the beaten path.

Development No Surprise

One shouldn't be surprised that Brazier has developed the concept of Mattracks. He is part of an inventive and enterprising family, including several brothers and sisters involved in other very successful manufacturing enterprises.

But Glenn gives credit for the idea of interchangeable tracks to his son, only 12 years old when the concept originated two years ago. "He was always drawing trucks and everything he drew had tracks on it," Glenn said. "I guess you would have to say the idea came from Matt—that's why we call 'em Mattracks."

So far Brazier has been encouraged by the far-flung interest as evidenced by the Popular Science item. Most of the promotion so far has been through displays and demonstrations at about a dozen trade and equipment shows. The marketing effort through a dealer network is just getting underway.

"There are a large number of uses for a tracked vehicle like this," Glenn said, "but I'm sure there are many uses that haven't yet come up and we won't be surprised when they are brought to our attention."

In tests the units have been used by utility companies, farmers, ranchers, sportsmen, snowmobile associations and many others with great success.

"It is amazing how well it works in six feet of fresh snow in the mountains of West Yellowstone," Brazier said. "When I say that what it can do is unbelievable, I mean it. Sometimes I have a hard time believing it myself."

Not restricted to use on pickups, the Mattracks conversion system turns a Suburban-type unit or van into a vehicle capable of transporting passengers through snow, mud or sand with exceptional comfort.

Local physician is reprimanded

The Board of Medical Practice is a state agency that regulates physicians, physical therapists, physician assistants, respiratory care practitioners and athletic trainers.

Larry McDowell, Northwest Medical Center board chairman, released the following statement:

"Northwest Medical Center has been advised by Richard W. Heinrichs, M.D., a member of its medical staff, that the Minnesota Board of Medical Practice has on November 19, 1994, issued an Order of Reprimand for conduct unbecoming a medical doctor in the State of Minnesota.

"Even though Dr. Heinrichs is an independent medical practitioner, Northwest Medical Center is concerned when any member of its medical staff has admitted to inappropriate behavior that may affect patient care and the hospital's mission to provide that care.

"While the hospital was not contacted by the Board of Medical Practice during its proceedings, nor was it a participant in the decision of the Minnesota Board of Medical Practice in this matter, the hospital, through its medical staff and the board of directors, has in place provisions to review the care provided by members of its medical staff to see that care rendered is appropriate and in accordance with accepted standards of practice.

"This matter will be reviewed by the hospital and its medical staff in keeping with its mission to provide its patients with the quality of hospital care expected in this community."

Friday morning, Dr. Heinrichs, through his attorney Kurt Marben, released the following statement:

"This incident was a mistake that I clearly made. Even though the board's action deals with activities that occurred years ago, they are no less painful, embarrassing and humiliating to me today than when I realized my errors in judgement. I have learned the lesson of my past mistake well. I want to assure my patients and the public that I have increased my sensitivity and understanding of the essential boundaries that must be maintained in the practice of medicine.

"I have cooperated fully with the medical board so that I can put this incident of years ago behind me and continue doing what is most important to me, namely looking after the everyday family health care needs of my patients."

Jan Nyflot, administrator of Dakota Clinic in Thief River Falls, released the following statement:

"The Dakota Clinic, Thief River Falls, regrets the incidents in 1982 involving Dr. Richard Heinrichs.

"Dr. Heinrichs has practiced in Thief River Falls for over 20 years. During this time he has consistently provided high quality medical care while enthusiastically and energetically working to improve and expand our medical community. He is an asset to our clinic and our community and we look forward to him continuing to serve his colleagues, patients, and community.

"It has been a Dakota Clinic policy for several years that a female health attendant be present during all female examinations."

As the Northern Watch was going to press, Dakota Clinic physicians released the following statement, which is signed by 13 physicians at the clinic:

"We would like to express our regrets for the incidents in 1982 involving our colleague Dr. Richard Heinrichs. For over 20 years Dr. Heinrichs has worked energetically and diligently to improve the quality and availability of medical care in our community. His enthusiasm for Thief River Falls and his leadership played a major role in many of our personal decisions to practice here. He has learned from this mistake and we all look forward to his continued years of service to our community. We feel fortunate to have Rick Heinrichs as our colleague, partner and friend."

Snow clouds cause accidents

The snow has finally arrived in Minnesota, and snowplows are on roadways throughout the state working to keep our travels snow and ice free.

Snow clouds are large, dense clouds of blowing snow, frequently caused by larger, slower moving vehicles, such as snowplows. Motorists do not often know how to handle an encounter with these snow clouds.

Nobody can be sure what they will encounter when driving into a snow cloud. Drivers cannot be sure what type of vehicle is creating the cloud, what lane it is in, or at what speed the vehicle is traveling. Snow clouds can cause instant white-out conditions, and drivers may find themselves lost in a cloud of snow with no idea where the road is. People driving into snow clouds account for many snowplow accidents, even during daylight hours.

County board discusses Long's bridge controversy

Discussion over the fate of Long's bridge and over where to place its replacement, have some of the neighbors in the area pitted against each other.

Property owners have many concerns other than cost, however cost was an important issue. They are very concerned about losing property, losing their view of the river, and increased traffic.

The issue of what option is more cost efficient was a sticking point in the discussion at the beginning of the meeting. In attempting to get a handle on the costs associated with each of the four options discussed at a previous meeting, one property owner challenged the figures printed in the media.

As printed earlier, Option 1, replace the bridge at its current site, had a cost estimate of $450,000. Option 2 and 3 would move the bridge 350 feet upstream, and had a cost estimate of $390,000. No cost estimate was provided for Option 4, which would move the bridge north to County road 63. Under options two and three, the county would receive $500,000 in state aid, and the county would provide $170,000 for grading and purchase of right of way.

But, Delton Schulz, county engineer, explained that county figures released at the previous meeting were "blue sky" estimates.

A representative of the engineering firm hired by the county to prepare bridge specifications and cost estimates, however, wants to know what option the county likes before preparing specifications and estimates. The county is also waiting for the Minnesota department of natural resources to comment on the plan.

County Commissioner Skip Swanson, noted, that if the DNR rules against the plan, it could also work in the favor of the county.

Discussion Tuesday highlighted the fact the county and property owners only have vague estimates on which to base any comparison of options. The engineering firm representative said that once an option is chosen it would be about six weeks before a detailed cost estimate could be available.

County Commissioner Elect Bob Carlson said there was another option. He suggested an option of not having any bridge. Carlson said the people living on the other side of the bridge are not landlocked. There is another road that will take them to their homes.

Later in the meeting, this comment brought a rough response from some of the property owners, who explained it would be like being moved four miles out into the county, and suggested moving Carlson four miles out into the county. Carlson said he liked it where he was, to which another person in the audience said, "now you know what we want."

Replacement of the bridge has been in the county's five year road and bridge plan for a number of years, but was moved to the front burner because of the rapid deterioration of the bridge. Currently it has one of the lowest sufficiency ratings in the state. In addition, funds for the project at the state level, became available much faster than anticipated.

Commissioners Bud Comstock and Don Jensen both doubted whether the funds would be as available in the future. The county engineer did not want to speculate.

When pressed about what his recommendation to the board would be, Schulz said he would probably recommend Option 3, which would relocate the bridge 350 feet north of its current site.

The meeting Tuesday afternoon was held to provide property owners an opportunity to express their opinions on the project. The county board did not make any decisions regarding Long's bridge.

Thief River Linen of Thief River Falls now has its own permanent display area in the International Home Furnishings Market in High Point, NC. The 1,000 square feet of space is used for display and sales of the company's product during the two major markets which are held each year for about two weeks in the spring and the fall.

Thief River Linen has many new milestones

by Marvin Lundin
Times Editor

In the span of every life and the life of every business there are memorable happenings that form mental or historical milestones. For Thief River Linen, and its founder Linda Bentson, 1994 has been a year of several of them.

"For one, we have moved once again," she said. After a modest start in the downtown Lieberman building on LaBree Avenue seven years ago, the company moved to the Forsberg's building on Conley Avenue, and for the past five years has been in the former Soo Line building off Davis Avenue. The recent move was to the School District 564 service center building in space vacated when pre-school programs moved to the new Challenger elementary school.

"This move has given us more than twice the space we had in our last location," Bentson said, "but we made the move without any interruption in business—we didn't even miss a phone call—and we need to do some things to organize the clutter."

Another milestone was securing a permanent display of 1,000 square feet at the International Home Furnishings Market in High Point, North Carolina. The local company has shared display space for the 10 previous shows held at the Market, but now has its own space with its name above the door.

The International Home Furnishings Market is the site of two major shows each year, when two weeks are devoted to showing product and making sales to buyers from throughout the world. The fall show completed in late October provided Thief River Linen with a rush of business.

Show Sales Tripled

"This was a great show for us," Linda said. "Our total sales tripled from the previous market and more and more people are recognizing the Thief River Linen name and our reputation for being a good company with good products."

Success of the October show contributed to yet another milestone for the company—making 1994 the first calendar year with a sales volume of half a million dollars. "It may not seem like a lot to some businesses," she said, "but it looks big to us."

Recognition is a vital notch in the key to success in the pillow, bedding and accessories business. By aligning itself with both established and innovative people and businesses and paying careful attention to quality and trends in the industry, Thief River Linen has managed to occupy a widening niche in the market. Companies are beginning to initiate contact when they have needs the local company can fill.

Cutter Sharon Gilbertson and shipper Patti Gerezewski get together to figure out the best cut on a bolt of fabric at Thief River Linen in Thief River Falls. The company recently moved into space at the School District 564 service center, more than doubling the area it previously had available in the former Soo Line building. The company now has eight full-time, in-house employees and employs about 15 women who sew products in their homes.

City fails State pay equity test

Thief River Falls has been notified by the Minnesota department of employee relations that it is not in compliance with the local government pay equity act. Specifically, the city is not in compliance with the act's exceptional service pay test.

The city council discussed the notice and several other items at its regularly scheduled meeting Tuesday evening.

To pass the exceptional service pay test, the city must score 80 per cent or better. The city had a test score of 66.28 per cent. A score below 80 per cent means that the percentage of male classes receiving exceptional service pay is more than 20 per cent greater than the percentage of female classes receiving exceptional service pay. To calculate this score, the percentage of female classes receiving exceptional service pay is divided by the percentage of male classes receiving exceptional service pay.

City Administrator Roger DeLap explained that the city is not in compliance because it requires that employees work for the city five years before receiving exceptional pay. Many female employees have not worked more than five years with the city. DeLap said he intends to consult with the city's attorney and appeal their case.

Councilman Frank Hamerlinck pointed out that this is a very serious situation because the fines for non-compliance can be outrageous.

■ A request to the city to become a fiscal agent was tabled.

A request for the city to become the fiscal agent for a proposed Thief River Falls baseball association was tabled by the council. It was suggested to the representatives of the organization, Charlotte Bjorgaard and John Rokke, that they obtain their own non-profit status.

Bjorgaard explained the association intends to combine the Babe Ruth, American Legion and VFW baseball programs. She said such an organizations would be able to support a stronger program, and would be more efficient.

■ Several areas were annexed into the city.

USDA to extend and target CRP contracts

Secretary of Agriculture Mike Espy has announced that the Department of Agriculture will take several actions regarding the Conservation Reserve Program (CRP), including modifying and extending CRP contracts, improving the targeting of the CRP to more environmentally sensitive acres, and using conservation easements on the most environmentally sensitive acres.

"The CRP has been a tremendously beneficial program for producers and for the general public," Espy said. He added that the CRP has saved soil expanded wildlife habitat and populations, improved soil, air and water quality, enhanced wetlands and encouraged tree plantings.

"At the same time," he said, "it has reduced deficiency payments, strengthened farm income and helped balance the supply and demand of agricultural commodities. The actions announced today will enable the department to maintain substantial CRP participation and target the CRP to achieve enhanced environments and conservation benefits."

During the 1995 calendar year, the department will consider requests from CRP participants to be released from their CRP contracts or to modify their current contracts to reduce the amount of acreage subject to them. The department will also request and consider bids from producers to enroll new acreage in the CRP program subject to new 10-year contracts. To be accepted, the new acreage will have to meet higher environmental and conservation criteria and provide significant soil erosion, water quality or wildlife benefits. Only the most environmentally beneficial acres would be selected for new contracts.

In addition, the amount of new acreage which may be enrolled will not exceed the maximum amount allowed under law. The department will also establish criteria to ensure that acreage released from current CRP contracts in 1995 can be properly managed for conservation purposes.

In order to target the CRP toward the most environmentally sensitive acres, the department anticipates that the acreage which will be released from current CRP contracts under this action is acreage that would likely be returned to production upon the expiration of the contract.

"By providing an opportunity for CRP participants to request an early release from their contracts, we will be able to retarget the CRP and enroll new, more environmentally sensitive acres under new 10-year contracts," Espy said.

In addition to this action in 1995, the secretary announced that the department intends to offer all CRP participants the opportunity to modify and extend their contracts upon maturity, beginning in 1996. The Secretary of Agriculture is authorized under the provisions of the Food, Agriculture, Conservation

Northrop, Knox properties go to Mpls. developer

Sale of Northrop and Knox elementary school properties to Dunbar and Associates of Minneapolis was approved by the School District 564 board of education at its regular meeting December 12.

Recommendation for the sale had come from the board's finance committee and was presented to the board by board member Cheryl Lee. Sale of each of the properties was for $5,000 and includes the entire Knox school building and site and the Northrop building and site with the exception of the north 225 feet of the property which would be retained and given to the city for development of a park area.

Dunbar's proposal was the only one received for the Knox property while there were three proposals received for the Northrop property. Others were for $1 from the local Occupational Development Center, which proposed to use the existing building for administrative, education and training area, and from the local swimming pool committee which expressed interest but made no specific proposal.

Jay Portz from the Dunbar company told The Times Tuesday that the company had recently been informed that it had been awarded the properties and had not entered

Few people attend county truth in taxation meeting

Pennington county's demand for revenue for the operation of county government was rather minimal, as far as tax increases go. However, a state mandated increase in property values by 10 per cent, and another 5 per cent increase in property values in at least one township, pushed some property tax increases to the 40 per cent range. Despite these kinds of increases, only a few people turned out for the Truth in Taxation meeting held Tuesday at the county courthouse in Thief River Falls.

Ken Olson, county auditor, explained that there are a number of reasons why property taxes increase. Olson used a chart prepared for the Thief River Falls truth in taxation meeting that explained the five reasons for property tax increases: change in the market value of property; change in the state tax classification rates; changes in the tax levy requests; changes in a property tax classification; and a change in the overall market value of the county.

Tuesday evening was not the time set aside for property owners to appeal their property taxes or market valuations. It provided property owners an opportunity to examine how the county plans to spend its tax dollars. Anyone with a concern about their individual property taxes should contact the county assessor.

Pennington county plans to levy for $2,897,585, a total net levy increase over last year of 9.7 per cent. Other revenues, including licenses, permits, state aid and other sources, will bring the total revenue budget to $10,026,606. Last year, the total was $8,964,917. By percentage, property taxes only account for 28.9 per cent of the county's revenue budget. Intergovernmental revenue accounts for 43 per cent. The remainder comes from property aid, bond proceeds, charge services, interest, licenses and fines, and other taxes.

Total government expenditures are expected to reach $10,026,606, with the highway department and welfare departments eating up the largest percentage of the budget pie.

The largest budget increase among the various funds this year, occurred in the road and bridge fund. Olson said that fund had not increased for roughly five years. Due to a number of circumstances, such as plans for the replacement of Long's bridge, the fund demands increased. Of the increase, the county will levy for $600,000 instead of the $487,000 it has levied for many years, and the rest will come from state aid.

The welfare budget increased by about five per cent this year. Olson noted that the welfare fund plans to spend down some of its reserves — to the tune of $165,000.

Determining what will take place with the solid waste facility is tough, because SwisCorp is supposed to take over the facility this year. The county began levying for the solid waste facility in 1992. Previously, the funds needed for the facility were taken from revenue fund reserves. A total of $213,750 is being levied for the facility this year. Olson noted that this year, the county came out "in the hole" because much of the waste is being taken directly to the landfill.

The county has eliminated much of its debt service. Beginning in 1993, the levy includes a three-year capital equipment bond for purchasing an ambulance and also the additional bond for construction of the composting facility. In 1994, there was no levy for Oakland Park Home bonds and only a $7,000 levy for LEC bonds. In 1995, the bond levy is for the solid waste facility and the ambulance only.

Anyone with questions on the budget or taxes may contact the county auditor or county assessor.

Community Education Department schedules a variety of winter classes

Community education department of School District 564 offers a variety of winter classes for people of all ages and many interest areas, according to Jane Mattson, director.

To register for classes, stop at the community education office in the school district service center at 230 LaBree Avenue South between 9 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. Monday through Thursday. Registration can also be made by mail to that address or by using an after-hours drop box just inside the main entrance to the service center. The drop box is available from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. and registration materials are available adjacent to the box.

No phone registrations are accepted. Fee payment must accompany registrations and all registrations must be received on week prior to the start of class unless otherwise stated.

Among the courses offered are the following:

"Let's Dance" for beginners and advanced will be taught by Bill and Barb Fahey Fridays, February 3, 10, 17 and 24 from 7 to 9:30 p.m. at the Eagles club. The classes are open to people 18 years of age and older and cost is $30 per couple.

Calligraphy will be taught by Lana Sandahl January 23 and 30 from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. in the district service center for a fee of $10.

Understanding the stock and bond markets will be taught by Norm Auger in five weekly sessions beginning January 10 from 7 to 8:30 p.m. in the district service center. Cost is $5.

Spoken Spanish will be taught by Sheryl Novacek Tuesdays from January 17 through February 28 from 7 to 9 p.m. in room 213 at Lincoln high school. Cost will be $30.

Dog etiquette will be instructed by Anita Cardinal Tuesdays, February 7 through March 14, from 7 to 8 p.m. at the district service center. Cost is $15 and any age dog is welcome to attend.

Sign language will be taught by Rita Soine Mondays January 9 through February 13 from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. at Lincoln high school. Cost will be $15 for adults and $10 for students.

Childcare is the topic of a one-night class on learning how to become a licensed family day care operation to be held Thursday, January 12, from 7 to 8 p.m. in the Challenger elementary school preschool parent room. Cheryl Phelps will instruct and there is no charge for the class.

Franklin swimming pool hours include open swimming from 7 to 8:30 p.m. Monday, Wednesday and Friday and 1 to 5 p.m. Saturday and Sunday at a cost of $1.25. Lap swimming is open Monday though Friday from 6 to 7 a.m. Adult swim lessons are held January 5 through February 9 from 7 to 8 p.m., are open from beginner through advanced swimmers and cost $15.

During the Christmas holidays the pool will be open for open swimming December 23 from 6 to 7 a.m. (lap swimming) and 1-3 and 7-8:30 p.m. The pool will be closed December 24 and 25.

Open swimming hours will be from 1-3 and 7-8:30 p.m. December 26, 28, 29 and 30 and 1-3 p.m. December 31. Lap swimming will be available December 31 from 6 to 7 a.m. Pool will be closed January 1 and the normal schedule will resume January 2.

Youth swim lessons will be held February 4, 11, 25 and March 4, 11, 18 and 25 with Kathy Huschle as instructor. Infant/toddler class will be from 12:30 to 1 p.m. at a cost of $15. Other levels will be available at a cost of $22 and include Level 1, 11:30 a.m. to 12:20 p.m.; Level 2, 10:30 to 11:20 a.m.; Level 3, 9:30 to 10:20 a.m.; and level 4 and above, 8:30 to 9:20 a.m.

Aerobics are taught by Alicia Haviland Monday through Friday from 5:30 to 6:30 p.m. in the Franklin gym and water aerobics by Snooky Bondy Monday, Wednesday and Thursday from 6 to 7 p.m. at the Franklin pool. Water aerobics will not be offered December 20-January 3 and will resume schedule on January 4.

Punch cards for the above classes may be purchased for $25 at the community education department only and are good for 15 individual sessions (with a six-month expiration date).

Shotokan karate is taught for ages 10 and older Tuesdays, January 3 through February 21 from 7 to 9 p.m. Gary Flynn, certified black belt, will instruct and cost is $25.

Tae Kwon Do karate will be taught by Leo Nakatani January 3 through February 23 in the new gym at Franklin school at a cost of $30. Beginners (five years and up) will meet Tuesday and Thursday from 3:15 to 4:15 p.m. and intermediates (eight years and up) on Wednesday and Thursday from 4:15 to 5:15 p.m.

Weather permitting, outdoor skating rinks will be open approximately December 23 and continue through February. They are located at Engelstad Park (First Street and Tindolph Avenue) and Northrop school (10th Street and LaBree Avenue) with hours from 3 to 5:30 p.m. and 6 to 9 p.m. On weekends, holidays and vacation days, hours will be from 1 to 5:30 p.m. and 6 to 9 p.m.

Collin Peterson elected regional Democratic whip

U.S. Rep. Collin Peterson was elected regional whip during House Democratic Caucus meetings. The vote occurred during meetings aimed at firming structure and strategy for the 104th Congress. "I am pleased that my peers have chosen to elect me as their representative in the House Whip Organization," said Peterson.

As regional whip, Peterson will represent the states of Minnesota, Wisconsin, and Michigan in the House Whip organization. Peterson will be responsible for attending weekly policy and agenda meetings, counting votes, and keeping Democrats in his region abreast of new developments and strategies during the 104th Congress.

"It is a positive sign that my colleagues have decided to include me, one of the more conservative Democratic members, in the House leadership. I have long advocated a shift to a more centrist view for the party. I look forward to working with the party during the 104th Congress to address the concerns of average Americans and return the Democratic Party to its roots," said Peterson.

Postal advisory council to be formed locally

A push to recruit volunteers to serve on the first postal customer advisory council in Thief River Falls has been announced by Richard McCloskey, postmaster.

The council will meet on a regular basis with postal managers and supervisors to discuss local service issues and to design an improvement plan from a customer point of view.

"Some people think the Postal Service isn't interested in their opinions or comments about how we do business," McCloskey said. "The fact is, we're always looking for ways to improve and to serve our customers better. Direct input from customers is the best way for us to meet the growing needs and demands of the mailing public."

Customer advisory councils have been forming throughout the United States for approximately four years. At present there are more than 1,600 chapters in large and small communities.

"Council members can be professional or business people, homemakers, retirees, government officials or anyone else wishing to help the Postal Service maintain the best delivery system in the world," the postmaster said.

Anyone interested in playing an active role on the council is asked to contact postmaster McCloskey at 681-3026.

Holiday fires are often preventable

The bells will toll for 47 Minnesotans who will not be around the holiday tables this year with family, friends, and loved ones. These 47 lives were lost in fires that occurred in homes over the Thanksgiving holiday and between the December 24 and January 1, holidays from 1987 to 1993. The most tragic fire occurred on January 1, 1989, two hours into the new year, when eight children and two adults died in a home fire in Remer, MN. The saddest part of these stories is that the fires were all preventable.

During the past Holiday season, December 24 through January 1, 1993, 36 per cent (259) of all structure fires for the entire month of December occurred; 42 per cent of the dollar loss ($3.7 million dollars), and 38 per cent (three) of the fire deaths happened in just this one week. The holiday season is a high risk time of year in regard to fires.

There is a solution to the tragic loss of lives and property from fire in Minnesota because fire is a people caused event. It is not a cigarette that falls asleep while being smoked, it is a person. It is also not the heating device, chimney or fireplace that decides not to maintain itself, it is a person. People cause fires through their lack of knowledge, carelessness or apathy. Therefore, people can prevent fire and the tragic toll it takes each year.

State Fire Marshal Tom Brace urges you to take extra precautions during the holiday season. Install smoke detectors on every level of your home, including the basement, test them monthly and replace batteries annually. This should be part of your home fire preparation and escape plan. Make sure your children and holiday guests know the sound of your smoke detector by testing it before retiring.

Place candles in sturdy holders and put them well away from anything that burns. Practice good kitchen safety by rolling up sleeves and tucking in loose articles of clothing before cooking. Never leave cooking unattended. When cooking on the stove top take out the proper size lid that fits the pan and have it handy should the pan and contents catch fire. Use the lid to slide over the fire and turn the source of the heat off.

Use deep ash trays with the cigarette holders in the middle so that a cigarette will fall into the ash tray instead of a chair or the sofa. Check all furniture after guests leave and before going to bed to ensure that smoking materials didn't fall into or behind the cushions. Place all cigarette butts and ashes into a metal coffee can with a lid and allow to cool for 24 hours before discarding them into the waste basket.

Burn only clean dry wood in the fireplace, dispose of ashes in a closed metal trash receptacle with a lid and place outdoors 15 feet away from any structure. Inspect your chimney regularly and clean it when accumulations of creosote appear in the fire.

Help us make this holiday season a time of joy and celebration. State Fire Marshal Tom Brace and his staff issue a challenge to all Minnesotans to remember the ghosts of Christmas past, but to "Keep Minnesota Fire Free For The Holidays," by not giving fire a place to start.

Ag Secretary Espy announces plans to continue CRP program and Trade Act of 1990 to offer, beginning in 1996, CRP participants the opportunity to modify and extend their CRP contracts for another 10 years. This authority applies to 10-year contracts entered into prior to the enactment of the 1990 Act on Nov. 28, 1990.

The Secretary also has the authority to offer CRP participants who entered into 10-year contracts after this date the opportunity to modify their contracts to extend their expiration date an additional five years. CRP participants whose contracts were scheduled to expire in 1995 but who modify the expiration date of their contract to 1996 under the Secretary's announcement on Aug. 24, 1994, would be offered the opportunity to modify and extend their contracts for another nine years.

Before the department will modify and extend a CRP contract, the rental rates for the acreage subject to the extended CRP contract will be reevaluated. Depending on prevailing local rental rates for comparable land, some CRP participants may be offered higher rental rates, while others may be offered reduced rates.

CRP participants would also be able to request adjustments in the acreage covered by their contracts. They would be able to choose to keep all or a portion of their current contractual acreage under the extended contract, or would be allowed to shift acreage from the same farm into the CRP even if that acreage was not previously subject to CRP contact.

However, in order to be considered for coverage under the extended CRP contract, any new acreage must be more environmentally sensitive and provide greater soil erosion, water quality or wildlife benefits than the acreage previously subject to the CRP contract. CRP participants would not be able to increase their total CRP acreage beyond the current contractual level.

In the process of modifying and extending CRP contracts, the department intends to offer CRP participants the opportunity to place conservation easements on high priority acreage. Both existing and new high priority acreage would be considered for conservation easements.

"By purchasing conservation easements, we will be able to ensure that the most environmentally sensitive lands remain protected," Deputy Secretary Richard Rominger said. "In addition, the use of easements will benefit taxpayers, since the department will no longer be making annual rental payments for land that should be removed from production."

"These actions are farmer and environmentally friendly," Espy concluded. "Farmers can have confidence that the CRP will continue. At the same time, we are targeting the CRP to the most environmentally sensitive acreage in order to achieve enhanced environmental and conservation benefits."

CRP participants will be notified of the opportunity to modify and extend their current CRP contracts by local USDA Consolidated Farm Service Agency (CFSA) offices. the actual terms and conditions of the actions will be developed through the regulatory process, and the Department of Agriculture plans to have regulations in place to implement these actions by the summer of 1995.

In addition, as with the current CRP program, the actual level of allowed participation would be subject to the availability of appropriated funds.

Thief River Linen reaches new business milestones

States, called last summer after being contacted by Thief River Linen's North Carolina representative. The Thief River Falls company was asked to design bedding—including bed covers, duvet covers, pillow shams, sofa scarves and decorative pillows—for one of Lexington's newest furniture collections to preview at the High Point furniture market.

The unique look of the beds in the Lexington collection and the innovative designs and fabrics in the Thief River Linen offerings meshed exceptionally well. They will be included, along with slip covers which Lexington asked Thief River Linen to create, in the company's next catalog.

Exposure and name recognition through its permanent display and the association with Lexington led to Thief River Linen being contacted by Gump's—a high end market mail order company—which ordered a bed set to debut in its newest home furnishings catalog to be out in February.

Recently Thief River Linen received two unique style beds manufactured by Dux, a Swedish company, so it could have the actual product on hand when designing accessory items for them.

The local company is creating a pillow line for Bloomingdale's department store, now supplies Room and Board and is developing products for Gabbert's—the latter two companies in the Twin Cities. It continues to be a Gear company licensee while also being associated with designer Raymond Waites who left Gear to form his own company.

And later this month Bentson will be in California to meet with the buyers for a furniture company which wants the Thief River Linen line in its 22 exclusive outlets across the United States.

More Domestic Fabrics Used

While imported fabrics were a key element in the earlier years of the company, Bentson said she is buying more domestic fabrics now.

"Although color and patterns remain important, we have seen an increasing influence of texture in consideration of fabrics," she said. "I have been able to find high quality fabrics from U.S. mills that suit our purposes very well in a number of cases."

One of the recent acquisitions has been the FoxFibre line of fabrics woven from naturally grown colored cotton. Sally Fox of Wickenburg, AZ, has developed the cotton from seeds she was given 11 years ago. Through selection and cross-breeding with longer fiber white cotton she has developed four colors of cotton with fibers long enough for weaving.

Through her company, Natural Cotton Colours, Inc., Fox controls the environmental purity of her product by contracting with growers and licensing mills and the companies to which they may sell their woven material. In addition to Thief River Linen, these companies include Fieldcrest, Esprit and Levi Strauss.

"These FoxFibre fabrics are very nice and have the advantage of being made without dyes," Bentson said. "Instead of fading with wear and washings as dyed fabrics will, they actually intensify in hue with repeated washings. Colors are in brown and green and are called Coyote, Buffalo, Green and Palo Verde."

Factory Reps Hosted

Within the past two years Thief River Linen has added more than 20 independent sales representatives and last summer hosted a three-day session for these representatives and local employees at Itasca State Park.

"I had some second thoughts right before the event," Linda said, "but it worked out so well that we are planning another for next summer. It was a chance for our staff to meet and mingle with reps from New York, Arizona, North Carolina, Illinois, North Dakota and Minneapolis."

There are now eight in-house full-time employees at the Thief River Linen facilities. Cindy Wojciechowksi is in charge of production control and Betty Kisch is production coordinator. Sharon Gilbertson and Jan Skjerping are cutters and Patti Gerszewski handles shipping. Helen Grabowska is administrative assistant and Tami Dicken and Beverly Audette work in accounting.

The company also employs 14 women who work in their homes, sewing the products that customers order. They are Elfie Alston, Vicki Senger and Karen Gott, Grand Forks, ND; Bernice Borgen and Loretta Langaas, Greenbush; Kimberly Ediger, Williams; Marian Marquis, Oklee; Arlys Konickson and Ruby Schroeder, St. Hilaire; Emily Sadoski, Warroad; Joan Schmitz, Red Lake Falls; Peggy Rothchild, Edythe Solberg and Jill Garceau, Thief River Falls.

"I'm certainly proud of the growth we have enjoyed and the increasing recognition and acceptance in the industry," Bentson said, "but much of the credit is due to all of our dedicated and hard working employees. They are the people that take on the challenges and make the business go."

While Thief River Linen's business is at the high end of the accessories line, it caters primarily to the comfort zone of its customers. It finds that many people will pay the extra money necessary to have the items they enjoy. You might say, despite the milestones of the past year, that Linda Bentson isn't comfortable until her customers are.

Annexation of several areas were approved by the city council. City Attorney Paul Ihle explained that the annexation process was initiated by a petition from property owners. Areas now annexed into the city include Nelson Drive, Swis Corp, and Gus Berggren, and Caryl Bugge areas.

■ Annual liquor licenses were renewed.

Annual liquor licenses were approved by the city council. Club liquor license, which cost $500 annually, were approved for the American Legion, the VFW, the Eagles club, and Elks Lodge. On-sale intoxicating liquor license, which cost $2,800 annually, were approved for Evergreen Eating Emporium, the Best Western Inn, the Lantern Restaurant and Lounge, the Family Bowl and the Rusty Nail. On-sale wine licenses, which cost $200, were approved for Evergreen Eating Emporium, Danny's Pizza, and the Best Western Inn.

■ The stone wall at Friendship park is to be taken down.

The stone wall at Friendship Park will be removed by city crews as soon as possible. Last summer, the park and recreation department explored the possibility of replacing the wall, but couldn't come up with the funds to repair the badly deteriorating wall. Due to its unsafe condition, which poses as a liability risk to the city, it was decided to remove the wall. Parts of the park, including the memorial will remain at the site, which is near the city campground and across from the historical village.

■ As of January 1, 1995, all city buildings become smoke free.

City councilmen were reminded that as of January 1, 1995, all city buildings will become smoke free. That doesn't include smokeless tobacco products.

In other business, the council: approved the mayor's appointment of Ron Ray to the CDAB; approved a utility easement for the installation of gas service lines at the airport; approved a progression raise for Jerry Stenseth; approved 1995 Riverland Association membership; approved dance permits for Julie Gustafson on December 23 at the armory, Jordan Lindquist on December 30 at the Armory and Matt Perkins on January 6 at the armory.

Festivities Without the Guilt

Chestnuts roasting — turkeys basting — dancing gingerbread men — rich chocolate fudge, is it possible to indulge in holiday culinary pleasures and say "yes" to temptation without incurring the wrath of the waistline? The good news is that it is all right to indulge in holiday treats in moderation, according to the American Dietetic Association, so long as you follow a few simple guidelines:

• Set realistic goals. Is it reasonable to expect that you will lose weight during the holidays? Probably not. A more appropriate goal is weight maintenance.

• Keep eating habits in perspective. One food indulgence at a party is not your demise. How you react to it and how quickly you get back to your healthy eating style is what is important. Bank on a calorie and fat savings. Your best bet is to share your favorite indulgence food with a friend, thus saving half the calories and fat.

• Eat something small before a social event, such as fruit, salad or a whole grain roll and a glass of water. It is difficult to be in control if you are ravenous.

• Alcohol stimulates the appetite. Either opt for non-alcoholic beverager or alternate alcoholic and non-alcoholic beverages. Non-alcoholic beverages with lots of bubbles may fill you up — don't forget to read the food label for calorie content too.

• If you are at a party with a buffet table filled with food and desserts, indulge in a bite of your favorite foods to satisfy your taste. Keep portions small and have fun socializing to keep the focus off food.

Even though 'tis the season for parties, you will probably spend some time preparing food just for your family. Keep these tips in mind:

• When you can't tame the sweet tooth, mix dough for a batch of healthful cookies (like oatmeal or gingersnaps) and bake only a few. Roll the excess dough into a log shape and freeze in waxed paper. Cut a few slices of dough and bake when the urge is strong. In just seven minutes you have a nice treat.

Make sure those toys are safe

Children love to receive toys any time of year. But the holiday season brings special excitement as children dream of receiving their favorite toys from family and friends.

While toys can be fun and educational, in 1992 there were 142,700 toy-related injuries to children ages 14 and under. Innocent-looking toys — such as marbles and balloons — may be a choking hazard to small children. Other toy-related hazards include toys with small parts, sharp points and edges, toxic paint, flammable materials, and long strings that can be a strangulation risk.

The Minnesota Safe Kids Coalition, a program of the Minnesota Safety Council, and the National Safe Kids Campaign recommend that parents select toys that are appropriate for the age and development of their child. They should also be aware that:

• Toys with small, removable parts are hazardous particularly to children under age three.

• Toys with sharp points or edges may enable a child to unintentionally cut or stab himself or another person.

• Toys that produce loud noises, such as caps or toy guns, may permanently harm a child's hearing.

• Propelled toys, such as toy darts and projectiles, should be avoided. If allowed, it is very important that they have soft, non-removable ends to prevent eye injury.

• Electric toys should be used only be children who are eight years of age or older.

"Many kids ask for toys that may not be safe for them because they are designed for an older age group," said Sue James, director of the Minnesota Safe Kids Coalition. "For example, toys labelled for children ager six and up may contain small parts which are a choking hazard for preschoolers."

The recent passage of The Child Safety Protection Act, a federal toy labeling law, requires manufacturers to place warning labels on toys with small parts. The law calls for toys such as marbles, balloons, and small building blocks to be labelled as a choking hazard to young children.

To help in the search for the perfect gift, the Minnesota Safe Kids Coalition offers the following toy safety guide for age appropriate toys:

• Infants to one-year-olds: In their first few months of life, children are very immobile. Eventually, they learn to reach, roll over and sit up. In the second six months, children become more mobile and are at increased risk for suffocation. The most suitable toys for the first year include activity quilts, stuffed animals without button noses and eyes, bath toys, soft dolls, baby swings, and squeeze or squeaky toys.

• One- to two-year-old toddlers: At this age, children are curious and have no sense of danger. They like to climb, jump, throw and play rough and tumble games. Supervision is important for these toddlers. The best toys for this age group are books, blocks, fit-together toys, balls, push and pull toys, pounding toys and shape toys.

• Two- to five-year-old preschoolers: As any parent of a preschooler can tell you, these children spend much of their time running. They like tests of physical strength and begin to develop skills such as riding a tricycle, increasing finger control, and the ability to build with large blocks and construction materials. Toys that are most suitable for this age group include approved nontoxic art supplies, books, videos, musical instruments, and outdoor toys such as a baseball tee stand, slide or swing.

• Five- to nine-year-old school children: It is in the early part of this age group that children more readily demonstrate their creativity and become more physically active. They can write, make arts and

"The Gift of Christmas" to be presented by area church singers

Voices from the Evangelical Free, First Baptist and Evangelical Covenant churches will perform the cantata, "The Gift of Christmas," at the Lincoln high school auditorium on Wednesday, November 21, at 7:30 p.m. The concert is free and open to the public.

Melvin Sich, the group's director, said there have been many hours of rehearsal to prepare for this concert. In preparation for the performance, the combined choirs traveled to and performed at the Evangelical Free church in Grafton, ND, where the concert was recorded for radio airing later in the day.

The Christmas presentation involves narrators, a dramatization, a children's choir and congregational singing. Karen Sich is the group's accompanist. For more information call 681-3855.

Glen Davis (left), treasurer, and Olive Lunke (right), secretary of the Northwest Senior Federation, are shown with Vic Rosenthal of the state organization. Rosenthal was guest speaker at the Heritage Center open house held to celebrate the Northwest Senior Federation and recent renovations to the center. Director Shannon Olson said that there was an "excellent turnout" at the event. She wanted to thank everyone who attended the event and especially thank those who volunteered to man information booths.

Over 120 guests visited during the all day open house, which was held to celebrate the renovations to the center and commemorate the Northwest Senior Federation.

Dayna Spencer weds Dean Bruggeman

Dayna Rae Spencer and Dean Allen Bruggeman were united in marriage in a double ring ceremony on November 26, 1994, at Zion Lutheran church in Thief River Falls. Rev. Gary Johnson officiated at the 4 p.m. ceremony. Parents are Raymond and Deloris Spencer, Jeanne Bruggeman and Dave and Judi Bruggeman, all of Thief River Falls.

Music was provided by Heather Olson, cousin of the bride, and Mark Johnson, friend of the couple, singing "I Will be There," "Household of Faith," "This Is Where the Candle Glows" and "The Lord's Prayer." Phyllis Dalager, friend of the bride, was organist, playing "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring" and "The Bridal March." The reader was Myndy Olson, cousin of the bride, and acolytes were Kelsie and Ryan Bruggeman, niece and nephew of the groom.

The church was decorated with altar candelabra with purple candles trimmed with white tulle bows. Pews were trimmed with white tulle bows and purple ribbons.

For her wedding, the bride chose a white satin gown with beaded bodice and chapel length train accented with beaded lace appliques. Her fingertip veil fell from a beaded crown.

She carried a cascading bridal bouquet of white roses and deep purple mini carnations, accented with babies' breath and ivy.

Jenny Spencer of Thief River Falls served as her sister's maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Lori Becker of Mequon, WI, cousin of the bride, Janell Yutrzenka of Bloomington, friend of the bride, and Rhonda Spencer of Grand Forks, ND, sister-in-law of the bride.

All bridal attendants wore gowns which featured black velvet bodices with deep purple satin skirts, accented by pearl drop earrings, their gifts from the bride. Bouquets were a single Calla lily accented with purple netting and white bows.

Flower girls were Stephanie Bruggeman, niece of the groom from Thief River Falls, and Megan Becker of Mequon, WI, cousin of the bride. Their gowns were similar to those of the bridesmaids, and accented with pearl necklaces and drop earrings, gifts from the bride. They carried white baskets of eucalyptus.

The bride's personal attendants were Julie, Annette and Della Bruggeman, sisters-in-law of the groom.

The groom wore black tails with a white tie and vest. His boutonniere consisted of two white roses accented with babies' breath.

Serving as his brother's best man was Jerry Bruggeman of Brainerd. Groomsmen were Brian and Mitch Bruggeman, both brothers of the groom from Thief River Falls, and Rick Horien from Holt, friend of the groom. They wore black tuxedoes with black bow ties and cummerbunds. Their boutonnieres were single white roses accented with babies' breath.

Ushering the guests were Jeff Spencer, Grand Forks, ND, brother of the bride, and David Bruggeman, nephew of the groom, and Randy Horien, friend of the groom, both from Thief River Falls. They were attired in black tuxedoes and black ties and cummerbunds and wore white rose boutonnieres.

The mother of the bride wore a winter white suit, the mother of the groom wore a teal and rose brocade jacket with teal skirt, and the groom's stepmother wore a deep purple satin pantsuit. They were presented with corsages of red roses and white and deep purple carnations accented with babies' breath.

The fathers of the couple wore black tuxedoes with black ties and cummerbunds and white rose boutonnieres.

Honored guests were Carolyn and Arnold Ferson and Lois Wilmo, godparents of the bride; Ray and Mary Ann Schindler, godparents of the groom; and Brady Spencer, nephew of the bride.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in honor of the couple. Susie and Myles Olson, cousins of the bride, and Speed and Bonnie Ornquist, friends of the groom, were hosts and hostesses. Lorinda Kompelien, cousin of the bride, registered the guests.

Cutting the cake were Peggy Schomacher and Gloria Emerson, cousins of the bride. Serving coffee were Elaine Ness, aunt of the bride, and Mick Duden, aunt of the groom.

Punch servers were Stacey Orey and Heather and Myndy Olson, cousins of the bride. Serving champagne were Annette Johnson and Carrie Noreen, friends of the couple, and favors were distributed by Adam Becker and Andrea Kompelien, cousins of the bride.

In charge of the gifts were Jamie and Lindsey Emerson, cousins of the bride.

Waitresses were Kelsie Bruggeman, niece of the groom, Courtney Bruggeman, cousin of the groom, and Deann Weik and Kari Schumacher, cousins of the bride. Katy Olson and James Becker, cousins of the bride, distributed programs.

Following a wedding trip to Winnipeg, the couple is at home in Thief River Falls. The bride is a graduate from Lincoln high school and Moorhead State University. She is currently employed as a substitute teacher. The groom is a graduate of Lincoln high school and is employed at Speed's Automotive.

Campanula Garden Club had Christmas meeting

The Campanula Garden Club met December 9 for their annual Christmas party at the home of Ruth Holmes, with Bernice Knutson, Doris Finstad, Maxine Wicklander, Marie Fischer and Viola Koglin attending.

The group brought Christmas items to donate to the area food shelf. Marie Fischer, acting secretary, gave a short talk on "Tips and Tricks of Lawn Care," presented with a video from the regional library. The presentation told about using household items such as dish soap, beer, tea, chewing tobacco and ammonia to make formulas for lawn care.

The executive committee is reminded that the yearbook is to be made January 13, 1995.

Zion church will host an afternoon tea for area WELC women

The Agassiz Conference of the Women of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America will host a 2 p.m. afternoon tea on Wednesday, December 28, at Zion Lutheran church in Thief River Falls.

Special guest speaker will be Subhashini Bondu, former coordinator of Women's Ministry for the companion synod, Andhra Evangelical Lutheran church of India. Bondu is currently a student at Trinity Seminary, Columbus, OH, and will be spending her Christmas break as a guest of the Northwest Minnesota Synod.

The tea will be a time of song and fellowship for all. Those attending are invited to bring their leftover Christmas goodies for a potluck lunch. Cluster officers for the new year will also be installed at the meeting.

NW Medical Center Auxiliary Christmas tea

Northwest Medical Center Auxiliary held a Christmas tea for all hospital and clinic employees on December 15. Bea Froelich and Marge Prestebak were in charge of the tea.

Auxiliary members who donated homemade treats and helped at the tea were Hank Ness, Ardy Tunberg, Senora Skay, Clarice Galliher, Nancy Pritchard, Wanda Morphy and Vi Sullivan.

Winners of the gift drawings were Carol Krogstad and Marlene Harbott.

Until I was six years old, I had the fun of living on the Range Line, the stretch of tar heading a couple of miles northeast of Thief River Falls. My brother and I could run around the house stark naked without caring. I had many great experiences living in the country.

When I was about four-years-old, my Aunt Mabel ran across the road with rollers in her hair and wearing a pink bathrobe. She was trying to sneak our Easter baskets to us without us seeing her, but we were up too early munching on our jellybeans, and that's when I realized that there was no such thing as the Easter Bunny.

My brother and I also had a liking for water. We loved it when the ditches would have enough water for us to wade. Once our mother told us not to go into the ditch because we were going to town. We didn't listen and went swimming. She yelled at us to get in the house and wash up.

After we had taken a warm bath and put on clean clothes, she sent us outside. We couldn't resist the temptation of the water for more than five minutes, and we were splashing in the water again. She came outside to get us and there we were, sitting in the bottom of the ditch. She yelled at us to get in the house...again. This time we had to take a cold bath. She told us that if we went in the water again she'd use the cold well water from the pump ..and sent us outside again so she could get ready to go to town.

This time we just sat on the banks of the ditch and threw rocks. But before I knew it, Carl was wading in the water. I thought that I could blame it on him since he was the first one in the water, so I jumped in with a scream and mom heard it. She came storming out of the house in the humid July heat and grabbed us by the arms. She led us to the pump and turned it on, held our arms so we couldn't run away, and hosed off every little dirt particle. We thought we were going to freeze to death, but we never went into the ditch again.

One day my mom asked where my brother was, and I told her the last time I had seen him was when he was with Dixie, our Black Lab. She went into the yard and called for the dog, and Dixie came out of her dog house. My mom thought that maybe Carl had gone to the barn with my dad and asked my dad where Carl was. He had not seen him. By that time everyone was getting nervous, and Dixie cautiously went back to her dog house. As a last resort, mom looked in the dog house and there Carl was, sleeping with his arm around Dixie.

Later, when I started first grade, we moved to Thief River Falls. It was a little different. I was used to playing outside in just my underwear, and we couldn't do that anymore. We couldn't go into the yard and scream at the top of our lungs when we played like we used to. We used to play outside after dark, but we couldn't do that either. We used to ride our bikes in the middle of the gravel roads, but we couldn't ride our bikes in the middle of the street.

There were, however, good things, too. All of our friends lived down the block, not a couple of miles away. We didn't have to drive for twenty minutes to go to the store; it was only five blocks away. Since we didn't have to get on the bus at seven in the morning, we could watch "Tom and Jerry" before we walked to school.

When I was about eight, we moved to Moorhead so my mom could go to college. We didn't stay there very long before we moved to Anoka. This was a totally different story. Everyone was snotty, and they didn't say "Hi" in the streets like they do here. The school that we attended had three times as many students. Before I left, though, I had a lot of friends, and it was hard to part with them when we migrated back to this town.

After living in the country, town, and metropolitan area, I think the cities best. I would definitely move back there again. No hard feelings, Thief River Falls, but I like the faster pace. Watching old farmers sip coffee and talk about how well their wheat is growing is not my niche.

Santa to hand out Christmas presents at LEC

Santa will hand out presents to children participating in the Community Christmas program Thursday from 4 to 7 p.m. at the Law enforcement center in Thief River Falls.

About 500 children will receive gifts this year as the result of a community effort to make sure that children who would not otherwise receive a gift, will receive a gift this Christmas.

Senior Dining council thanks community

Shannon Olson, Lucilla Thompson, Olive Laska and Violet L. Olson, members of the Senior Dining Council at Heritage Center, would like to express their thanks to the community for their support of the senior nutrition program at this holiday season.

The Senior Dining and Meals on Wheels evolved from the "Older Americans Act of 1965" and receive part of their funding through a grant from the Area Agency on Aging as approved by the Minnesota Board on Aging. However, the largest source of funding comes from seniors and volunteers.

The program is administered by LSS Senior Nutrition, a nonprofit agency with home offices in Moorhead. It is an age-based program and not based on income. There are no membership fees or requirements to attend.

The mission of Senior Nutrition Services is to promote an independent and healthy lifestyle by offering a service to older adults which provides food, fellowship, education and an opportunity to volunteer.

For more information on senior meals, call Shannon Olson at 681-2793.

Noon Lioness held December meeting recently

SPEAKING OF

...The Magic Christmases and Uncle Santa

Two years ago I wrote a column called "Christmas Reminiscing," that told how Christmas was when I was a little girl. I dedicated it to my "Uncle Santa" and all of my aunts, uncles and cousins who remember Christmas Eve at Grandpa and Grandma's house. Maybe this year I should also include a dedication to all of the second cousins, those who never got a chance to have Christmas Eve at Grandpa and Grandma's house.

See kids, this is how Christmas was when your folks were little:

******

I remember Christmas Eve at Grandpa and Grandma's house. Christmas Eve night was the time we had our biggest Christmas celebration and all the aunts, uncles and cousins would come to Grandpa and Grandma's house. Christmas Day was also, but Christmas Eve was the best time – because it was magical.

It was magical because it was the night when we would eat our Christmas Feast, which was made up of all sorts of Scandinavian treats with strange names. These treats magically appeared at the Christmas Feast and were rarely seen outside of holiday times. I'm sure many of you of Scandinavian descent know what I am talking about.

Everyone came for the Christmas Feast. It didn't matter that Grandpa and Grandma's house wasn't very big – it was always just big enough for everyone to fit. Perhaps it, too, would magically stretch to accommodate everyone on Christmas Eve.

All of the extra boards would be put into the dining table and extra small tables would be set up at each end. Sometimes, if there were too many people to sit at the table, only the adults sat there, and we cousins were lucky enough to be allowed to take our plates and eat in the stairway.

That was just what we wanted to do! We could sit on one step and put our plates on the next step up and, scattered over the long stairs, have our own little Christmas Feast. Best of all, there were no parents there to make us mind our manners or make sure we ate everything on our plates, and we could giggle and laugh and talk with our mouths full and do silly things while we ate.

Sometimes Christmas Eve dinner would be turkey as the main course, and sometimes there would be ham. Sometimes we would have both. Very often we would have lutefisk with cream gravy and butter, but always with Swedish meatballs for those who did not like the aromatic fish.

We would have all of those other strange-sounding goodies, like homemade lefse, rommegrot that Grandma made with a special wooden stirring utensil that she got from her mother, fruit soup containing tapioca the size of marbles, flat bred, yulekaka, homemade egg nog, and sometimes things like rulapulsa, head cheese, limburger cheese and some other kind of brown cheese that Grandma cooked for a long time several days before Christmas.

After Christmas Eve dinner we would finally get to sample the Christmas cookies and cakes that had been hidden away in unlikely places so we wouldn't snitch at them. They were tasty morsels that melted in the mouth, many with more strange names, like spritz, krumkaka, rosettes and sandbakkels.

I remember the chocolate drops that always appeared at Christmas time – white sugar filling covered with a thin chocolate coating. Someone always made great-uncle Ole's penoche (great-uncle Ole had a creamery in Langdon and would always have plenty of the main ingredients for the brown sugar/peanut treat – cream and butter). Because it was Christmas Eve, no one seemed to care how fast all of the sweet goodies disappeared into the cousins' tummies, even though we hadn't eaten all of our Christmas Feast.

Christmas Eve night was magical because that was when we opened our gifts. After what seemed like months of waiting, we would finally get to see what was in those mysterious packages we had gazed at and wondered about for so long. Maybe one of the packages would contain that special thing we had hoped and wished for all year.

Christmas Eve was also magical because it was the night that Santa came. Santa not only came Christmas Eve night when we were sleeping, but he came to our house – in person – on Christmas Eve.

After eating our fill of Christmas goodies, we cousins would gather together around the glittering Christmas tree, which was near the front windows. It was very magical the way we would sit quietly in a row – not laughing or chattering. Sometimes we would hum Christmas carols or sing softly. We were waiting, you see.

The rest of the house rang with laughter and conversation. The adults scarcely noticed that the children were missing from underfoot as they cleaned up the dishes.

Then one of the sharper-eared cousins would hear the sound of sleigh bells – far away – in the distance. "I hear Santa! I hear him coming!" The bells became louder and louder, closer and closer, and the eyes of the cousins would grow bigger and bigger. Some of the smaller cousins were afraid – their faces would crumple and their eyes fill with tears. The older cousins would hold the younger cousins' hands and pat them, because they were older and weren't afraid, of course. The bells came closer and closer.

Suddenly the front door crashed open and – the sound of bells was deafening and – there was Santa!

Some of the cousins would rush to the door to greet Santa, leaving the more timid cousins behind. The timid cousins now had tears rolling down their cheeks and were crying in earnest. I can hear the bells right now and the jolly "Ho, ho, ho!" I can hear the laughter and shouting as the uncles and aunts finally noticed that Santa was there and clustered around, catching up the crying cousins and leaning over the shoulders of the others. I can see Santa's huge pack.

Santa always came in and stayed a while at Grandpa and Grandma's house. He would shake hands with the uncles and get kisses from the aunts. Someone would inevitably hand him a large mug of egg nog, liberally laced with something to keep him warm on such a cold night, you know.

Finally, after all the fol-de-rol he would get around to the important part of his visit, which was giving out the toys. He would sit on a chair in front of the Christmas tree and each cousin would have a chance to sit on his lap and tell him what he or she wanted for Christmas and have his or her picture taken with him.

There were always some cousins who absolutely did not want to sit on Santa's lap, presents or not. Sometimes they could be coaxed onto his lap by their mothers, but more often than not they had to be taken out of the room because they were shrieking so loud and were usually so upset that they wet their pants or threw up or both. They always got their presents anyway.

I have never found Christmas to be quite so magical as it was in those olden days at Grandpa and Grandma's house when Santa came to see us. I knew Grandpa and Grandma's house was magical because none of my friends ever had Santa come to their houses on Christmas Eve night. None of my friends every sat on Santa's lap and talked to him or got presents from him right in their own living room with all of the aunts, uncles and cousins clustered around.

It was certainly Christmas magic – wasn't it?

You know, I really wish I could have a magical Christmas at Grandpa and Grandma's house again some time just like I did when I was little.

Our Saviours Church plans two Christmas services

Our Saviour's Lutheran church, 401 South St. Paul Avenue, will have two Christmas services to celebrate the birth of Jesus Christ. The first will be on Christmas Eve at 4 p.m. and the second will be Christmas Day at 9:30 a.m.

Each service is different with special music at both. The public is cordially invited to join in the worship at either or both services.

Salvation Army needs helpers to ring bells

Thief River Falls unit of the Salvation Army is in need of additional volunteers to serve as bell ringers for its Christmas kettle campaign.

The organization has its kettle collection indoors at the Kmart store in Thief River Falls from 10 a.m. until closing time each day. Volunteers will work in two-hour shifts.

All of the funds collected locally are used locally and each year the funds expended exceed the amount collected, requiring support from the national organization.

Organizations and individuals have been generous in their support but additional volunteers are needed for the remainder of the week, local officials said. Anyone who could assist with the program is asked to contact Cliff Larson at 681-1190.

Make sure your toys are safe this year crafts, and are able to use simple mechanical toys such as cars and trains. Recommended toys include bicycles and helmets, crafts, jump ropes, roller skates and protective gear, puppets, and sports equipment. Check tape recorders and battery-operated toys regularly for loose or exposed wires.

• Ten-to 14-year-old school children: At this age, children enjoy team sports and games that require increased dexterity. Strenuous physical activity is also popular for this age group. Children begin to develop hobbies and a strong interest in scientific activities. For these children the most appropriate gifts would be computers, microscopes, table and board games, and equipment used in indoor sports.

This is just a partial list of age appropriate toys. By knowing the possible dangers, parents can choose toys that are fun as well as safe for their children.

Health Column—holiday eating

• Start a new tradition. Try a family walk after dinner. Plan a holiday caroling party, a cross-country skiing or ice skating event. Physical activity is important to keep your metabolism running in high gear and it may also reduce stress.

Healthy cooking can also save calories and fat. Here's how:

• Serve meats au jus instead of with gravy. Chill the juices or add ice so that the fat congeals for skimming. Defatted juices are lower in calories and fat than gravies. Buy a plain turkey rather than a self-basting one. Use a drip pan when roasting the turkey so it doesn't sit in the drippings.

• Serve vegetables with fresh-squeezed lemon juice, spices and herbs or fresh grated parmesan cheese instead of cream or butter sauces.

• Serve salads with reduced-calorie or fat-free dressing, or with olive oil and a special flavored vinegar like balsamic or tarragon.

• When baking try using two egg whites for each whole egg, or an egg substitute.

What to do if you are stranded in the snow

During your holiday travels, you may encounter car trouble. If this happens, and you become stranded, remember these guidelines from the Minnesota Safety Council:

• Do not leave your vehicle unless you can be sure that it will improve your situation. Instead, you can attract attention by lighting two flares, placing one at each end of the car a safe distance away. Also, hang a brightly colored cloth from your antenna.

• To protect yourself from frostbite, use woolen items, blankets, newspapers or large bags to keep warm.

• Keep at least one window open slightly. Heavy snow and ice can seal a car shut.

Remember, don't panic. If you stay calm and reason each step carefully, you will ride out the storm safely.

The Santa At My House

[illegible] fuzzy Santa boot and jingle bell around his neck? A four-year-old; excited about Christmas and pretending to be Santa Claus or Rudolph the Reindeer, Red Nose.

It's an understatement to say that my son, Zachary, is excited about Christmas. His little body tingles at the sight of Santa Claus – all of them.

My husband and I didn't anticipate Zach's enthusiasm this year. In previous years he'd stand clear of anyone in a Santa suit and definitely didn't deliver as many hugs to Santas as this year.

He can't wait for Christmas to arrive; as soon as the Thanksgiving turkey leftovers disappeared, he expected Christmas. Zach was so sure about the impending holiday that he ripped all the paper rings off his "calendar" and proclaimed that Christmas was here when only the bell remained. Just to wait 20 more days.

This season Zach has wholeheartedly participated in all of our pre-holiday preparations – and then some.

Zach held the flashlight while my husband strung lights on our house and the outside trees. He helped choose a Christmas tree, and in past years he helped his dad cut one down and drag it to the car. His job is to hang the ornaments on the lower half of the tree.

Cut-out cookies are also a favorite. With flour from head to toes, Zach's task is to cut out the designs, shake the sprinkles and eat the dough. And, with Dilly Bar in hand, he keeps an eye out for colorful light displays during our family light-seeing outing. His head swivels left to right and back again as he shouts, "Daddy, lookit over there. There's a perty one! Lookit."

He is fascinated with Santa Claus and his method of delivering gifts. Recently Zach asked if "they take turns being Santa." Also he's worried because our home doesn't have a fireplace. How will Santa get in?

One day, dressed in his Santa cap and boot, Zach took his turn as Santa. He loaded his pillowcase (he forgot to take the pillow out) with toys and books. Dragging the "sack" into the living room, he ordered us to be sleeping so he could deliver our gifts.

My husband and I even took turns sitting on Santa's (Zach's) lap and announcing our Christmas wishes.

With that jingle bell around his neck, Zach does errands with me in town. The bell isn't too loud when he walks, so he runs. We get a few curious looks as he's prancing down the store aisle, sounding like Santa's sleigh. I grin sheepishly and try not to look embarrassed. Yes, I'm the mother who lets her son wear bells to the store.

Zach brings the season alive for me. I love to see his burgeoning imagination, and it reminds me of my early Christmases. Just thinking back makes me smile:

My first memory of a Christmas Eve is when I was nestled in my parents' bedroom with my ear to the radio listening for news of Santa's arrival. Miraculously on that snowy night, Santa came while I was sequestered in the bedroom.

In later years, my dad and uncle piled six kids in the car on Christmas Eve. We drove from gas station to gas station asking people if they had seen Santa Claus. Of course, Santa had just been there and by the time we arrived home, Santa had delivered our gifts.

I also remember seeing reindeer hoofprints in the snow and remnants of cookies left from Santa's late night snack.

But what I recall most is the tradition – the making of Christmas cookies, decorating the tree, hanging the stockings, and sneaking peeks of wrapped presents while mom and dad were at a Christmas party.

Vivid, too, are the family gatherings: The sphinges (deep-fried dough balls rolled in cinnamon and sugar) that my Italian grandmother makes every year; the midnight masses followed by breakfasts of eggs and Italian sausage; the opening of gifts on Christmas Eve – one by one – from the oldest to youngest or youngest to oldest. That's a lesson in self-control; those with little patience always cheated. Still do.

My parents helped to forge these memories – complete with sounds and smells. I'm thankful to have these thoughts. But with growing up, marriage and moving, some of our traditions changed. But that change doesn't mean we can't create memories for our son. We can continue some old traditions while making new ones. So I can only smile when Zach jingles down the store aisle saying, "Ho, ho, ho." I hope he remembers these days as fondly as I do.

No drunk driving for the holidays-give up the Keys

It is no secret that fighting drunk driving is an uphill battle, especially during the holidays. Unfortunately, many Americans remain unaware that alcohol is a depressant drug which slows reaction time and impairs vision.

They remain unconvinced that prearranging a ride with a designated driver could prevent an accident. They remain uninformed that almost half of all fatal motor vehicle crashes involve alcohol.

The Minnesota Safety Council urges everyone to become aware, get convinced and stay informed during the holidays and every day.

He was preceded in death by his parents; one sister; and three brothers.

Dear Readers,
Christmas is a joyous occasion for most families, but for those who have lost a loved one it is often sad and extremely difficult. This time of year triggers a flood of memories of Christmas seasons past. It may help those of you who are feeling such a void to remember that even with your broken dreams, this is still a beautiful time of year. Allow the quiet peace of Christmas to fill your heart and home.
We Wish You A Blessed Christmas.
Sincerely,
Belmont Funeral Home
Larry Belmont

Marlys Christine Tradewell was born March 13, 1938, in rural Fertile, the daughter of Chester and Myrtle Nophew Tradewell. As a child she attended rural school in Godfrey and Garfield townships and later attended Fertile high school.

January 19, 1957, she was united in marriage to Melvin Rasmussen at Concordia Lutheran church after a courtship that was "mostly by mail," she said. She traveled with her husband when it was possible, since he was a career Army man. The family traveled behind the iron curtain to join her husband in Berlin, Germany. In 1969, he retired and they moved to Red Lake Falls. In 1978, they moved to Fertile.

She loved children and found great pleasure in gardening, cooking, canning and sewing. Her greatest joy came from her 10 grandchildren.

She was a member of the Evanger Lutheran church, where she was involved in many church activities and served as vice chairperson of the Ladies Aid.

Survivors include her husband, Melvin, Fertile; three sons, William (wife, Meloni), Gentilly, Randy (wife, Margaret), Thief River Falls, and Donald (wife, Donna), Warren; one daughter, Denise Rasmussen, Jamestown, ND; and 10 grandchildren.

She is also survived by her mother, Myrtle Tradewell, Fertile; three brothers, Maynard, Anoka, Ron (wife, Nancy), Erskine, and Michael (wife, Kandi) Yuma, AZ; one sister, Darlene (husband, Harold) Gast, Beltrami; and several aunts, uncles, cousins, nieces and nephews.

Preceding her in death were her father, Chester, on December 16, 1988; one brother, Wilbur, January 1, 1962; and her grandparents.

Gunstein "Gus" Groven, 70

Port Angeles, WA — Gunstein "Gus" Groven, age 70, of Port Angeles, WA, died Monday, December 5, in Port Angeles.

Private graveside services for Gus Groven were held Friday at Mount Angeles Memorial Park.

Gunstein "Gus" Groven was born November 5, 1924, in Oklee, the son of Saamund and Annie Aakness Groven. He served with the United States Marine Corps. during World War II.

He was united in marriage to Bette M. Carlson on December 31, 1968, in Port Angeles, WA. He moved to the western end of Clallam county thirty years ago, and later relocated to Port Angeles. He operated a bulldozer and built logging roads.

He was a member of the American Legion in Mineral, the Veterans of Foreign Wars post and the Eagles Lodge in Port Angeles.

Survivors include his wife, Bette, Port Angeles; two sons, Steve Baker of Sacramento, CA, and Ron Carter of Port Angeles, WA; one daughter, Wendi Davis, Portland, OR; seven grandchildren; and two great-grandchildren. He is also survived by three sisters, Inga Mansfield, Pontiac, MI, Helga Nelson, Thief River Falls, and Dora Tate, Attica, MI.

Preceding him in death were two brothers, Bennie and Halvor, and a sister, Ragnhild Thompson.

Memorials may be made to the Salvation Army, P.O. Box 778, Port Angeles, WA 98362 or a charity of choice.

State aresenic cleanup is completed in state

Removal of contaminated soil near Moose Lake marks the end of the Minnesota Pollution Control Agency's (MPCA) arsenic cleanup program. The site is the last of 71 suspected caches of buried arsenic to be investigated under the state's Superfund law.

In 1994, contaminated soil was also removed from silos near Perley, Foxhome, Gentilly, Stephen, Ada and East Grand Forks.

The arsenic is from supplies provided by the federal government to local units of government in the late 1930s and early 1940s to supply farmers hard-hit by a plague of grasshoppers. The arsenic was mixed with bran, sawdust or molasses and used as a poisonous bait. Excess arsenic bait was stored in barns or sheds or buried on the farms.

In 1972, employees of a small business firm near Perham became ill after drinking water contaminated with arsenic and grasshopper bait disposed of 40 years earlier was suspected of causing the contamination.

Since its removal program started in 1983, the MPCA has collected from above-ground stockpiles 40,000 pounds of grasshopper bait and 15,000 pounds of technical grade arsenic. Approximately one million pounds of contaminated soil was removed from 15 of the 71 reported caches of buried arsenic. Fifty-six sites were determined not to pose a threat to the environment or the health and safety of the people of Minnesota.

Honor Howland for 44 years on SWCD board

In recognition of his 44 years of service, an open house to honor Oliver Howland will be held Tuesday, December 27, from 1 to 3 p.m. at the Marshall-Beltrami Soil and Water Conservation District office in Grygla.

Now retiring from the board, Howland was a charter member and served for 44 years, including service on a number of committee and holding offices on the local, area and state levels.

Everyone is invited to stop for refreshments and wish Oliver well in his retirement."

Prichard leaves post as editor of USA Today

Peter Prichard, 49, son of Jarvis Prichard of Thief River Falls, resigned last Thursday as editor of USA Today to become executive director of "The Newseum," a $30 million state-of-the-art museum operated by Freedom Forum and devoted to news history and its future. The museum will open in April of 1997 in Arlington, VA.

Prichard, who lives in Washington, DC, has been editor of the newspaper for six years, during which its circulation increased from 1.66 million copies per day to 2.7 million and surpassed the Wall Street Journal as the largest circulation newspaper in the United States.

"I've had a good run," Prichard was quoted as saying in a story by Stephen J. Lee in the Grand Forks Herald. "I've been editor longer than anybody else. During that time, we won a lot of awards and became a better newspaper."

In 1987, Prichard authored the book "The Making of McPaper," a history of the difficulties of obtaining acceptance for the innovative newspaper as a serious publication. He was named editor in 1988 after 16 years with Gannett Newspapers, which owns USA Today.

He was born in California Dec. 18, 1944, moved to Thief River Falls with his family following his mother's death when he was 11, and graduated from Lincoln high school in 1962. He earned a bachelor's degree at Dartmouth College in 1966 and served in the Vietnam War, earning the army's Bronze Star for service in the Mekong Delta.

He said he is excited about the new position, feeling much the same way about it as he did about being named editor of USA Today. The museum will include many interactive displays, satellite feeds from around the world, the largest high-definition television in Washington and displays of the front pages every day from newspapers from each of the 50 states.

Freedom Forum is a nonpartisan foundation advocating freedom of the press issues. "The idea (of The Newseum) is that people will come in as agnostics about the value of the freedom of the press and we hope they will leave as believers," Prichard said.

Fire starts in mechanical room at Best Western

Fire at the Best Western motel in Thief River Falls last Friday was confined to a mechanical room. Repairs have already been made and the motel is open for business.

Thief River Falls Fire Chief Dave Bjorkman said the fire started in the second floor mechanical room in the north end of the motel when cardboard boxes stacked next to a gas water heater ignited. Smoke filled much of the motel part and pool area of the facility, primarily because an air handling system is located in the mechanical room where the fire started. Fire damage was limited to the mechanical room but there was smoke damage to the rest of the complex.

Bjorkman said the building was evacuated, and there were no injuries.

According to Sami Haj, owner and operator of the Best Western, repairs have been made and the motel is open.

into full scale discussion of proposals for their use. He declined to say what plans are in place or when work would begin on the sites.

Harry Nelson, school district business manager, noted that the proposals received from the development company called for demolition of the Northrop building and the construction of senior citizen housing and construction of general apartment housing on the Knox site.

At its meeting December 12 the board also certified the final local tax levy payable in 1995 at $3,247,783.03. It also approved a resolution providing for school board elections held in 1998 and thereafter in even-numbered years only.

Organizational meeting of the board will be held at the next regular meeting on January 9 at 7 p.m. in the district service center.

Bargaining agreements with the educational assistants and food service groups were approved as negotiated by the board negotiating team headed by Carl Clark. They call for a 3.5 per cent increase with language changes providing for funeral leave, seniority and leaves of absence in the educational assistants contract and a 2.5 per cent increase with additional provisions for sick leave pay in the food service contract. Both contracts span two years from July 1, 1994 through June 30, 1996.

Presentation on technology needs for the district was made by district technology committee members Jim Kotz and Dave Peterson. Five basic needs presented were technical support, network expansion, training and staff development, software and hardware purchases and resources for future planning. Board members toured the Lincoln technology facilities Monday afternoon, December 19.

Jennifer Glin was recognized for advancing to the state swim meet in diving and Theresa Giauque for advancing in the 200 and 500 meter freestyle. St. Hilaire Lions club was thanked for its donation of $125 to the Fine Line dance program.

Extra-curricular assignments approved were for Jeff Mumm as winter weight room supervisor and David Clausen as concessions supervisor.

Recommendation of the Native American Indian parent advisory committee was approved as presented as was the Lincoln high school weight room policy.

Investigation leads to arrests in California

Officers of the Paul Bunyan Drug Task Force recently completed a four-month investigation into sources of methamphetamine being sold in northern Minnesota.

The case began in August, 1994, with information gathered in Roseau county following the arrest of a person suspected of selling the illegal drug. An undercover task force officer made contact with a suspect in California who was believed to be supplying the drug to the person in the Roseau area. This resulted in the undercover delivery and purchase of one-fourth pound of methamphetamine in the Fargo-Moorhead area in early December.

On December 5, 1994, a task force officer and a BCA narcotics agent flew to Long Beach, CA, where they provided information and assistance to California authorities which led to the execution of eight drug search warrants, the arrests of 10 drug defendants, and the seizure of drugs and cash proceeds of drug sales. It is anticipated that three of the people arrested may be charged with federal drug offenses. The remainder will be charged with California State violations.

The Paul Bunyan Drug Task Force is a cooperative area drug enforcement agency which serves nine counties in northwestern Minnesota and includes participation by the Bemidji and Thief River Falls police departments.

The methamphetamine involved in this investigation is a crystallized form of the drug known on the street as "crystal meth." This drug is usually manufactured in clandestine laboratories and sells for about $2,000 per ounce. Methamphetamine is a powerful stimulant which, in crystallized form, can be injected, inhaled, or smoked.

Magazine lists TRF as region's comeback city

Thief River Falls is listed as the "comeback city of the region" in an article in the December issue of "Corporate Report Minnesota" magazine. The listing is in a regional economic outlook article by Joe Spear, a free-lance writer from Mankato.

In the article, Spear lists the northwest Minnesota counties as Becker, Beltrami, Clay, Clearwater, Douglas, Grant, Hubbard, Kittson, Lake of the Woods, Mahnomen, Marshall, Norman, Otter Tail, Pennington, Pope, Polk, Red Lake, Roseau, Traverse, Stevens and Wilkin.

In the northwest region the article focuses on Moorhead as the main urban area. In one segment of the report, Spear writes as follows:

"Three small towns are having a big impact on the Northwest Region.

"Warroad, population 1,800, is home to Marvin Windows and Christian Brothers, a company that manufactures hockey sticks. Both companies have been growing, Marvin so much that it has had to aggressively recruit to fill out its 2,000-employee workforce. Some workers commute up to 75 miles to work at Marvin.

"Roseau, a town of 2,400 in Roseau county, is home to another thriving company, Polaris Industries.

"Just 60 miles south and west of Roseau is Thief River Falls, the comeback city of the region. In 1980, the city workforce had declined to 5,000 people.

"As of last December, the city's workforce was 6,500, thanks in large part to the turn-around of Arctco, Inc., maker of snowmobiles and watercraft, which has 1,300 employees, and to Digi-Key Corporation, a mail order house for electronic components, which has grown from 86 employees in 1986 to about 400 today.

"The unemployment rate in Thief River Falls, with its 8,000 residents, is down to about 4 per cent from the double digits it experienced in previous years."

Bird count at Roseau scheduled for Dec. 31

Sixth annual Roseau Christmas bird count will take place Saturday, December 31, beginning at 7 a.m. with an organizational meeting at Brandt's Restaurant on the west edge of Roseau. Birders will also regroup there for lunch and warm-up.

Area to be surveyed is a 15-mile diameter circle centered just north of the Roseau county fairgrounds on highway 310. This region provides habitat for a large variety of bird species because of its geographic and vegetative diversity.

Persons interested in participating can observe their own neighborhoods and bird feeders, drive or walk with other birders, or alert participants to local bird "hot spots" before the day of the count.

After sundown participants are invited to the Bud and Betty Johnson home two miles north of the fairgrounds for Gluhwein, a potluck supper and the official compilation of the bird species and numbers sighted.

To assist the National Audubon Society in the annual hemisphere-wide survey, including publication of the results in "American Birds," there is a $5 participation fee, half of which will be paid to the Agassiz Audubon Society. This is the 95th anniversary of the annual Audubon Christmas bird count.

Anyone observing birds within the count circle on December 31 may call the Johnson home at 463-2181 after 5:30 p.m. that day or join the counting group there for the potluck supper and to report observations.

Strandquist

Strandquist is saddened by the death of one of its seniors, Elmer Eskildsen, who I would see on Monday mornings when I would pick up the news at Irene's Cafe. He would be there for his breakfast and would visit with me. He was the brother of one of my best friends, Edna Hvidsten, and condolences go to her. The obituary is found in the other section of the paper.

Ellen Stromberg returned from a couple of weeks spent in Arizona. Her son, Ervin Stroby sent her tickets to join him in Minneapolis and then they both flew to Phoenix and had a great time visiting and sight-seeing. Glad you're back, Ellen, as I suppose you are back to your job at the school.

Elsie Lefrooth and Walter Thompson attended the Christmas program at Bethesda church Sunday evening where 10 of Elsie's great-grandchildren were in the program.

Breakfast guests at Frank and Judy Kleinvachter's home on Monday were Claudia Berggren, Jessie, and Kali, Karl Kasprowicz, Todd Nelson, Brian Nelson and Matthew.

Supper guests at Peter and Pearl Thompson's home on Thursday were Becky, Michelle, and Jeremy Johnson and Mark Melby to celebrate Becky's birthday. Danny Johnson came later in the evening.

Elsie Lefrooth enjoyed dinner with our brother, Walter Thompson at the Karlstad Nursing Home where he is spending some time after surgery this fall. A Christmas program was given by a quartet from First Lutheran church of Karlstad and Mrs. Mickelson. When that was over, each one retired to their room where they were visited by Santa.

LaVol Thun visited Jonice Carlson on Tuesday evening and Wednesday evening. Arnold Larson and Vernice Larson and Don Carlson were visitors at LaVol Thun's. On Saturday, LaVol visited Florence Myhrer, Ella Thun and Anne Hansen in Thief River Falls.

Elsie Lefrooth and Pearl Thompson accompanied Roy Vagle to Mark and Sally Wagner's home for an evening of eating and fun ending with singing around a bonfire while seated on hay bales.

New law changes way state budget to be set

Primary task of the coming legislative session will be setting a two-year budget for 1995-97, and lawmakers will be approaching the job from a different perspective than in the past because of a law change.

The "Price of Government" budgeting reform requires the governor and legislators to take a hard look at the cost of state and local government taxes and fees before moving ahead with spending decisions, according to Sen. Roger Moe of Erskine.

"The state government budget season is getting underway now with the initial budget forecast for the coming two years," Sen. Moe said. "Based on those financial numbers, Governor Carlson next month will make three significant recommendations required by the Price of Government law. They are:

- "Setting a maximum percentage of Minnesotans' personal income devoted to state and local government taxes and fees;
- "Dividing this budget total among state and local governments, as well as school districts;
- "Setting the tax mix for the various revenue sources, including income, sales and local property taxes."

"With Minnesota's highly complex tax system, these recommended tax targets should help the public better understand where its tax dollars go," Sen. Moe said. "It will also help lawmakers get a better grasp of the big picture, and focus attention on the impact tax and spending decisions have on the public."

Under the new law, the legislature must pass a resolution adopting the final revenue targets for state and local governments by March 15. They will be set shortly after a second state revenue forecast is announced, as the legislature gets ready to make final budget decisions.

While these amounts are not binding, they do serve a very important purpose, the senator said. They force legislators to think about fitting their spending decisions into a certain size revenue pie early in the budget process. In the past, two separate groups of legislators in both the House and Senate worked on their own on the spending and revenue sides of the ledger.

"Inevitably, the cost of programs added up to more than the anticipated revenue yield," Sen. Moe said. "Typically, a resolution of the differences was negotiated in the final days of the legislative session."

For local governments, the Price of Government law sends a signal of where they stand in the mix. Those local governments and school districts that are spending more than the targeted maximum will have to explain why their costs are higher.

"In our part of the state, for example, many smaller school districts struggle to provide a broad spectrum of course offerings at a cost per student that is somewhat higher than larger school districts," he said. "The Price of Government law will help the public to understand how the school cost compares to the typical school district in Minnesota.

"Ultimately, this new law will help the legislature make better-informed spending decisions. However, making those decisions will not be any easier.

"We face some very difficult budget issues. School enrollments are now growing, so the total cost of educating young people is increasing. We also have more senior citizens with health care needs every year, increasing the state's medical care costs. These are already the costliest services provided with state dollars, and it will be a huge challenge to limit their growth."

The senator said that with longer prison sentences and the public's outcry to get tougher on crime, public safety and corrections costs are major areas of growing costs. At the same time, the federal government continues its long-term trend of turning over duties and costs to state and local governments.

"With immense pressures to increase the state budget just to keep up with the current level of services, we must find ways to not only become as efficient as possible, but eliminate or redesign programs that don't measure up," he said.

"The new Price of Government law will help the public understand how our complex system of state and local government funding works. More importantly, the policymakers who decide on the budget will have a clearer view of the big budget picture. So, the outlook is very promising for making smarter funding decisions."

Johnson heads state watershed district ass'n.

Vern Johnson of Clearbrook, a member of the board of managers for the Red Lake Watershed District headquartered in Thief River Falls, was elected president of the Minnesota Association of Watershed Districts at the association's annual meeting in Willmar recently.

Johnson succeeds Gerry VanAmburg of Moorhead, who represented the Buffalo/Red River Watershed District. Other officers elected were Dean Oleson of Hutchinson, vice president; Bob Wright of Felton, secretary; and Susan Scribner of Minnetonka, treasurer.

Attending the convention from the Red Lake Watershed District in addition to Johnson were managers Gerhard Ross, West Polk county; Leonard Moe, Marshall county; Russell Sander, East Polk county; and Arlan Fore, Red Lake county; and Lowell C. Enerson, administrator.

The Red Lake Watershed District includes all of Red Lake county, most of Pennington county and parts of Mahnomen, Polk, Itasca, Marshall, Clearwater, Beltrami, Roseau and Koochiching counties.

"The meeting was an excellent opportunity to learn about how watershed districts in other areas of the state deal with the water management issues they face," Enerson said. "Often we find that other districts are dealing with exactly the same types of issues that we deal with. By talking with those who have had experience on those issues, we can learn what has been successful and what has not."

Keynote speaker Jay Leitch of North Dakota State University spoke on the controversy surrounding wetland regulation, saying the subject continues to generate discussion because of three unresolved issues—property rights, definition of a wetland and wetland values. "These are important issues that will keep the wetland issue fired up," Leitch said.

Mini sessions were held at the annual meeting on property rights and watershed district success. An award for Watershed District of the Year was presented to the Ramsey-Washington Metro Watershed District.

Watershed districts are local units of government charged with managing water within a watershed (an area in which all water drains to one point). They are governed by individual boards of managers appointed by the county boards with area in the watershed district. Minnesota has 42 watershed districts organized and operating.

Invite young women to enter Miss TRF event

Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce is looking for interested young women (ages 18-24) to enter the Miss Thief River Falls scholarship pageant in the summer of 1995.

Contestants must have a performing talent, good interview skills and be physically fit. The local winner will receive a college scholarship, wardrobe allowance and the coveted all-expense paid trip to compete in the 1996 Miss Minnesota Scholarship pageant.

First and second runners-up will also receive scholarships and the committee hopes to be able to offer scholarships to all non-finalists as well.

Co-chairing the pageant for the Chamber of Commerce this year are Sue Erickson (681-1787) and Randy Twistol (681-6308). Anyone interested in competing in the pageant or who knows of a qualified person who might be interested is asked to contact either co-chair and let him or her know how they may help the contestant in planning for this exciting event.

Jeremy Michael Ray and Joseph Lee Broten of Thief River Falls were injured Friday evening when their vehicle slid through an intersection and struck a tree in the 100 block of Idlewood court. Police received a report of the accident at 11:20 p.m. When they arrived at the scene they learned that the occupants of the vehicle were at a neighboring house. They learned that Ray had been driving and had attempted to stop at a stop sign but the vehicle slid through the intersection. Charges are pending against Ray. Ray and Broten were taken to Northwest Medical Center by ambulance. The vehicle was considered a total loss.

Farmers advised to store grain in licensed facilities

State law requires that anyone buying grain and edible beans with the intention of reselling it must have a grain buyer's license issued by the Minnesota Department of Agriculture (MDA).

Individuals and companies storing grain and edible beans for others are required to have a license issued by the MDA or the United States Department of Agriculture.

This fall's harvest has also produced a bumper crop of complaints about unlicensed operators offering to buy grain from farmers or store grain in unlicensed elevators.

"The state requires these licenses as a measure of protection for farmers," notes Elton R. Redalen, Commissioner of the Minnesota Department of Agriculture. "Under state law, licensed grainbuyers and licensed grain storage warehouses must be bonded. The bond is designed to help reimburse farmers for losses should the grain buyer or elevator fail to meet its obligations."

He advised producers to ask grain buyers or storage elevators if they are licensed and to only do business with licensed grain buyers and grain storage elevators. Grain producers can also call MDA's grain licensing and auditing division at 612-341-7537 to find out if a grain buyer or storage elevator is licensed.

Baked Ribs

3 tbsp. brown sugar
1/4 tsp. chile powder
1 tsp. vinegar
1/2 tsp. dry mustard
1/2 tsp. catsup
1/2 tsp. salt

Blend together in a 1 cup measure, then fill up cup with water and blend. Pour this over ribs that have already baked for 1 hour in covered pan in 350° oven. Bake for 1/2 hour. Pour remaining sauce over ribs after turning. Uncover pan for last 1/2 hour. This is a favorite for Christmas evening.

Accident reports filed with LEC

Law enforcement officials responded to several reports of accidents during the past week.

Accidents. On December 14 at 10:30 a.m. police received a report of an accident on the corner of First and Spruce. Tracy Joy Danielson, Thief River Falls, was driving a car east on First when a car driven by Sandra Kay Parker, Thief River Falls, was driving south on Spruce and pulled out into the intersection after stopping and the vehicles collided. There was an estimated $2,500 damage to the vehicle driven by Danielson. Danielson also injured her head and was taken to the hospital and her passenger, age 25, had an injury to her face. There was an estimated $600 damage to the Parker vehicle and she was cited for failure to yield.

On December 15 at 5:15 p.m. police received a report of an accident at the corner and First and Maple. Jared Wade Housey, Thief River Falls, was driving a car west on First when his vehicle struck the rear of a vehicle driven by Kristen Maria Jenkins, Thief River Falls, which was stopped at a stop sign. There was an estimated $1,000 damage to front end of the Housey vehicle and $3,000 damage to the vehicle driven by Jenkins. Kristen and her two passengers received bumps to their heads but were not taken to the hospital. Housey was charged with inattentive driving.

On December 15 at 6:10 p.m. police received a report of an accident at the corner of First and Crocker. Barbara Jean Guzek, Thief River Falls, was driving a car east on First and Deborah Sue Trautner, Thief River Falls, was stopped at a stop sign on Crocker and pulled out into traffic. Trautner was cited for failure to yield right of way. Damages were estimated at $500 to the vehicle driven by Guzek and $1,000 to the vehicle driven by Trautner.

On December 17 at 4:16 a.m. police received a report of an accident on Pennington Avenue. Police have learned that Edward Allen Cullen, Goodridge, was driving a car south on Pennington Avenue when he lost control and struck a city light pole. Damage to the light pole was estimated at $800. The car was considered a total loss. He was cited for leaving the scene of an accident.

On December 18 at 12:19 a.m. the sheriff's department received a report of an accident 11 miles west of Highway 32 on State Aid 3. Mark Allen Jenkins, Thief River Falls, was driving a car on State Aid 3 when it struck a deer. Damage was estimated at $2,000.

Arrest. Scott Dean Rodahl, 29, Thief River Falls, was arrested by Polk county sheriff's department and was transferred to Grand Forks, on felony violation of probation. He waived extradition. Pennington county will be seeking extradition on charges of gross misdemeanor theft. Charges are also pending against Rodahl for theft by check in several northwest Minnesota counties, including Red Lake, Polk, Marshall, and Pennington.

Disorderly conduct. On December 17 at 1:18 a.m. Sheila Ray Vondal, 35, Thief River Falls, was charged with disorderly conduct following an incident at a local bar.

Theft. On December 18 at 11:12 p.m. employees at Hugo's reported catching a 15-year-old boy shoplifting.

More than 30 members of the Friendship club in Thief River Falls met for a Christmas party at the Heritage Community Center in Thief River Falls on Monday. The Friendship club, which provides social gatherings, love and concern for mentally handicapped people in the community, is supported by the United Way, Heritage Community Center, Social Services and many dedicated volunteers. It meets on a monthly basis.

Mike Barry and son Patrick, age 6, watch a model train pass one of the displays at the Model Railroad club show at the Thief River Falls city auditorium last Saturday. The show was a fund-raiser for the Soo Line Depot preservation effort. Around $400 was raised. The effort to preserve the depot has now collected over $110,000.

ACTIVITIES

Rudolph

This is a great activity for your child tracing, cutting and making our favorite reindeer. Begin by having your child trace his shoe on a piece of brown paper. This will be used for Rudolph's face. Next trace both of the child's hands on white paper. These will become Rudolph's antlers. Finally cut a red circle to be used for the nose. Glue all the pieces together and you will have a fancy reindeer as soon as the facial features are colored in!

(Contributed by Discovery Place child care center.)

SCAVENGER HUNT

For next week's Activities feature, you will need a medium size box with a lid and assorted Christmas items.

BOOK OF THE WEEK

With Christmas in mind, the Thief River Falls public library invites you to browse through its selection of children's books including the following:

Malinowski, Paul. The Town That Arrested Santa Claus. Read about the outrageous events that led up to Santa Claus being arrested for disturbing the peace of Forgottenville. Will Santa have to spend Christmas in jail?

Nordqvist, Sven. Merry Christmas Festus and Mercury. Farmer Festus falls down and hurts his foot so he can't cut down a tree or buy groceries for Christmas this year. All looks very glum, but then a surprise visitor turns his luck for the better.

VIDEO VARIETY

Christmas Eve on Sesame Street. Oscar the Grouch asks Big Bird a very disturbing question: How does Santa Claus "who is built like a dump truck" get down all those skinny little chimneys? Join in the fun as Big Bird attempts to solve the Santa Claus riddle.

PARENTING TIPS

Happy Holidays

As the holiday season approaches, children begin to sense that something special is about to happen. Decorations, colored lights, extra baking and shopping all indicate something different is going on. Because we are trying to do extra things, sometimes naps are disrupted or skipped. With more candy around and holiday baking, often children are not hungry at meal time and do not get balanced diets. Added to all this the fact that young children do not understand time and find it very difficult to wait for that special day. Is it any wonder that the holidays often become trying and stressful and that children often misbehave more during this time?

Some hints to make the holidays more enjoyable with young children:

- Keep sleep and meal schedules as regular as possible.
- Do not expect kids to be happy and appreciative all of the time.
- Make a list of all the things you have to do and then cut it in half! You can't do everything when you have small children so there is no need to feel guilty about the half of your list that you won't be doing.
- To make waiting for that special day easier for children, use a calendar. Mark that special day with a marker, then each evening mark off that day. That will make time more concrete and easier for children to understand.

Gifts to Wildlife

Trees can be gifts that give twice. A special packet of tree and shrub planting stock, available from the Department of Natural Resources, could be an ideal gift to Minnesota landowners who value wildlife.

DNR's Forestry Division nursery program offers the planting stock, designed to help develop wildlife habitat, in packets of 500 seedlings for $185 plus tax.

The packets are comprised of species most suitable for the northern or southern portions of the state. Species for the northern part of Minnesota are bur oak, red oak, paper birch, white spruce, white pine, red maple, wild plum, highbush cranberry, juneberry, and red osier dogwood. The southern Minnesota packet consists of bur oak, red oak, black walnut, Norway spruce, Black Hills spruce, caragana, wild plum, highbush cranberry, chokecherry, and red osier dogwood.

Seedling packets were developed by the DNR Forestry and Wildlife divisions and the Minnesota Nursery and Landscape Association. The seedling packets are designed to provide food and cover for a variety of wildlife.

Seeding packets ordered now will be delivered in the spring of 1995. Orders for most of the state will be accepted until April 3, 1995, or until supplies are exhausted. Orders for tree seedlings to be planted in the 14 southeastern Minnesota counties will be accepted until March 15, 1995.

Price lists and order forms for the four-season wildlife food planting stock, as well as a variety of other deciduous and coniferous seedlings, are available from DNR Forestry Offices, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service offices; Soil Conservation Service offices; County Extension Service offices; and Soil and Water Conservation District offices. They are also available by contacting the DNR's General Andrews Nursery at P.O. Box 95NC, Willow River, MN 55795, phone 218-372-3183; or by contacting the DNR Forestry Division, DNR Building, 500 Lafayette Road, St. Paul, MN 55155-4044, phone 612-296-4480.

DNR Wildlife Books

A way to solve holiday gift-giving problems and to help wildlife at the same time is available from the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources. "Woodworking for Wildlife" and "Landscaping for Wildlife" are a pair of books designed to help people help wildlife.

"Woodworking for Wildlife" contains 25 different nest box and nest platform designs for many wildlife species. The 112-page book, which features more than 160 color photographs, includes nest box designs for chickadees, bluebirds, purple martins, wood ducks, screech owls, barred owls, goldeneyes, and even mergansers. There are nest platform designs for loons, great gray owls, ospreys, terns, doves, and great blue herons. The book also includes information about wildlife habitats and nest box placement.

"Landscaping for Wildlife" features a simplified approach to plantings that will attract wildlife to yards, farms of woodlots. The 144-page book contains many full-color photographs.

The two books were written by DNR Nongame Wildlife Program Supervisor Carrol Henderson. A portion of the book sales proceeds is returned to the DNR Nongame Wildlife Fund.

"Landscaping for Wildlife" is $10.95 plus tax. "Woodworking for Wildlife" is $9.95 plus tax. The two books can be ordered at a special set price of $18.50 plus tax. To order, call toll free 1-800-657-3757. Credit cards are accepted.

Snowmobile Safety

A covering of snow does not guarantee safe or easy snowmobiling, cautioned the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources.

DNR Safety Officer Tom Kjellberg said early season snowmobiling can be hazardous. "This time of year, snowmobilers need to be especially cautious crossing lakes and wetlands," Kjellberg noted. "Snow cover actually insulates thin ice and keeps water from freezing very thick. Ice needs to be at least 4 inches thick to support a snowmobile."

Kjellberg noted that excessive speed, alcohol and darkness were contributing factors in most of last year's 22 snowmobiling fatalities in Minnesota.

This year's snowmobiling regulations booklet contains safety information.

RLCC extends title reign

Red Lake County Central claimed another Northland Community College Invitational boys high school basketball tournament title Saturday with a 63-52 championship game victory over Goodridge.

It was the Mustangs' third straight Northland crown. The tournament began in 1991 with a Goodridge title.

Grygla-Gatzke defeated Warroad 58-51 in Saturday's third place game, while Red Lake Falls got by East Grand Forks Sacred Heart 46-41 in the consolation finals and Lake of the Woods stopped Kittson County North 55-41 in the seventh place game.

Northland Invitational

■ Semifinals Friday - (championship round) Red Lake County Central 65, Warroad 42; Goodridge 69, Grygla-Gatzke 64. (consolation round) East Grand Forks Sacred Heart 42, Lake of the Woods 34, Red Lake Falls 61, Kittson County North 32.

■ Finals Saturday - (championship) Red Lake County Central 63, Goodridge 52; (third place) Grygla-Gatzke 58, Warroad 31; (consolation) Red Lake Falls 46, East Grand Forks Sacred Heart 41, (seventh place) Lake of the Woods 55, Kittson County North 41

All-Tournament Team

Red Lake Co. Central 63
Goodridge 52

The two Aarons – Chaput and Rosten – were too much for Goodridge to handle as Red Lake County Central won the Northland Invitational finale 63-52.

Chaput, a 6-2 junior forward, scored 28 points and Rosten, a 6-4 senior center, netted 21 as the Mustangs turned a narrow 15-14 first quarter lead into a 33-23 halftime cushion and a 49-41 third quarter advantage.

It was an MVP-clinching performance for Chaput, who was joined on the all-tournament team by Rosten and teammate Bryce Huotari.

"Chaput had a nice tournament," acknowledged Red Lake County Central coach Todd Fore. "There's not too many teams that are going to be able to stop him one-on-one. You could double-team him, I suppose, but that would open things up for the rest of them."

Goodridge got double figure scoring from Brady Wiseth with 15 points, Martin Dahlen 13 and Ryan Kriel 10. Wiseth, a 5-11 junior, produced all of his points on five 3-point baskets. Wiseth and Kriel were all-tournament picks.

The Mustangs helped themselves with a 16-for-22 night at the free throw line, where the Huskies were just 4-for-10.

Red Lake County Central took a 5-2 record into a Tuesday match-up against East Grand Forks. Goodridge goes into the holiday break with a 4-2 record. The Huskies resume play Jan. 3 with a rematch against the Mustangs in Goodridge.

"I was real pleased with the efforts," said Goodridge coach John Rahn. "I thought we performed real well against what is supposed to be one of the top teams in the section. To be 4-2 at this point, with all six games on the road, is a real credit to the kids."

Scoring

Grygla-Gatzke 58
Warroad 51

Grygla-Gatzke came into the Northland Invitational with just two games under its belt. A 2-1 showing, including a 58-51 third place game victory over Warroad, suited Eagles coach Vern Johnson just fine.

"In a tournament situation like this, you always want to win as many games as possible," said Johnson, "but I thought it (third place) was all right. We played a lot of people, and we showed some steady improvement from start to finish."

The Eagles trailed 9-8 at the first quarter stop Saturday, but went ahead 23-18 at halftime and opened up a 40-29 third quarter spread.

Kevin Warne scored 17 points and Jeremy Verbout netted 15 for Grygla-Gatzke. Verbout, a 5-10 senior, was an all-tournament selection.

Todd Morin of Warroad led all scorers with 23 points. Tony Jensen contributed 13. Morin and Mike Keller represented Warroad on the all-tournament team.

The two teams combined to shoot 50 free throws as Grygla-Gatzke made 16 of 23 at the line and Warroad was 16-for-27.

Grygla-Gatzke will resume play with a Jan. 3 game at Tri-County.

Scoring

Lake of the Woods 55
Kittson Co. North 41

Lake of the Woods came out of the Northland Invitational with a win by beating Kittson County North 55-41 in the seventh place game kicking off the Saturday finals.

Matt Speiker of the Bears led all scorers with 19 points. Joah Whitlock netted 16 for the Cougars.

The Bears led 10-7 at the end of the first quarter, fell behind 17-16 at halftime, but went back in front 36-25 in the third quarter.

Red Lake County Central forward Aaron Chaput put the ball up against Lake of the Woods defender Matt Speiker during Thursday's quarterfinal game in the Northland Community College Invitational boys high school basketball tournament. A 36-point outing put Chaput, a 6-2 junior, over the 1,000 point mark for his high school basketball career. The Mustangs beat the Bears 69-53.

Bismarck is a 110-75 winner vs. Northland

A seven-point halftime deficit turned into a 35-point loss for the Northland Community College men's basketball team in a Saturday game at Bismarck State.

The Pioneers were down just 48-41 at intermission, but were outscored 62-34 over the final 20 minutes to lose 110-75.

"They're a very good basketball team," noted Northland coach Mark Dannhoff. "They're big and they're very athletic."

Bismarck also went 27-for-30 at the free throw line, while Northland was 8-for-9, pointed out Dannhoff.

The loss dropped the Pioneers to 2-5.

Eleven Pioneers and 13 Bismarck players put their names in the scoring column. Chad Kujava led Northland with 19 points, while Ryan Rislov had 17 and John Brown 11.

Poor shooting is problem in 57-34 Wolverines' loss

Twenty-six percent shooting (15/58) sabotaged an otherwise solid Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke outing Monday as the Wolverines lost a 57-34 girls high school basketball game to Warroad at Goodridge.

"We did just about everything really well, except put the ball in the basket," explained Wolverines coach Mike Gast. "We played great defense, we didn't have many turnovers, we moved the ball well, and we had good shots. But the ball just wouldn't fall for us."

It was the third straight loss for the Wolverines after a season-opening three-game win streak.

Brandi Stratton led Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke with 15 points. Four Warroad scorers reached double figures, led by Kari Keller with 14 points.

While Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke shooters were struggling, Warroad had a 50 percent 27-for-54 night from the field. The Wolverines were 4-for-9 at the free throw line, where the winners went 2-for-9. Warroad finished with a 32-28 rebound edge.

Hibbing skates past Thief River Falls 5-0

Late goals ending the first and second periods supplied Hibbing with a 2-0 edge, and the host Bluejackets wrapped it up with three third period power play goals Saturday for a 5-0 high school hockey win over Thief River Falls.

Thief River Falls out-shot Hibbing 12-4 in the first period, but fell behind 1-0 when the Bluejackets' Eric Baker scored with just 21 seconds left.

It remained a one-goal game until Bill Robeck scored with 64 seconds to go in the second period.

The Bluejackets, ranked No. 1 in the Class A state polls going into the weekend, iced it with three goals in the first 7:29 of the third period.

It was the second loss to a No. 1-rated Class A team this winter for the Prowlers, who fell to then top-ranked Warroad 7-5 on Dec. 6. (Warroad knocked off Hibbing 4-2 Friday before the Prowlers arrived).

Thief River Falls, 1-5-1, played the game without first-year head coach Pat Cullen, who remained in Thief River Falls because of illness. Assistant coaches Bill Stock and Scott Bergland handled the team in Cullen's absence.

The Prowlers will be idle until the Dec. 26-28 Thief River Falls-Crookston Christmas Classic that will feature three games each day – Monday at Crookston, Tuesday and Wednesday in Thief River Falls. Westwood Collegiate of Winnipeg, Bemidji and Simley will join the Prowlers and Pirates in the event that will feature games at 3:30, 5:30 and 7:30 p.m. Monday and Tuesday, and at 1, 3 and 5 p.m. Wednesday.

Scoring

First period - Hibbing, Eric Baker (Brent Nelson), 14:39.

Second period - Hibbing, Bill Robeck (Baker-Nelson), 13:56.

Third period - Hibbing, Mario Lucarelli (un.), 2:39; Hibbing, Robeck (Baker-Nelson), 8:30; Hibbing, G.J. Willis (Scott Kolar-Mike Perpich), 7:31.

Defense key to TRF victory over Ponies

■ Prowlers start season 3-0

Defense played a major role in establishing a first half edge, and a 23-point Thief River Falls third quarter secured a 65-41 boys high school basketball win over visiting Warren-Alvarado-Oslo Saturday.

The Prowlers had a 14-6 first quarter lead and enjoyed a 30-15 halftime cushion. It was 53-32 through three quarters.

"Any time you hold somebody to 15 points in a half, you've got to be happy," said Thief River Falls coach Scott Brekke. "And it was nice to see us come out and score 23 points in the third quarter. We didn't have a letdown. We didn't let them back in the game."

Kyle Sanden had a 19-point, 13-rebound outing for the Prowlers. Jared Brandt netted 12, Nathan Anderson and Josh Hedin both finished with 11, while Eric Bjorgaard contributed 9 points, 10 rebounds and 6 assists. Hedin closed out two quarters with final-possession 3-point baskets.

The win put the Prowlers at 3-0.

Thief River Falls was 24-for-56 from the field (43 percent) and 13-for-21 at the free throw line. Warren-Alvarado-Oslo made just 12 of 62 field goals (19 percent) and 10 of 23 free throws. The Prowlers had a 45-29 rebound advantage, but also had more turnovers, 24-10.

"That's too many turnovers," said Brekke. "We've got to make better choices with the ball."

TRF returns to dome

Thief River Falls will make a return trip to the Fargodome next fall for a Friday, Oct. 13, high school football game against Woodbury.

The Prowlers made their initial Fargodome appearance when they met Detroit Lakes in the 1994 Section 8A playoff finals.

Woodbury will replace Alexandria on the Prowlers' 1995 regular season schedule. The Royals, like the Cardinals, will give Thief River Falls a single Class AA opponent in a schedule that otherwise includes only Section 8A foes Detroit Lakes, Fergus Falls, Wadena-Deer Creek, Staples-Motley, Park Rapids Area, Crookston, and East Grand Forks.

The Thief River Falls vs. Woodbury match-up, expected to start around 5 p.m., will precede a Moorhead vs. Cambridge contest. Schedule-makers are working to insert a third game that day that would start prior to the Prowlers' contest.

Warren-Alvarado-Oslo Invitational...

B/G-MR girls win tournament

Three-year East Grand Forks championship reign at the Warren-Alvarado-Oslo Invitational girls high school basketball tournament ended Saturday when Badger/Greenbush-Middle River beat the Green Wave 55-51 in the 1994 finals.

The Gators, who handled Fosston 70-50 in the Thursday quarterfinals and defeated Kittson Central 53-45 in the Friday semifinals, stretched their season-opening winning streak to eight games. A year ago Badger/Greenbush-Middle River was 4-4 through eight games, then won 17 in a row en route to the Section 8A Sub-Section 4 title.

"It's nice to finally beat East Side," said Badger/Greenbush-Middle River coach Tom Neibauer, whose team lost to the Green Wave in the last two tournaments at Warren – in the 1992 quarterfinals and the 1993 semifinals.

With high expectations coming into the 1994-95 season, the Gators are taking early success in stride. "We've been playing all right, but we're not as good as we're going to be," said Neibauer.

W-A-O Invitational

■ Semifinals Friday - (championship round) Badger/Greenbush-Middle River 53, Kittson Central 45; East Grand Forks 67, Warren-Alvarado-Oslo 48; (consolation round) Climax/Fisher 56, Fosston 30; Crookston 52, East Grand Forks Sacred Heart 34.

■ Finals Saturday - (championship) Badger/Greenbush-Middle River 55, East Grand Forks 51; (third place) Kittson Central 51, Warren-Alvarado-Oslo 50; (consolation) Climax/Fisher 46, Crookston 42; (seventh place) Fosston 51, East Grand Forks Sacred Heart 46.

Point guard Ali Hietala went down with an ankle injury in the first quarter, and without their quarterback, the Gators struggled before emerging with a 53-45 Friday night semifinal win over Kittson Central.

Krissi Super scored 23 points and Nikki Wahl had 10 for the winners, who had quarter leads of 13-7, 26-17 and 38-33.

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River shot 48 percent from the field (19/40) and made 15 of 20 free throws. Kittson Central went 13-for-20 at the line.

East Grand Forks 51

A first half defensive switch and a second half adjustment on offense led to a 55-51 Badger/Greenbush-Middle River Saturday night championship game win over East Grand Forks.

The Gators started with a zone defense, but promptly fell behind 12-4. A switch to a man-to-man sparked a comeback that turned a 15-10 first quarter deficit to a 25-23 halftime lead.

On offense, the Gators made sure high-scoring Krissi Super had the ball in her hands more often in the second half, and she responded by netting 16 of her game-high 22 points after the break as the winners took a 38-34 third quarter lead. Teammate Jessica Borgen contributed 15 points.

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River went 20-for-41 from the field (49 percent).

Swimmers face strong competition

There weren't many of them, but the teams at the Otter Invitational boys high school swim meet presented a major challenge for Thief River Falls Saturday.

Fargo North won it with 625 points, followed by Bemidji with 585, Fergus Falls 526, and Thief River Falls 285.

North is the defending North Dakota state champion, Bemidji is the reigning Section 8 champion, and Fergus Falls finished fifth in the state a year ago.

"The kids swam real hard," pointed out Thief River Falls coach Ryan Lokken. "They swam with a lot of heart."

Rebound advantage lifts Otters over TRF

■ Fergus Falls girls win 71-47

Fergus Falls' success on the backboards led to a win on the scoreboard Friday as the visiting Otters beat Thief River Falls 71-47 in girls high school basketball.

The winners finished with a 43-25 rebound advantage, with early success on the offensive boards against the Prowlers' zone defense creating a bundle of baskets and a 22-11 cushion at the end of the first quarter. It was 40-18 at halftime and 53-27 through three quarters.

Becky Lejcher's work inside netted her a game-high 30 points – 20 of them coming in the first half.

"We didn't box out," explained Thief River Falls coach Sally Wiltse. "We were in position, but we didn't keep them off the boards."

The loss dropped the Prowlers to 1-5. It was their first North Sub-Section 8AA test of the season.

"We did a couple of things better," said Wiltse. "We handled the press better than we did previously, but we fix one area and another leak appears somewhere else."

Eighth grader Nicole Kopari led the Prowlers with 13 points and 8 rebounds.

Thief River Falls made only 18 of 67 field goal attempts (27 percent) and struggled with an 11-for-25 free throw night. Fergus Falls was 27-for-58 from the floor (47 percent) and had a productive 17-for-21 showing at the line. The Prowlers topped the turnover charts 19-17.

Illness, injuries hurt NCC women...

Shorthanded Pioneers lose at Bismarck 78-46

Rick Nikunen wound up with a short bench Saturday and his Northland Community College women's basketball team found themselves taking a 78-46 pounding from Bismarck State.

The Pioneers made the trip to the North Dakota state capitol without top scorer Kelli Kronchnabel, sidelined by illness, had second-leading scorer Angel Mickelson netting only five points while playing with the flu, and went without guard Carrie Olsen because of an ankle problem.

"We were down to six healthy players," pointed out Nikunen.

They held their own for the first 12 minutes before the deep, talented Bismarck bench took its toll. The Pioneers trailed 33-22 at halftime and were out-scored 45-24 over the final 20 minutes.

The loss dropped the Pioneers to 1-5. They will be idle until Jan. 6, when Northland opens Minnesota Community College Conference play against Mesabi.

Youth Hockey

Thief River Falls Amateur Hockey Association will be offering a Christmas special in the form of development skills practice sessions for Pee-Wees and Squirts Dec. 26-30 at the Old Arena.

Sessions scheduled to be held from 10:30 to 11:45 a.m. Monday through Friday will be led by Lincoln High School hockey coaches Pat Cullen, Bill Stock and Scott Bergland, along with Ron Novak, the TRFAHA youth hockey director.

The program is designed to emphasize the basics of the game. Each day a variety of drills will be used to concentrate on one of the following fundamentals: skating, passing, shooting, stick-handling, offensive skills, and defensive skills.

Pee-Wees and Squirts interested in improving their game and working on individual skills are invited to attend.

All TRFAHA hockey coaches are also encouraged to attend the instructional sessions.

Grygla-Gatzke defenders Aaron Holthusen (44), Denny Warne (20) and Tony Mosher (50) forced Josh Whitlock of Kittson County North to pass the ball off instead of taking a shot during Thursday's quarterfinal meeting in the Northland Community College invitational boys high school basketball tournament. The Eagles won 56-35.

Warroad is Section 8A favorite

Defending Class A state champion Warroad was made the overwhelming favorite in Section 8A high school hockey heading into the 1994-95 season, according to a coaches poll conducted by sectional publicist John Oren of the Baudette Region.

Seven first place votes (nine of the ten coaches responded; coaches weren't allowed to vote for their own teams) went to Warroad, while Roseau was listed No. 1 on the other two ballots to finished No. 2 in the poll.

Section 8A Coaches Poll

1 - Warroad; 2. Roseau; 3. East Grand Forks; 4. Thief River Falls; 5. Crookston; 6. Red Lake Falls; 7. Kittson Central; 8. Lake of the Woods; 9. Indus; 10. Bagley.

Team Sketches

Warroad - Wyatt Smith and Zach Hallett lead the offensive arsenal for coach Cary Eades. Smith, a senior, led Section 8A in scoring last year with 28 goals, 30 assists and 58 points, while Hallett, a junior, was No. 3 on the scoring chart with 20 goals, 31 assists and 51 points. Willy Marvin is back in the nets after posting a 1.95 goals against average and an 89 percent save figure as a junior. Thief River Falls transfers Kaine and Tanner Mariell have been added to the line-up, whose biggest graduation loss was the defensive tandem of Tom Lund and Andy Fermoyle.

Roseau - A young Roseau team went 13-8-3 last year. Leading scorer Jason Lovejoy and goalie Ryan Vatnedal left via graduation, but All-Section 8A defensemen Jared Gustafson leads the list of returning veterans for coach Bruce Olson. Four scorers with 20 or more points last year also return, including junior Bryan Lundbohm (34), senior Andy Lundbohm (25), senior Robert Moser (22) and junior Aaron Lundbohm (21). Senior Jeremy Kvien has little varsity experience, but is the heir-apparent in goal.

East Grand Forks - Senior goaltenders Scott Schultz and Mike Gregoire should help anchor the Green Wave. Schultz posted the highest save percentage in Section 8A last winter (.901) and finished with a 2.37 goals-against average. Despite an 11-13-1 record, the Kary Strandell-coached Green Wave reached 1994 Section 8A finals before losing to Warroad 2-1. All-Section 8A senior Travis Lind (16-16) leads the offense, along with junior Bear Landa (9-16). Senior Jon Bush is an All-Section 8A defenseman.

Thief River Falls - Graduation and transfers hit the Prowlers hard. Top returnees include junior Nick Chiodo (9-21) last year's second-leading scorer, senior Tim Barry (13-10) and junior Keith Anderson (9-8). Junior goalie Chanc Keele saw brief varsity duty as a sophomore. Pat Cullen is the new head coach.

Crookston - Mike Hajostek left Red Lake Falls to take over the coaching duties at Crookston, where his top players include seniors Ben Parkin (13-12), Chris Chandler (12-10) and Chris Peterson (13-4), along with Justin Pauf, who scored 10 goals and added 11 assists during an impressive freshman season.

Red Lake Falls - New coach Brad Kennett inherits a batch of veterans from a 14-4-1 team, including All-Section 8A goalie Jesse Barbot, who had a 2.46 goals-against average and an .887 save percentage last winter. Top skaters include Daniel Stiris (11-14), Blaise Larson (7-16), Brian Gervais (12-9), Richie Columbus, Bruce Kennedy, and Brian Schafer. Most of the Eagles were members of the Class C state runner-up football team this fall.

Kittson Central - Another northwestern Minnesota football power that got a late start on the hockey season was Nine-Man state champion Kittson Central. But coach Rod Hennen has a veteran crew headed by All-Section 8A senior Mark Olsonawski, the No. 2 scorer in sectional play last winter with 32 goals and 32 assists for 64 points. Senior Derrick Haugstad (24-20) also racked up big numbers. Greg Turnson, Jeremy Backous, Lonie Bergh, and Ryan Johnson also had double-figure goal production. Netminders Garrett Koop and Michael Lindegaard shared playing time as 1993-94 sophomores.

Lake of the Woods - New coach Don Krause has a team that returns five of its top seven scorers, but the Bears were just 4-20 last year after reaching the Tier II state finals the previous season. Chris Johnson (8-18), Pete Gene (7-12), Bucky Morris (4-13), Jason LaValla (5-7), and Todd Grillen (4-6) head the returning point-producers, but last year's top scorer, Scott Allenhead, transferred, and both goalies graduated. Success in recent years at the Bantam level could help stock the Bears' varsity roster.

Indus - Junior goalie Kaleb Christenson had a .886 goals against average while playing all but one period of the Trojans' 1993-94 season. Leading returning scorer is senior Aaron Kennedy (8-18). Senior Zach Hasbargen, along with juniors Calvin Nelson and Mike Pelland should help out offensively.

Bagley - Ben Brovold (10-10) and J.J. Schermerhorn (10-7) return after ranking 1-2 in the Flyers' scoring column last year. Also back are goalies Tom Riggs, a senior, and Dan DeJong, a junior. Bob Jones takes over as head coach for a program that went 3-12 with a young line-up in 1993-94.

DNR News

Deer Harvest

Minnesota firearms deer hunters harvested approximately 176,000 deer in 1994, a 6 percent decline from 1993 but still the fourth highest harvest on record, according to the Department of Natural Resources.

As a result of a 15 percent decrease in anterless permits, a lower harvest was expected in 1994, said Dave Schad, DNR Forest Wildlife Program leader. In forest and transition areas the harvest was better than expected, however. "It appears that harvest of bucks increased in many of these areas, offsetting to some extent the effects of reduced anterless permit quotas," Schad explained.

Deer harvests declined 6 percent in the northwest, 2 percent in the northeast, 8 percent in the central and east-central portion of the state, and 5 percent in the west southwest. The only region showing an increase was the southeast (up 3 percent). The metro region was stable.

Schad also reported that deer are in very good condition entering winter. "The good growing conditions we saw over summer, combined with the very mild fall weather, will really help deer through the winter," Schad said.

Some archery and muzzleloader season are still underway in the state. Final harvest figures should be available after the first of the year.

Ice Safety Video

When is the ice safe? How do I recognize thin ice and keep from falling through? How can I safely rescue an accident victim? What should I do if I break through thin ice? These and many other ice-related questions are answered in a video recently produced by the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources titled "Danger, Thin Ice."

"Every winter we receive hundreds of telephone questions about ice safety," said Tim Smalley, DNR boat and water safety specialist. "Usually, it's the same few questions over and over. We thought a video would be an effective way to explain the hazards of thin ice and what winter recreation enthusiasts can do to prevent an icy splash-down."

The DNR has had ice safety pamphlets and posters available for a number of years, but Smalley noted that some of the concepts were difficult to get across in print. "Many victims of ice accidents die because they are unable to get out of the water once they break through thin ice. With video we are able to demonstrate ice survival techniques," he said.

Husband and wife team David and Marcia Marquardt of Forest Lake, who are both firefighters and professional ice rescue instructors, volunteered to act as the victim and rescuer in the various scenarios depicted in the video.

Smalley, who was the video's producer, said, "Even though Dave and Marcy wore special survival clothing, I can tell you that their faces and hands got pretty chilly by the time we were done shooting. I was glad it wasn't me climbing in and out of that hole in the ice for the dozenth time."

Although the video is not meant to be a complete course in ice rescue, it is intended to give ice sports enthusiasts a very basic idea of what to do in case of an ice emergency. The 10-minute video is appropriate for ages 9 through adult. It is available for free loan to Minnesota based organizations only, such as scout groups, schools, as well as fishing and snowmobile clubs.

To reserve a copy of the video, groups should call the DNR Film Loan Library toll free 1-800-766-6000 and ask for video number V-386, "Danger, Thin Ice."

Mustangs, Huskies reach finals

Red Lake County Central and Goodridge were semifinal winners Friday in the 1994 Northland Community College Invitational boys high school basketball tournament.

The Mustangs stopped Warroad 55-42 and the Huskies defeated Grygla-Gatzke 69-54 to reach the Saturday championship game.

East Grand Forks Sacred Heart beat Lake of the Woods 42-34 and Red Lake Falls downed Kittson County North 51-32 in the Friday afternoon consolation semifinals.

Red Lake Co. Central 55
Warroad 42

Aaron Rosten kept the Red Lake County Central offense going with a 22-point game as the Mustangs advanced with a 55-42 win over Warroad.

Aaron Chaput, who had a big night when he scored 36 points to join the 1,000-Point Club in a 69-53 Thursday quarterfinal win over Lake of the Woods, netted only 12 against Warroad as the Mustangs struggled to build leads of 12-8 and 23-15 at the first two quarter stops before opening up a 45-23 spread in the third quarter behind Rosten. The 6-4 senior had 15 of the Mustangs' 22 third quarter points.

Scoring

	1	2	3	4	T
Warroad	8	7	6	18	42
RLCC	13	11	22	10	55

Warroad - Pat Frolander 2, Todd Morin 12, Nic Thompson 3, Mike Keller 11, Tony Jensen 6, Matt Fish 2, Adam Paulson 2, Tim Daniels 2.

RLCC - Dan Gagner 7, Shawn Hince 2, Bryce Huotari 2, J.J. Johnson 2, Aaron Chaput 12, Jacob Anderson 3, Scott Lorenson 5, Aaron Rosten 22.

Goodridge 69
Grygla-Gatzke 54

Brady Wiseth (25) and Ryan Kriel (20) combined for 45 points to lead Goodridge past Grygla-Gatzke 69-54.

The Northland Invitational match-up will be the only meeting of the year between the two schools who field a cooperative football team, but have elected to suspend their home-and-home basketball series because of the intensity of the rivalry.

Goodridge held the upper hand with quarter leads of 20-9, 32-14 and 44-30.

The Huskies kept the Eagles at bay by making 24 of 33 free throw attempts. Grygla-Gatzke went 12-for-20 at the line. Kriel was a perfect 14-for-14 at the line in the final quarter.

Anthony Holthusen and Jamie Lunsetter led the Eagles with 15 and 13 points, respectively.

Scoring

Red Lake Falls 51
Kittson Co. North 32

Josh Whitlock scored a game-high 18 points for Kittson County North, but that was the extent of the Cougars' offense in a 51-32 consolation round loss to Red Lake Falls.

The Eagles counters with a 14-point game by Danny Swendra and a 13-point effort by Jeff Martell.

Scoring

Where To Travel In Thief River Falls

PLEASE OBSERVE THESE SIMPLE RULES

1. Streets and alleys are to be used ONLY in traveling enroute to the river and/or open country, using the most direct route. If more than one machine, ride in single file on the right-hand side of the roadway.

2. Private property is private and no one may trespass without permission. NO RIDING ON PRIVATE PROPERTY.

3. NO: Speed greater than reasonable or prudent under all circumstances.
NO: Careless, reckless, or negligent driving which may harm or injure a person or property.
NO: Operating while under the influence of an intoxicating liquor or narcotic or habit-forming drug.
NO: Riding permitted on any State Highway, County State Aid, or County Highway. Crossing of these roads is only authorized by qualified persons and at a 90 degree angle. State Highways, County State Aid and County Highways in Thief River Falls are as follows: Hwy. 59 or 3rd St. through the City; Hwy. 32 or Main Ave. N. to S. through the City; Hwy. 1 or East 8th St. from E. of Main Ave. to E. City Limits; Pennington Ave. from 1st St. to South Limits; 1st St. East to West through City Limits; and 8th St. from Main Ave. to West Limits. NO RIDING PERMITTED ON ANY OF THESE STREETS.

4. No person under 14 years of age shall make a direct crossing of a Trunk, County State Aid or County Highway as the operator of a snowmobile-ATV, or operate a snowmobile-ATV upon a street or highway within a municipality. A person 14 years of age or older, but less than 18 years of age, may make a direct crossing of a Trunk, County State Aid, or County Highway only if the person has in immediate possession a valid snowmobile safety certificate issued by the Commissioner of Natural Resources, or a valid motor vehicle operator's license issued by the Commission of Public Safety, or the drivers license authority of another state.
No person under the age of 14 years shall operate a snowmobile-ATV on any public land or water under the jurisdiction of the Commissioner unless accompanied by one of the following listed persons on the same or an accompanying snowmobile-ATV or on a device towed by the same or an accompanying snowmobile-ATV: the person's parents, legal guardian, or other person 18 years of age or older. However, a person 12 years of age or older may operate a snowmobile on public lands and waters under the jurisdiction of the Commissioner if the person has in immediate possession a valid snowmobile safety certificate issued by the Commissioner.

8. LIGHTS: Head and tail lights must be on BOTH DAY AND NIGHT TO OPERATE ON PUBLIC STREETS AND ALLEYS.

8. SPEED LIMIT: 18 MPH on streets and alleys. 50 MPH on the river.

7. TOWING: Rigid connection ONLY (no tow ropes).

8. RIDERS: Only the number of riders for which the machine is designed for.

9. NO: Riding in public parks or on school property.

10. MUFFLERS: Must be installed and in good working order.

11. Snowmobiles must yield right-of-way to all pedestrians and motor vehicles.

12. NO: Riding on sidewalks, private property, or where prohibited by signs.

13. NO: Riding in the downtown business district of Thief River Falls. This is the area between 1st Street and 4th Street, and between Knight Ave. and Atlantic Ave. NO RIDING IN THIS AREA.

14. RESTRICTED AREAS: Operation of snowmobiles is prohibited in all areas which are posted or similarly marked. Operation of snowmobiles on sidewalks or similar pedestrian traffic areas is prohibited.

18. RIVER USAGE: All access areas which constitute private property should be used only with the approval of the property owner. Snowmobiles must slow and maintain a distance of 100 feet from all fishhouses where possible (where the distance between the shore and houses does not permit, judgement should be exercised for the safest passage.) Traffic on the river is to keep to the right. Snowmobiles cannot exceed 50 MPH on the river.

18. GENERAL STREET USAGE: Streets and alleys within the city are to be used only for access to the river or open country, using the most direct route. Traffic on streets and alleys must keep to the right. Snowmobiles must travel in single file at safe intervals. Speed is 18 mph.

Lincoln poets receive awards in competition

Student poets at Lincoln senior high school in Thief River Falls earned awards in the 1994 Emerging Writers Competition sponsored by the English department of the College of St. Catherine at St. Joseph.

According to the list of winners provided by the college to instructor Loiell Dyrud, local poets Vicki Bitzegaio, Jennifer Halling and Angie Haugen received high honorable mention and Angeline Gunstad, Tina Krogstad and Kari Jo Larson received honorable mention.

The listing varies from the news release sent by the college to the Times office and published in Saturday's Northern Watch. Winning entries from the local students follow:

Vicki Bitzegaio earned a high honorable mention with:

HOMECOMING

He gave me a corsage made of three red roses—
he said they stood for Faith, Hope, Love—nestled amid ribbons and lace.
They were flawless,
so perfect and pure, delicate.
"Like our love," he said.

Then I put them away in a small, tin box full of treasured things
where they shriveled, died—until at last they crumbled into a fine, silent powder.
"Like our love," I said.

Jennifer Halling received high honorable mention with the following entry:

IN THE DRIVER'S SEAT of his Grand Am, I grip
the wheel nervously.
After trying to get close to him all night,
here we are, side by side.
The smell of liquor lingers on his breath and I can still smell his cologne.
There's something about him,
even now, while he slouches down in the bucket seat.
I sit up straighter attempting to look like a licensed driver.
We drive in awkward silence.
Suddenly I feel his hand graze
my jeans.
I blush behind the darkness.
He pulls his hand back quickly, embarrassed.
I stop the car in front of his house.
He thanks me for driving him home and stumbles to the door.

Angie Haugen earned a high honorable mention for her poem,

BATHING BEAUTIES

Black and white goddesses
Bask in the afternoon sun,

Modeling on the edge of the Stock pond's turbid muck.

Swishing tails interrupt
Mobs of greedy flies as Young calves stop grazing

To moisten their pink tongues.

Angeline Gunstad received an honorable mention for the following entry:

MARCHING BAND
IMMGRTALITY

White frost
melts from the sun.
Water soaks
my socks. Dead grass sticks to my Diadora's. My imprint—left on the grass between the yardline markers of the football field—lasts only until kickoff.

Tina Krogstad received honorable mention for her poem

THE TEMP

My eyes stick to the features of his new girl
as they make their entrance onto the dance floor.
Too scrawny—
Too many split ends—
Her skirt is too short—
Her feet are too long—
I pass judgment on her appearance.

I grab the nearest,
unsuspecting guy and lead him directly in front of them.

Flashing my ex
a defiant smirk,
I desperately fling
my arms around the nameless boy's neck.

Lions Club holds meeting in TRF

Members of the Thief River Falls Lions Club and the Thief River Falls Lioness clubs attended a Lions Zone 2 meeting on Tuesday, November 29, 1994 at the Evergreen Eating Emporium in Thief River Falls. This meeting was hosted by the St. Hilaire Lions club. Representatives from the area Lions clubs were in attendance. Zone 2 clubs include Goodridge, Greenbush, Grygla, Newfolden, Roseau, St. Hilaire, Thief River Falls, Wannaska, and Warroad Lions clubs. Lioness clubs include Goodridge, Grygla, Thief River Falls Noon and Thief River Falls Moonlighters Lioness clubs.

The meeting was called to order by Lion Dick Reger, Zone 2 chairman. Following the flag pledge and invocation, Lions District 5M-11 Governor Dick Jones, Glyndon, spoke to the group. Following the Governor's remarks, various 5M-11 Cabinet members gave reports, including Dr. George Marx, Crookston, Eye Bank/Eye Clinic chairman; John Anderson, Cummings, ND, diabetes chairman; and John Vik, Crookston, leader dog for the blind chairman.

Lion Harry Sjulson, St. Hilaire Lions club, acted as Tailtwister. As a result of his efforts, $50 was raised at the meeting and presented to Governor Jones to be used for the leader dog program. Not to be outdone by the St. Hilaire club, the Thief River Falls Lions graciously matched the amount so that a total of $100 was given to the leader dog program for the blind.

A representative from each club reported on projects completed since the fall zone meeting and on current and planned projects for the coming months. Membership retention was discussed and each club was asked to increase its efforts to retain its members. Mid-winter convention pins were also offered for sale.

Zone 2 Chairman Reger urged the clubs to complete their inter-club visitations soon. Emphasis was placed on Lions Quest program on self-esteem which is used in several public schools in the area. Reger also reminded the group of the coming Lions Mid-winter Convention to be held in Crookston at the Northland INN on January 20-22, 1995.

Attending from the Thief River Falls Noon Lions club were Dan Drevlow, president; Bruce Keller, treasurer; Jay Horsman, Dick Reger, Ray Safranski, and Charles Samuelson. Attending from the Thief River Falls Noon Lioness club were Gloria Lee, Linda Johnson, Judy Reger, Idella Samuelson, co-president, and Betty Kezar, secretary. Attending from the Moonlighters Lioness were Diane Baune and president Sherry Sorenson.

Honorable mention was received by Kari Jo Larson for her poem

FATHER FIGURE

My door knob creaks at the pressure of a hand. Light beams flicker over me from the hall light. A foot steps and the gray carpet sinks.

His rough hand approaches my nightgown. Warm flesh trembles under the touch.

His calloused hand pushes damp hair from my face.
The weight of his body pushes my mattress down until his full mass is complete. "How ya doin' pumpkin?" He touches my hot forehead with a cool, tender hand. "My fever hasn't broken yet." A washcloth nips at my head.

Art and Liz Swenson were treated to a "Welcome Party" at the Gunderson Complex home which they now occupy.

On Saturday afternoon Vernette Stokke of New Folden, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Grandstrand and Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Sustad attended the 8th annual Santa Lucia Festival sponsored by the Agassiz Swedish Heritage Society which was held at the First Lutheran church of Stephen where Marin Suanna Himanen, an exchange student from Karkalas, Finland portrayed Lucia. At the present time she is attending Lincoln high school in Thief River Falls. Hugo Magnusson, in his 90's, from Grand Forks; read the Christmas story in Swedish from the book of Luke in the Bible. He also furnished the Saffron St. Lucia buns for the lunch served following the program. ASHS President Lyndon Johnson of Hallock sang a Swedish solo and special music was also rendered by Leslie Widner, Cheryl Huldsten, Ann Woinarowicz and Marie Erlandson. Rev. Micheal Schendel, pastor of the church, gave the meditation. Refreshments were served following the program.

The Grandstrands, Vernette and the Sustads were then evening guests at the Glenn Sustad home.

Liz Swenson attended the Sunday school program Sunday morning at Trinity Lutheran church to see little great-granddaughter, Brittney Holter. They were all so cute.

Religion Is Taught In Public Schools

Considerable commentary in the national news media has been directed to a renewed effort to the new Congress—which will have a majority of Republicans in both the House and Senate—to restore school prayer. That commentary has revived discussion of whether practice or teaching of religion should be allowed in the public schools.

It's not that Republicans are more religious than Democrats or even that they are more willing to tell the public that they are. But there are people in positions of influence (we hesitate to say "leadership") in the new Congress who have made religion a political issue in the past and are expected to do so in the future. The difference is in their party's new found majority... whatever that may be worth.

Michael Mignard of Andover, a teacher in a private school, recently wrote a public opinion piece for the Anoka County Union which is both informed and thought provoking. It is reprinted here with the writer's permission:

GUEST EDITORIAL
by Michael Mignard

Most Americans have come to the conclusion that religious dogma has no place in public education. The popular opinion is that the First Amendment to the Constitution has erected a "wall of separation" between the church and state.

The commonly held viewpoint is that religious instruction in a public school violates that "wall of separation" because tax dollars are supporting one religion over another. Tax dollars being spent on religious instruction would mean that the government is establishing a state religion.

The truth of the matter is that public schools are teaching religious dogma every day in almost every class and subject. As incredible as this sounds, it is true.

Secular humanism, which is the accepted world view of public schools today, is a religious world view. The evidence to support the position that secular humanism is a religion is overwhelming. The Supreme Court ruled in the 1961 case of Torcaso v. Watkins that secular humanism is a religion equal to other theistic or non-theistic religions.

The American Humanist Association has a religious tax exemption [501 (c) 3]. The secular humanists even call themselves a religion. It is obvious that we are talking about an organization and system of thought that is religious to the very core.

All one needs to do is to read the Humanist Manifesto I and II to realize that secular humanism is a religion that has its doctrines and dogmas just as any religion does.

John J. Dunphy in "A Religion for a New Age" wrote, "The classroom will become an area of conflict between the old and the new—the rotting corpse of Christianity, together with its adjacent evils and misery and the new faith of humanism, resplendent in its promise of a world in which the never realized Christian idea of 'love thy neighbor' will finally be achieved."

Here is a statement of remarkable faith, and the schools are being used as an evangelistic tool to propagate this faith.

The way in which any religion is taught is by conveying its basic tenets or doctrines to the student. It is important for one to know what the basic doctrines of secular humanism are. With these doctrines in mind it is possible to examine the public schools to see if in fact those doctrines are being taught.

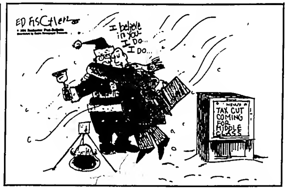
It does not take great insight to realize that the doctrines of secular humanism are taught every single day in the public schools.

What follows is a brief doctrinal statement for the secular humanist religious world view. These points were derived from the Humanist Manifesto I and II:

(1) The universe is self-existing and not created;

(2) The supernatural is unacceptable;

(3) Human nature is inherently good or at least it is perfectible;



(4) Values are relative;

(5) A one world government is inevitable and even to be sought for.

It is obvious that the public schools are teaching this religion. That in itself is not a problem. The problem lies in the fact that the religion of secular humanism is the only religion that can be taught.

The courts in our land, spurred on by groups like the ACLU and People for the American Way, have outlawed Christianity and substituted secular humanism. For instance, it is not legal to post the Ten Commandments in public schools, but evolution, which is the basic tenet of secular humanism, is proudly taught.

It is time that we admit what is going on. Tax dollars are being spent on religious indoctrination. This is a clear violation of the popular interpretation of the First Amendment. Why is it that separation of church and state, which is thrown in the face of traditional Judeo-Christian religion, does not apply equally to the religion of secular humanism?

LETTERS

To The Editor:

I am in favor of new student housing for Thief River Falls students at Northland Commonity College and Northwest Technical College. This is needed. I wrote a letter to the developers of Knox and Northrop school properties and asked them to save the two schools' gyms for Thief River Falls neighborhood activity centers.

I would like to ask local area residents to write any of their opinions, comments, suggestions and ideas to the developer of Knox and Northrop school sites: Dunbar Development Corp., 15 North 12th Street, Minneapolis Minnesota; Attention: Jay Tortz. Development will probably start in the spring or summer, so write the developers before then.

Hopefully our suggestions will be considered or included in the developers' future plans for Knox and Northrop.

I would also like to ask Thief River Falls school district residents to write to the School District 564 office and school board and state your ideas and feelings about the Northrop, Knox and Washington elementary school sites' futures.

Sincerely,
Charlie Bedard

Sunday visitors at Frank Kleinvachter's to celebrate Frank's birthday were Bud and Marie Steffen of Argyle, Alan and Joan Gehrts of Inkster, ND; Dustin Gehrts of Thief River Falls, Kaye Turnwall and Sten Johnson of St. Hilaire, June Kasprowicz, Russell Larson of Stephen, Claudia Berggren, Kali and Jessie, Todd Nelson, Karl Kasprowicz, Betty and Terry Pietruszewski, Pat and Wayne Larson, and girls, Lowell Lafrooth, Brian Nelson, Brittany, Matthew and Wayne Martinson also come to visit Sunday evening.

Dinner guests at Danny and Gloria Renstrom on Sunday were Walter Thompson, Elsie Lafrooth and Ellen Johnson.

Elphie Adlis is at home this week just lollygagging around after spending a couple of weeks at the Host Fest in Minot and then a couple more in Florida trying to get a suntan in the winter. She should have been in her garden a bit more between all the rain we had last summer. It's a cinch she can't get a tan out here now.

Audry Berg is just returned from a three week stay in Phoenix and Scottsdale, AZ visiting her son, Monty and the boys, while trying out the sunny weather they have there now. On the way home she spent some time in Fargo at the Andy Boen home.

Gayherd, Irene, Myron and Dion Nelson and Dede Adamski went to the Veterans' hospital in Fargo to visit Elmar Eskildsen on Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. David Nelson of Fargo also visited with him.

Scott Thun of Moorhead spent the weekend with his mother, LaVoi Thun and Saturday evening visited with Don and Vangie Carlson.

Elsie and Ivan Kimbrough attended the St. Lucia Day in Stephen on Sunday and said the food was great as was the program.

Mary and Donna Renstrom attended the Christmas programs in the Gospel Tabernacle and the Baptist church in Karlstad on Sunday.

LaVoi Thun and Arnold and Vernice Larson were Tuesday evening visitors at Sybil Peterson's in Newfolden.

Isaac and Betsy Thompson accompanied by Roy and Myrtle Vagle attended the Christmas Banquet at the Evergreen in Thief River Falls hosted by the Thief River Falls Camp, the Roseau-Warroad camp, and the Kittson Camp. A lovely time was had by all.

Elsie Lafrooth has had company all week. Here are some of that she had, Pearl and LaRoy Lundell of Minnetonka, Dean Holmstrom, Elphie Adlis, Esther Underberg, Karen Zimmerman, Shirley Lafrooth, Pearl Thompson, Margaret Donaldson, and Alaura and Sara, Marcelyn Lindstrom, Marlys Lafrooth, Walter Thompson and Isaac and Betsy Thompson.

Visitors on Monday at Frank and Judy Kleinvachter's were Claudie Barggren, Karl Kasprowicz, Wayne Martinson and Adrienne and Lowell Lafrooth.

Arnold and Vernice Larson were Monday evening visitors at LaVoi Thun's.

Frank Kleinvachter's visitors on Wednesday were Karl Kasprowicz, Claudie Berggren, Jessie and Kali, Brian and Todd Nelson, Lowell Lafrooth and Bud and Marie Steffen.

The lutefisk recipe I promised to the seniors didn't come in time so I will copy it and distribute it before Christmas so if there are any leftover lutefisk after Christmas it is a real treat for later. Mrs. Berggran made some for the Seniors and it was great.

ASK YOUR LOCKSMITH
Questions And Answers

Q I just bought a new house. Is it a good idea to get the locks changed?

A Absolutely, yes! You have no idea how many keys are in the hands of strangers. Neighbors, real estate agents, and even the builder may have keys. A locksmith can rekey your existing lock so that the new key is the only key that will open your door. At the same time, a locksmith can recommend extra security measures, such as deadbolt locks, window locks, and sliding door locks. Some locksmiths even offer security bars and burglar alarms as part of their service.

Pennington Second In State In "E" Bonds Bought

"No better greeting for a Merry Christmas would have been given to those who are responsible for the attainment of Pennington county's Sixth War Loan quota than the performance of the bond purchasers during the past week. Since the publication of the last report, purchases totalling more than $80,000 have been made bringing the county's total to $632,737.75 against a quota of $415,000. What was better was that those purchases were made by the small holders thereby bringing the county's 'E' bond purchases over the required quota. On the basis of 'E' bond of the quota, the county is second in the state, being exceeded only by Polk county."

Skating Started Last Night In Sports Arena

"Good news for local skaters is contained in the announcement that the ice sheet in the arena was completed Wednesday and was put into use last night. With N. C. Lindborg, city assessor, serving as manager, assisted by Charles Dostel, the rink will be open each evening, as well as afternoons, during the Christmas vacation period. The Hornets and midgets hockey teams will start practice sessions next week."

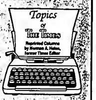
Holiday Mailing Rush Hits Peak

"The Christmas mailing rush at the local postoffice, in progress in heavy volume since December 11, reached its peak Monday of this week, Postmaster Andrew Anderson announced today. Augmenting the regular staff, six high school boys are assisting in delivering the huge volume of holiday parcels and greeting cards. Mr. Anderson stated that late parcels will be delivered next Sunday and Christmas Day."

Student Canteen Opens Doors Wednesday



"The 'teen-age' canteen, designed to provide a recreation center for students in senior high school, will be formally opened to its young patrons next Wednesday evening, while parents will be given an opportunity to inspect the facilities at an open house Tuesday evening from 7:30 to 8:30. The canteen, work on which has been in progress the last year under the direction of an adult committee headed by Francis Kobliska, will be located in recently renovated quarters under the Northern Chevrolet company garage, formerly occupied by the Elks lodge. Through funds contributed by local organizations and individuals, there have been provided tables, benches and chairs, as well as an automatic phonograph which will provide music for dancing. No smoking will be permitted on the premises."

Hangar At Airport Nearly Completed

"With the plane hangar on the municipal airport now virtually completed under the supervision of Nels G. Olson, the port will shortly meet another requirement for recognition by the civil aeronautics administration as an accredited landing field. Another step was taken Tuesday evening when the city council appointed Lester Ihle to serve as airport manager."

From The Editorial Page

"Now that we know the war is not yet won maybe we should quit quarreling among ourselves and concentrate on the big job of putting Hitler and Hirohito out of commission. There will be plenty of time to declare war on Churchill and Stalin after we get these more pressing problems out of the way."

—Judging by the recent criticisms of his policies, Prime Minister Churchill threatens to Greece the skids for himself.

—Here's hoping, folks, that your Christmas stockings are as well filled as Marlene Dietrich's.

—Army leaders think married men make the best officers. At least, comments the Jackson Pilot, they have had combat experience.

—Simile: As rare as an unfavorable review of a home talent production.

—When the electoral vote varied as much from the popular vote as it did in the recent presidential election, it would seem to be about time to abolish the electoral college.

—Those old cronies, Tom and Jerry, will get into many a mixup during the holiday season.

—One American leader who says he isn't afraid of Russia is Eric Johnston, president of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce.

—Speaking of euphemism, over at Deer River they refer to the money-making municipal liquor store as the power house.

—Remember way back in 1943 when you could go into a store and buy a carton of cigarets?

—Youngsters may regret the fact that Santa Claus didn't make his usual pre-holiday visit to Thief River Falls, but it won't be too serious if the old gent keeps his date on December 25.

Religion Is Taught In Public Schools

Considerable commentary in the national news media has been directed to a renewed effort in the new Congress—which will have a majority of Republicans in both the House and Senate—to restore school prayer. That commentary has revived discussion of whether practice or teaching of religion should be allowed in the public schools.

It's not that Republicans are more religious than Democrats or even that they are more willing to tell the public that they are. But there are people in positions of influence (we hesitate to say "leadership") in the new Congress who have made religion a political issue in the past and are expected to do so in the future. The difference is in their party's new found majority... whatever that may be worth.

Michael Mignard of Andover, a teacher in a private school, recently wrote a public opinion piece for the Anoka County Union which is both informed and thought provoking. It is reprinted here with the writer's permission:

GUEST EDITORIAL
by Michael Mignard

Most Americans have come to the conclusion that religious dogma has no place in public education. The popular opinion is that the First Amendment to the Constitution has erected a "wall of separation" between the church and state.

The commonly held viewpoint is that religious instruction in a public school violates that "wall of separation" because tax dollars are supporting one religion over another. Tax dollars being spent on religious instruction would mean that the government is establishing a state religion.

The truth of the matter is that public schools are teaching religious dogma every day in almost every class and subject. As incredible as this sounds, it is true.

Secular humanism, which is the accepted world view of public schools today, is a religious world view. The evidence to support the position that secular humanism is a religion is overwhelming. The Supreme Court ruled in the 1961 case of Torcaso v. Watkins that secular humanism is a religion equal to other theistic or non-theistic religions.

The American Humanist Association has a religious tax exemption [501 (c) 3]. The secular humanists even call themselves a religion. It is obvious that we are talking about an organization and system of thought that is religious to the very core.

All one needs to do is to read the Humanist Manifesto I and II to realize that secular humanism is a religion that has its doctrines and dogmas just as any religion does.

John J. Dunphy in "A Religion for a New Age" wrote, "The classroom will become an area of conflict between the old and the new—the rotting corpse of Christianity, together with its adjacent evils and misery and the new faith of humanism, resplendent in its promise of a world in which the never realized Christian idea of 'love thy neighbor' will finally be achieved."

Here is a statement of remarkable faith, and the schools are being used as an evangelistic tool to propagate this faith.

The way in which any religion is taught is by conveying its basic tenets or doctrines to the student. It is important for one to know what the basic doctrines of secular humanism are. With these doctrines in mind it is possible to examine the public schools to see if in fact those doctrines are being taught.

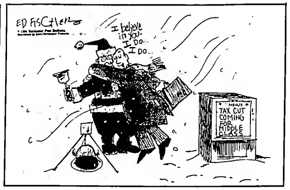
It does not take great insight to realize that the doctrines of secular humanism are taught every single day in the public schools.

What follows is a brief doctrinal statement for the secular humanist religious world view. These points were derived from the Humanist Manifesto I and II:

(1) The universe is self-existing and not created;

(2) The supernatural is unacceptable;

(3) Human nature is inherently good or at least it is perfectible;



(4) Values are relative;

(5) A one world government is inevitable and even to be sought for.

It is obvious that the public schools are teaching this religion. That in itself is not a problem. The problem lies in the fact that the religion of secular humanism is the only religion that can be taught.

The courts in our land, spurred on by groups like the ACLU and People for the American Way, have outlawed Christianity and substituted secular humanism. For instance, it is not legal to post the Ten Commandments in public schools, but evolution, which is the basic tenet of secular humanism, is proudly taught.

It is time that we admit what is going on. Tax dollars are being spent on religious indoctrination. This is a clear violation of the popular interpretation of the First Amendment. Why is it that separation of church and state, which is thrown in the face of traditional Judeo-Christian religion, does not apply equally to the religion of secular humanism?

LETTERS

To The Editor:

I am in favor of new student housing for Thief River Falls students at Northland Community College and Northwest Technical College. This is needed. I wrote a letter to the developers of Knox and Northrop school properties and asked them to save the two schools' gyms for Thief River Falls neighborhood activity centers.

I would like to ask local area residents to write any of their opinions, comments, suggestions and ideas to the developer of Knox and Northrop school sites: Dunbar Development Corp., 15 North 12th Street, Minneapolis Minnesota; Attention: Jay Tortz. Development will probably start in the spring or summer, so write the developers before then.

Hopefully our suggestions will be considered or included in the developers' future plans for Knox and Northrop.

I would also like to ask Thief River Falls school district residents to write to the School District 564 office and school board and state your ideas and feelings about the Northrop, Knox and Washington elementary school sites' futures.

Sincerely,
Charlie Bedard

ASK YOUR LOCKSMITH
Questions And Answers

Q I just bought a new house. Is it a good idea to get the locks changed?

A Absolutely, yes! You have no idea how many keys are in the hands of strangers. Neighbors, real estate agents, and even the builder may have keys. A locksmith can rekey your existing lock so that the new key is the only key that will open your door. At the same time, a locksmith can recommend extra security measures, such as deadbolt locks, window locks, and sliding door locks. Some locksmiths even offer security bars and burglar alarms as part of their service.

Sunday visitors at Frank Kleinvachter's to celebrate Frank's birthday were Bud and Marie Steffan of Argyle, Alan and Joan Gohrls of Inkster, ND, Dustin Gehrls of Thief River Falls, Kaye Turnwall and Stan Johnson of St. Hilaire, Juna Kasprowicz, Russell Larson of Stephen, Claudia Berggren, Kali and Jessie, Todd Nelson, Karl Kasprowicz, Betty and Torry Pietruszewski, Pat and Wayne Larson, and girls, Lowell Lafrooth, Brian Nelson, Brittany, Matthew and Wayne Martinson also came to visit Sunday evening.

Dinner guests at Danny and Gloria Renstrom on Sunday were Walter Thompson, Elsie Lafrooth and Ellen Johnson.

Elphie Adlis is at home this week just lollygagging around after spending a couple of weeks at the Host Fest in Minot and then a couple more in Florida trying to get a suntan in the winter. She should have been in her garden a bit more between all the rain we had last summer it's a cinch she can't get a tan out here now.

Audry Berg is just returned from a three week stay in Phoenix and Scottsdale, AZ visiting her son, Monty and the boys, while trying out the sunny weather they have there now. On the way home she spent some time in Fargo at the Andy Boen home.

Dayhard, Irene, Myron and Dion Nelson and Dede Adamski went to the Veterans' hospital in Fargo to visit Elmer Eskildsen on Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. David Nelson of Fargo also visited with him.

Scott Thun of Moorhead spent the weekend with his mother, LaVoi Thun and Saturday evening visited with Don and Vengla Carlson.

Elsie and Ivan Kimbrough attended the St. Lucia Day in Stephen on Sunday and said the food was great as was the program.

Mary and Donna Renstrom attended the Christmas programs in the Gospel Tabernacle and the Baptist church in Karlstad on Sunday.

LaVoi Thun and Arnold and Vernice Larson were Tuesday evening visitors at Sybil Paterson's in Newfolden.

Isaac and Betsy Thompson accompanied by Roy and Myrtle Vagle attended the Christmas Banquet at the Evergreen in Thief River Falls hosted by the Thief River Falls Camp, the Roseau-Warroad camp, and the Kittson Camp. A lovely time was had by all.

Elsie Lafrooth has had company all week. Here are some of that she had, Pearl and LeRoy Lundall of Minnetonka, Dean Holmstrom, Elphie Adlis, Esther Underberg, Karen Zimmerman, Shirley Lafrooth, Pearl Thompson, Margaret Donaldson, and Alaura and Sara, Marcalyn Lindstrom, Merlys Lafrooth, Walter Thompson and Isaac and Betsy Thompson.

Visitors on Monday at Frank and Judy Kleinvachter's were Claudie Berggren, Karl Kasprowicz, Wayne Martinson and Adrianna and Lowell Lafrooth.

Arnold and Vernice Larson were Monday evening visitors at LaVoi Thun's.

Frank Kleinvachter's visitors on Wednesday were Karl Kasprowicz, Claudia Berggren, Jessie and Kali, Brian and Todd Nelson, Lowell Lafrooth and Bud and Marie Steffen.

The lutefisk recipe I promised to the seniors didn't come in time so I will copy it and distribute it before Christmas so if there are any leftover lutefisk after Christmas it is a real treat for later. Mrs. Berggren made some for the Seniors and it was great.

TURNING BACK THE TIMES

By Donna Myhrer

1894 — One Hundred Years Ago

—The several departments of the city schools were given a sleigh ride Saturday afternoon by the school board.

—A flaw in the homestead claim by John Baptiste LaBree to the original townsite of Thief River Falls has been discovered and the legal points are being argued in Washington.

—The ladies of the Sacred Heart society will hold a sale of a variety of plain and fancy work at the city hall December 31.

1904 — Ninety Years Ago

—A fire on Christmas Eve destroyed the Bailey and Diebold hardware store in Thief River Falls.

—Rev. Sande of St. Hilaire will hold services in the Mission church on the east side Sunday.

—E. E. Zeh and George Curran last week purchased the confectionery stock of H. L. Dudley.

—The severe storms the first of the week played havoc with the telegraph lines and most businesses had no service for several days.

1914 — Eighty Years Ago

—Thirty-six families and over 100 children were substantially aided through the generosity of the Elks lodge, Sunshine society and Woman's club during the holidays.

—A municipal Christmas tree was erected at the auditorium to distribute gifts to many local children on December 29.

—Fred Herrick was elected president of the state band of Thief River Falls at the annual meeting Monday with George Loken vice president, P. G. Peterson secretary and N. J. Anderson treasurer.

1924 — Seventy Years Ago

—The home of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Siems, north of the fairgrounds, was destroyed by fire Friday.

—Ira Lane, conductor, suffered a broken arm in a fall from a coasting box car Tuesday.

—Christmas trees and special Sunday school programs were in all of the churches here Christmas week.

1934 — Sixty Years Ago

—With a half dozen men employed, work on the toboggan slide in Tindolph park will be completed this week.

—C. H. Toomey was reelected president of the Pennington county poultry association.

—The large house on the Stuart McLeod farm northwest of this city was destroyed by fire.

1944 — Fifty Years Ago

—Fire losses for 1944 totalled $5,190 in Thief River Falls.

—A total of 125,700 greetings cards were handled at the post office here during the two weeks before Christmas.

—Staff Sergeant Eric Antonson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Berger Antonson of this city, was killed in action in France December 12.

1954 — Forty Years Ago

—Rev. Otto Dale arrived in Thief River Falls with his family to take over the pastorate of Trinity Lutheran church.

—Fifty baskets of food were distributed to needy families by the Salvation Army.

—Jerry Tygeson was elected to succeed Morris Flatium as president of the Lincoln high school alumni association.

1964 — Thirty Years Ago

—The First Baptist church will hold a watch night service on New Year's Eve.

—J. J. Womack, president of Union state bank in Thief River Falls, was elected president of the Thief River Falls chamber of commerce, succeeding Randall Noper.

—Franklin junior high school will open its doors for the first time January 5.

1974 — Twenty Years Ago

—Arctic Enterprises announced that lay-offs of 550 workers are anticipated soon.

—Ames E. Grisanti, Jr., recently of South Holland, Illinois and presently of Thief River Falls, has purchased the Phillips Auto Wrecking company from Mrs. Laureen Phillips.

—Teachers' base salaries rose from $7,500 in 1973 to $8,300 in 1974.

1984 — Ten Years Ago

—Dorothy Chapman was elected president of the Pennington county historical society.

—Terry Courneya, extension director, announced his resignation after serving Pennington county as agricultural agent for the past 18 years.

—An informational meeting for citizens interested in charitable gambling will be held Wednesday at the American Legion club.

THIEF RIVER FALLS TIMES

Thief River Falls, Pennington County, Minnesota — December 21, 1944

From The Times Files of Fifty Years Ago

Pennington Second In State In "E" Bonds Bought

"No better greeting for a Merry Christmas would have been given to those who are responsible for the attainment of Pennington county's Sixth War Loan quota than the performance of the bond purchasers during the past week. Since the publication of the last report, purchases totalling more than $80,000 have been made bringing the county's total to $632,737.75 against a quota of $415,000. What was better was that these purchases were made by the small holders thereby bringing the county's 'E' bond purchases over the required quota. On the basis of 'E' bond of the quota, the county is second in the state, being exceeded only by Polk county."

Skating Started Last Night In Sports Arena

"Good news for local skaters is contained in the announcement that the ice sheet in the arena was completed Wednesday and was put into use last night. With N. C. Lindberg, city assessor, serving as manager, assisted by Charles Dostel, the rink will be open each evening, as well as afternoons during the Christmas vacation period. The Hornets and midgets hockey teams will start practice sessions next week."

Holiday Mailing Rush Hits Peak

"The Christmas mailing rush at the local postoffice, in progress in heavy volume since December 11, reached its peak Monday of this week, Postmaster Andrew Anderson announced today. Augmenting the regular staff, six high school boys are assisting in delivering the huge volume of holiday parcels and greeting cards. Mr. Anderson stated that late parcels will be delivered next Sunday and Christmas Day."

Student Canteen Opens Doors Wednesday

"The 'teen-age' canteen, designed to provide a recreation center for students in senior high school, will be formally opened to its young patrons next Wednesday evening, while parents will be given an opportunity to inspect the facilities at an open house Tuesday evening from 7:30 to 8:30. The canteen, work on which has been in progress the last year under the direction of an adult committee headed by Francis Kobliska, will be located in recently renovated quarters under the Northern Chevrolet company garage, formerly occupied by the Elks lodge. Through funds contributed by local organizations and individuals, there have been provided tables, benches and chairs, as well as an automatic phonograph which will provide music for dancing. No smoking will be permitted on the premises."

Hangar At Airport Nearly Completed

"With the plane hangar on the municipal airport now virtually completed under the supervision of Nels G. Olson, the port will shortly meet another requirement for recognition by the civil aeronautics administration as an accredited landing field. Another step was taken Tuesday evening when the city council appointed Lester Ihle to serve as airport manager."

From The Editorial Page

"Now that we know the war is not yet won maybe we should quit quarreling among ourselves and concentrate on the big job of potting Hitler and Hirohito out of commission. There will be plenty of time to declare war on Churchill and Stalin after we get these more pressing problems out of the way."

—Judging by the recent criticisms of his policies, Prime Minister Churchill threatens to Greece the skids for himself.

—Here's hoping, folks, that your Christmas stockings are as well filled as Marlene Dietrich's.

—Army leaders think married men make the best officers. At least, comments the Jackson Pilot, they have had combat experience.

—Simile: As rare as an unfavorable review of a home talent production.

—When the electoral vote varied as much from the popular vote as it did in the recent presidential election, it would seem to be about time to abolish the electoral college.

—Those old cronies, Tom and Jerry, will get into many a mixup during the holiday season.

—One American leader who says he isn't afraid of Russia is Eric Johnston, president of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce.

—Speaking of euphemism, over at Deer River they refer to the money-making municipal liquor store as the power house.

—Remember way back in 1943 when you could go into a store and buy a carton of cigarets?

—Youngsters may regret the fact that Santa Claus didn't make his usual pre-holiday visit to Thief River Falls, but it won't be too serious if the old gent keeps his date on December 25.

Christmas Is Coming

"The prospects of a Christmas without snow were never better at this season of the year.

"We are having weather that is hard to beat in any climate and we can stand some more of it.

"The ladies of the M.E. Church are preparing a treat for the children in the shape of a Christmas tree in the M.E. Church on Tuesday evening."

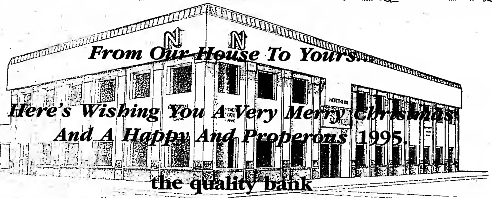
Lana Christianson

Lana Christianson Head Bookkeeper



No doubt those of you who have placed ads with The Times have either seen or talked to Lana, because she is the one who sends out the bills and makes sure that your payments get applied to your account. As head bookkeeper, Lana handles the accounts payable and receivable, payroll, general ledger and employee insurance, to name just a few of her many jobs.

Lana has been The Times' bookkeeper for 22 years. She is originally from Roseau, the daughter of Eleanore and the late Harry Christianson. She graduated from Roseau high school in 1971, attended the Thief River Falls AVTI, and then came to work for The Times.

Lana's mother still lives in Roseau on the home farm with Lana's brother, Wayne. He is a farmer and bus driver for the Roseau schools. Her two sisters are both married and have made Lana the proud aunt of six nieces and nephews. Wanda and John Helmowski and their five children live in Minto, ND, and Carol and Paul Jore and their daughter live in Moorhead.

When she isn't working, Lana especially enjoys music, movies, concerts, travel, watching sports, and doll collecting. But she says her favorite "hobby" is spending time with her family and many friends.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our deepest gratitude to all our friends, neighbors and relatives who offered support and showed concern following the tragic death of our daughter and sister Adeline. Our thanks to the Oklee ambulance service and the Red Lake County Law Enforcement for their quick response and the doctors and staff of NWMC for their trying effort and condolences offered, the Green Funeral Home for their wonderful services, Pastor Faugstad for his comforting words and visits. Father Pribula, Tim Lundeen and Amber Linder for their messages all the school, LaVonne Enerson, Donna Sherman and organist Charity Wicks for the beautiful music, the pallbearers, the Oklee school and staff for the use of their facilities, Our Saviors Church for the use of their dining hall following the prayer service and to those who served coffee and goodies, and the Oak Park Ladies Aid for the lunch served after the funeral. Thanks to all who shared themselves and their time with us, brought food to the house, called, gave cards, flowers and memorials or helped in anyway. We deeply miss our little girl and are so grateful for everything that has been done to help us during this very difficult time. May God bless each and every one of you and grant you a blessed holiday season.

The Family of Adeline Chervestad. 2t103c

CARD OF THANKS

Thank you to all who remembered us on our 40th wedding anniversary. Thank you for the cards, gifts and to those who attended our party. Your friendship was appreciated.

Thief River Falls Rotary Club recently donated $1,000 to the Historic Depot Preservation Committee which is working to purchase, preserve and renovate the Soo Line depot in downtown Thief River Falls. Rotary president Ev Ault, left, delivered the check last week to Dave Strong of the preservation committee. As of Friday, December 16, the public fund raising campaign had raised $110,242.16 to save the depot.

Friday, Karyl Larson visited with Vienna Grondahl at Holt and Willard Roen at CNC at the Northwest Medical Center in Thief River Fall.

Sunday, Glenn Aune, Mr. and Mrs. Juel Aune attended a 50th Wedding Anniversary reception for Vernon and Jean Wold in Thief River Falls. In the evening they attended the Christmas program at Zion Lutheran church and later visited at the Greg Harris home.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Ruud visited at the Tim Howard home at Warren on Friday.

Karyl Larson spent the weekend at the Susan Kenarr home at Grand Forks and also visited with Doris Simmons at United hospital.

Dump no more used oil filters in the garbage

As of Jan. 1, 1995, used motor oil filters cannot be placed in the trash, according to the Minnesota Pollution Control Agency (MPCA). The filters should be recycled through used oil collection sites.

The amendment to the state Waste Management Act, passed in 1993, was adopted to mandate proper disposal of used oil filters, which contain about a cup of used oil. When disposed of in the trash, the filters can end up in landfills and eventually pollute soil and groundwater. A gallon of oil can contaminate a million gallons of drinking water, MPCA states.

Do-it-yourselfers who change oil at home need to bring used oil filters to a garage or filter retailer which participates in the voluntary collection program.

Howard Person, Pennington county solid waste officer, said that no businesses in Pennington county have been willing to become licensed as used oil collectors, but many garages will accept used oil from their customers. Containers have been ordered and when received will be placed at the city sanitation department on the north edge of Thief River Falls and the county shed at Goodridge for oil collection.

Because Pennington county uses magnets in its garbage separation process—which plucks out oil filters so they are not landfilled—the MPCA has permitted oil filters to be discarded in garbage in the past. Person said he is unsure if the new amendment will change that permit.

Since Jan. 1, 1994, it has been illegal for businesses to dispose of oil filters in the trash. Since 1988, it has been illegal for anyone to dispose of used oil in the trash, in storm sewers or on the ground. In 1987 it was estimated by MPCA that more than 4.6 million gallons of used oil were disposed of illegally by do-it-yourselfers. In 1993, illegal dumping was estimated at 775,000 gallons.

MPCA offers the following suggestions to people changing oil and oil filters at home:

- Drain and collect used motor oil in an appropriate container. The oil filter should be inverted onto its base end, allowing the oil to drain into an appropriate storage container for recycling.
- Place the oil filter in a leak-proof container, such as a coffee can with a lid or resealable plastic bag.
- Don't mix oil with other wastes, such as antifreeze, because this will contaminate the used oil.
- Drop off used oil and oil filters with an attendant at garages that accept them for recycling. Don't leave used oil and oil filters at garages when they are not open for business.

Businesses that are not currently licensed as used oil or hazardous waste collectors and would like to accept used oil and filters should contact MPCA at 1-800-657-3724.

I want to wish everyone a very Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

Sunday afternoon and evening visitors at the Arnold Larson home were Kenny and Sybil Cwikla, Tom and Sue Dondelinger, Lauran and Jory, Todd and Kari Jesme and Collin.

Guests to a 12:30 Thanksgiving dinner of Norwegian meatballs, turkey and all the trimmings at the home of Curt and Elaina Thompson were Mark Thompson of Moorhead, Lisa Wilson, Jeremy, Jayme, Amber and Mackenzie, Roger and Robbin Mathsen, Ronelle, Ryan and ReAnna and Harvey Skyberg. We had a lovely day. Mark left again at 4 p.m. for his home.

If You Drink And Drive Your Time Could Be Up!

Christmastime. Time for celebration. Time for partying. And unfortunately, time for accidents and fatalities on the road.

But what's most unfortunate of all, is that many of these traffic accidents could have been avoided if the drivers had exercised good judgement about alcohol.

That's why we're taking the time out to remind you to use common sense this holiday season. Whether this involves appointing a designated driver, calling a taxi, or hosting an alcohol-free gathering of your own, taking a few moments now to plan a safe evening can save a lifetime for you and others.

HAVE A HAPPY AND SAFE HOLIDAY SEASON.
Please Don't Drink And Drive.

Everyone can sing along with Christmas!

Jingle Bells

Dashing thro' the snow
In a one horse open sleigh, –
O'er the fields we go,
Laughing all the way;
Bells on bobtail ring,
Making spirits bright,
What fun it is to ride and sing
A sleighing song tonight!
(chorus)
Jingle bells, jingle bells!
Jingle all the way!
Oh, what fun it is to ride in
A one horse open sleigh!

SPECIAL THANKS ARE IN ORDER TO ALL OF THOSE WHO PUT FORTH A SPECIAL EFFORT TO MAKE OUR HOLIDAY GREETING SECTION ESPECIALLY INTERESTING AND ENTERTAINING THIS YEAR. THE TIMES ESPECIALLY RECOGNIZES:

- Goodridge art students and their instructor Betty Saurdiff, for the excellent creative art work in the greeting ads;
- Those who took the time and made the effort to share their recipes with us and our readers;
- Elementary students and their teachers for the letters to Santa, which remind us of what it is like to be a child at Christmas.
- Our advertisers for sharing the Christmas spirit through these pages.

Peppermint Chocolate Bon-Bon Cake

1 box Pillsbury chocolate cake mix
3 cups Cool Whip, thawed
Peppermint extract
1/4 tsp. baking powder
5 squares semi-sweet chocolate squares
1/4 cup peanuts, chopped

Prepare cake according to package. I added baking powder, peppermint extract to cake. Peppermint to your taste. Pour in an angel food pan, instead of regular round cake pan. Bake 50 to 57 minutes or until done. Remove from pan, cool. Split cake in 2 layers and Cool Whip. Add peppermint and chocolate squares shavings to Cool Whip. Reserve some shaving to top Cool Whip. Add rest to Cool Whip. Stir in peppermint, chocolate shavings until the peppermint flavor is through Cool Whip. Spread Ccol Whip between the 2 layers. If desired can frost the cake with the rest of Cool Whip with shavings. Then aprinkle rest of chocolate shavinga over cake with chopped peanuts. This cake can be frozen to eat at another time. It tastes better after it has been frozen.

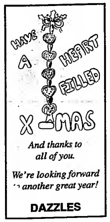
3 cups flour
1 cup shortening
1 tsp. cream of tartar
1/4 tsp. salt
2 eggs, beaten
1 cup white sugar
1 tsp. vanilla
1 tsp baking soda dissolved in 1 tbsp. hot water



Mix flour, shortening, cream of tartar and salt until crumbly like pie crust. In another bowl, beat eggs and add sugar, vanilla and dissolved baking soda and water. Mix in with pie crust mixture and chill at least 4 hours. Roll-out oo floured surface to about 1/4" thickness. Cut in shape of Christmas trees and bake at 325° until very light brown. Frost with powdered sugar frosting made with 1/4 cup butter, 3 to 4 cups powdered sugar, 1 tsp. almond flavoring, green food coloring and coough milk for spreading consistency. Decorate with multi-colored Christmas sprinkles.

Rave Reviews Coconut Cake

1 pkg. 2 layer Pillsbury white or yellow cake mix (white mix is better)
1 1/3 cup water
3 eggs
1 cup oil
2 cups flake coconut
1 cup chopped walnuts or pecans

Blend cake mix, water, eggs and oil in large mixer bowl. Beat at medium speed of electric mixer 4 minutes. Stir in coconut, nuts and pecans. Pour into greased 13x9 inch pan. Bake at 350° for 35 minutes. Cool in pans 15 minutes. Remove. Cool on rack. Fill and top with frosting.

Coconut Cream Cheese Frosting

4 tbsp. butter or margarine
1 cup flaked coconut
8 oz. pkg. cream cheese
2 tsp. milk, more if needed
2 cups confectioners sugar
1/2 tsp. vanilla

Melt 2 tbsp. butter in skillet. Add coconut. Stir constantly over low heat until golden brown. Spread coconut on absorbent paper to cool. Cream 2 tbsp. butter with cream cheese. Add milk, beat in sugar gradually. Blend in vanilla. Stir in 1/2 cup toasted coconut. Frost sides and top of cake layers. Stack. Sprinkle with remaining coconut, walnuts or pecans, but sprinkle coconut first all over the cake, then the walnuts or pecans. If you have extra coconut sprinkle rest on top of walnuts or pecans, again. Reserve some to put on side of white cake. Decorate with totally around the cake. Make it look pretty.

Pat belly on top of cake too (middle). Try adding a little green food coloring to remaining coconut. Then sprinkle it over cake, decorate with walnuts or pecans. Really looks most like Christmas. My family loves this cake. Here's another recipe if you like cream cheese you'll like this one. (This was prize in Warren Fair (Third) and Thief River Falls Fair (First) five years ago.)

Winter Salad

Crunchy sauerkraut, mellow and seasoned, is so good with cold meats for Sunday meals. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

1/2 cup vinegar
1/2 cup sugar
1/4 cup vegetable oil
1 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. pepper
1 can (1 lb.) sauerkraut
1 medium onion, chopped
1 green pepper, chopped
2 stalks celery, sliced
1/2 tsp. garlic salt
1 tsp. celery seed

Combine vinegar, sugar, vegetable oil, salt and pepper in saucepan. Bring to a boil, stirring to dissolve sugar. Turn sauerkraut into colander. Rinse under running water. Drain well. Place in a mixing bowl. Pour hot vinegar mixture over sauerkraut. Add onions, green pepper, pimentos, garlic salt, celery seed. Toss thoroughly. Cool slightly. Cover and chill 4 hours before serving.

Polaris converts to corporation

Unit holders of Polaris Industries Partners L.P. voted Thursday to approve conversion of the partnership to corporate form.

In the conversion, each unit will be exchanged for one share of Polaris common stock. Shares of common stock in the new corporation, Polaris Industries Inc., began trading on the American Stock Exchange and the Pacific Stock Exchange on Friday, December 23, under the symbol SNG.

Of the votes cast, approximately 96.5 per cent were voted in favor of the conversion, representing approximately 73.8 per cent of the issued and outstanding units. Chief executive officer and chairman of the board Hall Wendell called the vote "gratifying" and said it showed a vote of confidence not only for the proposal but the future of the company.

"The company decided to undertake the conversion now so that Polaris could maximize value for shareholders and broaden the potential market for Polaris stock with mutual funds, pensions and other institutional investors," Wendel said. "The conversion also will enable Polaris to aggressively build its business by developing or acquiring new product lines."

Wendel also said that the company anticipates paying three special distributions of $1.92 each in each of the last three quarters of 1995. These anticipated special distributions, together with the anticipated regular corporate dividends of 60 cents per year, would result in shareholders receiving, on an accelerated basis, the same amount that unitholders would have received had the partnership not converted and continued to pay its regular cash distributions at the current level through 1997.

The company is on pace for a sixth consecutive year of record sales and earnings, Wendel said, and current favorable equity market conditions should facilitate the transition from a partnership to a publicly traded corporation.

Marvin Windows makes two announcements this week

Marvin Windows of Warroad made two major announcements this week—a profit sharing distribution of $6.7 million and plans to build a new manufacturing plant in Fargo, ND.

The profit sharing to 2,942 employees averaged $2,267—an increase from $4.6 million last year and average of $1,705.

Construction on the 150,000 square foot Fargo plant will begin next spring. It will manufacture windows from composite material and is expected initially to employ 40 to 50 people.

Plummer center shows spirit of giving

Foosball, ping pong and pool are just some of the activities to be enjoyed at the Plummer Teen Recreation Center. The center is a place where students and adults come not only to do things, but just to relax and enjoy one another's company.

by Sherry LaCoursiere
Northern Watch Reporter

A success story is always nice to hear at holiday time, especially one that shows the holiday spirit, and the community of Plummer has a story to tell and holiday spirit galore.

Plummer's story is unique in that it is one of the only towns in the area to have a teen recreation center that is flourishing, unlike several other towns that have tried to create teen centers and failed. The symbol of the community's spirit is shown in the Christmas tree that stands in the teen recreation center this holiday season.

Plummer residents, parents, businesses, organizations and, of course, youth have united their individual talents and joined together to bring about a teen center in their town that reflects the common goal of the community — to have a safe, healthy place where young people can go to enjoy themselves and enjoy being with one another without drugs, alcohol or nicotine.

But the center is such a success that it has exceeded even those expectations. What has come to pass is that the youth center is enjoyed not only by the young people in town, but by teens from surrounding towns, and also by adults. The youth center is not only entertaining people, but it is creating an atmosphere of brotherhood and camaraderie in the area.

Superintendent of schools Rick Lorenson gives credit for the success of the youth center to the community of Plummer. "We have had fantastic support from the community," he said. "We couldn't have done it without all the support from the school board and members of the community — parents and kids working together."

The center began when the school board agreed to lease a building to start a center. "The school board was behind the center 100 per cent," said Lorenson. "They thought it was a good idea to have something for the kids."

Lorenson said, like so many small towns, everything in Plummer closes at 6 p.m. and there is nothing for the kids to do after that time. The only places open in the evening are places that sell liquor and no one wants the kids playing games in liquor stores. He said too many of the young people were finding their entertainment in other, larger towns, creating the danger of automobile accidents.

The Mott Hardward building in town was empty, and it appeared to be a perfect place, so Lorenson said he approached owner Jean Mott about renting the building to the school for a teen center. "Jean was just super," he said. "She rented it to us for a very reasonable amount.

The hardward store was in an excellent location, in downtown Plummer, and it was big enough to give the center plenty of space to expand at a later date. It was rented by the school board for three years with an option to buy.

An all-volunteer "force" from the community set about renovating it with new wiring, another bathroom, and privacy walls. "And we've never paid any of the volunteers," said Lorenson. "Everyone has been just super, volunteering plumbing, carpentry, painting and other work. At this point we've been very pleased with the venture because we've kept the cost down."

The year Cathy couldn't do Christmas

Kennedy resident tells story of her personal battle with clinical depression in effort to help others

by Marvin Lundin
Times Editor

"Fall came and then December with days getting darker. My counselor hadn't helped me feel better even through I saw him every week. That year I couldn't even do Christmas."

These are the words of Cathy Johnson of Kennedy, part of a story that one part of her would like to forget but another part wants told at Christmas time for the possible help it could give others. Cathy is recovering from a malady that affects many and can have a particular impact during the holiday season—clinical depression.

"I want to be open and share my experiences with others to alert them to the signs of depression, to give them courage to seek help and to promote in the general public compassion and understanding of the disorder," she said.

Cathy's story, as told to and written by her friend Gloria Martinson, also of Kennedy, was submitted to the Northern Watch and other area papers for consideration for publication. It was too lengthy in its complete form, but the attention it calls to a more widespread problem deserves to be told.

Medical Stresses Start In 1975

For Cathy Johnson, the long and seemingly unwinnable battle with depression followed a long period of medical stresses for herself and in the family. They began when her son Scott, then seven years old, was diagnosed as having a mass destroying the large bone in his thigh.

Although the mass proved to be non-malignant, it required extensive surgery in the early summer of 1975, including bone grafting from both hips. Cathy's husband Dick put in long hours on the farm, and although he helped in the late evening and days off, the main burden of care for Scott—including lifting and carrying—fell on Cathy.

That same September she talked to her doctor about an area of her cheek where a mole had been removed. She was referred to a plastic surgeon and then to the Mayo Clinic where the area was monitored every three months for a year, after which she was scheduled for surgery. The Mayo doctors told her they would have to remove whatever tissue and nodes they deemed necessary to free her of the cancerous melanoma.

Surgical Results Devastating

Always conscious of her appearance, Cathy wasn't prepared for the results of her surgery. She was devastated to awaken three days after the procedure and find herself "....wrapped like a mummy with no feelings, lifeless. A large, frightening drainage tube protruded from my shoulder and emptied into a

Among Cathy Johnson's happy times are the events where she sings for church and/or community events with local children. In the photo above she is pictured with a group which recently sang at Grace Lutheran Church in Hallock. A real life hero receives an award

Lake Bronson — Volunteer fireman Fred Adams from Lake Bronson was presented an award of honor from the Minnesota Public Safety Service at an awards dinner in the Twin Cities recently. He was one of 19 Minnesotans to receive awards for dedication or heroism. He received the award for rescuing 16-month-old Shawna Nelson when she was trapped inside of her burning home in rural Lake Bronson.

Accident in RLF

Red Lake Falls — Both vehicles were totalled in a December 15 accident in the city of Red Lake Falls. Robert Ervin Troy, 18, was westbound on Bottineau Avenue, driving a 1987 Ford Escort, when he lost control on slippery roads and collided with a 1982 Chevrolet Cavalier which was eastbound on Bottineau and driven by Jason James Boice, also 18. Both are from Red Lake Falls and both were treated and released at Riverview Hospital in Crookston. The vehicles were totalled.

Polaris converts to corporation

Unit holders of Polaris Industries Partners L.P. voted Thursday to approve conversion of the partnership to corporate form.

In the conversion, each unit will be exchanged for one share of Polaris common stock. Shares of common stock in the new corporation, Polaris Industries Inc., began trading on the American Stock Exchange and the Pacific Stock Exchange on Friday, December 23, under the symbol SNO.

Of the votes cast, approximately 96.5 per cent were voted in favor of the conversion, representing approximately 73.8 per cent of the issued and outstanding units. Chief executive officer and chairman of the board Hall Wendell called the vote "gratifying" and said it showed a vote of confidence not only for the proposal but the future of the company.

"The company decided to undertake the conversion now so that Polaris could maximize value for shareholders and broaden the potential market for Polaris stock with mutual funds, pensions and other institutional investors," Wendel said. "The conversion also will enable Polaris to aggressively build its business by developing or acquiring new product lines."

Wendel also said that the company anticipates paying three special distributions of $1.92 each in each of the last three quarters of 1995. These anticipated special distributions, together with the anticipated regular corporate dividends of 60 cents per year, would result in shareholders receiving, on an accelerated basis, the same amount that unitholders would have received had the partnership not converted and continued to pay its regular cash distributions at the current level through 1997.

The company is on pace for a sixth consecutive year of record sales and earnings, Wendel said, and current favorable equity market conditions should facilitate the transition from a partnership to a publicly traded corporation.

Marvin Windows makes two announcements this week

Marvin Windows of Warroad made two major announcements this week—a profit sharing distribution of $6.7 million and plans to build a new manufacturing plant in Fargo, ND.

The profit sharing to 2,942 employees averaged $2,267—an increase from $4.6 million last year and average of $1,705.

Construction on the 150,000 square foot Fargo plant will begin next spring. It will manufacture windows from composite material and is expected initially to employ 40 to 50 people.

Plummer center shows spirit of giving

Foosball, ping pong and pool are just some of the activities to be enjoyed at the Plummer Teen Recreation Center. The center is a place where students and adults come not only to do things, but just to relax and enjoy one another's company.

by Sherry LaCoursiere
Northern Watch Reporter

A success story is always nice to hear at holiday time, especially one that shows the holiday spirit, and the community of Plummer has a story to tell and holiday spirit galore.

Plummer's story is unique in that it is one of the only towns in the area to have a teen recreation center that is flourishing, unlike several other towns that have tried to create teen centers and failed. The symbol of the community's spirit is shown in the Christmas tree that stands in the teen recreation center this holiday season.

Plummer residents, parents, businesses, organizations and, of course, youth have united their individual talents and joined together to bring about a teen center in their town that reflects the common goal of the community — to have a safe, healthy place where young people can go to enjoy themselves and enjoy being with one another without drugs, alcohol or nicotine.

But the center is such a success that it has exceeded even those expectations. What has come to pass is that the youth center is enjoyed not only by the young people in town, but by teens from surrounding towns, and also by adults. The youth center is not only entertaining people, but it is creating an atmosphere of brotherhood and camaraderie in the area.

Superintendent of schools Rick Lorenson gives credit for the success of the youth center to the community of Plummer. "We have had fantastic support from the community," he said. "We couldn't have done it without all the support from the school board and members of the community — parents and kids working together."

The center began when the school board agreed to lease a building to start a center. "The school board was behind the center 100 per cent," said Lorenson. "They thought it was a good idea to have something for the kids."

Lorenson said, like so many small towns, everything in Plummer closes at 6 p.m. and there is nothing for the kids to do after that time. The only places open in the evening are places that sell liquor and no one wants the kids playing games in liquor stores. He said too many of the young people were finding their entertainment in other, larger towns, creating the danger of automobile accidents.

The Mott Hardward building in town was empty, and it appeared to be a perfect place, so Lorenson said he approached owner Jean Mott about renting the building to the school for a teen center. "Jean was just super," he said. "She rented it to us for a very reasonable amount.

The hardward store was in an excellent location, in downtown Plummer, and it was big enough to give the center plenty of space to expand at a later date. It was rented by the school board for three years with an option to buy.

An all-volunteer "force" from the community set about renovating it with new wiring, another bathroom, and privacy walls. "And we've never paid any of the volunteers," said Lorenson. "Everyone has been just super, volunteering plumbing, carpentry, painting and other work. At this point we've been very pleased with the venture because we've kept the cost down."

The year Cathy couldn't do Christmas

Kennedy resident tells story of her personal battle with clinical depression in effort to help others

by Marvin Lundin
Times Editor

"Fall came and then December with days getting darker. My counselor hadn't helped me feel better even through I saw him every week. That year I couldn't even do Christmas."

These are the words of Cathy Johnson of Kennedy, part of a story that one part of her would like to forget but another part wants told at Christmas time for the possible help it could give others. Cathy is recovering from a malady that affects many and can have a particular impact during the holiday season—clinical depression.

"I want to be open and share my experiences with others to alert them to the signs of depression, to give them courage to seek help and to promote in the general public compassion and understanding of the disorder," she said.

Cathy's story, as told to and written by her friend Gloria Martinson, also of Kennedy, was submitted to the Northern Watch and other area papers for consideration for publication. It was too lengthy in its complete form, but the attention it calls to a more widespread problem deserves to be told.

Medical Stresses Start In 1975

For Cathy Johnson, the long and seemingly unwinnable battle with depression followed a long period of medical stresses for herself and in the family. They began when her son Scott, then seven years old, was diagnosed as having a mass destroying the large bone in his thigh.

Although the mass proved to be non-malignant, it required extensive surgery in the early summer of 1975, including bone grafting from both hips. Cathy's husband Dick put in long hours on the farm, and although he helped in the late evening and days off, the main burden of care for Scott—including lifting and carrying—fell on Cathy.

That same September she talked to her doctor about an area of her cheek where a mole had been removed. She was referred to a plastic surgeon and then to the Mayo Clinic where the area was monitored every three months for a year, after which she was scheduled for surgery. The Mayo doctors told her they would have to remove whatever tissue and nodes they deemed necessary to free her of the cancerous melanoma.

Surgical Results Devastating

Always conscious of her appearance, Cathy wasn't prepared for the results of her surgery. She was devastated to awaken three days after the procedure and find herself ".... wrapped like a mummy with no feelings, lifeless. A large, frightening drainage tube protruded from my shoulder and emptied into a suction apparatus. With the right neck muscles gone and the muscles and lymph nodes removed from under her right arm, I had no strength to lift my head off my shoulder.

"I can't let anyone see me like this,' I thought. 'I can't go out in public. Dick will hate me and find another wife. My kids will scream when they see me. How could my beauty spot have caused all this damage? I absolutely can't stand it!'"

Husband Is "Miracle Man"

Now she calls her husband "The Miracle Man" because of his strength, patience and devotion throughout her medical recovery, future medical problems and the long period of depression.

He helped with her home physical therapy and a year of 8CO treatment. The latter involved pushing a heavy steel plate into her skin, puncturing it in 36 places each of the four times it was moved over her shoulder and chest. The holes in the skin had to be large enough to allow Dick to work medicine into the wounds. He then covered the affected area with plastic wrap.

Slowly Cathy regained strength and movement. But the future held a number of additional problems and threats of problems. Three years after her radical surgery doctors discovered spots on her lungs. After a week of tests they proved to be "artifacts," a mistake made by the machine or film.

A year later a benign tumor was removed from the bottom of her foot, in 1983 a cystic nodule was removed from her breast and in 1985 her gall bladder was removed. The surgeon said her liver "looked suspicious," but a biopsy showed no malignancy. She suffered from low thyroid, a bleeding ulcer and damage to her esophagus valve.

"Whenever I feel a lump or a pain, I worry the cancer is coming back," Cathy said, "even though my doctors have called me a 'walking miracle' because all the signs of cancer have proven to be benign."

Cathy had always believed it was her physical beauty that had attracted people to her. She felt she had been destroyed as a person by the surgery.

Seeds Of Depression Sprout

"The seeds of clinical depression were within me, but they did not begin to sprout until the last months of Scott's junior year in high school. I began thinking of his coming graduation and his leaving home for school and work."

Her daughter had graduated, married and lived some distance from Kennedy. Dick had purchased his own semi-trailer truck and was gone on the road more than he was at home. Feelings of uselessness, worthlessness, rejection and despair intensified.

Cathy sought the comfortable confines of home. It was an effort to go to her son's basketball games, although she knew he wanted her to be there. She struggled through his graduation with the help of friends and family. It was an effort to get dressed or put on make-up. She felt her health problems were a way she was being punished for being a worthless person.

She neglected her previously well attended vegetable garden and flower beds. "I sat on my patio with last year's basket of dirt hanging from a wall hook above my head. One dead branch of a flower dangled over the edge," she recalls.

"For me, depression was far worse than cancer. There are ways to kill cancer and be free of it but you can't surgically remove depression or treat it with radiation. True, cancer can kill, but so can depression. In my case, I felt the cure for cancer was hopeful but the cure for depression was hopeless."

No Motivation For Christmas

Christmas had always been a much decorated holiday in Cathy's own family and she had tried to make memories for her husband and children with decorations and ornaments of all types. Finally she couldn't even motivate herself to prepare for Christmas at all.

Her counselor finally referred her to the mental health unit of Northwest Medical Center. She arrived there in August of 1986. Between 1986 and 1990 she was admitted to the mental health unit eight different times for a total of 111 days, with stays ranging from seven to 28 days. One hospitalization was following an attempt at suicide by taking a large amount of prescription medicine.

A breakthrough in her treatment came when a long-time friend told her of someone else who was in therapy for sexual abuse. She told Cathy she knew that Cathy had been sexually abused as a child. Although Cathy's first response was anger and resentment that someone else knew, she came to realize how she had changed her personality following the incident.

"I believe the abuse is at the very deepest core and is a major contribution to Cathy's depression, but I can't say it is the total cause of it," states Dr. DeeJay Donlin, Cathy's doctor at the mental health unit.

"It is a credit to Cathy that she hung in there. Her willingness to attack her depression, take her medication and successfully address the abuse issue are admirable. Cathy is not invulnerable, but overall her stability is astonishingly better than it was six or seven years ago."

Finding Joy In Music

Cathy always enjoyed music and in her recovery has now returned to singing—solos in the nursing home where her sister is a resident, with the church choir or a children's group in her home community or nearby towns. Her husband gave her a sound system for Christmas that she uses when performing.

As she seeks to help others Cathy is helping to heal herself. It has been more than four years since she has needed to be a patient in the mental health unit.

"I don't feel like I'm drowning any more," she said. "God has lifted me up and I will shout it from the mountains."

Like it or not, next weekend we will be looking at New Year's Eve. Here are some ideas for a party, whether you are staying at home with the family or having guests.

Whip this tasty snack up in a minute – serve with crackers, chips or warm French bread:

BEEF CREAM CHEESE BALL
1 (3 ounce) package dried beef, chopped finely
1 (8 ounce) package cream cheese
1 (3 ounce) package cream cheese with chives
1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1 tablespoon finely chopped onion
Pinch of garlic salt
2 tablespoons milk
Walnuts

Soften cream cheese. Mix ingredients (except nuts and dried beef) together and then add beef last.

Form into a ball and chill. Roll in nuts.

Here's something that not only tastes delicious, but looks wonderful:

MEXICANO PLATTER DIP
1 head lettuce
4 tomatoes, remove seeds and chop into medium-sized pieces
1/2 cup green onion, sliced
2 cans tuna or 2 cups cubed, cooked chicken
1 cup finely shredded cheddar cheese
1 cup sliced ripe olives
1 cup broken corn chips

Dressing
1 large or 2 small avocadoes, mashed
1 cup sour cream
1/2 teaspoon hot pepper sauce
1 teaspoon sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
2/3 cup salad oil
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1/8 teaspoon garlic salt
1/8 teaspoon cumin

Spread dressing on one or two large platters. Layer rest of ingredients over as follows: lettuce, meat, onion, olives, cheese, tomatoes. Serve with chips and salsa.

You might like to make this Scandinavian dish before the New Year celebration:

SWEDISH FLATBREAD
1 pint buttermilk
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup melted butter
1 teaspoon salt
1 scant teaspoon soda
Flour

Mix ingredients together and stir in enough flour to make a stiff dough. Shape into 24 balls.

Roll very thin with pegged rolling pin. Cut into desired shapes and bake at 425 degrees, watching very closely.

Another great-looking treat that can be made ahead of time:

TORTILLA PINWHEELS
1 (8 ounce) package cream cheese
1 (8 ounce) package sour cream
1 cup shredded cheddar cheese
5 (10 inch) tortillas
1 (4 ounce) can diced green chiles
1 (4 ounce) can black olives, diced
1 tablespoon green onion
Garlic powder to taste

Combine ingredients (except tortillas). Spread on tortillas.

Roll and wrap tightly in plastic wrap and refrigerate several hours.

Before serving, slice and serve with salsa.

These are the easiest little meatballs you've ever seen and would make a great party snack:

BARBECUED MEATBALLS
1 pound ground beef
1/2 cup milk
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup ketchup
3 tablespoons vinegar
1/2 cup chopped onion
1 cup bread crumbs
1/2 cup water
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
1 tablespoon sugar
1/2 cup chopped green pepper

Four milk over bread crumbs and add meat, salt and pepper. Mix well and shape into meatballs. Place in 1 quart casserole (meatballs may be placed on top of each other).

Combine water, ketchup, Worcestershire, vinegar, sugar, green pepper and onion. Mix and pour over meatballs.

Bake at 375 degrees for 45 minutes.

TRF students to perform at Young Artists Competition

High school instrumental students, including pianists, grades 10-12 from Alexandria, Fergus Falls, Graceville, Menahga, Pelican Rapids, Perley, Rothsay and Thief River Falls in Minnesota, and Christine, Fargo, Grand Forks, Jamestown and Griska in North Dakota, will perform before judges of the Young Artists Solo Competition January 7 at the Roland Dille Center for the Arts at Moorhead State University, Moorhead.

The public is invited and encouraged to attend the competition finals Saturday beginning at 1 p.m. in the Roland Dille Center for the Arts. There is no admission charge.

This is the 14th annual competition.

To The Editor:

Commit a random act of kindness. I read this phrase in a magazine article encouraging people to perform an unsolicited act of kindness toward another individual.

On Thursday morning I stopped in Hugo's with my son, who is almost four, to pick up cookies for him to bring with him and share with his daycare friends. He selected the cookies and we went to wait in line at the check-out counter.

We got in line behind a man who had also been to the bakery. As he reached into his pockets for some money, a dime fell out of his pocket and onto the floor. This man and my son reached to pick up the dime at the same time. The man was bigger and he picked up the dime before my son.

As this man stood up, he looked at my son. Handing my son the dime, he said, "Here. Have a good day." Needless to say, my son was thrilled at this unexpected gift!

My son and I were the victims of a random act of kindness. Thank you, kind man; your act of kindness was appreciated by this mommy as much as the young child!

Happy Holidays!

To The Editor:

Somewhere in time we have lost focus on the American's greatest attribute—the concern that every American citizen has for his fellow neighbor.

Nowhere in the world has humanity excelled like that in America. But somewhere, we as American citizens turned over our greatest comradeship to the U.S. government. No, it was not that we wanted to be free of this obligation, but it was listening to our friendly politicians. They said they could do it better, and for some reason we believed them.

The greatest stories ever written are not how much you were able to keep from Uncle Sam, or put in the bank, but the story of that desolate mother, convinced that not her, but that her children, were all that counts. They are the greatest, if only given this chance, and she was to do what she could to make this happen and without any recognition or personal reward.

If there is a need, it's not the government, but people like you and I that can best fill this need. All Americans know that. As a matter of fact, they are waiting in the wings just to help. Let's put it back where it came from, in the hearts of the greatest people on earth—that average American like you and I!

Sincerely,
Norm Anderson

To The Editor:

As Christmas time approaches, it doesn't feel like, look like, sound like or smell like any other Christmas we have ever experienced. Shopping isn't important, decorating the tree was a chore, Christmas music sounds out of place and the fragrance of Christmas baking isn't much appreciated.

It has been less than two months since we lost our son and brother in a tragic accident. Brandon would have been 17 years old on December 12th. He was much too young to leave his family and friends. All of you who have recently experienced a personal loss will know what we feel. The pain, frustration and anger have not had time to abate, while visions of joy and happiness seem so distant.

Although we hurt, we have had an opportunity to sit and reflect—none of which has helped put us into the modern day "Spirit of Christmas." However, we do realize that the true meaning of Christmas has already been realized and revealed hundreds of times over.

Although it was premature, the true "Spirit of Christmas" came to us back on October 30th following Brandon's accident. The spirit of love, caring and sharing started in the "jack pines" of Fourtown. It came from friends, casual acquaintances and strangers who were in the Fourtown area that day.

When we made it back to Thief River Falls, we were immediately embraced by friends and relatives. Over the next few days we learned more about caring, sharing and giving than we had ever learned from all previous Christmases combined.

As a family we have attempted to thank everyone for their time, thoughts, gifts and prayers. However, we know that some may have been missed along the way. Therefore, we would like to say "thank you" to all the friends and relatives. We would like to extend a very special "thank you" to all the people involved at both Lincoln high school and Grygla high school—administrators, teachers, coaches and other school personnel and students. You people were an inspiration to not only the immediate family, but also to all who were at our house and witnessed your generous outpouring of love.

Finally, a special "thank you" and our love and admiration go out to the Lincoln choir and all the students who so bravely sang, spoke out and wrote all the beautiful and kind words about Brandon.

The family of Brandon Pooin would like to wish everyone a safe and Merry Christmas. Our thoughts and prayers will be with you during this holiday season.

Sincerely,
Bill, Ryan, Patti
Nathan, Mitch, Murray
Cathy, Ron and Ryan S.

The Christmas Story

Each year we try to make a point of printing in either The Times or Northern Watch the always familiar but never tiresome Bible story of Christmas. For a touch of variety, we quote from different versions of the Scriptures.

Following is the Christmas story from the Second Chapter of St. Luke as it appears in The New English Bible:

In those days a decree was issued by the Emperor Augustus for a registration to be made throughout the Roman world. This was the first registration of its kind; it took place when Quirinius was governor of Syria.

For this purpose everyone made his way to his own town; and so Joseph went up to Judaea from the town of Nazareth in Galilee, to register at the city of David, called Bethlehem, because he was of the house of David by descent; and with him went Mary who was betrothed to him.

She was expecting a child, and while they were there the time came for her baby to be born, and she gave birth to a son, her first-born. She wrapped him in his swaddling clothes, and laid him in a manger, because there was no room for them to lodge in the house.

Now in this same district there were shepherds out in the fields, keeping watch through the night over their flock, when suddenly there stood before them an angel of the Lord, and the splendour of the Lord shone round them.

They were terror-stricken, but the angel said, 'Do not be afraid; I have good news for you: there is great joy coming to the whole people. Today in the city of David a deliverer has been born to you—the Messiah, the Lord. And this is your sign: you will find a baby lying wrapped in his swaddling clothes, in a manger.' All at once there was with the angel a great company of the heavenly host, singing the praises of God:

'Glory to God in highest heaven, and on earth his peace for men on whom his favour rests.'

After the angels had left them and gone into heaven the shepherds said to one another, 'Come, we must go straight to Bethlehem and see this thing that has happened, which the Lord has made known to us.' So they went with all speed and found their way to Mary and Joseph; and the baby was lying in the manger.

When they saw him, they recounted what they had been told about this child; and all who heard were astonished at what the shepherds said. But Mary treasured up all these things and pondered over them.

Meanwhile the shepherds returned glorifying and praising God for what they had heard and seen; it had all happened as they had been told.

Christmas Can Be Uplifting Or Depressing

While Christmas is heralded as a time of joy and hope and peace and is eagerly anticipated and welcomed by most people in our country, it can also be the saddest and most depressing of times for others. For people suffering from clinical depression, the heightened activity and intensified joy around them only serve to accentuate their feelings of loneliness, rejection or isolation.

A story in today's issue of the Northern Watch tells something about one area woman's experiences in battling depression. Her ability to tell her story to the public is a tribute to her strength in recovery. Any of our readers who have or are experiencing the devastation of depression, either personally or in others, should take heart from Cathy Johnson's story.

In providing information for the story, Cathy included material from the National Institute of Mental Health and the Montana Mental health Association. They point out that at any given time, depression affects 17.5 million Americans of both sexes and all ages and ethnic backgrounds. Undiagnosed clinical depression costs American business nearly $24 billion a year in absenteeism and lost productivity.

Severity of symptoms vary with individuals, but persons may be suffering from clinical depression if they experience several of the following symptoms for two or more weeks:

- Feelings of sadness, pessimism or irritability;
- Fatigue or loss of energy;
- Loss of interest or pleasure in activities;
- Feeling guilty, hopeless or worthless;
- Change in weight or appetite;
- Restlessness or decreased activity;
- Difficulty concentrating, remembering, making decisions;
- Thoughts of death or suicide or attempts at suicide;
- Persistent physical symptoms that do not respond to treatment, such as headache, digestive disorders and chronic pain;
- Insomnia, early morning awakening or oversleeping.

As Cathy points out in her story, a depressive disorder is not a passing mood. It is not a sign of character weakness or a condition that can be willed away. "Pull yourself together" doesn't work. Without help, symptoms can last for weeks, months or even years.

Depression is a medical illness that in most cases can be successfully treated. According to the National Institute of Mental Health, over 80 per cent of patients can be held with appropriate treatment.

One of the tragedies of depression is that those who are afflicted by it do not, can not or will not recognize it and seek the help that can make them feel better.

If this Christmas season is a depressing time for you or someone close to you, make a New Year's resolution to seek help as soon as possible in 1995. You can call the mental health center hotline at Northwest Medical Center at 681-4240, extension 349, or from outside the Thief River Falls telephone exchange call 1-800-422-0863. Then make sure it is one resolution that you keep.

For All Mothers For The New Year

One of our readers—a mother who has lost a child—brought the following item to our office this week and asked that we publish it. It is appropriate for others in similar circumstances as they look ahead to a new year:

"If I knew as a child what I know now, Mom, I probably wouldn't have made things so hard for you. I would have understood that you were looking out for my best interest even though it may not have seemed so at the time.

"I would have known how difficult it is to let go, to stand back and let someone you love learn from their mistakes. I would have realized how fortunate I was to have a mother who was always there for me, even after an argument, even after I'd said things I shouldn't have.

"While it's too late for a lot of things, it's not too late for me to tell you that I appreciate how loving you are, how giving you've always been, and that even though I may not always be good at showing it, I love you very much."

While it would appear that Thief River Falls' Kyle Sanden came up with a clean block on this shot by Ben Caron of Bemidji, the officials, much to the chagrin of the Prowlers' fans, whistled a foul on the play during Tuesday's high school basketball game in the Lincoln gym.- The Lumberjacks won 64-44.

Gators beat Tigers 90-88 in four overtimes

Eldon Sparby, who has been coaching the Middle River, then the Badger/Greenbush-Middle River boys basketball teams for 22 years, had never experienced anything like it – a four-overtime marathon won by his Gators 90-88 over Stephen Tuesday.

With the Minnesota State High School League increasing overtime periods from three to four minutes this winter, the two teams played an extra 16 minutes – or a full half – of basketball before Russell Larson of Badger/Greenbush-Middle River finally sent everyone home by making two free throws with 2.9 seconds left in overtime No. 4.

"It was quite a game," noted Sparby. "It's the longest game I've every been in."

Stephen very nearly had it won in regulation time. The Tigers, who led at the quarter stops 20-17, 37-24 and 54-47, were up 64-61 with nine seconds remaining when the Gators' Matt Kuznia stepped to the free throw line for a bonus opportunity. He made the first one, but missed the second attempt to make it 64-62.

However, Badger/Greenbush-Middle River sophomore Matt Kujava slipped inside, grabbed the rebound and scored to tie it 64-all.

"We were really lucky to get it into overtime," acknowledged Sparby.

Both sides had opportunities to take control in the extra sessions, but it remained deadlocked at 71-71, 75-75 and 82-82 at the stops.

There was a minute-and-a-half left in the fourth overtime when the Gators took possession and worked for a final shot. Larson wound up at the line for the winning free throws.

"They (Tigers) really played well," pointed out Sparby. "They really shot the ball well. We were playing pretty good basketball and couldn't stay with them."

An individual shoot-out developed between the Gators' Kuznia and the Tigers' Matt Kroulik. Kuznia scored a game-high 37 points, grabbed 15 rebounds and blocked three shots. Kroulik made the Gators pay the price for playing a zone by scoring 32 points, knocking down seven 3-pointers in the process.

Larson and Sheldon Ruud joined Kuznia in double figures for the winners with 11 points each. Trent Chwialkowski netted 14 for the Tigers.

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River shot 47 percent from the field (34/73) and made 13 of 21 free throws. Stephen cooled off after a hot start and wound up shooting 42 percent from the floor (33/78). The Tigers were 15-for-25 at the free throw line.

The 3-0 Gators had a 42-28 rebound advantage and had more turnovers, 13-10.

Bemidji 64-55 winner over Prowlers in boys basketball...

Jacks end TRF win streak

Gus Self staked Bemidji to an 8-0 lead and the Lumberjacks finished with a nine-point, 64-55 boys high school basketball win over Thief River Falls Tuesday.

Self, a 6-3 senior forward who finished with a game-high 21 points, hit four baskets before anybody else lit it up and scored the first 12 Bemidji points as the Lumberjacks ended a three-game season-opening Thief River Falls win streak. It was the first North Sub-Section 8AA test of the year for the Prowlers.

The offensive show by Self did not surprise Thief River Falls coach Scott Brekke. "We knew that would be the mis-match," he acknowledged. "We don't have anybody quick enough or big enough to stay with him. We have big people who aren't quick enough, or quick people who aren't big enough to guard him."

Bemidji used that early Self barrage to lead 15-8 at the end of the first quarter and 29-21 at halftime.

The Prowlers finally caught the Lumberjacks at 39-39 when Ryan Swanson came off the bench to hit a 3-point shot with 1:24 left in the third quarter, and took their first lead, 43-41, on a base line drive by Eric Bjorgaard eight seconds into the fourth quarter.

A large Lincoln High School gym crowd was getting into it when Bjorgaard scored from underneath for a 48-48 tie with 5:32 remaining before Bemidji went on a 14-3 game-winning run to open up a 62-51 spread with only 40.9 seconds left.

"We fell behind early and had to battle back the whole game," noted Brekke. "I'm really happy with the fact the kids didn't quit. If we could have gotten a 4-5-point lead we maybe could have had some momentum going."

Jon Solheim, a 6-5 guard, joined Self in double figures for the 3-1 Lumberjacks with 13 points. The Prowlers were led by 6-2 guard Josh Hedin with 13 points and Bjorgaard, a 6-foot forward, with 11. Thief River Falls center Kyle Sanden, who had three first half fouls and sat out six minutes of the second half with four personals, was held to just 9 points.

Thief River Falls shot only 34 percent from the field (19/56) while making 13 of 18 free throws. Bemidji shot 40 percent from the floor (24/60) and nearly duplicated the Prowlers' figures with a 12-for-19 free throw game. Thief River Falls finished with a 36-32 rebound edge, but also had more turnovers, 19-12. Thirteen of those turnovers came before intermission.

"I wasn't very happy turning the ball over that many times in the first half," said Brekke. "We've got to execute better. We've got to make better decisions. You can't turn it over that many times and expect to beat the good teams."

Unbeaten Gators handle Wolverines

Unbeaten Badger/Greenbush-Middle River stretched its unbeaten streak to nine games Tuesday with a one-sided 62-29 girls high school basketball win over Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke.

"Our team defense is pretty good right now," noted Gators coach Tom Mjelde, who emptied his bench against the Wolverines, who fell to 3-4 with their fourth straight loss.

Jessica Borgen scored 18 points and Krissi Super had 16 for the Gators. The Wolverines did not have a double figure scorer.

"They have a very, very good team, and we played poorly," said Wolverines coach Mike Gast.

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River was 25-for-59 from the field (42 percent) and 12-for-17 at the free throw line. Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke went 11-for-41 from the floor (27 percent) and made 7 of 17 free throws.

Both teams will be idle until after the holidays. The Gators' next start will be Jan. 5 at Warroad. The Wolverines resume play Jan. 9 at Roseau.

TRF wrestlers lose to Rams, defeat Ponies

Thief River Falls wrestlers lost to Roseau 56-9 but produced a come-from-behind 36-32 win over Warren-Alvarado-Oslo Tuesday in a double-dual high school wrestling outing at Warren.

The split put the Prowlers' dual meet record at 3-6. They will be idle until the Saturday, Jan. 7, Thief Prowler Invitational.

Bemidji 64-44 winner against TRF boys JV

Bemidji was a 64-44 winner over Thief River Falls Tuesday in boys junior varsity high school basketball.

Karl Anderson scored 11 points and Stefan Ronchetti had 10 for Thief River Falls.

Nordics start strong, but fall to EGF 64-45

■ MCC girls have 1-5 record

Marshall County Central hit the shots at the start and challenged heavily favored East Grand Forks. But when the Nordics' shooters started missing in the second half the Green Wave pulled away to a 64-45 girls high school basketball win Tuesday.

Hitting 8 of their 10 first quarter field goal attempts, the Nordics found themselves ahead 16-14 at the break. But the Green Wave went ahead 30-24 at halftime and opened up a 45-32 third quarter gap.

"We came out and shot the ball real well," pointed out Marshall County Central coach Tom Mjelde. "That's obviously the key to winning basketball games. But our shots that went in the first half didn't fall in the second half. The first half showed that if we can shoot the ball with any consistency, we'll be in most games."

Marshall County Central wound up shooting 37 percent from the field for the night (19/52) while making 9 of 20 free throw attempts. East Grand Forks shot 47 percent from the floor (27/57) and went 5-for-9 at the line.

Marshall County Central, 1-5, will be idle until hosting Stephen Jan. 3.

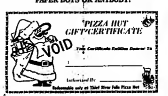
ASK YOUR LOCKSMITH
Questions And Answers

Q I just bought a new house. Is it a good idea to get the locks changed?



A Absolutely, yes! You have no idea how many keys are in the hands of strangers. Neighbors, real estate agents, and even the builder may have keys. A locksmith can rekey your existing lock so that the new key is the only key that will open your door. At the same time, a locksmith can recommend extra security measures, such as deadbolt locks, window locks, and sliding door locks. Some locksmiths even offer security bars and burglar alarms as part of their service.

RLCC boys get by EGF in overtime

Aaron Chaput and Scott Lorenson came up with the key points Tuesday as Red Lake County Central raised some eyebrows with a 62-59 overtime win against East Grand Forks in boys high school basketball at Plummer.

Chaput, fouled on a 3-point field goal attempt with three seconds left in regulation time, made all three free throws to tie the game at 54-54.

Lorenson then hit a trey with three seconds left in overtime to shatter a 59-59 tie and give the 6-2 Mustangs their fifth straight win heading into the holiday break. They will be idle until a Jan. 3 game at Goodridge.

Chaput finished with 27 points. Teammate Aaron Rosten netted 18, a figure matched by East Grand Forks' Justin Knowlton.

Scoring

	1	2	3	4	ot	T
EGF	10	14	18	11	6	59
RLCC	6	17	10	18	8	62

EGF - Justin Knowlton 18, Luke Melquist 6, Curt Kotba 8, Mark Perkins 2, Jeremy Moe 4, Dustin Haug 6, Ryan Berg 11, Kory Knoll 4, Nate Rasch 3.

RLCC - Bryce Huotari 7, Dan Gagner 3, Aaron Rosten 18, Scott Lorenson 7, Aaron Chaput 27.

John Brown, a 6-8 Northland Community College freshmen center from Minneapolis, went up for a shot against UND-Lake Region defender Jeremy Brendt during the first half of Wednesday's basketball game in Thief River Falls. Brown scored 10 points, but the Pioneers lost 78-65.

Royals complete NCC sweep

Despite nearly three months of practice and eight nonconference games, the Northland Community College men's basketball team still has more questions than answers heading into the 1994-95 Minnesota Community College Conference schedule, which begins when the Pioneers return from a holiday break. At least that was the opinion of Northland coach Mark Dannhoff following a 78-65 home court loss at the hands of UND-Lake Region Wednesday.

The setback dropped the Pioneers to 2-6, but it was their final pre-holiday performance, not the record, that miffed Dannhoff. Northland shot only 37 percent from the field (25/67), missed 13 of 25 free throw attempts and turned the ball over 21 times – five of them on in-bounds plays.

Northland tried to make up for a shaky start and a 43-23 deficit at intermission with second half comeback that chopped the Royals' lead to 60-52 on a pair of Ryan Rislov free throws with 7:10 still to play.

But the Pioneers picked up just two free throws over the next 3 1/2 minutes and got no closer.

"We fought back hard, but we couldn't get over the hump," said Dannhoff. That was about the only positive item he could come up with. "We played as poorly as it looked in the first half," he said. "It was disappointing. We're making mistakes we shouldn't be making with the players we have. We have to play smarter. It's frustrating. The coaches can't shoot free throws for them, and we can't pass the ball in bounds for them. They're going to have to make up their minds to get those things done if they want to be competitive when the conference season opens."

That begins with a weekend home series Jan. 6 and 7 when the Pioneers will meet Mesabi Friday night and Vermilion Saturday afternoon to kick off a 12-game MCCC Northern Division schedule.

Northland did have three double figure scorers Wednesday, but it was on the low end of the scale as 6-3 sophomore forward Tim Olson netted 11 points while 6-8 freshman center John Brown and 6-1 sophomore guard Chad Kujava both finished with 10. The Royals were led by a 20-point game from 5-10 freshman guard Byron Suttles.

The winners looked sharp early, hitting 18 of of their first 27 field goal attempts and putting together a 10-point run that turned a 16-13 edge into a 26-13 gap.

But the Royals let the Northland back in the game by matching the Pioneers' 21 turnovers.

UND-Lake Region finished 28-for-54 from the field (52 percent) and 18-for-29 at the line. The Royals, who beat the Pioneers 75-70 in the Nov. 21 Northland season opener, had a 36-31 rebound edge.

Scoring

High school hockey, basketball...

Holiday tournaments match-ups are listed

Upcoming Thief River Falls high school sports schedule will feature boys basketball, girls basketball and hockey tournaments.

In hockey, the second Thief River Falls/Crookston Christmas Classic, expanded from four to six teams this year, will be played Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, Dec. 26, 27 and 28. Monday games will be played in Crookston. Tuesday and Wednesday sessions are both scheduled for the Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center in Thief River Falls.

Joining the Prowlers and Pirates will be Westwood Collegiate of Winnipeg, Bemidji, Benilde-St. Margaret's, and Simley.

Thief River Falls' 12th annual Northwest Russ Smith Holiday Classic will draw eight boys basketball teams to the Lincoln High School gym Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, Dec. 27, 28 and 29.

The host Prowlers will be joined by Argyle, Roseau, Kittson Central, Fertile-Beltrami, Marshall County Central, Badger/Greenbush-Middle River, and Clearbrook-Gonvick-Trail.

Junior varsity teams will play a matching schedule in the Lincoln auxiliary gym.

Those same Tuesday-through-Thursday dates will be used for the Brainerd Holiday Classic girls basketball tournament that will include Thief River Falls, Hopkins, Grand Rapids, Faribault, Park Center, Detroit Lakes, Virginia, and Brainerd.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our deepest gratitude to all our friends, neighbors and relatives who offered support and showed concern following the tragic death of our daughter and sister Adeline. Our thanks to the Oklee ambulance service and the Red Lake County Law Enforcement for their quick response and the doctors and staff of NWMC for their trying effort and condolences offered, the Green Funeral Home for their wonderful services, Pastor Faugstad for his comforting words and visits, Father Pribula, Tim Lundeen and Amber Under for their messages at the school, LaVonne Enerson, Donna Sherman and organist Charity Wicks for the beautiful music, the pallbearers, the Oklee school and staff for the use of their facilities, Our Saviors Church for the use of their dining hall following the prayer service and to those who served coffee and goodies, and the Oak Park Ladies Aid for the lunch served after the funeral. Thanks to all who shared themselves and their time with us, brought food to the house, called, gave cards, flowers and memorials or helped in anyway. We deeply miss our little girl and are so grateful for everything that has been done to help us during this very difficult time. May God bless each and every one of you and grant you a blessed holiday season.

The Family of Adeline Chervestad. 2t103c

The Plummer Teen Center shows what a community can do when it works together. The Center held its Grand Opening in November and has become a vital part of the community, patronized by not only teens, but by many townspeople, as well.

Plummer shows Christmas spirit

Keeping the cost down was one of the necessities in creating the teen center. The school board said if the center couldn't cash flow, it would have to close, so Lorenson said every effort is being made to keep it self-supporting.

And self-supporting it is. Originally started with donations from several Plummer businesses and organizations and funding-raisers specifically for the center, it is now a cash flowing, non-profit organization, earning its money from pay-to-play games like foos ball and video games, and from the sale of pizza, snacks, candy and soda pop.

Donations have come from an array of Red Lake county groups: the Plummer Lions and Lioness clubs, Red Lake Electric, the Plummer Community Club, Plummer American Legion, Plummer Fire Department, Snowmobile Club, City Council, Aid Association for Lutherans, Emmanuel Lutheran Church ELCA, the Brooks-Plummer Presbyterian Women, and the Hollyhock Homemaker Club.

Lori Tillett, business and accounting II teacher at the Plummer school and member of the recreation center advisory board, said the donations from townspeople have been just too numerous to name them individually. Two families who lost sons in accidents last year donated gifts to the center. The Lalliers donated money in memory of Jon Lallier, and Barb Culkins donated a microwave and a foos ball game in memory of Seth Culkins.

Students from the school also take part in running the accounting and business ends of the center as part of their classes, and other students can earn school credits for helping with various aspects of the running of the center. The accounting class, industrial arts, FLA organization, and art clases have all contributed with their various talents, working on the business end and securing insurance, permits and licenses, ordering supplies, banking, making curtains, creating cartoons for the walls and making a bulletin board.

Tillett stated that "the students and the community have been great. It seems like everybody has just pitched in with their talents, and worked together to make it happen."

Working together has also brought the community closer together, according to Tillett. "The kids see the adults and the teachers in a new way, not just as someone with authority." She said that law enforcement officers sometimes stop by the center just to visit and that this, too, helps the young people relate better to them and not just see them as someone to be afraid of or run away from.

The teen center is run by a governing board made up of parents Jim DuChamp and Barb Schmitz, school board members Eldon Vigstol and Roger Walter, teachers Lori Tillett and Gary Brantl and superintendent Rick Lorenson, as well as students from seventh through 12th grades. Aaron Rosten, Dan Gagner, Bryce Huotari, Patti Greenwald, Catherine Rosten, Ross Arlt, Steve McMullen, Wade Westlake and Karl Vigstol. The governing board makes all decisions relating to the operation of the center, and creates rules and regulations for it.

The students on the board are treated no differently than the adults, and have voting rights just the same as the adults. Tillett said the kids are the ones who keep everyone in the teen center in line by making the rules and seeing to it that they are kept. "They judge themselves," she said. "If someone is doing something they shouldn't, it is the kids who tell them not to do it and decide what penalties should be imposed."

Tillett said the effort is to make the center a place where all of the kids want to come. It is necessary to pay to play some of the games, but there are many that do not cost anything, so those who do not have a lot of money can spend time and be entertained there, too.

The center is open from 3 to 10 p.m. Monday through Thursday, and from 3 to 11 p.m. Friday and Saturday. According to Lorenson, there will be some special openings for Christmas vacation and consideration is being given to Sunday afternoon openings.

She said if the center continues the way it has begun, there will be even more, different activities. Everyone is coming up with ideas for the future, such as contests and tournaments, dances, and other games. There is even talk of bringing in an adult or two to teach some card games to the young people.

The center held its grand opening on November 12, even though it was really opened some time in October. Tillett said the grand opening was a real success. "The place was packed — adults and kids and everyone in town came down."

There are still some things the recreational center needs, such as stools for the lunch counter. Tillett said donations of any kind will be accepted. "An example of an unusual donation that turned into a real money-maker," she said, "was the half a pork that was donated by the Plummer Locker Plant. We sold raffle tickets for it and raised quite a bit of money — so you can see we take any kind of donation and make it work for the center."

Money donations would be welcome, as well as donations of time and talent. Christmas gift certificates to the center are a hot gift item for teens right now and are also a money maker. For more information on donations or items mentioned, contact Jim DuChamp, Advisory Board Chairman.

The center has a Christmas tree to commemorate the holidays. The tree was donated by Wayne, Vicky and Meckenzie Malwitz in memory of Seth Culkins and Joe Lallier. Jason and Lisa Malwitz donated the lights for the tree, and then invited everyone in the community to donate an ornament commemoration. Tillett said there have been a lot of ornaments placed on the tree, not only in memory of Seth and Joe, but also in memory of loved ones from other families.

So the center's Christmas tree has become more than a symbol of the holiday spirit. It has become a symbol of the community spirit, just as the youth center, too, shows the spirit of the community of Plummer.

Bomb threat at TRF Plaza is no joke

LaBree Plaza was evacuated around 4:15 p.m. Tuesday after a bomb threat was received at Bergan Travel.

Police conducted a search of the building but did not find a bomb. A police spokesperson said someone called Bergan Travel and said, "There's a bomb in the building and I put it in there", and then there was laughter in the background.

Bomb threats are no joking matter. Individuals found to be making bomb threats can be charged with making terroristic threats, a felony, which is punishable by up to 10 years in prison.

The incident reported Tuesday is under investigation.

Nellie Culkins dies from injuries

Nellie Marie Culkins, 69, Plummer, has died as a result of injuries received in an accident December 21.

Culkins was driving a car north on Highway 59 near Plummer when a Blazer driven by Alan Charles Richard Oliver, 25, Redlake, allegedly crossed the centerline and collided head on with the Culkin's vehicle. Culkins and a passenger in the Oliver vehicle, Larry Jones Jr., Redlake, were taken to United Hospital in Grand Forks, ND. Culkins died from her injuries on December 21. Oliver was taken to Northwest Medical Center in Thief River Falls. Both vehicles were considered a total loss.

The accident is being investigated by the Minnesota State Patrol.

Body of EGF man found under bridge

East Grand Forks — The body of a man missing since December 5 was found Christmas day in his pickup under a bridge eight miles north of East Grand Forks. The body of Jerrod Wayne Ault, age 24, of rural East Grand Forks was found in his 1985 Ford F10 pickup by two 13-year-old boys riding all terrain vehicles. According to the Polk County Sheriff's office, it appeared the pickup had been traveling [illegible] embankment by the Grand Marais coulee. The vehicle was far enough under the bridge that it could not be seen by [illegible] officials believe it had been there for two or three weeks. It appeared that Ault died instantly.

96 students at Northland gain President's List

Northland Community College honored 96 students fall quarter for scholastic achievement for earning a place on the President's list. To achieve this honor, students must have at least a 3.25 grade point average in 12 or more credits. On this honorary list were 29 students who achieved a straight "A" (4.0) grade point average.

The following Northland Community College students earned a grade point average of 4.0 for the fall quarter and have been placed on the President's list:

Thief River Falls — Joel Anderson, Darla Ayers, Kevin Erickson, Andrea J. Johnson, Ann L. Jahl, Terry LaCoursiere, Michelle Lampe, Michael Rhode, Jennifer D. Twait, Suzanne C. Vandercook, and Thomas B. Walker;

Bagley — Starlett Johnson;
Bemidji — Debora Williams;
Burnsville — David A. Nelson;
Crookston — Amber Vaughn;
Detroit Lakes — Heather A. Kluenenberg;
Hallock — Matthew T. Gustafson;
Karlstad — Judith Houle;

Warroad offers new courthouse for county seat

Warroad is offering to build a new courthouse to replace the 1913 structure in Roseau—if the county seat designation as well as the sheriff's office and jail is transferred to Warroad.

Bob Marvin, incoming mayor at Warroad, made the offer to the Roseau county building committee Thursday on behalf of the Warroad city council. Rather than selling bonds to replace the building in Roseau, the City of Warroad and unnamed private sources would pay for the new courthouse in Warroad. Marvin said the money for building has already been arranged.

About 3,800 signatures on a petition and a special election with a 55 per cent majority would be required to change the county seat location.

Hugo's in Thief River Falls won the Thief River Falls Best Christmas award for 1994. The artist of the window was Jeremi Hanson, a senior at Lincoln high school. Gary Anderson, store manager, said employees of the store have received a lot of good comments about the window. Bob Bergan, chamber executive vice president, said Hugo's was chosen out of eight entries. Pictured from left are Gary Anderson and Bob Bergan.

Wetland legislation on 1995 legislative agenda

"As one of 13 legislators to vote against the wetlands bill in 1991, I am very encouraged by the activities of the Minnesota Landowner's Rights Association," states Rep. Jim Tunheim of Kennedy.

"This new organization has held numerous well-attended meetings in our region to discuss the over regulation of wetlands.

"Since its original passage, the wetlands law has been amended several times in an effort to ease the regulatory burden, and I have supported these changes. But the law remains complex and excessive for farmers and local units of government. More needs to be done."

Rep. Tunhiem said the legislature needs to look at the private property rights of farmers in northwestern Minnesota. Many other states are wrestling with the problem of environmental regulation and private property rights. Just how far regulatory agencies can go in restricting development on private property has come under increasing scrutiny, he said.

"In the upcoming session it will be more important than ever for northwest Minnesota legislators to educate our colleagues about the effects of environmental regulations restricting land use," Tunheim said.

"Why should a landowner bear the costs of environmental benefits enjoyed by all citizens? Farmers depend on being able to work all of their land to make ends meet. If state officials think they can tell farmers what they can and cannot farm, the same officials need to create a system of fair compensation.

"It's time to face this over regulation head-on. Northern Minnesota has an abundance of wetlands. It is not like southern Minnesota or the metro area that have been drained and wetlands are disappearing. Our region should not have to become dedicated to wetlands just so the metro area can destroy its wetlands to increase its tax base."

Tunheim said the Wetlands Conservation Act of 1991 has not been an easy law to administer for local governments. The wetland issue will come up again in the 1995 legislative session, he said, and he anticipates more changes to be made.

"The key is to hit the ground running," he said. "It is important that I return to St. Paul with as much input from my constituents as possible. Please send written comments to me at Box 66, Kennedy, Minnesota 56733 or 355 State Office Building, St. Paul, MN 55155. Before the session starts I can be reached at 218-674-4480. After January 3 I can be reached in St. Paul at 612-296-9635."

26 at Northland in "Who's Who"

Twenty-six students at Northland Community College in Thief River Falls will be among campus leaders included in the 1994 edition of "Who's Who Among Students in American Junior Colleges."

Campus nominating committees and editors of the annual directory have included the names of the students based on their academic achievement, service to the community, leadership in extracurricular activities and potential for continued success.

The directory includes names of students selected from more than 1,400 institutions of higher learning in all 50 states, the District of Columbia and several foreign nations. Outstanding students have been honored in the annual directory since it was first published in 1934.

Named from Northland are:

Joel Anderson, Anthony Diaz, Thane Espe, Kathie Femrite, Tamara Oay, Jeffrey Tangen, Jennifer Twait, Suzanne Vandercook and Kelly Waswick, all Thief River Falls;

Also Holly Gram and Jason Rantanen, Middle River; Ivan Hirst, Newfolden; Judith Houle, Karlstad; Carlene Jadrny, Hawley; Kyoko Kino, Osaka, Japan; Chad Kujava, Warren; Ronda Olson and Ricardo Rivera, East Grand Forks; Timothy Olson and Pamela Solberg, Viking; Raymond Reinhart, Red Lake Falls; Micah Strom, McIntosh; Nicole Stromgren, Strandquist; and Joshua Stromlund, Roseau.

Pennington Co. board approves bridge option

Property owners near Long's bridge in North township received notices Thursday that Pennington County Commissioners have decided to pursue replacement of Long's bridge 350-feet upstream from its current location. The decision was reached by the commissioners on Tuesday.

The commissioners have been discussing Long's bridge for several years, but it became more of an issue as the bridge deteriorated faster than expected and state funds suddenly became available. The poor condition of the bridge gave it the distinction of having one of the three lowest ratings in the state.

Property owners were included in at least two meetings to discuss the bridge. A statement from the county engineer to property owners explaining the decision states, "A thorough review had been made of all alternatives by members of the commission which included field trips to the alternate sites. Some of the analogy for selection of this site were: 1) railroad and railroad spurs between Trunk Highway 32 and State Aid 18; 2) affect on several farmsteads; 3) bridge bonding funds committed for 1995 ($500,000); 4) redesignation of State Aid Roads; 5) traffic patterns; 6) costs; and 7) impact on existing residents."

Schulz said the board directed him to proceed with the design on route 2, which is the route with smooth curves designed for 30 miles per hour.

Anyone with questions on the project was asked to contact Schulz.

During the meeting Tuesday, the county board advanced River Valley bridge on the capitol improvements list. The board learned that more state funds had become available and the BIA would provide additional funds. The county board instructed the county engineer to proceed with work on a preliminary design for that bridge.

The county board has approved a motion increasing the tipping fee at the county's solid waste facility to $55 from $45. The new tipping fee goes into effect January 1.

Grocery stores assessed penalty

Larson Super Value of Crookston and the Jubilee Foods grocery store in Thief River Falls have been assessed a civil money penalty of $24,550 by the U.S. Department of Labor's Wage and Hour Division for alleged violations of federal child labor laws, according to a news release from the office of the United State Department of Labor.

Greg Larson of Larson Super Valu in Crookston was contacted about the news release which arrived Friday morning, but he said he wasn't prepared issue a comment about the story at this time.

The news release states that the Labor department alleged that 13 employees under the age of 16 were working hours beyond those allowed by federal law. The department also alleged that several of the minors performed work prohibited to persons under 18, such as loading and operating a paper baler, operating hydraulic lifts, working in walk-in coolers, unloading truck and working on ladders.

Wage and Hour Regional Administrator William Van Zanen, Chicago, said in the news release that the case exemplifies the labor department's efforts to protect vulnerable populations such as low wage workers and minors, deterring violations with significant penalties, and getting results swiftly and efficiently.

HAPPY NEW YEAR

From management and employees of The Times and Northern Watch

The Plummer Teen Center shows what a community can do when it works together. The Center held its Grand Opening in November and has become a vital part of the community, patronized by not only teens, but by many townspeople, as well.

Keeping the cost down was one of the necessities in creating the teen center. The school board said if the center couldn't cash flow, it would have to close, so Lorenson said every effort is being made to keep it self-supporting.

And self-supporting it is. Originally started with donations from several Plummer businesses and organizations and funding-raisers specifically for the center, it is now a cash flowing, non-profit organization, earning its money from pay-to-play games like foos ball and video games, and from the sale of pizza, snacks, candy and soda pop.

Donations have come from an array of Red Lake county groups: the Plummer Lions and Lioness clubs, Red Lake Electric, the Plummer Community Club, Plummer American Legion, Plummer Fire Department, Snowmobile Club, City Council, Aid Association for Lutherans, Emmanuel Lutheran Church ELCA, the Brooks-Plummer Presbyterian Women, and the Hollyhock Homemaker Club.

Lori Tillett, business and accounting II teacher at the Plummer school and member of the recreation center advisory board, said the donations from townspeople have been just too numerous to name them individually. Two families who lost sons in accidents last year donated gifts to the center. The Lalliers donated money in memory of Joe Lallier, and Barb Culkins donated a microwave and a foos ball game in memory of Seth Culkins.

Students from the school also take part in running the accounting and business ends of the center as part of their classes, and other students can earn school credits for helping with various aspects of the running of the center. The accounting class, industrial arts, FLA organization, and art clases have all contributed with their various talents, working on the business end and securing insurance, permits and licenses, ordering supplies, banking, making curtains, creating cartoons for the walls and making a bulletin board.

Tillett stated that "the students and the community have been great. It seems like everybody has just pitched in with their talents, and worked together to make it happen."

Working together has also brought the community closer together, according to Tillett. "The kids see the adults and the teachers in a new way, not just as someone with authority." She said that law enforcement officers sometimes stop by the center just to visit and that this, too, helps the young people relate better to them and not just see them as someone to be afraid of or run away from.

The teen center is run by a governing board made up of parents Jim DuChamp and Barb Schmitz, school board members Eldon Vigstol and Roger Walter, teachers Lori Tillett and Gary Brantl and superintendent Rick Lorenson, as well as students from seventh through 12th grades, Aaron Rosten, Dan Gagner, Bryce Huotari, Patti Greenwald, Catherine Rosten, Ross Arlt, Steve McMullen, Wade Westlake and Karl Vigstol. The governing board makes all decisions relating to the operation of the center, and creates rules and regulations for it.

The students on the board are treated no differently than the adults, and have voting rights just the same as the adults. Tillett said the kids are the ones who keep everyone in the teen center in line by making the rules and seeing to it that they are kept. "They judge themselves," she said. "If someone is dong something they shouldn't, it is the kids who tell them not to do it and decide what penalties should be imposed."

Tillett said the effort is to make the center a place where all of the kids want to come. It is necessary to pay to play some of the games, but there are many that do not cost anything, so those who do not have a lot of money can spend time and be entertained there, too.

The center is open from 3 to 10 p.m. Monday through Thursday, and from 3 to 11 p.m. Friday and Saturday. According to Lorenson, there will be some special openings for Christmas vacation and consideration is being given to Sunday afternoon openings.

She said if the center continues the way it has begun, there will be even more, different activities. Everyone is coming up with ideas for the future, such as contests and tournaments, dances, and other games. There is even talk of bringing in an adult or two to teach some card games to the young people.

The center held its grand opening on November 12, even though it was really opened some time in October. Tillett said the grand opening was a real success. "The place was packed — adults and kids and everyone in town came down."

There are still some things the recreational center needs, such as stools for the lunch counter. Tillett said donations of any kind will be accepted. "An example of an unusual donation that turned into a real money-maker," she said. "Was the half a pork that was donated by the Plummer Locker Plant. We sold raffle tickets for it and raised quite a bit of money — so you can see we take any kind of donation and make it work for the center."

Money donations would be welcome, as well as donations of time and talent. Christmas gift certificates to the center are a hot gift item for teens right now and are also a money maker. For more information on donations or items mentioned, contact Jim DuChamp, Advisory Board Chairman.

The center has a Christmas tree to commemorate the holidays. The tree was donated by Wayne, Vicky and Meckenzie Malwitz in memory of Seth Culkins and Joe Lallier. Jason and Lisa Malwitz donated the lights for the tree, and then invited everyone in the community to donate an ornament commemoration. Tillett said there have been a lot of ornaments placed on the tree, not only in memory of Seth and Joe, but also in memory of loved ones from other families.

So the center's Christmas tree has become more than a symbol of the holiday spirit. It has become a symbol of the community spirit, just as the youth center, too, shows the spirit of the community of Plummer.

Bomb threat at TRF Plaza is no joke

LaBree Plaza was evacuated around 4:15 p.m. Tuesday after a bomb threat was received at Bergan Travel.

Police conducted a search of the building but did not find a bomb. A police spokesperson said someone called Bergan Travel and said, "There's a bomb in the building and I put it in there", and then there was laughter in the background.

Bomb threats are no joking matter. Individuals found to be making bomb threats can be charged with making terroristic threats, a felony, which is punishable by up to 10 years in prison.

The incident reported Tuesday is under investigation.

Nellie Culkins dies from injuries

Nellie Marie Culkins, 69, Plummer, has died as a result of injuries received in an accident December 21.

Culkins was driving a car north on Highway 59 near Plummer when a Blazer driven by Alan Charles Richard Oliver, 25, Redlake, allegedly crossed the centerline and collided head on with the Culkin's vehicle. Culkins and a passenger in the Oliver vehicle, Larry Jones Jr., Redlake, were taken to United Hospital in Grand Forks, ND. Culkins died from her injuries on December 21. Oliver was taken to Northwest Medical Center in Thief River Falls. Both vehicles were considered a total loss.

The accident is being investigated by the Minnesota State Patrol.

Body of EGF man found under bridge

East Grand Forks — The body of a man missing since December 5 was found Christmas day in his pickup under a bridge eight miles north of East Grand Forks. The body of Jerrod Wayne Ault, age 24, of rural East Grand Forks was found in his 1985 Ford F10 pickup by two 13-year-old boys riding all terrain vehicles. According to the Polk County Sheriff's office, it appeared the pickup had been travelling south when it left the road and hit a steep embankment by the Grand Marais coulee. The vehicle was far enough under the bridge that it could not be seen by passing motorists and officials believe it had been there for two or three weeks. It appeared that Ault died instantly.

Warroad offers new courthouse for county seat

Warroad is offering to build a new courthouse to replace the 1913 structure in Roseau—if the county seat designation as well as the sheriff's office and jail is transferred to Warroad.

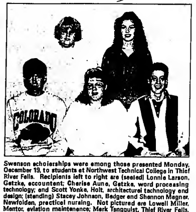
Bob Marvin, incoming mayor at Warroad, made the offer to the Roseau county building committee Thursday on behalf of the Warroad city council. Rather than selling bonds to replace the building in Roseau, the City of Warroad and unnamed private sources would pay for the new courthouse in Warroad. Marvin said the money for building has already been arranged.

About 3,800 signatures on a petition and a special election with a 55 per cent majority would be required to change the county seat location.

Hugo's in Thief River Falls won the Thief River Falls Best Christmas award for 1994. The artist of the window was Jeremi Henson, a senior at Lincoln high school. Gary Anderson, store manager, said employees at the store have received a lot of good comments about the window. Bob Bergan, chamber executive vice president, said Hugo's was chosen out of eight entries. Pictured from left are Gary Anderson and Bob Bergan.

26 at Northland in "Who's Who"

Twenty-six students at Northland Community College in Thief River Falls will be among campus leaders included in the 1994 edition of "Who's Who Among Students in American Junior Colleges."



Campus nominating committees and editors of the annual directory have included the names of the students based on their academic achievement, service to the community, leadership in extracurricular activities and potential for continued success.

The directory includes names of students selected from more than 1,400 institutions of higher learning in all 50 states, the District of Columbia and several foreign nations. Outstanding students have been honored in the annual directory since it was first published in 1934.

Named from Northland are:

Joel Anderson, Anthony Diaz, Thane Espe, Kathie Femrite, Tamara Gay, Jeffrey Tangen, Jennifer Twait, Suzanne Vandercook and Kelly Waswick, all Thief River Falls;

Also Holly Gram and Jason Rantanen, Middle River; Ivan Hirst, Newfolden; Judith Houle, Karlstad; Carlene Jadrny, Hawley; Kyoko Kino, Osaka, Japan; Chad Kujava, Warren; Ronda Olson and Ricardo Rivera, East Grand Forks; Timothy Olson and Pamela Solberg, Viking; Raymond Reinhart, Red Lake Falls; Micah Strom, McIntosh; Nicole Stromgren, Strandquist; and Joshua Stromlund, Roseau.

Wetland legislation on 1995 legislative agenda

"As one of 13 legislators to vote against the wetlands bill in 1991, I am very encouraged by the activities of the Minnesota Landowner's Rights Association," states Rep. Jim Tunheim of Kennedy.

"This new organization has held numerous well-attended meetings in our region to discuss the over regulation of wetlands.

"Since its original passage, the wetlands law has been amended several times in an effort to ease the regulatory burden, and I have supported these changes. But the law remains complex and excessive for farmers and local units of government. More needs to be done."

Rep. Tunhiem said the legislature needs to look at the private property rights of farmers in northwestern Minnesota. Many other states are wrestling with the problem of environmental regulation and private property rights. Just how far regulatory agencies can go in restricting development on private property has come under increasing scrutiny, he said.

"In the upcoming session it will be more important than ever for northwest Minnesota legislators to educate our colleagues about the effects of environmental regulations restricting land use," Tunheim said.

"Why should a landowner bear the costs of environmental benefits enjoyed by all citizens? Farmers depend on being able to work all of their land to make ends meet. If state officials think they can tell farmers what they can and cannot farm, the same officials need to create a system of fair compensation.

"It's time to face this over regulation head-on. Northern Minnesota has an abundance of wetlands. It is not like southern Minnesota or the metro area that have been drained and wetlands are disappearing. Our region should not have to become dedicated to wetlands just so the metro area can destroy its wetlands to increase its tax base."

Tunheim said the Wetlands Conservation Act of 1991 has not been an easy law to administer for local governments. The wetland issue will come up again in the 1995 legislative session, he said, and he anticipates more changes to be made.

"The key is to hit the ground running," he said. "It is important that I return to St. Paul with as much input from my constituents as possible. Please send written comments to me at Box 66, Kennedy, Minnesota 56733 or 355 State Office Building, St. Paul, MN 55155. Before the session starts I can be reached at 218-674-4480. After January 3 I can be reached in St. Paul at 612-296-9635."

Pennington Co. board approves bridge option

Property owners near Long's bridge in North township received notices Thursday that Pennington County Commissioners have decided to pursue replacement of Long's bridge 350-feet upstream from its current location. The decision was reached by the commissioners on Tuesday.

The commissioners have been discussing Long's bridge for several years, but it became more of an issue as the bridge deteriorated faster than expected and state funds suddenly became available. The poor condition of the bridge gave it the distinction of having one of the three lowest ratings in the state.

Property owners were included in at least two meetings to discuss the bridge. A statement from the county engineer to property owners explaining the decision states, "A thorough review had been made of all alternatives by members of the commission which included field trips to the alternate sites. Some of the analogy for selection of this site were: 1) railroad and railroad spurs between Trunk Highway 32 and State Aid 18; 2) affect on several farmsteads; 3) bridge bonding funds committed for 1995 ($500,000): 4) redesignation of State Aid Roads; 5) traffic patterns: 6) costs; and 7) impact on existing residents."

Warm muffins for breakfast can make cold winter mornings seem almost pleasant. "Grandma's Favorite Muffins" was a Christmas gift and I thought I would share some of the recipes with you today.

These muffins are delicious with their streusel topping and filling:

COFFEE CAKE MUFFINS
1/2 cup brown sugar
1/2 cup crushed nuts
2 tablespoons flour
2 tablespoons melted butter
2 teaspoons cinnamon
1 1/2 cups flour
1/2 cup sugar
2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup coil
1 egg, beaten
1/2 cup milk

Combine brown sugar, nuts, 2 tablespoons flour, butter and cinnamon and set aside.

Mix flour, sugar, baking powder and salt. Blend in oil. Add milk and egg and stir until moistened.

Pour half of batter into 12 muffin cups. Sprinkle with half of the cinnamon mixture, cover with remaining batter, and top with remaining cinnamon mixture.

Bake at 375 degrees for 20 minutes. (12 muffins)

Keep these muffins in an ice cream bucket in the fridge for up to six weeks – you can have them hot and fresh whenever you want:

EASY KEEPER MUFFINS
4 eggs
1 cup oil
1 quart buttermilk
5 cups flour
3 cups sugar
5 teaspoons soda
2 teaspoons salt
1 package (15 ounce) raisin bran cereal
1 cup nuts

Mix eggs, oil and buttermilk. Add mixture of flour, sugar, soda and salt and then add raisin bran and nuts.

Bake at 350 degrees for 15-20 minutes.

Use baby food to make these tasty muffins:

PLUM MUFFINS
1 cup sugar
1/2 cup oil
1 egg
2 cups self-rising flour
2 jars strained plum baby food
1 teaspoon allspice
3/4 cup nuts

Combine sugar, oil and eggs. Add flour, spice and baby food, then nuts.

Bake at 350 degrees for 20-25 minutes.

(Apricot baby food may be used instead of plum.)

Something to remind you of spring on a frosty morning:

MAPLE NUT MUFFINS
1 cup whole wheat flour
1 cup white flour
2 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
1/4 teaspoon soda
1/2 cup sugar
1/4 cup maple syrup
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup chopped nuts
1/4 cup oil
1 egg
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup sour cream

Preheat oven to 400 degrees.

Stir flour, baking powder, salt, soda, sugar and nuts together.

Mix egg, milk, syrup, oil and sour cream together well. Add to dry ingredients and stir just until moistened.

Fill muffin cups 2/3 full and bake 20 minutes. (12 muffins)

And this recipe is for those of you who like chocolate in the morning:

MOON RAKER MUFFINS
2 cup flour
1/2 cup sugar
1 tablespoon baking powder
1/2 teaspon salt
1 tablespoon grated lemon rind
3/4 cup mini semi sweet chocolate chips
1/2 cup slivered almonds (optional)
1 cup dark sweet cherries, pitted and chopped
12 whole cherries
1 cup milk
1/3 cup vegetable oil
1/3 cup unsalted butter, melted and cooled
1 large egg, beaten lightly

In bowl, sift flour, sugar, baking powder and salt. Stir in rind, chips, almonds and cherries.

In small bowl, whisk milk, oil, butter and egg. Combine mixtures until moistened.

Fill 12 well-greased muffin tins full. Press one whole pitted cherry into center of each muffin.

Bake for 20 to 25 minutes. Let cool one minute before placing on rack.

Disaster loans to businesses still available

The program designed to assist businesses which were adversely affected by the weather of 1993 with working capital assistance is still available from the Northwest Regional Development Commission, according to Jim Strandlie, flood recovery coordinator.

The assistance is in the form of a five-year-term working capital loan or a fixed asset loan with the possibility of deferred principal payments. Interest rate is 4.5 per cent.

Eligible businesses are agricultural related types from implement dealers and grain elevators to those considered main street businesses, Strandlie said. To be eligible, the business must be located in Kittson, Marshall, Norman, Polk and Roseau counties.

The regional development commission is in the process of accepting pre-applications for a funding round. The pre-applications are due January 6, 1995.

Assistance is available for completing the pre-applications. If interested, call the NWRDC offices at 681-2637 or 1-800-450-2637 and ask for Strandlie or Linda Nelson, loan fund manager.

Woodland Owners Ass'n. will hold annual meeting

Northland Woodland Owners Association will hold its annual meeting at the Wannaska school January 21 at 2 p.m. with all interested woodland owners invited to attend. Representatives of wood using industries are being invited to explain purchasing procedures.

The association is an outgrowth of a meeting held at Wannaska in the fall of 1992 in response to a growing demand for aspen timber and interest in tree planting on Conservation Reserve Program (CRP) land in Roseau, Kittson, Marshall, Pennington and parts of Beltrami and Lake of the Woods counties.

That 1992 meeting had been called by the forestry division of the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources and the Minnesota Forestry Association to present information to private woodland owners concerning woodland management opportunities.

Purpose of the association is to assist members in woodland stewardship and minimize individual cost through a joint effort. The association claims international status with one member living at Vassar, Manitoba, Canada.

Chairman Robert Wennerstrand of Warroad listed a number of activities since formation of the woodland owners association. They include:

- Development and publication of informational brochures;
- Preparing and staffing a forest products display at the 1993 Roseau County Fair and giving away 500 containerized trees produced by Spruce Valley Nursery of Middle River;
- Holding a sealed bid timber auction for members;
- Conducting a tour demonstrating Christmas tree culture, wetland enhancement and impoundment construction;
- Conducting an oral timber auction for members;
- Arranging for member Best Management Practice (BMP) training and conducting a timber sale tour to discuss best management practices on site;
- Distributing brochures to agencies dealing with woodland owners;
- Preparing a 1994 county fair display of member accomplishments and selling 11 species of containerized seedlings;
- Initiating plans for a directory, aesthetic Best Management Practices Training and providing assistance to the Warroad School Forest.

Visual and performing artist grants offered

Arts Council of the Northwest Regional Development Commission (NWRDC) is accepting applications for grants of up to $500 for individual artists. Supported with funding from the McKnight Foundation, this program provides artists with grants for specific projects which contribute directly to their creative and professional growth and development. The deadline is February 1, 1995.

Artists may apply for assistance with costs associated with the production and presentation of work, professional training, supplies related to specific projects, and other services. Applications are encouraged from individuals working in literary, performing, or visual art.

Artists must be Minnesota residents who have resided in the seven-county northwestern Minnesota area for at least one year prior to the deadline date of February 1, 1995. Counties of northwestern Minnesota include Kittson, Roseau, Marshall, Pennington, Polk, Red Lake, and Norman.

Application guidelines and forms are available from Mara Lunde, Arts Council Director, NWRDC, 525 Brooks Avenue South, Thief River Falls, MN 56701.

Disappearing Act

When Californians voted in November to deny public education and assistance to illegal immigrants, there were many people across the United States who nodded in agreement. There must be some effort made, they reasoned, to allow citizenship to those who follow the process while preventing those who cross our borders illegally from becoming a drain on our resources.

Robert M. Shaw, former manager of the Minnesota Newspaper Association, has personal experience with the problem—not in California but right here in Minnesota. He tells about it in a column entitled "Think Piece," which follows:

I've been teaching English as a second language for two years, and a strange thing happened to my class last Monday. Nobody showed up.

Most of my class of 16 were young Mexican men. Two were women from South Vietnam, one woman was from China. The Oriental ladies came to class on Monday, but only two Mexicans.

It turned out that the immigration people had dropped in at the hotel (where I teach the class), checked documents, and removed 18 Hispanic employees who were found to have false papers. The next day only a handful of Hispanic employees out of the hotel's housekeeping and kitchen staff showed up for work. The assumption is that they, too, had falsified documents.

Since I had grown to know and like the students in my class, I was curious to know what happened to them. After all, my grandfather would have been sitting in the front row of such a class—if there had been one—100 years ago.

I was told that the Immigration and Naturalization Service officials—who are able to discern a valid document from a forged one—took the 18 persons to the INS office in Minneapolis, confronted them with the evidence, and gave them a choice. Take your pick: it's either a deportation order right now which means you'll have to go back to Mexico, or sign up for a hearing.

It's an easy choice: Sign up for a hearing, knowing full well (as the INS people do) that the hearing will take place a year or so in the future. A lot can happen in the meantime.

So my illegal immigrant students, their names on a list for a hearing a long, long time away, were turned out in the street again. They've disappeared, but I can't help wondering what actually is going to happen to them.

Presumably they will try to get part-time work. Will they use the same false documents to get another job? Does the INS allow them to keep the same fraudulent papers which are, I have heard, easily available for $200 in Los Angeles? How about copies? Do employers generally ask for documents and check them carefully? Or do some, suspecting the truth, offer slave wages and conditions which are also illegal?

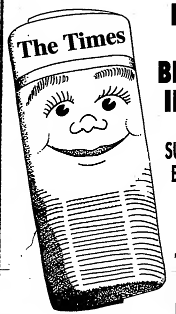
Will illegal immigrants get welfare checks? Do any become discouraged and go back to Mexico? Suppose they are picked up again for using false documents to get employment. What will they get from the INS—a second hearing? Are illegal immigrants ever actually returned to their native countries? How? Who pays the bill?

I tried, man I tried, to get answers from the INS people in Minneapolis. It's impossible. I found my calls answered by a recorded voice which jacked me around to other recorded voices to other recorded voices—a telephonic revolving door.

All this wouldn't bother me if I didn't know these illegal immigrants. Most of my class were farm boys from central Mexico with four to eight or 10 years of schooling. I liked them very much. As far as I know, they were good employees, eager to learn English, very alert, and all with that mixture of grace and humor typical of their race.

But they had broken our laws, and I would be the first to say they should be deported.

They will not be deported. They will just be more careful next time. They'll be living a life of fear, knowing full well that they are living illegally in our country; but at the same time they will be very clear on one point—that sweeping floors or washing dishes in the United States is infinitely better than scratching out a living on the parched soil of central Mexico.



I see no solution. Deportation? There's little to stop them from coming back over the border. Until we install a system of quick identification these people in increasing numbers will congregate in our cities. When they're hungry or sick, someone, somehow in the United States will care for or feed them. Someone will teach them English. They'll find employment doing work that nobody else wants to do for slave wages with no benefits.

And somehow they'll stay. Do you remember the ship which went aground on the East Coast some months ago—the ship which carried illegal immigrants from China? We saw photos of young Chinese men being helped ashore as their ship broke up on a reef.

One simple question: Where are these young Chinese men right now? I bet they're somewhere in the U.S. I bet they've disappeared, as my Mexican students disappeared. I bet they are going to stay. Here is a very complicated problem, folks, which we have not faced.

Falcons out-score Prowlers

Scott Lunos led the Rams with 23 points, while Greg Pladson picked up 17, Dustin Flaten 11, and Jacob Mertens 10.

Marshall County Central had a 25-23 first quarter lead, fell behind 40-37 at halftime and trailed 59-55 through three quarters.

Two free throws by Mertens, which followed a critical Marshall County Central turnover with 19.2 seconds left in a 73-71 game, gave the Rams a four-point edge and enough to withstand a 3-pointer by the Nordics' Trever Magner with 4.9 seconds showing.

Scoring

Welding faculty at Northwest Technical College in Thief River Falls were somewhat taken by surprise recently when more than 300 high school students from 28 school districts in northwest Minnesota attended the third annual welding demonstration day. With 100 people registering the day before the event, the informational program had to be moved to the Northland Community College gymnasium where this photo was taken.

Welding demonstrations at the third annual welding demonstration day at Northwest Technical College in Thief River Falls recently attracted more than 300 students from 28 area high schools.

300 high school students attend welding demo

Interest in technical careers is alive and well in northwestern Minnesota if attendance at the welding demonstration held recent at Northwest Technical College in Thief River Falls is any indication.

More than 300 high school students from 28 area high schools, plus instructors and others from the area interested in welding, took part in a variety of welding demonstrations and informational sessions throughout the day.

The number of students turning out for the event caught the college welding faculty at least a little by surprise.

"We were originally planning on around 100 to 150 people attending," stated Dennis Wilkens, the college welding instructor. "But about a week before Demo Day we had 200 registered, and then another 100 registered the day before the demonstrations were to be held."

Primary concern of college officials was locating a facility large enough to hold everyone during the informational session on employment. Plans kept changing from the use of two classrooms, to utilizing the Northland Community College theater, and finally, at the last minute, to scheduling the college gymnasium.

Those attending the employment session heard positive reports about the need for qualified technically skilled employees. Representatives of Minnesota Jobs and Training, Arctco, Polaris and Stenberg Welding and Fabricating, a smaller industry located in Fosston, spoke to the group about the skills needed to succeed in today's workplace.

Interest in the welding demonstration came from a wide area as high school students attended from such schools at Norman County West at Halstad, Norman County East at Twin Valley, Kelliher, Roseau, Warroad and even Grand Forks and Grafton, ND.

This year's welding demonstration was the third annual event at the technical college and appeared to build on success of the first two sessions.

Richard Stenseth of Arctco, Inc., discussed skills needed and employment opportunities for persons interested in the welding field during the third annual welding demonstration and information meeting at the Northwest Technical College in Thief River Falls.

English student enrolls in dairy science at UMC

Livestock enthusiast Suzanne Abel of England brought her love for animals to Crookston where she enrolled last fall in animal/dairy science at the University of Minnesota.

From the east coast of England, Abel studied for two years at Easton College near Norwich for a national diploma in business and finance with an agricultural option before coming to America. She began showing cattle at the Royal Norfolk Show a year ago and enjoys competition.

"I have a particular interest in all aspects of dairy farming, and I enjoy showing cows," she said.

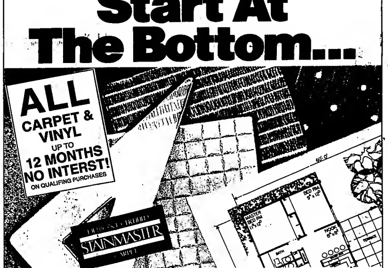
Abel has added a new dimension to the university's Crookston campus. Her advisor, Lyle Westrom, assistant professor of dairy, commented: "She brings so much enthusiasm to class. She has a strong interest in becoming a dairy consultant in her uncle's consulting firm. That has proven interesting to our students as dairy consulting is an emerging field in the United States. Her experiences on dairy farms in the United Kingdom bring an interesting dimension to class discussion."

When in Great Britain, she lives at Great Ellingham, near Attleborough, with her parents, two sisters and brother. A third sister lives nearby. He father is a self-employed painter and decorator and her mother is manager of the Norfolk Hospital laundry.

There are differences between studies in England and America. At UMC classes are 50 minutes long; in England lectures are one to two hours. Here books must be purchased for each class; in England books are supplied with classes.

Abel is learning the vernacular of northwest Minnesota where the words "hog" and "swine" seem to be used interchangeably with the more familiar "pig."

Animal rights are strong in Europe, she said. Most animals are on big farms and are free to roam in pastures both summer and winter. Here, she notices, many of the animal farms have small, unit housing where animals are tied or confined. She questions whether this would be accepted in England.



Dairy science studies center on large animal production and physiology and nutrition, with a strong emphasis on animal health and production. The newly constructed University Teaching and Outreach Center provides a state-of-the-art learning environment for students.

The dairy science major offers excellent preparation for animal research, dairy management and pre-veterinary medicine.

As an 18-year-old at UMC, Abel lives in a single room in McCall Hall. She misses a place to gather and socialize. In England drinking is allowed at age 18 and students meet at bars to socialize. In northwest Minnesota there is no such place where 18-year-olds can gather.

Abel was awarded a scholarship by the Chadacre Agricultural Trust, which helps pay her tuition and fees at UMC. But she worked last summer to earn money for airfare, insurance and daily living needs.

When she returns to her country, she plans to complete a three-year BSc honours course at Harper Adams Agricultural College in, Shropshire. Most of her credits taken at UMC will transfer back to Harper.

Woodland Owners Ass'n. will hold annual meeting

Northland Woodland Owners Association will hold its annual meeting at the Wannaska school January 21 at 2 p.m. with all interested woodland owners invited to attend. Representatives of wood using industries are being invited to explain purchasing procedures.

The association is an outgrowth of a meeting held at Wannaska in the fall of 1992 in response to a growing demand for aspen timber and interest in tree planting on Conservation Reserve Program (CRP) land in Roseau, Kittson, Marshall, Pennington and parts of Beltrami and Lake of the Woods counties.

That 1992 meeting had been called by the forestry division of the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources and the Minnesota Forestry Association to present information to private woodland owners concerning woodland management opportunities.

Purpose of the association is to assist members in woodland stewardship and minimize individual cost through a joint effort. The association claims international status with one member living at Vassar, Manitoba, Canada.

Chairman Robert Wennerstrand of Warroad listed a number of activities since formation of the woodland owners association. They include:

- Development and publication of informational brochures.
- Preparing and staffing a forest products display at the 1993 Roseau County Fair and giving away 500 containerized trees produced by Spruce Valley Nursery of Middle River.
- Holding a sealed bid timber auction for members.
- Conducting a tour demonstrating Christmas tree culture, wetland enhancement and impoundment construction.
- Conducting an oral timber auction for members.
- Arranging for member Best Management Practice (BMP) training and conducting a timber sale tour to discuss best management practices on site.
- Distributing brochures to agencies dealing with woodland owners.
- Preparing a 1994 county fair display of member accomplishments and selling 11 species of containerized seedlings.
- Initiating plans for a directory, aesthetic Best Management Practices Training and providing assistance to the Warroad School Forest.

Visual and performing artist grants offered

Arts Council of the Northwest Regional Development Commission (NWRDC) is accepting applications for grants of up to $500 for individual artists. Supported with funding from the McKnight Foundation, this program provides artists with grants for specific projects which contribute directly to their creative and professional growth and development. The deadline is February 1, 1995.

Artists may apply for assistance with costs associated with the production and presentation of work, professional training, supplies related to specific projects, and other services. Applications are encouraged from individuals working in literary, performing, or visual art.

Artists must be Minnesota residents who have resided in the seven-county northwestern Minnesota area for at least one year prior to the deadline date of February 1, 1995. Counties of northwestern Minnesota include Kittson, Roseau, Marshall, Pennington, Polk, Red Lake, and Norman.

Application guidelines and forms are available from Mara Lunde, Arts Council Director, NWRDC, 525 Brooks Avenue South, Thief River Falls, MN 56701.

Disappearing Act

When Californians voted in November to deny public education and assistance to illegal immigrants, there were many people across the United States who nodded in agreement. There must be some effort made, they reasoned, to allow citizenship to those who follow the process while preventing those who cross our borders illegally from becoming a drain on our resources.

Robert M. Shaw, former manager of the Minnesota Newspaper Association, has personal experience with the problem—not in California but right here in Minnesota. He tells about it in a column entitled "Think Piece," which follows:

I've been teaching English as a second language for two years, and a strange thing happened to my class last Monday. Nobody showed up.

Most of my class of 16 were young Mexican men. Two were women from South Vietnam, one woman was from China. The Oriental ladies came to class on Monday, but only two Mexicans.

It turned out that the immigration people had dropped in at the hotel (where I teach the class), checked documents, and removed 18 Hispanic employees who were found to have false papers. The next day only a handful of Hispanic employees out of the hotel's housekeeping and kitchen staff showed up for work. The assumption is that they, too, had falsified documents.

Since I had grown to know and like the students in my class, I was curious to know what happened to them. After all, my grandfather would have been sitting in the front row of such a class—if there had been one—100 years ago.

I was told that the Immigration and Naturalization Service officials—who are able to discern a valid document from a forged one—took the 18 persons to the INS office in Minneapolis, confronted them with the evidence, and gave them a choice. Take your pick: It's either a deportation order right now which means you'll have to go back to Mexico, or sign up for a hearing.

It's an easy choice: Sign up for a hearing, knowing full well (as the INS people do) that the hearing will take place a year or so in the future. A lot can happen in the meantime.

So my illegal immigrant students, their names on a list for a hearing a long, long time away, were turned out in the street again. They've disappeared, but I can't help wondering what actually is going to happen to them.

Presumably they will try to get part-time work. Will they use the same false documents to get another job? Does the INS allow them to keep the same fraudulent papers which are, I have heard, easily available for $200 in Los Angeles? How about copies? Do employers generally ask for documents and check them carefully? Or do some, suspecting the truth, offer slave wages and conditions which are also illegal?

Will illegal immigrants get welfare checks? Do any become discouraged and go back to Mexico? Suppose they are picked up again for using false documents to get employment. What will they get from the INS—a second hearing? Are illegal immigrants ever actually returned to their native countries? How? Who pays the bill?

I tried, man I tried, to get answers from the INS people in Minneapolis. It's impossible. I found my calls answered by a recorded voice which jacked me around to other recorded voices to other recorded voices—a telephonic revolving door.

All this wouldn't bother me if I didn't know these illegal immigrants. Most of my class were farm boys from central Mexico with four to eight or 10 years of schooling. I liked them very much. As far as I know, they were good employees, eager to learn English, very alert, and all with that mixture of grace and humor typical of their race.

But they had broken our laws, and I would be the first to say they should be deported.

They will not be deported. They will just be more careful next time. They'll be living a life of fear, knowing full well that they are living illegally in our country; but at the same time they will be very clear on one point—that sweeping floors or washing dishes in the United States is infinitely better than scratching out a living on the parched soil of central Mexico.

I see no solution. Deportation? There's little to stop them from coming back over the border. Until we install a system of quick identification these people in increasing numbers will congregate in our cities. When they're hungry or sick, someone, somehow in the United States will care for or feed them. Someone will teach them English. They'll find employment doing work that nobody else wants to do for slave wages with no benefits.

And somehow they'll stay. Do you remember the ship which went aground on the East Coast some months ago—the ship which carried illegal immigrants from China? We saw photos of young Chinese men being helped ashore as their ship broke up on a reef.

One simple question: Where are these young Chinese men right now? I bet they're somewhere in the U.S. I bet they've disappeared, as my Mexican students disappeared. I bet they are going to stay. Here is a very complicated problem, folks, which we have not faced.

Welding faculty at Northwest Technical College in Thief River Falls were somewhat taken by surprise recently when more than 300 high school students from 28 school districts in northwest Minnesota attended the third annual welding demonstration day. With 100 people registering the day before the event, the informational program had to be moved to the Northland Community College gymnasium where this photo was taken.

Welding demonstrations at the third annual welding demonstration day at Northwest Technical College in Thief River Falls recently attracted more than 300 students from 28 area high schools.

300 high school students attend welding demo

Interest in technical careers is alive and well in northwestern Minnesota if attendance at the welding demonstration held recent at Northwest Technical College in Thief River Falls is any indication.

More than 300 high school students from 28 area high schools, plus instructors and others from the area interested in welding, took part in a variety of welding demonstrations and informational sessions throughout the day.

The number of students turning out for the event caught the college welding faculty at least a little by surprise.

"We were originally planning on around 100 to 150 people attending," stated Dennis Wilkens, the college welding instructor. "But about a week before Demo Day we had 200 registered, and then another 100 registered the day before the demonstrations were to be held."

Primary concern of college officials was locating a facility large enough to hold everyone during the informational session on employment. Plans kept changing from the use of two classrooms, to utilizing the Northland Community College theater, and finally, at the last minute, to scheduling the college gymnasium.

Those attending the employment session heard positive reports about the need for qualified technically skilled employees. Representatives of Minnesota Jobs and Training, Arctco, Polaris and Stenberg Welding and Fabricating, a smaller industry located in Fosston, spoke to the group about the skills needed to succeed in today's workplace.

Interest in the welding demonstration came from a wide area as high school students attended from such schools as Norman County West at Halstad, Norman County East at Twin Valley, Kelliher, Roseau, Warroad and even Grand Forks and Grafton, ND.

This year's welding demonstration was the third annual event at the technical college and appeared to build on success of the first two sessions.

Richard Stenseth of Arctco, Inc., discussed skills needed and employment opportunities for persons interested in the welding field during the third annual welding demonstration and information meeting at the Northwest Technical College in Thief River Falls.

English student enrolls in dairy science at UMC

Livestock enthusiast Suzanne Abel of England brought her love for animals to Crookston where she enrolled last fall in animal/dairy science at the University of Minnesota.

From the east coast of England, Abel studied for two years at Easton College near Norwich for a national diploma in business and finance with an agricultural option before coming to America. She began showing cattle at the Royal Norfolk Show a year ago and enjoys competition.

"I have a particular interest in all aspects of dairy farming, and I enjoy showing cows," she said.

Abel has added a new dimension to the university's Crookston campus. Her advisor, Lyle Westrom, assistant professor of dairy, commented: "Sue brings so much enthusiasm to class. She has a strong interest in becoming a dairy consultant in her uncle's consulting firm. That has proven interesting to our students as dairy consulting is an emerging field in the United States. Her experiences on dairy farms in the United Kingdom bring an interesting dimension to class discussion."

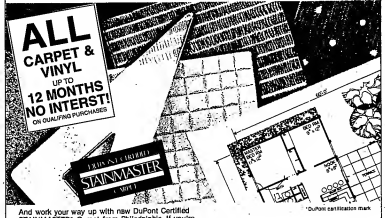
When in Great Britain, she lives at Great Ellingham, near Attleborough, with her parents, two sisters and brother. A third sister lives nearby. Her father is a self-employed painter and decorator and her mother is manager of the Norfolk Hospital laundry.

There are differences between studies in England and America. At UMC classes are 50 minutes long; in England lectures are one to two hours. Here books must be purchased for each class; in England books are supplied with classes.

Abel is learning the vernacular of northwest Minnesota where the words "hog" and "swine" seem to be used interchangeably with the more familiar "pig."

Animal rights are strong in Europe, she said. Most animals are on big farms and are free to roam in pastures both summer and winter. Here, she notices, many of the animal farms have small, unit housing where animals are tied or confined. She questions whether this would be accepted in England.

Dairy science studies center on large animal production and physiology and nutrition, with a strong emphasis on animal health and production. The newly constructed University Teaching and Outreach Center provides a state-of-the-art learning environment for students.



The dairy science major offers excellent preparation for animal research, dairy management and pre-veterinary medicine.

As an 18-year-old at UMC, Abel lives in a single room in McCall Hall. She misses a place to gather and socialize. In England drinking is allowed at age 18 and students meet at bars to socialize. In northwest Minnesota there is no such place where 18-year-olds can gather.

Abel was awarded a scholarship by the Chadacre Agricultural Trust, which helps pay her tuition and fees at UMC. But she worked last summer to earn money for airfare, insurance and daily living needs.

When she returns to her country, she plans to complete a three-year BSc honours course at Harper Adams Agricultural College in, Shropshire. Most of her credits taken at UMC will transfer back to Harper.

TRF-Crookston Christmas Classic hockey results...

Prowlers, Jacks finish 3-0

Defenseman got into the scoring act Wednesday in Thief River Falls' 5-1 high school hockey win over Crookston 5-1 that matched the co-hosts in Day 3 of the Thief River Falls-Crookston Christmas Classic.

First two Thief River Falls goals came from defensemen David Halsa and Paul Gonsorowski, with blueliners picking up assists on the other three goals -- two by Brian Howe and one by Gonsorowski.

It was the third win in three days of Christmas Classic competition for the Prowlers, improving their record to 4-5-1.

"It was a nice way to cap three long days," said Thief River Falls coach Pat Cullen. "It showed the kids that all the hard work we do in practice does pay off. It's nice to be rewarded for hard work."

Bemidji matched Thief River Falls' 3-0 Christmas Classic effort with a 5-0 win over Simley to start the Wednesday match-ups at the Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center. Westwood Collegiate of Winnipeg edged Benilde-St. Margaret's 4-3 in overtime in Game 2.

Halsa's shot from the point sailed by Crookston goalie Ben Parkin just 1:20 into the game for a quick 1-0 Thief River Falls lead.

Eric Wikoff finished off a 2-on-1 power play opportunity to tie it at 5:45, but Gonsorowski's long, soft shot eluded Parkin at 7:05 to supply the Prowlers with a 2-1 edge at the first intermission.

Tim Barry scored the first of his two goals when he took one off the boards, came in alone and snapped off a shot as he hit the face-off circle to the right of the Crookston net at 6:48 of the second period.

Nick Chiodo blasted a shot through Parkin during a 4-on-4 skate at 14:21 to make it 4-1.

A rebound off the boards behind the Crookston net came out to Barry, who completed the scoring at 4:21 of the third period.

"We were happy with the effort," noted Cullen. "We had three good, strong periods of hockey. I think we dictated the pace of the game. "Our physical play wears teams down."

Chanc Keefe had a 28-save effort in the Thief River Falls nets. Parkin stopped 20 shots.

The contest counted as the Prowlers' home game in the regularly-scheduled home-and-home Section 8A series with the Pirates.

Thief River Falls will be back in action Tuesday with a Section 8A game at Roseau. The Rams are ranked No. 1 in this week's Associated Press Class A poll.

TRF-Crookston Christmas Classic

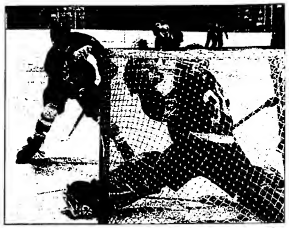
■ Monday, Dec. 26 - (at Crookston) Bemidji 11, Westwood Collegiate 0; Thief River Falls 2, Benilde-St. Margaret's 0; Crookston vs. Simley postponed.

■ Tuesday, Dec. 27 - (at TRF) Bemidji 9, Benilde-St. Margaret's 1; Crookston 4, Westwood Collegiate 0; Thief River Falls 5, Simley 2.

■ Wednesday, Dec. 28 - (at TRF) Bemidji 5, Simley 0; Westwood Collegiate 4, Benilde-St. Margaret's 3 (ot); Thief River Falls 5, Crookston 1

■ Thursday, Dec. 29 - (at Crookston) Crookston 5, Simley 4 (ot).

Scoring



First period - TRF, David Halsa (Steve Rambeck), 1:20; Crookston, Eric Wikoff (Chris Peterson-Justin Paul), 6:48; TRF, Paul Gonsorowski (Keith Anderson), 7:05.

Second period - TRF, Tim Barry (Brian Howe), 6:48; TRF, Nick Chiodo (Anderson-Gonsorowski), 14:21.

Third period - TRF, Barry (Howe-Anderson), 4:21

Goalie Saves

TRF - Chanc Keefe 8-10-10-28; Crookston, Nick Parkin 6-6-8-20.

Keith Anderson fired the puck past Simley goalie Jake Erb for his second goal of the game and a 3-0 Thief River Falls second period lead in Tuesday's high school hockey match-up at the Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center. The Prowlers beat the Spartans 5-2 in the second round of the Thief River Falls-Crookston Christmas Classic.

TRF adds 5-2 win over Simley

■ Prowlers sweep Twin Cities hockey teams

Keith Anderson had his second straight two-goal game and Thief River Falls came up with its first back-to-back wins of the 1994-95 high school hockey season Tuesday as the Prowlers beat Simley 5-2 in Day 2 of the Thief River Falls-Crookston Christmas Classic at the Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center.

Bemidji handled Benilde-St. Margaret's 9-1 and Crookston shut out Winnipeg area Westwood Collegiate 4-0 in Tuesday's earlier match-ups.

A 2-0 winner over Benilde-St. Margaret's Monday in Crookston, Thief River Falls completed the sweep over the Twin Cities schools participating in the six-team, three-day event by taking a 2-0 first period lead, then maintaining at least a two-goal spread the rest of the night.

Thief River Falls coach Pat Cullen wasn't thrilled with the Prowlers' play at Crookston, but felt better after the second win.

"It was much better than last night," said Cullen. "I thought we did a pretty good job. The kids worked hard. They were more focused."

A tip-in by Tim Barry on a slap shot from the point by Andy Furuseth opened the scoring just 1:12 into the game, and Anderson shrugged off a defender to beat Simley goalie Jake Erb with a shot from the face-off circle that slipped inside the left post at 4:14.

In alone, Anderson snapped off a 10-foot shot that made it 3-0 at 4:07 of the second period before the Spartans' Mike Franson came across the slot and knocked the puck by Thief River Falls goalie Chanc Keefe at 11:14.

Furuseth scored on a slap shot from the point at 5:49 of the third period for another three-goal Thief River Falls lead, but Ben Schneider's rebound goal at 8:46 kept Simley in the game until the Prowlers' Jason Breiland wrapped it up with a long-range open net goal at 14:32.

Scoring

First period - TRF, Tim Barry (Andy Furuseth-Keith Anderson), 1:12; TRF, Anderson (Paul Gonsorowski), 4:14.

Second period - TRF, Anderson (un.), 4:07; Simley, Mike Franson (Jarod Christianson), 11:14.

Third period - TRF, Furuseth (Nick Chiodo), 5:49; Simley, Ben Schneider (Adam Fischbach-Franson), 8:46; TRF, Jason Breiland (un.), 14:32.

Goalie Saves

TRF - Chanc Keefe 2-4-11-17; Simley - Jake Erb 10-8-8-26.

Fertile-Beltrami wins title

Fertile-Beltrami out-scored host Thief River Falls 79-71 Thursday in the championship game of the 12th annual Northwest Russ Smith Holiday Classic boys high school basketball tournament.

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River held off Clearbrook-Gonvick-Trail 65-60 in the third place game, Kittson Central stopped Argyle 44-32 in the consolation final, and Roseau edged Marshall County Central 75-74 in the seventh place game.

Fertile-Beltrami 79
Thief River Falls....71

Thief River Falls got by with them in the first half, but eventually turnovers and missed free throws caught up to the Prowlers in a 79-71 championship game loss to Fertile-Beltrami.

"Down 13-11 at the end of the first quarter, Thief River Falls opened the second quarter with a 15-0 run and went into halftime with a 33-24 lead -- despite turning the ball over 17 times and going just 5-for-13 at the free throw line.

Fertile-Beltrami, after shooting just 26 percent from the field in the first half, which included an ice-cold 2-for-15 second quarter, came back to light it up offensively after intermission, putting together an 11-0 run en route to a 50-47 third quarter lead, then going on a 16-1 tear to open up a 60-48 spread with 6:14 left to play.

The Prowlers battled back, three times pulling within two points, before a turnover that led to an Aaron Thompson basket with 41.4 seconds showing turned a catchable 71-68 difference to 73-68.

The Falcons then iced it with three sets of free throws over the final 27.4 seconds.

The Prowlers wound up with 30 turnovers and made only 10 of 23 free throws-- both season-long problem areas, acknowledged Thief River Falls coach Scott Brekke. "You know sooner or later those things are going to catch up with you," he said.

Thompson, a 5-10 junior guard, scored 30 of his tournament-high 39 points in the second half, hitting six 3-point baskets in the process. Ryan Gast scored 13 and Jeff Gullickson 12 for the Falcons. Kyle Sanden led the Prowlers with 24 points, while Nathan Anderson had 19 and Eric Bjorgaard 16.

"It was disappointing to lose, but you've got to be happy with the effort," said Brekke. "The kids worked hard. They didn't have anything left at the end."

The Prowlers were 28-for-60 from the field (47 percent) and the Falcons finished 24-for-64 (38 percent) while making 24 of 29 free throws. Thief River Falls had a 35-30 rebound edge. Fertile-Beltrami turned it over 18 times.

B/G-Middle River 65
Clearbrook-Gonvick-Trail ..60

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River got a 20-point game from foreign exchange student Richard Klein in a 65-60 third place game win over Clearbrook-Gonvick-Trail.

Matt Kuznia added 12 points to the Gators' offense as they posted quarter leads of 18-17, 33-27 and 47-39.

Ryan Voigt led the Bears with 22 points. Teammate Jeff Westrum netted 10.

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River coach Eldon Sparby said the Gators didn't fall into the third place game doldrums against the Bears. "I think they played with some enthusiasm," he said. "The kids knew they (Bears) have a good team. It was a challenge for them."

ASK YOUR LOCKSMITH
Questions And Answers
Q: As a business owner, I'm concerned about the number of keys that have been given out over the last few years. What should I do?
A: Your professional locksmith can offer several options at varying prices. First, you might consider rekeying the existing locks to new keys and then keep track of the keys you give out. Second, you might install high security keys and locks so that you will have much more positive key control than you had with your existing locks. Third you might consider installing a keyless access control system requiring no keys. Each employee would have a unique number that would allow them access.

Falcons, Prowlers advance

■ Northwest Russ Smith Holiday Classic semifinals

Strong Wednesday semifinal efforts by Fertile-Beltrami and Thief River Falls advanced the Falcons and Prowlers into the championship game of the 1994 Northwest Russ Smith Holiday Classic boys high school basketball tournament.

Fertile-Beltrami was an impressive 90-55 winner over Clearbrook-Gonvick-Trail, while host Thief River Falls successfully turned back several challenges from Badger/Greenbush-Middle River to close out Day 2 activity with a 77-61 victory.

In the afternoon consolation semifinals, Kittson Central beat Roseau 65-45 and Argyle defeated Marshall County Central 45-41.

Fertile-Beltrami 90
Clearbrook-Gonvick-Trail ..55

A 29-point game by Aaron Thompson sparked Fertile-Beltrami to a 90-55 romp over Clearbrook-Gonvick-Trail.

The Falcons were never challenged in building quarter leads of 21-10, 46-27 and 63-44.

Jeff Gullickson joined Thompson in double figures for the winners with 14 points. Ryan Voigt led the Bears with 18 points, while Ethan Johnson netted 13 and Jeff Westrum 10.

Thief River Falls....77
B/G-Middle River....61

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River lost the battle against size in the semifinal doubleheader nightcap, losing to Kyle Sanden-led Thief River Falls 77-61.

Sanden, a 6-10 junior, scored 29 points and hauled in 20 rebounds as the host Prowlers, the only Class AA school in the eight-team field, advanced to the finals for the seventh time in the 12-year history of the tournament.

"Sanden stepped up and played the game the way we were afraid he would play," pointed out Badger/Greenbush-Middle River coach Eldon Sparby. "He intimidated us."

And besides Sanden's physical presence, the Gators faced the psychological challenge of taking on the Prowlers. "You try not to think about the A-AA thing," explained Sparby. "But it's there."

Thief River Falls led from start to finish, grabbing an early 17-5 lead and then meeting each Badger/Greenbush-Middle River threat.

A steal, drive, lay-up and free-throw by Vance Harren pulled the Gators to within 23-20 at the outset of the second quarter, but the Prowlers answered with a 10-0 run that led to a 41-29 halftime spread.

Twice in the third quarter the Gators challenged the Prowlers' lead, but couldn't complete the task. A base line drive by Richard Klein made it 43-39 with 5:22 remaining, and after an 8-0 Thief River Falls run that was followed by a 9-0 Badger/Greenbush-Middle River surge, it was 51-48 on a pair of Matt Kuznia free throws with 2:01 left.

However, that was as close as the Gators got. Jared Brandt scored from underneath and Robby Farbo put in a rebound with 4.9 seconds showing as the Prowlers headed into the final quarter with a 55-48 lead. Three minutes later it was a 65-50 spread, with Sanden scoring eight of those 10 Thief River Falls points.

"Every time they made a little run, we answered with a run of our own," pointed out Thief River Falls coach Scott Brekke. "The kids didn't get rattled."

Kuznia had a strong 24-point game for the Gators, while Russell Larson hit 11 and Klein had 10. Nathan Anderson scored 11 points for the Prowlers.

Thief River Falls was 31-for-66 from the field (47 percent) and 14-for-24 at the free throw line. Badger/Greenbush-Middle River went 24-for-69 from the floor (35 percent) and 11-for-17 at the line. With Sanden leading the way, the Prowlers finished with a head-shaking 52 rebounds. The Gators had 35.

"Kyle had a great game," said Brekke. "I think that's the most aggressive he has ever been."

Thief River Falls topped the turnover charts 21-14.

Kittson Central....65
Roseau....45

Four Kittson Central scorers reached double figures as the Wolfpack pulled away from Roseau 65-45 to start the consolation semifinal bracket.

Neil Wiese led the winners with 18 points, while Nathan Kasprowicz picked up 12, Jacob Hook 11, and Brett Niles 10. Scott Lunos led Roseau with 14 points, while teammate Dustin Flaten netted 10.

The two teams played to a 16-16 first quarter draw before Kittson Central went ahead 34-28 at halftime and began the fourth quarter with a 46-36 advantage.

Scoring

	1	2	3	4	T
Roseau	16	12	8	9	45

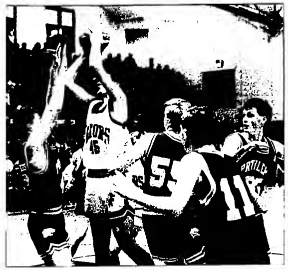
Roseau - Mike Benke 2, Dustin Flaten 10, Jacob Mortens 4, Marc Hedlund 2, Scott Lunos 14, Matt Stuland 6, Greg Pladson 7.

KC - Nathan Kasprowicz 12, Neil Wiese 18, Ryan Schwanzleier 8, Brett Niles 10, Jacob Hook 11, Brian Huot 2, Jeff Ryden 4.

Argyle....45
Marshall Co. Central....41

Argyle won a low-scoring consolation match-up with Marshall County Central 45-41.

The Eagles led 6-5 at the end of the first quarter, fell behind 17-12 at halftime, and came back for a 26-26 third quarter tie.



Blair Stoltman led Argyle with 14 points, while Garred Conway and Ryan Anderson both scored 12. Micah Ranum matched Stoltman's 14-point effort to lead the Marshall County Central scoring.

Argyle - Blair Stoltman 14, Garred Conway 12, Ryan Anderson 12, Adam Rybacki 7.

Matt Kuznia of Badger/Greenbush-Middle River drew a lot of attention from Thief River Falls defenders as he went up for a shot during Wednesday's semifinal game in the Northwest Russ Smith Holiday Classic boys high school basketball tournament. Jared Brandt stretched, but couldn't stop Kuznia's shot, while Robby Farbo (55), Ryan Swanson (11) and Nathan Anderson (25) looked on. Kuznia scored 24 points, but the Gators lost 77-61.

Falcons, Bears, Gators, Prowlers win openers

Fertile-Beltrami, Clearbrook-Gonvick-Trail, Badger/Greenbush-Middle River, and Thief River Falls were quarterfinal winners Tuesday in Day 1 of the 12th annual Northwest Russ Smith Holiday Classic boys high school basketball tournament.

The Falcons stopped Argyle 63-46, the Bears held off Marshall County Central 67-60, the Gators turned back Kittson Central 67-54, and the host Prowlers downed Roseau 59-48 to move into Wednesday semifinals.

Fertile-Beltrami 63
Argyle 46

Jeff Gullickson scored 19 points and Fertile-Beltrami started with a 14-6 first quarter lead that turned into a tournament-opening 63-46 win over Argyle.

Aaron Thompson netted 11 points and Ryan Gast added 10 for the Falcons, who led 27-20 at halftime and had a 43-31 third quarter advantage.

Blair Stoltman and Nolan Lubarski scored 10 points apiece to lead the balanced Eagles offense.

Clearbrook-Gonvick-Trail ..67
Marshall Co. Central....60

Clearbrook-Gonvick-Trail jumped out to a 21-8 first quarter lead and finished with a 67-60 victory over Marshall County Central in Game 2.

The Bears led 33-26 at halftime and 51-38 through three quarters.

Big scoring games came from the Nordics' Micah Ranum with 28 points and the Bears' Ethan Johnson with 27. Other double figure performances came from Brandon Borg and Trever Mogner of Marshall County Central with 13 points each, along with Ryan Voigt and Jeff Westrum of Clearbrook-Gonvick-Trail with 11 and 10 points, respectively.

B/G-Middle River....67
Kittson Central....54

Missed free throws came back to haunt Kittson Central in a 67-54 setback at the hands of Badger/Greenbush-Middle River in the first game of the first day evening session.

The Wolfpack went just 6-for-25 at the line (24 percent) in trailing at the quarter stops 17-12, 31-21 and 51-43.

Matt Kuznia scored 19 points and Pat Stephens had 11 to lead the Gators. Neil Wiese and Jacob Hook were the Kittson Central scoring leaders with 16 and 15 points, respectively.
